It has been said that goitre is caused by certain constituents of water, but the fact that not all persons drinking from the same source do develop this condition, proves that there is something else involved. That something is nerve impingement, which takes place at the point where the nerves supplying the thyroid gland emit through the spinal column.

By releasing this impingement, Chiropractic adjustments restore the nerve supply and health results.

ACCIDENTS IN THE HOME

If more attention were directed to safety hazards, the great number of accidents in the home each year could be reduced. Maiming, severe crippling and even death, particularly in the young child, could be averted if parents watched more closely the simple things that cause accidents.

Falls are responsible for the greatest number of tragedies. A staircase cluttered with toys or kitchen equipment is one menace. Small rugs on waxed floors slide when stepped on. Electric cords lying loosely on the floor trip the unobservant passerby. A wobbly chair used instead of a ladder often collapses under weight.

Electrical equipment is responsible for occasional death of many small children and even adults. Be sure all connections are tight and covered and that wire insulation is not broken or worn off.

Poisons are common in the home in the form of roach powder, lye, antiseptics, cleaning fluid, moth balls, or the left-over stuff in the medicine cabinet. Keep them out of children's reach and separate from food.

A child's natural curiosity should be encouraged, for that is one way he develops, but the parents must guide his curiosity away from dangerous objects. Scissors, knives, razor blades and needles should be kept out of his reach. Wait till he is older before entrusting the youngster with too much responsibility in handling these objects.

The gas stove offers several dangers; asphyxiation by gas from a leaky burner, burns from the flare of an oven filled with gas, or blast injuries from explosions. Keep the burners clean and the keys working rather stiffly. When you light an oven, the doors should be kept open and the match lighted and ready before the fuel is turned on.

Every parent should be constantly alert to improve the safety of the home. Carpeting should be checked regularly for tears; handrails should be a part of every stairway; brooms, mops and other handle equipment should be stored in closets and not left standing in corners. A child should not be left alone in a bathtub, even for a moment.

Accidents can be prevented. Awareness and forethought and patient teaching will do much to keep happiness instead of tragedy in the home.

ATTRACT QUAIL AND CONSERVE SOIL, TOO

Auburn, Ala. — Farmers who want to attract quail to their farm and conserve soil at the same time will find that bicolor lespedeza will do the job.

S. R. Doughty, A.P.I. Extension Service soil conservationist, says the crop is a preferred quail food. It may be established from either seed or seedlings, and now is a good time to get the crop started.

"On most farms," says Doughty, "there are non-productive, eroding woodland borders that should be established in this crop. It withstands shade and competition from trees, and, when well established, controls erosion and improves the soil in addition to providing an abundance of food for quail."

The specialist adds that since livestock relish bicolor, it should be planted in borders and areas where grzaing is excluded.

Things We See And Hear

—By "TUCK"

Getting to be quite a discussion whether or not the seniors are going to make their trip. One thing's sure they'll pick the greatest distance from this part of the country they can.

This discussion on walking down the hall with a girl is getting quite hot. I would state my opinion on the matter, but I don't know all the facts and besides, I might be just the slightest bit prejudiced. (Amen). On second thought I might be a great deal prejudiced.

Mr. Robinson, the Mathematics teacher, is just about gone. He was talking to us about tornados the other day and he said the one that came through here in '32 was so bad that it blew the feathers off a rooster around his house. What I want to know is how he found the rooster to tell whether or not he had lost his feathers. A wind like that (tornado, that is) would have blown him from here to China and back. Maybe he was shedding anyhow.

Our good friend Mort (Fred) McKinney is in Washington this week on business of some sort. He said before he left that he didn't want to go. Why there's an awful lot of things to see in Washington, Mort might even come back with a girl friend. He can dream, can't he?

What with Joe Blair as Lawyer, Don Eiland as Prophet, Lenore Oglesby as Historian, etc., the senior class night activities this year will be a bang up lot of fun for everyone, including the teachers.

Well, Miss Blalock left us this week for an extended visit with an evaluation committee somewhere. Here's hoping she gets back in good condition. I guess they won't harm her too much after all, she's big enough to take care of herself.

Oh, by the way, don't forget to come out and see the Senior III Class play Thursday or Friday night, they say it's going to be a dilly. And why shouldn't it, Joe Popwell and Billy Powell are in it. Don't let that frighten you. They're barely in it.

Well, Annette and Pats' recital was a success for both of them and we're all proud of 'em. We know they'll be a success in their music career.

You know, it's positively funny how a car can last just so long, and then it starts falling all to pieces at once. Such is my predicament and it looks like I'm going to have to rob a bank to supply the necessary funds for the face lifting. (Boy, is it going to have to be a large bank).

[illegible] how the meals at the lunch room dropped off after the evaluation committee left. I'm not [illegible] the [illegible] at dinner [illegible] sun shining [illegible] o'clock. You [illegible] or no shoes [illegible] And we wonder why everybody has pneumonia. (You know, this actually happened.)

Heard a couple of the senior fellas in a conference the other day about fraternities. One of them already had the one he was going to be in all picked out. Seems like he'd worry more about getting into college first and worry about the sorority later on. Well, which one had you guys rather be in?

Brother McKinney says he hasn't been having record-breaking crowds lately at the First Methodist Church on Sunday night. I can vouch for that fact, because I've been there. If you have no where else to go, how about coming to church next Sunday night.

TWO OF CHILTON COUNTY'S VETERAN FARM TRAINEES

Marshall and Frank Smith are farmers by birth, by trade, and by any and all ways that any men could be farmers. They not only like to farm, but they have the know how and the wisdom it takes to make a living on the farm. They are men that know it takes a lot of hard work, definite planning, and a hard fight against insects and disease to put quality and quantity products on the market at the right time. Marshall and Frank are always willing to study market reports and to take advantage of them. They realize that marketing products is just as important as growing them for high returns on the money they have invested.

Frank says timing is important in all farming operation. Plant on time, cultivate on time, harvest on time, and you can expect a good living from the farm.

The Smiths have a sound farming program, divided between cows, hogs, truck crops and cotton. Each animal and care of land is well cared for on the Smiths' farm.

Talking with the Smiths, you would get the impression that farming is all work and no play, but this is not true. They have several fox dogs and enjoy hunting very much. They are leaders in their community, interested in school and all community activities. These men know farming is a little of inspiration and a lot of perspiration.

Your reporter visited for the first time the Pleasant Valley (Jones) Methodist Church at Jones, Ala., attending the funeral of Mrs. Lucy Thomas. Upon arrival at this church you sense a feeling of being welcome and you are welcomed by those who worship there. As you enter you breathe clean, refreshing air. Your eyes wander up the isles to the pulpit, you look upward and the lighting fixtures are spotlessly clean, the entire church is a joy to behold. All painted white—venetian blinds hung perfectly; everyone of them opened just alike and balanced perfectly. Beautiful fodils, flowers that someone shared. Just enough to make a restful, peaceful feeling. That church and its members are to be commended.

Not one single thing in that church is out of place. Not one sign of a trace of dust. Everything and everyone in perfect harmony it seemed. At peace with the world. Then as you leave the building you take a glance around the grounds. There you find just as in the inside everything in order, and as you walk away from the church your attention is focused on the beautiful pines around the building. This visit will be a long remembered one; in fact it will remain a memory. A feeling of thankfulness that I had a chance to pass that way.

Some Thoughts For Better Government

To select your aids in your business, do you consider qualification as well as character?

Would you employ an inexperienced man and expect equal results?

Do you think that the people are entitled to the highest possible return for their investment?

Inexperienced help is expensive to any business. Your County business is no exception.

Thousands of dollars can be saved the county annually by having a man that is familiar with the repair of equipment and knowing the value of second hand equipment when time comes to trade. The undersigned has had valuable experience in this line.

Think of these important matters when you cast your vote on May 6th... I have had 25 years experience of the type of work required of members of the County Board of Revenue and Control.

GET GOOD STAND OF LESPEDEZA SERICEA

Auburn, Ala. — Evesy year many Alabama farmers fail to get a good stand of lespedeza sericea.

D. R. Harbor, A.P.I. Extension Service agronomist, advises these farmers that in most cases a good seedbed is necessary to get a good stand. The soil should be prepared by turning the land and harrowing to get a well pulverized, firm seedbed. It is made firm by disking, cultipacking, and rains.

"A good job of planting usually results in a good stand of sericea," adds Harbor. "On a seedbed prepared in the right manner plant at least 30 pounds of freshly sacrified seed. If the germination is under 82 per cent, increase the seeding rate proportionately. Freshen the surface of all soils with a section harrow or weeder, and follow with a cultipacker or roller. Cross-sow the seed to get uniform distribution. Except on heavy clays, cover with a roller or leave seed uncovered unless there is danger of drifting when heavy rains occur."

Harbor says that the thing to d on heavy clay soils is to freshe the seedbed lightly with a sectio harrow or weeder and follow wit a cultipacker or roller. Cross-sow the seed, but do not cover. Operate the cultipacker on the contour to prevent washing by rains.

Meeting of Adult Choir—

The March meeting of the choir was held on Monday night with Mrs. Bill Davenport, with 15 members present and two visitors. In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. Nell Jones, presided. Rev. Carroll read the 98th Psalm for a Scripture lesson. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Roll was called and members presented their love gifts.

It was agreed to elevate the choir loft, men of the choir to do the labor. Refreshments to be served.

The April meeting will be held in the basement of the church, with a covered dish supper. The menu committee, Mrs. Florence Pope, Mrs. Homer Carroll and Mrs. Geo. Naish.

The story of the hymn of the month, "Break thou the Bread of Life," was read by Mrs. W. J. Preston. The 1st and 4th verses of the hymn were sung, led by Mrs. Preston, song leader. Mrs. Preston also read the story of the classic, a special arrangement by Igor Stravinsky. The devotional was given by Mrs. B. C. Lenoir, reading the scripture, Matthew 10:23-31. Mrs. V. O. The group brought quilt squares and paid ten cents each to help defray the expenses of a trip as outlined by the County Council. The Jemison Club will make a quilt, the proceeds from this is to be used in the club, meeting for the day to make the quilt.

The hostess served a delicious salad plate with iced tea to 14 members. Meeting closed with reading of collect.

A flower exchange was then held, conducted by Mrs. A. A. Beaman, this being a miscellaneous item of the program. The program chairman, Mrs. C. L. Walton, then presented Mrs. Leo Langston, who received the book, "The Mature Mind," by Harry Overstreet. The Club decided to study this book by chapters at a future meeting. FOOD MERCHANTS SELL FRESHER VEGETABLES

Alabama farmers and retail food merchants are natural allies in the business of producing and distributing foods demanded by consumers.

For this reason, county Extension agents in Alabama are helping bring the two groups closer together by conducting training schools for these fresh fruit and vegetable handlers.

Already trained in some of the best methods of handling produce are 97 retailers in Mobile, Houston, Etowah, Jefferson, and Geneva Counties," states Austin Ezzell, A.P.I. Extension Service distributor marketing specialist. Similar schools are being planned by county Extension workers in other areas

To The Citizens And Taxpayers Of Chilton County and the State Of Alabama

Roland L. Sparkman and C. R. Keener, State Examiners of Public Accounts made the following statements about the Commissioners Court records of Chilton County which they claim they had examined, and swore to as being made in accordance with generally accepted Auditing Standards which were approved by Ralph P. Eagerton, Chief Examiner of Public Accounts of the State of Alabama, and filed October 21, 1949.

Roland L. Sparkman and C. R. Keener swore, I quote from the Auditor's Report, "Present Examiners have read every word of every minute recorded during the period of Judge Smith's administration covered by the report."

If Roland L. Sparkman and C. R. Keener swore the truth then they overlooked the bids for gasoline, diesel oil and road machinery, which was advertised in the Chilton County News and recorded on the minutes of the Commissioners Court records.

Roland L. Sparkman and C. R. Keener charged me with making illegal payments for purchases made by your Commissioners for over a hundred and fifty dollars ($150.00), which they claim were not advertised for bids as required by Local Act. The illegal charges made by Roland L. Sparkman and C. R. Keener, which they claim were not advertised, amount to thirteen thousand, one hundred and seventeen dollars and sixty five cents ($13,117.65) and constitute a part of the So-Called "Missing Funds" of Chilton County.

The above items were advertised for bids as required by law. The Commissioners Court advertised for bids in the Chilton County News and said advertisement appears on page eight (8) of the issue of the Chilton County News October 10th, 1946, and the Commissioners Court received sealed bids which were opened in the presence of the Court for one (1) eight thousand (8,000) gallon tank car of gasoline and one (1) eight thousand (8,000) gallon tank car of fuel oil and the contract was awarded to the lowest and best bidder and all of said bids were recorded in Book No. 27 of the Commissioners Court advertised for bids in the Chilton County News and said advertisement was published in the Chilton County News on page 8, May 2nd, 1946, for one (1) eight thousand (8,000) tank car of gasoline, one (1) eight thousand (8,000) gallon tank car of diesel fuel, and the contract was awarded to the lowest and best bidder. All bids were recorded on the Commissioners Court Minutes.

On Janpary 17, 1946, the Commissioners Court advertised in the Chilton County News and said advertisement was on page eight (8). The Court advertised for road machinery and the contract was awarded to the lowest and best bidder. All bids were recorded in the Commissioners Court Minutes.

On December 19, 1946, the Commissioners Court advertised for one (1) ten thousand (10,000) gallon tank car of gasoline and one (1) ten thousand (10,000) gallon tank car of diesel fuel and the contract was awarded to the lowest and best bidder. All bids were recorded in

POPLAR SPRINGS CHURCH

We were happy to have 100 present at church Sunday. I'm sure every one present enjoyed the very good sermon by Bro. Cook at the 11 o'clock hour. The bad weather hindered lots of our people from coming out to service Sunday night, but Bro. Lauton Wilson brought a good message, in the absence of our pastor who began a revival at Randolph Sunday night.

Everyone be making plans to attend our all-day Easter singing. We are expecting a great day of singing and a good dinner for everyone. Also let us pray that we will have a great revival, beginning on Easter Sunday night. Bro. Fred Lowery will be the evangelist.

"BRAIN STORM"

Now for a preview of the rollicking comedy:

Willoughby Adams (Myron Levine), a shy, meek, and lovable boy of seventeen, has for some time been rooming with four of his "friends" Chuck Martin (Don Eiland), Johnny Newton (Bobby Shaw), Harvey Downs (Phillip Lawrence), and Ralph Jones (Joe Blair), who have completely taken advantage of his meekness. Willoughby has never taken part in sports because he considers them highly dangerous, but nevertheless, the rumor gets started that he is to be captain of the football team because of his unbelievable running speed. Sally Bishop (Lenore Oglesby), reporter for the college newspaper, comes to interview him when he announces that he has no intention of playing football. In spite of this, Sally likes him from the beginning, which only serves to make Chuck jealous. Tired of seeing Willoughby being taken advantage of, Inner Willy (Joe Grooms), his conscience, comes in to reform him. He soon succeeds in making him less meek, but in the meantime Willoughby's three old maid aunts, Aunt Louise (Alice Deramus), Aunt Olga (Ann Huddleston), and Aunt Hester (Carolyn Mims,) have come to visit him, and with them they have brought Marybelle Turner (Virginia Bennett), Willoughby's childhood sweetheart. Marybelle is one of the dullest, most uninteresting, and thoroughly dislikable creatures ever seen around the college; so everyone immediately finds something which he must do at once—everyone, that is, except Willoughby. Poor Willoughby is once again stuck with Marybelle. Lottie (Grace Lawrence), Marion (Jettie Faye Ellison), Anna (Ruby Crew), Kay (Debecca Popwell), and Dorothy (Billie Jean Poole,) are five college girls who, along with Coach Lloyd (Billy Powell), and Hank Johnson (Joe Popwell), launch a campaign to persuade Willoughby to play football. To find out what happens, be sure and see that rib-tickling riot, "The Brain Storm."

COUNTIES: Lively

A LIVELY RACE for the probate judgeship of Chilton County is quickening the political pulse of the prosperous Central Alabama county, with most observers giving the edge in the five-man Democratic field to Thorsby's lumberman John M. Higgins (see cut).

As a young businessman who has shown a keen interest in public affairs, Higgins hopes to restore progressive government to the county, which has had troubles around its courthouse of late, stemming from what state examiners called a misuse of $237,000 in county funds. Several indictments and four convictions have grown out of the case.

Believing that proved business methods should be used in public offices, Higgins is campaigning on a platform in which a key plank is the use of tax money to effect permanent improvements. A Navy veteran, he has given freely of his time in public matters, and was one of the 10 men in the U. S. appointed to advise the government on wartime and emergency price-fixing of Southern lumber. Lumbermen give him credit for creating changes in governmental specifications which made possible the use of Southern lumber in filling orders for crating and packaging, which in particular was a boon for small mills.

Probate Judge W. L. Parrish has not offered for re-election, but former judge J. Lee Smith, one of those convicted in the alleged fund misuse, has asked for the office. His case is now under appeal.

Another Smith—Fred—is in the race. He is a grocer and mayor at Jemison. The other two Democratic candidates are tax assessor N. L. Roberts and Dave Tingle, a veterans' teacher.

Whoever wins the Democratic nomination will run in November against Omar L. Reynolds, the only Republican candidate. He served as probate judge J. Lee Smith's adviser for several years, as county attorney under a coalition government.

> ONE of the indictments returned by the Clarke County grand jury charges 110 counts of alleged misuse of county funds. Arrest and identification of the accused person was expected this week. The jury's action followed a state examiners' report charging $4,168 worth of county warrants were issued but never received by persons whose names were used.

> FORMER state parole board chairman Howell Turner is running for probate judge in Wilcox County, against incumbent J. M. McLeod and Reg Albritton, Jr. In Monroe County veteran politico E. T. (Shorty) Millsap is opposed by Peterman's J. P. Turpin. Former probate judge Mrs. Fannie C.

This Month in rural Alabama

Fat Stock Shows Boost Alabama's Beef Industry

THIS month some 1,500 4-H Club members will be leading their prize beef steers into the ring at six district fat stock shows located in all parts of the state. And while only six of the young showmen will come out on top with grand champions, all of Alabama will have gained much from the fat stock show program.

For a number of years now, interest in these shows has been high. And the good results of this far-sighted program are evident to even the casual observer. Throughout the state beef production is booming. There are now probably more cattle on Alabama farms than ever before—and the quality of the livestock is continually improving.

Much of this improvement can be attributed to the fat steer program carried on by farm boys and girls and promoted by businessmen and farmers. Many former 4-H'ers are now prosperous cattlemen. They learned the "know-how" of beef production as club members. And through their projects they demonstrated to others what can be done in the beef business.

The individual club boy and his calf may seem an insignificant or very small part of the Alabama farm picture. But when the work of all these young showmen is combined and multiplied by the number of years the program has been in effect, that one boy and his calf spell progress.

Limestone County Artificial Breeding Association members are shown above at one of their recent monthly meetings. At these get-togethers they outline the program for the coming month and iron out the problems that sometimes crop up. Shown at one of their meetings in County Agent F. K. Agee's office in Athens are, left to right, seated, Joe Maples, W. A. Owens, and Otis Pyron. Standing are Everett Chandler, John Batts, Herman H. Marks, association technician, and Mr. Agee.

During January, 64 cows were bred by the association and reports show that the conception rate for the county is climbing. Businessmen and dairymen are cooperating to make the program a big success.

"Whoa Boy--Hold It Right There"

It takes lots of patience and practice to mould a thousand pounds of snorting, prancing beef-on-the-hoof into a stylish, gentle show animal, but each spring hundreds of young 4-H Club members make it look easy when they lead their fat steers into the show ring.

While there's much glamour attached to the sawdust circuit, there is also a practical side to the beef show business. Farm boys like Oscar Jones, Jr., shown at right with his two entries, learn a lot about how to feed, manage, fit, and show their animals. And in the show ring, competing with dozens of other young cattlemen, they soon learn what it takes to make a champion animal.

Young Jones, a member of the Prattville 4-H Club, is fitting his animals out for the Autauga County and Montgomery District Fat Stock Shows. No stranger to the show ring, Oscar has brought home a good share of ribbons from hog shows around the area during the past several years.

Farmers Advised To Study Feed Needs For Livestock Production

SUPPLIES of feeds both on and off farms are becoming increasingly important to Alabama farmers because of greater livestock numbers. Joseph H. Yeager, associate agricultural economist, A.P.I. Experiment Station, advises farmers that since feeding decisions are influenced by the kinds and amounts of feeds available, they should study the feed situation and look ahead to see what is likely to happen. He points out that livestock plans may need some changes based on the present and future supply and demand for feeds.

Yeager explains that at the beginning of 1952, stocks of grain and hay in Alabama were down substantially from the year before. Stocks of corn on farms were about 23 per cent less and hay 12 per cent less than at the same time in 1951.

Corn stocks off farms were somewhat greater than a year ago. Hay supplies were less due to the severe winter of 1950-51 and the drought in the summer of 1951, the economist says. For the nation, he adds, corn and oat supplies on hand Jan. 1, 1952, were also less than the amount on hand a year ago.

For the first quarter (October-December) of the feeding year, 1951-52, national supplies of commercial feeds—cottonseed, soybean, and peanut meal and cake, by-products, and other feeds—were seven per cent greater than for the same period last year. He is quick to point out, however, that although supplies are greater on a national level, prices of commercial feeds are somewhat higher due to greater demand caused by increased numbers of livestock.

Have A Handbook?

PERHAPS you have a copy of the Handbook of Alabama Agriculture—the publication with thousands of how-to-do-it facts that help make farming a lot more profitable.

But if you don't have a copy of this fifth edition of the Handbook, you probably will want one. More copies are off the press—and ready for you at your county agent's office.

The price for the 398-page publication is 75 cents. It is published by the A.P.I. Extension Service for the benefit of all Alabamians and is sold at cost.

The Alabama Crop Improvement Association has named the following crops as eligible for certification in 1952: Corn—both hybrid and open-pollinated, cotton, oats, grain sorghum, wheat, barley, tall fescue, reseeding crimson clover, soybeans, peanuts, pumpkins, millet, pole beans, cowpeas, and watermelons. There are, of course, limitations on eligible varieties and strains of the crops which can be certified.

PUNCHING HOLES—At right above Billy Capps, left, punches holes as Denver Walker, new president of the Lee County 4-H Dairy Club watches. This is explained in Step 5.

FINISHED PRODUCT—At right Tommy Cherry shows off a finished halter. This halter was made in about 10 minutes for a cost of about $1.

Lee 4-H Club Boys Make Dairy Calf Halters

A half dozen new junior dairymen, attending their first meeting of the Lee County 4-H Dairy Club recently, were asked this question: "How many of you would like to have a leather show halter, custom-made just to fit your heifer?"

Every new member raised his hand. "Sure," they said. "We would like to have a custom-made show halter, but wouldn't it cost a lot of money?" "I was looking at one in a catalog the other day," one young fellow piped up, "but it cost $4."

"Well, the kind I'm talking about will only cost about $1," explained Parker Childress, assistant county agent. "You make it yourself in 10 minutes."

The club leader wasn't joking, either. Every member of the Lee County 4-H Dairy Club now has at least one of the leather show halters. And each of them has made his own halter.

It's not hard to do. You can learn to make leather halters, too. Let's follow Mr. Childress step by step as he teaches eight new members of the Dairy Club how it's done.

Materials Needed

2 pieces of strap leather (about 6 feet long).
2 1-inch rings.
1 small buckle.
12 ¼-inch rivets.
1 snap with ring attached.

These are all the materials you will need to buy. And all of them can be bought at most hardware stores, farm supply stores, or shoe repair shops.

Other materials needed can be found around most any dairy farm. They are a sharp knife, a leather punch, a piece of string or tape measure, and a riveter.

The strap leather should be about three-fourths to one inch wide. A light brown or tan leather makes a better looking halter. If strap leather is not available, two ordinary dog leashes can be used for the halter.

Step 1. Take the tape measure (or piece of string) and measure your dairy calf's head. Measure across the top of the nose, about six inches from the tip of the calf's nose. This is where the nosepiece will fit. Let's say this distance is 12 inches.

Now measure for the sidepiece of the halter. Start at the corner of the calf's mouth, on the left side, and measure around behind the ears and over the neck to the corner of the mouth on the right side. This is where the top or sidepiece of the halter will fit.

Now you are ready to cut out the halter and put it together.

Step 2. Measure for the nosepiece. Our measurement on the calf was 12 inches, but we must allow two inches to take care of the riveted joint. Cut the strap 14 inches long.

Now add eight inches to the measurement around the side of the calf's head and cut the other strap. This strap must be cut into two parts. Cut one part 12 inches long. Leave the other part of this strap; it can be cut after the halter is finished.

Step 3. Fold back the ends of each strap about one inch. Now place the folded ends of the straps through the rings. Rivet the 14-inch strap to the rings. Then the 12-inch strap. And, finally, the long strap.

Step 4. Place the buckle on the loose end of the 12-inch strap and rivet it securely.

Step 5. Take a leather punch and make four or five holes in the loose end of the long strap.

Now we have the headpiece of the halter finished. Take the remaining strap and make the lead for the calf. Make a six-inch loop in one end of the strap and rivet together. Then rivet the other end of the strap to the ring attached to the snap.

Step 6. Hold the headpiece of the halter in front of you so the nosepiece is facing you. Run the snap through the ring on your right and snap it onto the ring on the left side of the headpiece.

Well, what do you know—a show halter. And when you lead your prize calf to the head of the line at the show this year, she'll probably be the proudest calf in the show.

And besides, you saved money on the halter, too. You have a halter that would cost $3.75 or $4.00 if you had to buy it.

Sound farm planning and good farm management are needed more now than ever before. Better management offers the surest way to overcome labor shortages, spread the work more profitably over the year, balance crop production with livestock production, get production for market on more acres, and increase farm income.

Along the Way

with

P. O. DAVIS
DIRECTOR, API EXTENSION SERVICE

APRIL is the No. 1 month of planting on Alabama farms. More acres are planted then than during any other month of the year.

It is, therefore, a month of high importance in farming. Every farmer knows that the time of planting, condition of seedbed, and fertilizer are the major factors in production.

Most of us recall that poor stands of cotton in Alabama last year were due, not entirely to weather, but also to poor seedbeds at time of planting.

Another reminder about time of planting is that most farmers of Alabama have been planting cotton too late for biggest yields, and many have planted corn too early.

Your county agent has authentic research information as to the best time for planting cotton, corn, and other crops. It will pay any farmer to make use of this information.

I still say that for most of Alabama the best time to plant corn is late April or early May in order for the corn to catch summer rains—due from late June through July. But I well remember that rains were few and far between last summer.

This may cause farmers to wonder about the best time to plant corn. My statements are based upon long-time averages which may not apply to any one year. So, I stick to them.

AS 1952 farming proceeds we need to keep reminding ourselves that U. S. farmers are expected to produce 50 per cent more this year than farmers produced 10 years ago; even more than in 1951.

This production will come from about the same acreage with fewer people on farms. It is clear, therefore, that for fewer people to produce more, each farmer must increase his production.

This can be done by doing every farm job better, including using good seed and more fertilizer of the right kind. Diligent insect control and other measures will help.

ONCE more I mention corn because of its importance. It is our No. 1 cultivated crop in land use. Each year Alabama farmers plant about two acres in corn for each one in cotton.

But we don't do as good a job with corn as we do with cotton. Many farmers fail to plant corn at the right time, to plant the right seed, to fertilize properly, to plant thick enough, or fail in other respects. The aim every year should be a high yield per acre—on every acre.

Every bushel that can be made will be needed, first, to increase the farmers' income and, second, for the nation's grain and meat supplies, which are already too low.

Most Alabama farmers can make good money on corn, provided they are good producers and use their corn to best advantage.

A mighty good way to use it is to feed it to hogs on green pastures. Seven bushels consumed by hogs on enough green grazing should produce 100 pounds of pork in addition to improving the land. There are, of course, other profitable ways to use corn.

Corn is only one of several grain crops that grow in Alabama. It is the most important. But grain sorghum also has its place.

We are now facing a serious shortage of grains for feed. Livestock numbers are in excess of feed. The challenge to every farmer is to produce more of any kind of good feed. Each farmer will study his own situation and produce feeds that are adapted to his farm and to his type of farming.

1. LOOKS GOOD FROM HERE—Oscar Cobb inspects the grazing in one of his dairy cattle pastures. Uniontown now boasts about 340 dairy farmers.

2. FUTURE SIRLOIN AND T-BONE—Herds such as this can be found on almost any farm near Uniontown. This group of beef calves is on the Oscar Cobb farm.

4. STILL A BIG ITEM—Despite the stampede to get into the cattle business, Uniontown farmers' pocketbooks are still getting a big lift from cotton. The 1951 crop brought in $1,500,000. Shown checking samples are Bob Long, left, and County Agent Jack Tucker.

RECIPE FOR APRIL

By MARY HULSEY

ARE you constantly searching cookbooks for meat extender recipes? Meat is an expensive item on the menu. Most of us like to include meat in our meal plans at least once daily. Ground meat can be used in lots of ways, but one of the most appetizing is a Southern Beef Roll.

SOUTHERN BEEF ROLL

2 cups ground beef, cooked
2 T. minced onion
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup gravy or tomato sauce
¼ cup lard
2 T. chopped green pepper
3 t. baking powder
1 t. salt
⅔ cup milk.

Combine meat, 1 cup gravy, and vegetables. Make biscuit dough. Roll dough into rectangular sheet about ⅛ inch thick. Spread with beef mixture and roll up as for jelly roll. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) for about 30 minutes, or until well browned. Slice thick and serve with extra gravy or tomato sauce. (See recipe below.)

TOMATO SAUCE

2 slices bacon, chipped
2 T. flour
¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 T. Worcestershire sauce
½ t. salt
¼ t. pepper

Lightly brown the bacon. Add flour to the meat drippings. Stir to a smooth paste. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer 20 minutes.

Uniontown's Title

The Biggest Little Cow Town In The South

UNIONTOWN is looking for a new title. This small Black Belt town is setting its sights on the title of "Biggest Little Cow Town of the South." And records show that it has come a long way toward reaching this goal.

Within six or eight miles of Uniontown 15,000 head of beef cattle and about 4,000 dairy cattle are grazing peacefully on pastures that are second to none.

"Almost every farmer is either a dairyman or a beef cattle producer," says County Agent Jack Tucker. "Within a radius of six miles are 40 grade A dairies and over 300 grade B dairymen."

"We no longer count the cattlemen," says Bob Long, local cotton buyer, real estate man, and livestock producer. "It's much easier to count the farmers who aren't livestock men. There are at least 150 commercial beef herds around Uniontown. In fact, almost everyone has a few cattle."

The city fathers, civic clubs, and businessmen are working overtime trying to keep pace with the fast development. The Uniontown Coliseum was completed a few months ago and opened officially with the Negro Dairy Show held last fall.

The Uniontown Stock Yards is another monument to the fast growing cattle industry. Built with an eye to the future, the modern structure will handle anything from the meekest lamb to the wildest steer. It is one of the most complete and modern cattle auction places in the entire South.

Much of the progress has been brought about by large plantations changing from cotton to livestock. Oscar Cobb says that he is now operating his plantation with one-sixth of the labor required for cotton farming. Forty families were required to work the plantation cotton crop, but with dairy cows and beef cattle only seven families are needed.

However, King Cotton is far from being a defeated monarch. He still has a pretty loud voice in the farm income story. The 1951 cotton crop brought in about $1,500,000 from 5,300 bales ginned in Uniontown.

Western cattlemen moving in with their herds have affected the picture too, but they can account for only a small portion of the expansion.

The greatest expansion, especially in dairying, can be credited to small farmers who are adding livestock to balance the farm budget. And with all of these people working together, it's a pretty safe bet that Uniontown will soon be "The Biggest Little Cow Town in the South."

Community Spirited Club Women

Members of the Shady Grove Home Demonstration Club in Washington County are for a project if it has anything to do with community service. And one of their special club projects has been a home nursing course for each club member. Now they are working on a project to benefit the whole county. They are making a complete layette which they will give to the county health department to be used for premature babies. Shown above working on the layette are, left to right, Mrs. Woddie Knight; Home Agent Frances Adams, standing; Mrs. Otto Dearman; Mrs. Elmon Rogers, secretary; Mrs. Maxie Adams, vice president; Mrs. Fred Hoffman; Mrs. Paul Jenne, and Mrs. A. Lee Anderson, president of the Shady Grove Club.

FOR A NICKEL A DAY—Cattle stay in good condition for a feed cost of about five cents per day per head. The two grade beef cows at left have had nothing but sage straw, dry leaves, dry grass, "hot meal," and water.

Cows Thrive On "Hot Meal"

New Cattle Feeding System In The Black Belt

A new method of wintering beef cattle is sweeping the Black Belt. Cattlemen are cutting labor required for feeding 700 per cent and reducing wintering costs at the same time.

The new system consists of feeding "hot meal" to cattle on poor pastures. This hot meal is a mixture of cottonseed meal and salt.

Most cattlemen are mixing three parts of cottonseed meal and one part of salt and feeding free choice to the animals. The mixture gives cattle a craving for water and high carbon content roughage. With this mixture cattle will eat dry grass, broom sage, and even dry leaves.

Carl Golson declares, "This is the best system I have ever seen for wintering cattle. It only takes one trough about two feet wide and 10 feet long to take care of 100 head of cattle. I'm wintering my cows for about five cents per head per day."

With this system hot meal is put out once a week. With other protein feeds, such as pellets, putting out feed is a daily task. The amount of mixture each animal eats is controlled by the ratio of salt to cottonseed meal.

"If the cows are not getting enough of the mixture simply cut down slightly on the amount of salt," says County Agent Jimmie Mathews. "Or if cattle are eating too much of the hot meal simply add more salt to the mixture.

"With this system," continues Mathews, "wild cows, weak cows, and nervous cows all get an even break." With some other types of protein feed strong cows or domineering cows get more than their share of protein feed.

"However, water and plenty of roughage are two essentials of this practice," he warns. "This system should not be followed if there is not an adequate supply of water and plenty of low quality roughage available."

At least 25 to 30 herds are being fed this mixture now and all of the cattlemen are well pleased with the results.

The system is intended for maintenance rations only. However, some cattlemen report that their cattle have made gains on this type of feed.

New Four Star Bull At State Stud

One of the new bulls in the A.P.I. Experiment Station artificial breeding stud at Auburn is the seven-year-old desirably proven Jersey bull, Remus Lightning Coronator, shown at right.

This bull comes from Mount Vernon, Washington, and his first six daughters to complete milking tests averaged 10,489 pounds of milk testing 5.6 per cent butterfat with a total of 587 pounds of butterfat. He is a four-star bull and his proven production transmitting ability should be of much value in improving Alabama dairy herds now using the artificial breeding program offered by the station.

YOUNG pines on burned areas are readily susceptible to beetle kill. These areas should be checked and infested trees cut before they are too far gone to sell or use on the farm.

CORN and hogs are as inseparable as ham and eggs. More corn means more market hogs. And more hogs to sell means greater farm income. A five-bushel increase in the state's corn acreage this year—if marketed through hogs—would increase the income from hogs by 35 to 40 million dollars. Research has shown that the last of April is the best time to plant the main corn crop so as to catch the usual July rains and make the highest yields. So this month it is important to do everything possible to prepare, plant, fertilize, and make a big corn crop to sell through market hogs.

COMPLETE seeding sericea early this month. Start grazing stands of sericea one year old, or older, when plants are four to six inches high. Keep the plants grazed close so they will not make big, woody stems.

NOW is the time to locate a supply of grain sorghum seed so you will be ready when planting time comes in June. Grain sorghum paid off for many farmers during the long drought last year.

THE spring and early summer months are the best times to cut fence posts because the bark can be removed easily. Timber for posts can be obtained from thinning young stands of timber, clearing for pasture or cropland, and removing undesirable timber from woodlands.

PEACH and plum trees in most home orchards do not produce quality fruit because they are not sprayed. To prevent brown rot and worms from getting most of the fruit crop, trees must be sprayed four to six times. The first fruit spray is put on when about two-thirds of the petals have dropped. The second spray is applied when fruit is large enough to see or when three-fourths of the shucks are off. Spray peaches and plums every two weeks until about one month before harvest.

FARMING the year around requires heavy use of fertilizer applied at different times of the year for different crops. Also, more insecticides and pest controls are necessary. Keep your orders in for these and other materials well ahead of the time you need them.

AS clover and alfalfa pastures become lush, watch the ewe flock for bloat. Sheep are very susceptible to this condition, and a good many ewes may be lost if conditions become right for bloat.

WHEN working around machinery, or in damp locations, use a substantial rubber-covered cord. A rubber-covered plug and socket with a protective guard should be used on portable lights, while an armored plug and connector should be used on extension cords.

SEWING ARTISTRY—At right above Mrs. Brandon Graham straightens the drapes in a bedroom of the new Graham home. Her ability to "sew a fine seam" has saved many dollars in decorating the house.

HOLSTEIN HERD REPLACEMENTS—These thrifty heifers at right will be used to help build up the Grahams' milking herd. Brandon Graham purchased 10 Holstein heifers and is also growing out 10 Jersey heifers raised on the farm. He plans to increase his milking herd to around 35 cows, using about equal numbers of Holstein and Jersey animals. He is now milking around 20 cows.

Diversified Farming--Cotton, Dairying, And Beef--Changes Tough Times To Good Times

WHENEVER things get to looking tough all over, Brandon Graham, of Omega, has a sure-fire method of chasing the blues. He just looks back over the past four years—back to the early spring of 1948 when he decided to start farming. Times were really tough for him then.

Brandon recalls that when he decided to start farming his assets amounted to a good wife, a bedroom suite, and $35 cash. The cash didn't last long but he and his wife have been working long hours every day since then to build up their assets.

The first year Brandon borrowed money to make a crop and wound up the season with 27 bales of cotton on 30 acres. But "good times" hadn't come to stay. As Brandon puts it, "1949 was disastrous." He planted 80 acres of cotton that spring and had visions of really getting on his feet, but just about everything that can happen to a cotton farmer hit Brandon that year and he picked out only 16 bales.

That tough cotton year put the young Bullock County farmer to thinking about changing his farming system in order to bring in more than one form of income. The quickest way he could figure on bringing in more cash was to start milking a few cows. He had several cows on the place and after buying a couple he finally began selling grade B milk in late 1949.

Brandon planted 25 acres of cotton in 1950 and made 16 bales on the crop. But in between planting and picking time he was a busy farmer. He designed and began to build a grade A dairy barn. And he worked on improving his pastures, grew some corn, and built some fences.

Mrs. Graham was busy, too. She had hopes of eventually getting their 180-acre farm paid for and was doing all she could to make ends more than meet. In spare moments, she was also doing some high-powered hoping, dreaming, and planning on building a home some day.

In the fall of 1950, with a pretty fair crop of cotton ginned out and a good crop of corn on hand, the Grahams moved their growing dairy herd into the new barn and began selling grade A milk. Dairying began to really pay off for the farmer because he was using a sound system of low cost production. Homegrown grain and cottonseed meal obtained by trading his seed for meal were the basis of his feed program. Good grazing and hay helped more than a little. And winter grazing crops pushed milk production upward.

Last year the Grahams could begin seeing the results of their labors. They were milking between 18 and 20 cows and had about 20 replacement heifers growing off to a good start. The cotton crop was looking fine, too, so they decided to begin building that home they had been thinking about.

After the usual delays, they got the home started last summer and moved into their new, two-bedroom home late last fall. Mrs. Graham says she still doesn't have everything in the home just like she wants it. But she is spending a lot of her time making drapes and prettying up the place.

Brandon Graham has come a long way since he started from scratch back in 1948, but, as he puts it, he's just begun to move. Brandon plans to build up his dairy herd to 30 or 35 cows and he has started a small herd of beef cattle which he plans to use as another source of income.

Although livestock farming takes up most of his time Graham still uses a good bit of cotton in his farming system. He made 16 bales on 15 acres last year and will plant around 40 acres this spring.

In addition to their heavy farming schedule, the Grahams also take an active part in community and county activities. Mrs. Graham is past president of the Omega Home Demonstration Club and is secretary-treasurer of the Bullock County Home Demonstra-

Mechanized Tree Planting

Planting more trees faster with better final results is the aim of these men and the machine they are admiring. The piece of equipment is a tree planter presented to the farm agencies of Mobile County recently by the American National Bank of Mobile. The presentation was the outcome of a need developing when over a million pines were planted in the county during last winter—170,000 of these were planted by 4-H Club boys.

TWO-IN-ONE HOUSE—At left above are the two four-room houses Mr. and Mrs. Kitchens, of Greensboro, Rt. 3, joined together to make one large house. The home now has two baths and eight rooms.

SPRUCING UP THE GROUNDS—At center the Kitchens family works on the job of rearranging the shrubbery around their two-house home.

Operation Join-Up

Two-House Home Solves Their Building Problem

WHEN the Talley Kitchens family outgrew their small four-room house they found an answer to their problem right on the farm.

They joined two four-room houses together to make an attractive, roomy farmhouse.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kitchens knew of the headaches of remodeling or adding to their house. So they decided to try the easier way. About one-fourth of a mile across the hill was a neat tenant house that was just what the Kitchens needed to make their house large enough. So they simply moved it over and added it on to their house.

They now have eight rooms and two baths, a large kitchen, and a large screened-in sitting room.

With a crew of men Mr. Kitchens jacked up the smaller house, put rollers under it, and moved it across the road and over the pasture with a heavy-duty tractor. Moving was no easy job—still he had the house in place in one-half day.

To make both buildings fit together and look right they built a small breezeway between the two houses. Now it would be hard for anyone to tell that this farm house wasn't built just like it stands.

Mrs. Kitchens is proud of the entire house but she says that she is more than pleased with the additional kitchen space.

They have just about completed the "marrying job" of the houses and are now going to work on landscaping plans. The finished product should be one of the most attractive houses in the Prairie-Eden community.

Blast Furnace Slag Tested For Value As Liming Material

BLAST furnace slag is of value as an agricultural liming material according to results of experiments conducted by the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station. Comparisons of slag to calcitic lime showed that two tons of slag per acre produced satisfactory growth of crimson clover and somewhat less alfalfa than did two tons of limestone per acre. In each case recommended fertilizers were used.

Blast furnace slag is essentially a calcium silicate slag and contains little or no phosphorus. This slag results from the reduction of iron ore in the production of pig iron; while basic slag, which is an important source of phosphorus, is a by-product from the manufacture of steel and is obtained from open-hearth furnaces or Bessemer converters.

Blast furnace slags vary in total neutralizing value or calcium carbonate equivalent. They are usually lower than good grade agricultural limestone and sufficient additional quantities must be applied to furnish equal calcium carbonate equivalents. This would be one-half to one-third more per acre for slags having total neutralizing values of 66 to 75 per cent calcium carbonate equivalent.

The test results revealed that it is important for the slag to be ground to a fineness approximating that of agricultural limestone. Material ground so that 50 per cent passed 40-mesh sieve gave satisfactory results in these experiments. (More detailed results of the experiments are available upon request from the Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station, Auburn, Alabama.)

IN THE MONEY—The Escambia County 4-H Club Council is in the money now. They received a $125 cash award in the state 4-H Club cotton program as winner in district three. Fifteen club boys in Escambia averaged more than a bale per acre on their projects last year. And an Escambia youngster, Shannon Beasley, of Falco, made the top yield in the state. His acre yielded 2,480 pounds of seed cotton. Above, Jack Morris, Flomaton, Rt. 1, county council president, holds the award check while three cotton growers, Glendell Bagwell, Douglas Bagwell, and James Bagwell, all of Brewton, Rt. 2, look on.

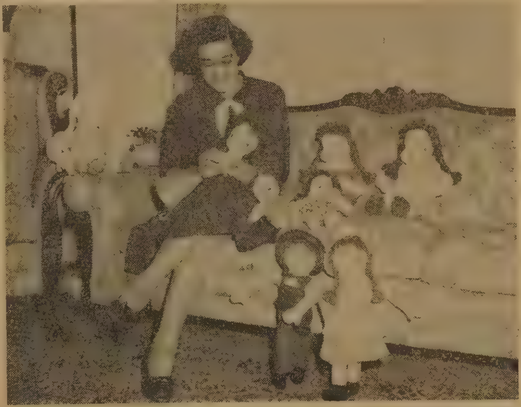
Rags To Riches

Handicraft Hobby Makes Profitable Business

TWO years ago Mrs. C. B. Blalock might have laughed at the suggestion of making sock and rag dolls as a hobby—much less as a business. But two years ago she hadn't tried her sewing talent at this handicraft.

Mrs. Blalock is known as a busy farm woman out in the Woodland community near Phenix City. She is president of the Woodland Drive Home Demonstration Club and takes an active part in church work. In fact, it was while serving as superintendent of the Cradle Roll Department of her church in 1950 that she first got interested in making dolls. She wanted to place a gift on the church Christmas tree for each of the young members of her department, so she hit on the idea of making dolls.



This accidental beginning started the homemaker on the road to success and her new-found hobby has blossomed into a paying business.

Last fall Home Agent Elizabeth Bryan suggested that Mrs. Blalock enter one of her dolls in the home demonstration exhibit at the Chattahoochee Valley Fair, in Columbus. And besides winning a first prize blue ribbon, the doll attracted much attention. Several visitors wanted to buy the doll or one like it, so Mrs. Blalock went to work on a commercial basis.

The dolls were not without praise at home, either. The Blalock grandsons clamored over the dolls so much that Mrs. Blalock soon worked up a pattern for boy dolls. She has now expanded her pattern series and makes several different types of boy and girl dolls, all with curls or pigtails of woolen yarn; each doll is attractively dressed. During the holidays Mrs. Blalock sold 23 dolls.

Mrs. Blalock says, "Doll-making is one of the most enjoyable hobbies I have ever had because it is such a pleasure to see how quickly the small children fall in love with these cuddly toys."

Alabama Vegetables Feed Chicago Families

GARDEN crops picked in Baldwin County today will be on the dinner table of some Chicago family day after tomorrow.

Radishes, turnips, and greens by the truck load are leaving for Memphis and Chicago markets almost every day. Packed in ice and shipped in refrigerated trucks, this produce reaches the consumer almost as fresh as when it was picked.

One of the truck-crop farmers who is helping to satisfy the northern housewife's request for fresh vegetables in winter and early spring is Ted Childress, of Robertsdale. Mr. Childress specializes in radishes and turnip greens.

The produce truck is hardly out of sight before Mr. Childress is getting ready to plant another crop of radishes on the same field. He makes successive plantings, about five to six weeks apart, for several months during the year.

To get a good stand and start the crops off quickly, Childress irrigates his truck-crop fields. Water is pumped from a well and spread on the fields by means of a heavy-duty sprinkling system.

When a field of radishes is ready to harvest, Childress gets the job done in a hurry. Thirty or 40 hands are in the field pulling up and tying the radishes in bundles of 18. At the packing shed a handful of men are washing the radishes in huge vats; another crew is picking up the washed bundles, packing them in ice in wooden crates, and loading them on the refrigerated trucks.

In a matter of a very few hours the radishes have traveled from the field, through the packing shed, and are well on their way to the dinner table.

Tomorrow they'll wind up in some kind of salad, but by this time another load of radishes is gliding along the highway toward Chicago.

Pen Feathers

by John Weeks

ALABAMA poultrymen have found that pullets started early so they will come into production by July will return them the greatest profits. But in order for these pullets to give the greatest return they must be protected from parasites and diseases during their growing period.

A flock of 300 pullets, going into the laying house this summer, should return to their owners during their first laying year a crop of eggs worth $2,500. And a crop of this value certainly deserves at least one acre of good grazing for at least three months. This acre for each 300 pullets should be ready when the birds come out of the brooder house this spring. One word of caution—be sure to fence them away from the old poultry yards in order to protect them from the diseases and parasites that now affect the old hens.

Vaccinate pullets for fowl pox and Newcastle disease. Don't take a chance on losing valuable egg producers this fall from an outbreak of either of these diseases. Birds can be protected at very low cost by vaccinating during the growing period.

Vaccinate with one of the viruses when birds are 10 weeks old—wait two weeks and vaccinate for the other. If birds are in excellent health they can be vaccinated with both vaccines at the same time. But it is not always possible to detect a diseased condition in the flock.

TURKEYS

Turkeys for the fall market should be put in the brooder house this month. Bronze turkeys are ready for market when 26 to 28 weeks old. Beltsville Whites should be started about 24 to 26 weeks before market time.

The time to start turkeys should be determined by the season of the year that you wish the birds to go to market.

Start turkeys on a good commercial turkey starter. They can be brooded in the same manner as baby chicks.

For further information on growing turkeys, ask your county agent for Extension Circular No. 318, "Alabama Turkeys."

VENTILATING BROILER HOUSES

Watch broiler house ventilation closely on warm afternoons this month. Good ventilation will mean a dry house, better growth, better feathering, and less danger from coccidiosis.

Ventilators should be opened on warm afternoons, but it will be necessary to close them again for the cool nights that follow. For this reason, windows that are now covered with tacked-on glass substitute or sacking material should be replaced with frames covered with such material so they can be opened and closed.

From now on through the summer months, at least one square foot of floor space should be provided for each broiler chick in the house.

Fat Stock Show Dates

ALABAMA'S fat stock show season gets off to an early start in Mobile this month and winds up in early May in Birmingham. These fat steer shows will be followed later in the spring and summer by several cow and calf or pasture calf shows. Dates for these events will be announced later.

April show dates are as follows: Mobile, 1-2; Dothan, 8-9; Selma, 9-10; Gadsden, 17-18; Montgomery, 29-30, and Birmingham, April 30-May 2.

MAN-MADE WATERWAY—This lengthy ditch stretches across more than three miles of bottom land in Clay County and drains a farming area of 360 acres. Occasionally one man may undertake the job of ditching a large area and bringing it into production, but it is seldom that as many as 10 landowners will work together closely on a project of this type. Cooperation is paying off in the form of new productive acres for the Clay County farmers who worked out this problem.

1. WASHING VAT—Turnips and radishes run through the huge washing vat by the tons. Here a group of workers on the Ted Childress farm wash produce to be shipped to northern markets.

2. FRESH AS A DAISY—Tomorrow these turnips and radishes will still be as fresh as they are right now, but they'll be 800 miles from Baldwin County. County Agent Frank Turner, left, and Ted Childress, Robertsdale, look at some bundles of turnips that have just come through the washing vat.

Don't Overlook Oats As Feed For Pigs And Breeding Stock

By G. B. PHILLIPS

THE value of oats as feed for hogs is often overlooked. Perhaps this is another case of not appreciating fully the many uses of the crops we grow.

Young green oats are almost as good as alfalfa for grazing by hogs. They furnish excellent fall, winter, and early spring grazing.

Mature oats can also have a prominent place in the hog-growing system. Fortunate is the hog producer who has a field of ripe oats coming on. This crop can be grazed by shoaty pigs during the few weeks just before extra early hybrid corn is ready for hogging. Crib corn is almost always scarce at that time of year.

Whole oats, fed either as grain or hogged off, are not good fattening feed. They have too much fibre for that. But oats do have a higher protein content than corn which makes them excellent for carrying growing pigs on until a new corn crop is ready.

When growing pigs are hogging ripe oats, they should be hand fed about a half-feeding of crib corn along with a little supplement, mineral mixture, and salt.

And lucky will be the farmer who can harvest some ripe oats for feeding to gilts and sows. They are tops as a "growing grain" for gilts, when supplemented with a little corn and are highly desirable for part of the ration of the brood sow during both the gestation and suckling periods.

Too many hog growers are overlooking oats in the ration of shotes and brood stock.

THE NEW LOOK—The E. E. Causey home in the Prairie-Eden community, near Greensboro, has a new air about it these days. Although the home looks as if it were just built, it has weathered more than a quarter of a century of use. The Causeys recently completed a remodeling job on the place and the old house looks like it will be good for another 25 years. Before the remodeling was begun the living room had inch-wide cracks in the wall. However, a new coat of filler and a new paint job fixed it up like new. Mr. and Mrs. Causey are shown (inset) relaxing in the living room after completing the renovation job. Mrs. Causey is a member of the Prairie-Eden Home Demonstration Club and Mr. Causey is a leading dairyman and cattleman of the community.

Prospects For Sweetpotatoes As A Fall Cash Crop This Year

A short crop sent the price for sweetpotatoes upward all during last fall and winter and this situation has started many farmers to thinking about the prospects for sweetpotatoes this year.

Although prices are expected to be lower for the 1952 crops, experts believe that prices will remain high enough for growers to realize good profits from their potatoes this year—especially for the early crop which will be marketed in late July and August.

In order to harvest a crop during the early marketing season when prices are usually highest, John Bagby, A.P.I. Extension horticulturist, says farmers should set their plants as soon as the danger of frost is over. In South Alabama this will be about April 1. Plants set at this time will have 120 days to grow by Aug. 1, which is about the minimum time required to make a satisfactory yield.

Bagby says another advantage of early planted potato slips is they will provide vine cuttings for the main crop. It is well to remember that vine cuttings should be set as soon after the first of June as possible if they are to make a good crop by harvest time.

tion Council. Mr. Graham is a member of the board of directors of the county cotton improvement association and has been president of the Bullock County Extension Council for the past two years.

The labor shortage, high costs for machinery and fertilizer, and many other production troubles give the Grahams their share of tough problems to solve. But a backward glance over the past four years gives them the assurance that tough times can be licked. They figure it just takes a little time—good times, that is—and a lot of work.

SEED BUYING TIPS

APRIL is the peak seed-buying month for most Alabama farmers, and it is well to remember that a good crop begins with good seed. Correct fertilization, cultivation, and good weather conditions are of little benefit to the producer who plants poor quality seed, or seed of an inferior variety.

The following seven steps will help you get the best seed possible: 1. Check with your county agent and find out the leading varieties for your area. 2. Buy early. 3. Insist on getting the variety you want. 4. Read the analysis tag on the seed bag carefully. 5. Buy from a reputable dealer. 6. Avoid bargains. 7. Get certified seed.

STATE COTTON WINNER—The Sardis community of Dallas County was 1951 winner of the sixth annual statewide cotton improvement contest. And looking over the $2,000 cash award, made recently in Sardis, are, left to right, Bill Andrews, A.P.I. Extension cotton specialist; Jesse Hain, president of the Sardis one-variety cotton group; P. O. Davis, director of the Extension Service, and L. C. Alsobrook, county agent of Dallas County. The award money was given by the Alabama Cotton Manufacturers' Association and the Alabama-Florida Cottonseed Products Association.

Research Results
in brief from A.P.I. AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION

COTTON PLANTED AFTER HARVESTED HAY CROPS that did not receive high rates of potash may need from 48 to 96 pounds of K_2O to obtain maximum yields. Experiments have shown this to be true even on some of the heavier soils of the state where 24 pounds of potash normally would be adequate for growing cotton continuously on the same land.

COASTAL BERMUDA GRASS furnishes excellent grazing on upland soils in central and southern Alabama. It produces more growth and is grazed more readily by cattle than Common Bermuda. Since Coastal Bermuda produces very few live seed, it must be planted by setting out crowns or stolons. For best results, it should be started in the spring when the soil is moist.

SALES OF ALABAMA PRODUCED EGGS were equal to only 42 per cent of all eggs sold in the state during the period Sept. 1, 1949, through Aug. 31, 1950. At that time, egg production in Alabama amounted to 1,895,000 cases. Of this production, 703,000 cases were used in the homes of producers, 25,000 cases were used for home hatching, and 1,167,000 were sold.

SERICEA CUT ONCE FOR HAY when it was 12 inches tall and then for seed, produced about a ton of hay and 250 pounds of seed per acre annually over a seven-year period at the Prattville Experiment Field. When cut twice for hay at a height of 12 inches and then for seed, the yield of hay was increased 50 per cent, but the seed yield was reduced to about 100 pounds per acre. More frequent cutting caused thinning of stands.

CAMELLIA INSECTS CAN BE CONTROLLED by effective spraying at the proper time and in the correct way. For scale insects, spray thoroughly under the foliage in early April with Florida Volch, using four to six tablespoonfuls to a gallon of water. For red spiders and aphids, spray when needed in summer with nicotine sulphate using a teaspoonful to a gallon of soapy water.

FILIAMENTOUS ALGAE (commonly called moss or pond scum) has the appearance of green thread or hair. The types that appear in late winter will usually disappear as the water warms. However, any algae that persists or starts to grow after May should be treated as follows: Broadcast copper sulphate ($CuSO_4$) over the algae at the rate of three pounds per 1,000 square feet of surface area. Do not use more than nine pounds per surface acre of the pond.

YIELDS PER ACRE OF NO. 1 SWEETPOTATOES in experiments in southern Alabama, harvested the last week of August, were 198 bushels when planted April 15, 116 bushels when planted April 29, and 77 bushels when planted May 16. When harvested October 21, yields of No. 1 potatoes were 265 bushels, 209 bushels, and 176 bushels per acre respectively, when planted April 15, April 29, and May 16. Fertilizer treatments were the same on all areas.

VOLUME XXX — CLANTON, ALABAMA — THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1952 — NUMBER 1

FOLKS and THINGS

ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

We don't know what those ladies do every Monday and Thursday night over the Chilton County News office, but it must be more fun than a barrel of monkeys. They are taking a course in Home Nursing under the direction of Mrs. O. F. Woods and of course they use one another as "guinea pigs." One of the ladies who is taking the course suggested that we attend the next meeting and bring our camera—it might be fun at that.

Semmie Earl Williams is up and at 'em again. He came by the office this week and ask that we pass the word along to you. He did, and we did, and now it's up to you whether you do or not.

B. E. Reeves thinks we should clear up the paragraph we run a couple of weeks ago in regards to the candidates for the office of County Treasurer. We stated that "Earl" would be the winner beyond the shadow of a doubt. Well, Earl Reeves says to most folks he is not known as "Earl," but as B. E., so that clears up the whole thing. Both candidates are named "Earl." One is a Parrish and the other is a Reeves.

Rev. J. M. McKinney and his wife and boys spent last week in Washington, D. C., where Rev. McKinney attended a meeting of the General Temperance Board. He is President of the Temperance Board of the Methodist Church for the Alabama-Florida District. H. J. Hughes, pastor of the St. Mark's Methodist Church at Pensacola, accompanied the McKinneys. The family probably got to do some sight-seeing in Washington but Brothers Hughes and McKinney were more than likely in conference from early 'til late while there.

Bro. McKinney said Sunday morning that he probably should have gone to Washington earlier, since Truman decided not to run last week, but he wouldn't claim all the credit.

Women are wonderful things. Put a hunk of trouble on a woman's back and she skips merrily along but place the same trouble on a man's back and in no time at all he's right smack down on the floor, worried half to death. We know not what the fair sex is made of but it surely consists of much more courage per pound than that of the male.

Gladys Deramus called the other day to tell us the first fish story of the season. She said while fishing last Saturday afternoon at Charlie Gulledge's Camp a four-pound bass jumped into their boat. What's more she had the fish to prove it. She didn't tell us about the big ones that got away, but when they start jumping into your boat down there, well Charlie Gulledge will have to enlarge his place. He won't be able to take care of the fishermen who would like to spend an afternoon having to fight the fish away.

A dirty crack if we ever heard one: One of our quick-witted citizens was coming up the street early the other morning with a long 2 x 4 over his shoulder. When we passed him we asked where he had got the timber. He said he stole it back up the street. He said under the laws of Chilton County he thought that was o.k.

Marcus Williams, son of G. G., is back from Anchorage, Alaska. He and his wife and small son flew in the other day. His son made the trip when he was 18 days old. He said the boy would be cramming for his wings next. Marcus hopes to be stationed nearer home from now on and we hope he gets his hope.

Henry Grady Heflin is singing the baritone solo at the Easter Cantata for the Presbyterian Church in Columbus, Ga., on Friday night, April 11th. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Heflin and Mr. and Mrs. Erle Ellis will drive over to the services. Congratulations to Henry and every good wish.

John Ponder Lawrence, Jr., came n Wednesday morning riding us. He stated that certain gentlemen got a paragraph in this column every time they did a certain thing. Well, he could go next door to the Farley Drug Store and get himself bottle and maybe he would get he same results. But we ain't going to wait until J. P. goes next door, we're going to tell you about s sale right now. He's putting a hum-dinger, starting this week d, and for this time of year, it ll save you money. You know w is the time to paint-up and fix- for Spring. Well, he has just items to do it with so turn 'til u find his ad and list the things u need and get down there and 's get started. Time's a'waistin.

Two Verbena Women Injured When Truck Hits Service Station

Mrs. Freeman K. Sewell of Verbena Route 2, and her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Smith, were injured Wednesday when a truck run into their Service Station south of Verbena about noon.

Reward For Children In Fire Prevention Essay Contest To Feature Inspection

Girls and boys in Clanton's three public schools will be rewarded for the best essays written on Fire Prevention, according to Mr. F. Lee Thompson and Mr. H. A. LeCroy. The essay contest will be held in advance of the inspection which will be on April 18th.

The Clanton Kiwanis Club, the Lions Club and the South-Eastern Underwriters Association have each offered $25.00 prize money, making a total of $75.00 that will be awarded by a committee of judges composed of Clanton citizens; stated Mr. Thompson

The pupils in the three schools will make practical use of the knowledge of fire safety as they and their parents inspect their own homes. "[illegible] economist has stated that nine out of ten fires [illegible] from carelessness. When we refresh our memories on what [illegible] to avoid fires, we automatically [illegible] to rid our properties and our habits of causes of fire," continued Mr. Thompson.

School properties will be inspected by a team of experts from the Alabama Fieldmen's Association composed of representatives of the capital stock fire insurance companies. Sound motion pictures will be shown at school assemblies and brief talks will be made by visiting experts.

"Mr. [illegible] representing what is left of the man who was careless about fire will add some fun.

Other inspectors will check mercantiles, churches and places of public assembly and tag hazards that are noticed and supply the owner or occupant of each property with a list of these hazards.

The fire inspection is a public service of the capital stock fire insurance companies represented in the Alabama Fieldmen's Association and is without cost to the citizens of Clanton. Malcolm G. Whitt, of Montgomery, Chairman of the Fire Prevention Committee of the Fieldmen's Association, will direct the inspection.

CLANTON HOLY WEEK OBSERVANCE

Holy Week observance for Catholics throughout the world, begins on Palm Sunday, the first day of Holy Week. Palm Sunday derives its name from the ceremony of the day; the blessing of the palms, which commemorates Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem, when the multitude bearing palm and olive branches in their hands, went out to welcome Him with cries of Hosanna. The custom of blessing and distributing palm and olive branches spread into Europe in the Fourth century from Jerusalem. The clergy and laity alike holds their palms in their hands during the singing of the passion of Jesus Christ, according to St. Matthew. On Monday of Holy Week the passion is according to St. Mark. On Tuesday, according to St. Luke, on Wednesday according to St. John. On Holy Thursday, the church commemorates the institution of the Holy Eucharist, which took plcae in the upper room, the night before Christ died. It is also at this time that each bishop consecrates the holy week, the church commemorates the passion and death of Christ, the church is stripped of her glory: The Real Presence. The Three Hours' Agony will be observed at the Catholic Chapel of the Resurrection from noon until 3 o'clock. It will consist of prayers meditations on the Seven Last Words of our Lord on the Cross, and will conclude with the Stations of the Cross.

DOES IT MAKE ANY DIFFERENCE?

(By W. K. Wilson in the Buffalo, N. Y., School Survey Report)

Much has been said about finding enough space but little has been said about the kind of space or quality of the space that should be provided.

Does it really make any difference what kind of buidings the children of America are "educated" in, so long as they have seats to sit in and roofs to cover them?

Can American cities talk bravely of slum clearance of residential housing for the sake of social betterment—and continue to foster the slums of educational housing that are all too prevalent in those cities?

Does it make any difference in the fight against juvenile delinquency whether school buildings are drab and ugly, or attractive; whether they are hemmed in by factories, slums and businesses of questionable character, or located on sites of several acres of well-developed grounds, with landscaping of trees and shrubbery around the boundaries to shut out the unattractive environment?

Does it make any difference in the fight against crime, poverty, and immorality whether the toilets in school buildings are located in basements, sometimes two or three stories away from the classrooms; whether there is an attractive playground as a part of the school site where boys and girls can learn the rules of fair play under the guidance of good teachers; whether there are clean gymnasiums for indoor play and recreation, attractive assembly rooms for dramatics, music and other group activities; well-stocked libraries to encourage reading and the appreciation of good literature?

And finally, does it make any difference in the learning processes themselves whether the classrooms are dingy, poorly lighted, poorly decorated without color or attractive pictures, poorly equipped with fixed seats, no storage, little or no display space for children's work?

These questions may be summarized: Will the majority of American children grow up into good, clean, healthy, well-balanced, thinking citizens regardless of their childhood environment in the home and in the school?

If the answers to these questions are negative, then the entire problem of school housing is relatively simple: Any kind of space in any kind of building in any kind of environment. But if the answers are positive, and the city officials, the civic leaders, and the citizens themselves are interested sincerely in building a public school system whose chief aim is to aid in the development of worth-while citizens, then many American communities have a monumental project ahead of them.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

HEARING

One of every ten persons in the United States has defective hearing. Three million children alone have poor hearing, which if detected early could be corrected, permitting the child to reach adulthood in the proper balance of fitting into the social world. With the new and improved hearing devices that are available, it is truly unfortunate that the number of persons with this handicap is not reduced.

Catarrhal inflammation and abscess from infection in the middle ear form the most common type of deafness. Catarrh of the middle ear is almost always associated with enlarged adenoids and abscess in the membrane lining the middle ear cavity. The condition is known as abscessed or a "running" ear. The danger is that the infection may spread to the cells in the mastoid bone. If the abscess breaks of its own accord, pus may spread and cause a meningitis or a brain abscess.

Measles, scarlet fever and diphtheria are the diseases most likely to cause "running" ears. Blowing the nose too hard may force germs up through the passages or eustachian tubes which extend from the throat to each ear. Swimming and diving may also give opportunity for germs to reach the middle ear and thus the child with a cold or sore throat should avoid these sports.

Persons who cannot hear are divided into two classes: The congenital deaf, those born deaf; and the "acquired" deaf, those born with normal hearing but deafened somehow later. Congenital deafness is a difficult problem and such children require special skilled care so they may learn to talk.

Every child should have a hearing test. If the hearing loss is as great as 15 percent, a physician should be consulted to determine if the impairment is caused by a physical defect or disease and to prescribe treatment.

Understanding is one of the most notable contributions of medicine to the world. Through research, medicine solves many problems; but it is up to those responsible for the guidance of the handicapped to apply the knowledge. The shame is not in the handicap but in neglecting to do something about it.

Bishop T. J. Toolen Officiates At Marbury

On September 14, 1940, two women patients, one blind and completely paralized, the other blind and feeble, were admitted to a little makeshift hospital in Marbury there to spend their remaining years in as much human comfort as could be provided.

Their arrival marked the start of a story of great Christian charity, to some of God's suffering poor. The aged negro, sick, the incurables, who had no comfort and no real home. Today the home is no longer a makeshift five-room shack, but a modernly appointed building completed in 1950. To it has been added a new church completed last year. Known as the Holy Ghost Mission of Marbury, just 14 miles south of Clanton, the Mission began work in 1940, when four Vincentian Sisters of Charity from Pennsylvania arrived to start the work of the Mission at the invitation of Father Purcell, founder of The City of St. Jude, Montgomery. They found a local distrust of the Catholic Faith, and the fear of the Sisters themselves gave the four Vincentians many a heart-ache.

It was a pioneer life to which they had come to help the poor. And the poor from the most miserable habitations came to them. The little 12-bed home was all too small. It was not long until the Sisters became a common and welcome sight to the people, as they went over the rural roads seeking the sick. Only the destitute and incurably sick were allowed in their hospital, but every family in need was the object of what little help they could provide.

Today, their school has 60 children from a radius of 10 miles. They purchased a bus known locally as the "Golden Chariot" for transportation to school and Mass on Sundays.

In their work, the Sisters have had the help of two outstanding priests, Father J. Martin, a Veteran Missionary from Africa, of great benevolence and kindness, who died a few years ago. In 1943 the Resurrectionist Fathers took over the Mission. Father Anthony, C.R., just ordained, became pastor. Last Sunday, Bishop T. J. Toolen, dedicated and blessed the new church and home at 10:30 ceremonies.

The happiest people at the dedication were Father Anthony, whose tireless labor in his Master's vineyard, has been lovingly given, and the Sisters. Father Anthony directed the construction of the new church and the home. Mother Veronica, present superior, assists in the direction of the Mission. The Provincial of the Resurrectionist Father from Chicago, the Reverend Stanley Fiolek, C.R., was the Celebrant of the Dedication Mass.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

The boy around the corner has a small alligator, an ugly creature which he refers to as a pet. He keeps the reptile in a tub of water on his back porch, and at feeding time he always has an audience of interested neighborhood children. The most enthusiastic spectator is our three-year-old.

The other day the three-year-old returned from watching a feeding session and reported:

"I guess that alligator must be real dirty, even dirtier than I am. He just stays and stays in his bath tub all the time. Will he get out of the water when he gets clean?"

It developed he plans to take his own private cake of soap over to the alligator on his next visit!

I keep being amazed at the information you can pick up just by listening to the radio. I recently learned, for example, that you can tell what color eggs a hen will lay by seeing what color the lobes of her ears are. If the hen has white ear lobes, her eggs will be white. If she has brown lobes, her eggs will be brown. And I never even knew hens had ear lobes.

The mother down the street, who claims that having a big family made her an expert mender and darner, was mending a torn sweater when I dropped by to see the other morning, and she taught me a new trick.

Instead of using a darning egg for such a job, she uses a vegetable brush because the bristles hold the fabric better.

It was this same neighbor who taught me to keep a small piece of soap in my sewing box: Thread pulled lightly across soap (or wax) will not twist or knot while you're sewing.

The neighbor who is a gardener is growing an umbrella of morning glories outside her kitchen window. She took a discarded umbrella, removed the fabric cover and stuck the handle in the ground. Now she is training the morning glory vines to growg in and out of the ribs.

Our five-year-old is already planning to have a tea party under the umbrella when it is covered with leaves and blossoms.

Quotation of the week from an unknown author: Perhaps parents would enjoy their children more if they stopped to ralelize that the film of childhood can never be run through a second showing."

The three-year-old and the five-year-old have hearty appetites and will usually eat anything, but we never could persuade them to try eggplant until a neighbor told us how to prepare French-fried eggplant sticks. They gave their approval to this dish, and here's how it's done:

Peel eggplant, cut into half-inch slices and then into half-inch strips. Add six tablespoons cold water to one-half cup of prepared pancake mix, mixing until smooth. Dip eggplant strips in batter and fry in deep fat until golden brown. Drain thoroughly on absorbent paper and serve at once.

And for a delicious change, try making toasted cheese sandwiches with raisin bread. Good!

Farmers! Use Your Own Credit System

FARMERS HAVE REASON TO BE PROUD OF THEIR LAND BANK SYSTEM

Farmers of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana are proud of the Federal Land Bank and the 79 National Farm Loan Associations in the three states. The banks and the associations have a net worth of over 26 million dollars. They are owned entirely by the farmers who use them.

The bank and the associations are operated for the sole benefit of farmers. The long-term loans and small annual payments make it easy for members to repay their loans. If the member has a crop failure or some other disaster, the National Farm Loan Association—with a local board of directors—neighbors in many cases—will lend an attentive ear to the member's problems.

Local servicing of a member's loan affords many advantages. Consider now consolidating your debts into a land bank loan, or borrowing for any necessary agricultural purpose. Visit, Telephone or Write the Secretary-Treasurer of your

FRED SMITH

Says

Let's Face The Facts.

We, as voters and taxpayers of Chilton County, are solely responsible for the kind of government we have when we elect our officials.

Don't be fooled and misled by rumors, false statements and false pretenses. Don't expect an official to be any different than he is in private life.

When I announced for Probate Judge I stated that I did not want to be Probate Judge if the office was for sale. I still believe that a candidate who will buy the office will sell the people Down the River after he is elected. I am running for Probate Judge as an average Chilton County citizen and on the basis of my public and private record, and not on the demerits of any candidate for this office.

I believe the government of Chilton County belongs to the people and I believe they have their minds made up to redeem it at the polls on the coming election days. If I am your next Probate Judge, I expect to keep the government close to the people regardless of creed, race or political faith. We have no place for secret political groups and clicks in our government, and they must go. "Choose ye this day whom you will serve." If you want to continue the CLICKS in power in this County, then vote for the Click Candidates. If you want to get rid of this mess, then vote for Fred Smith, the only candidate the click politicians have ganged-up against. The issue today is "The people of Chilton County against the Clicks," and let's not be fooled when the banners are waving and the band starts playing.

I have not and will not make any secret agreements with any candidate in this race, and I am not related by blood or marriage to any of them. This statement is made without reflection on any person, but merely to state the facts.

I have a keen desire to be of service to the people of Chilton County as their next Probate Judge, and on the basis of an humble citizen and my private and public record. I will appreciate your vote and confidence, and will give the best that is within me towards the kind of government we all desire in Chilton County.

FRED SMITH will speak over WKLF next MONDAY, APRIL 7th, at 12:45 P.M.

To The People Of Chilton County From Omar L. Reynolds

Some inquiry has been made as to the reason the Republican Party will not have a Primary in the coming May 6th election. The law provides that "If a legally qualified candidate for nomination to an office is unopposed when the last date for certifying candidates has passed, his name shall not be printed on the ballot to be used in the Primary Election and he shall be the nominee of the party with which he has qualified for the office."

There being no contest for any office in the Republican Party, and the time for certifying candidates having already passed, under the law these candidates are automatically nominated and, of course, there is no need for a Primary.

As nominee for the office of Judge of Probate I would like to state that if elected by the people in November that it will be my policy to give to the County the best government for the least money, placing the welfare of our County above party affiliation or faction.

It will be my purpose before the general election in November to make some study of the income of the County from all its sources, as well as its indebtedness and obligations, and to furnish this information to you through the county papers with suggestions that might be proper for a more efficient government at less expense.

It is also my plan to make a study of the duties of the Board of Revenue and Control of which the Judge of Probate is Chairman, not only of the roads and bridges of the County, but of the several branches of County Government which come to some extent under the jurisdiction of the Board of Revenue and Control, such as the Health Department of the County, the Welfare Department, the County Agent and County Hospital for which tax is now being levied, with any suggestions that might be reasonable and proper for the better administration of these departments and this information and any suggestions will be given to the people through the county papers from time to time. The schools of the County are, of course, under the County Board of Education, but nevertheless the Board of Revenue and Control does have the authority to make appropriations to schools.

Chilton County's income is much larger in proportion than many other rural counties in Alabama of similar size and population and my sole desire if elected is to aid and assist in seeing that the income is administered for the greatest benefit of all the people and I believe that making the investigation and survey mentioned above will not only aid me if elected to understand the affairs of the County better, but I think the people as a whole need to be more enlightened and thereby have a greater interest in the affairs of their government.

Chiropractic

The Modern Approach to Natural Health

By— Marshall L. Ware

EPILEPSY

This is commonly considered an incurable disease. It is not always so under Chiropractic. There are two forms of Epilepsy, known as Petit Mal and Grand Mal. In the former there is a temporary loss of consciousness, not attended by a convulsion. The patient stops whatever he is doing, but does not fall. His face may turn pale and twitch but usually consciousness returns in a few minutes or even seconds, after which the patient will resume whatever he is doing. He may or may not be aware that something unusual has happened. In the Grand Mal, the patient may have a warning of the oncoming attack. Some see an apparent vapor arising from the trunk upwards. When this reaches the head, the patient utters a cry and falls in a convulsion which involves the whole body. Other patients do not have any warning of the attack at all. The convulsion may last only a few seconds and then there follow intermittent contractions and relaxations of muscles. The patient then falls into a profound coma, which may last an hour or more. After the attack he has no knowledge of what has occurred.

The disease is almost invariably associated with intestinal disorders and a toxic condition of the blood stream. The progress of the patient is always dependent on improving elimination through the bowels and kidneys. If these organs are not working properly the blood stream can not be pure. The first thing the Chiropractor does then, is to see that the nerve force to these organs is not impeded.

Every cell and tissue of the body depends on the blood to receive its supply of nourishment and to give off its waste products. It is therefore of first importance to promote elimination and so purify the blood. While Chiropractic does not guarantee a cure to sufferers from Epilepsy, yet results in many cases justify the claim that most cases may reasonably expect relief.

SECOND SECTION

NUMBER 14 THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1952

TO THE VOTERS AND CITIZENS OF THE COUNTY

JAMES M. (Jim) DUNLAP

I am asking for re-election as a member of the Board of Revenue and Control for District Four, and would appreciate any and all considerations shown me.

I am running on my past record and experience. As you all know, the past four years have been a most trying experience for me and the other members of your Board of Revenue and Control. We have had to operate your county government under the most difficult conditions in its history.

During this time we have been most concerned with an audit by the State Examiners and with a complete re-organization of the county government. After the audit was completed, we made a complete change in the routine of handling the county's business and have set up a system of bookkeeping necessary to properly account for all funds entrusted to our care. I am happy to report that the record keeping system of your county is now in better shape than at any time in its history. Should you come to see us now and ask us where your money is or how much money your county has on hand, we can put our finger on the exact figures in only a short time.

During these trying times we have done all we could toward building a good farm-to-market road system, and much more is yet to be done in the way of paving your roads. I believe that all the roads that serve the farmers should be paved as soon as possible and I do not believe in showing favoritism to any particular community. I believe my experiences during the past four years will prove valuable to me in serving you during the next four years and I stand ready to serve all communities in handling my duties as your elected representative on the Board of Revenue and Control.

I earnestly solicit your vote and influence and will try to see you during this campaign.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES M. (Jim) DUNLAP.

Things We See And Hear

By "TUCK"

This trip the seniors are supposed to make this year is getting to be quite a topic of conversation. Most of the girls of the class want to go to Nashville and the boys want to go to New Orleans. I can't understand the girls wanting to go to Nashville, but I can certainly understand why most of the boys would like to visit New Orleans.

It's getting so you're not even safe with a traffic cop around any more. Went to the ballgame in Birmingham Sunday and saw two cars pile into each other and there were two cops standing there directing traffic. Boy, when it gets that bad it's time to stay at home.

Just to show how fast the six-weeks are passing: Next week we're supposed to get our report cards and just about half of the senior boys haven't turned in their last six-weeks grades yet. Boy, that's what I call moving. Or maybe it's just that they're so slow. Possible!

A.E.A. finally made it. Out of school for two whole extra days. You know, it's too bad we couldn't just slow time up a little when it comes to holidays.

You know, a baseball team could go broke just buying baseballs. I'll bet if I saw one go over the fence or into the stands Sunday I saw 30. They were really giving them away.

All of you who bought annuals this year will be interested to know that the printers finally got all of the copy and are starting on the yearbook right away so maybe we'll get them before school's out after all.

Myron Levine was worrying about how he could make the room downstairs more private. You could turn off all the lights, Myron.

It seems kinda funny that the first night of the play there was a little over half as many people there as there was the second night, and we took in less money the second night than we did the first night. That just don't look right to me.

Joe Grooms seemed to enjoy himself at the party after the Friday night didn't he, people? Inner Willy musta had to wear offa' him.

Fabric lamp shades will last a lot longer if you wash them from time to time. Wipe parchment, heavy paper, or similar shades with a soapy cloth, sponge rapidly, and allow to dry quickly. Keep cloth as dry as possible.

To The Citizens And Taxpayers Of Chilton County And The State Of Alabama

When the Examiners of Public Accounts of the State of Alabama finished the examination which they claimed they made from the Commissioners Court records of Chilton County, they carried all said records away from Chilton County, and they have since that time been in their possession.

I employed a Certified Public Accountant to check the records and the report of the examination made by the State Examiners. However, they would not permit a Certified Public Accountant to check these records. I took the matter up with my attorney, Hon. Richard T. Rives, who is now a Federal Judge. He filed a petition with the Court for the records and a date was set for hearing. After a vigorous protest was made by the examiners, the Court allowed the Certified Public Accountant only seven days in which to check the same records which the examiners had taken approximately a year to check. I was only allowed to be present the last two days of the seven allotted. This was clearly not enough time for the Certified Public Accountant to make his audit. I told Mr. Rives that this was not fair, that it would be impossible to check the records in the time allotted to me. I asked him if we couldn't get these records and he stated that we could, but we would probably have to go to the Supreme Court and it might take six months or a year to get them. He advised me to go over the records and do the best I could with the time allotted to me and the Certified Public Accountant. This we did, but with the time allotted by the Court, we could not check the records and the auditors report which it took the State Examiners a year or more to make.

About three weeks ago I employed an Attorney who was successful in getting the records for a Certified Public Accountant to check. We hope to have this examination completed by April 3rd.

When Mr. Watson and Mr. Reid, State Examiners, examined my records as Probate Judge, in their report dated Sept. 12, 1947, they did not make any charges whatever against me or my records, but said they were complete and neatly kept. When their audit was completed the records were not returned to the Probate Office, but were stored in unlocked room in the courthouse where anyone who wished could have destroyed or changed any part of the records. Approximately two years later Mr. Sparkman and Mr. Keener made their audit from these records which had been lying loose and unlocked in said room. When the Certified Public Accountant I employed audited the records recently it could be seen that many of the papers and records had been pulled apart and lost or destroyed. And many of the charges made against me were based on the claim of Mr. Sparkman and Mr. Keener that the invoices and tickets shown on the claims to be attached were not there. I certainly am not responsible for what happened to the records after they were turned over to Mr. Watson and Mr. Reid, as they were not brought back to the Probate Office.

I wish every taxpayer could have seen Judge W. L. Parrish, Judge of Probate of Chilton County, carrying Roland L. Sparkman to the Willingham Hotel. I feel that every taxpayer should know that Judge Parrish called Mr. Ralph P. Eagerton over long distance telephone and told him of Sparkman's condition, and to come up here and do something about it. Mr. Ralph P. Eagerton did come to Clanton but did not take the matter up with Judge Parrish. I wish every taxpayer could have seen Roland L. Sparkman while in the County Treasurer's office in the Courthouse where the County records were, shedding tears and threatening to commit suicide, and Mr. Luther Kendrick who at that time was State Highway Patrolman, and who is now Sheriff of Chilton County. Hon. C. B. Cox, who was a member of the Legislature of Alabama and Sheriff J. A. Nivens, all saw him in this condition. I wish every taxpayer could have seen Roland L. Sparkman giving Mr. Kendrick the pills he had. Mr. Kendrick called Ralph P. Eagerton over long distance telephone and told him of Sparkman's condition. I wish every taxpayer could have seen Roland L. Sparkman when he was in the Probate Office in a highly nervous condition and the clerks asked a law enforcement officer to stand by for their protection.

Mr. Ralph P. Eagerton was well informed as to Roland L. Sparkman's condition while examining the records fo Chilton County, and it appears to me that he approved of everything that Roland L. Sparkman was doing regardless of his condition.

I will have more to say next week.

J. LEE SMITH.

Text Of Keynote Radio Address Of John M. Higgins On Thursday, March 27, 1952

Please Be Sure To Read This Speech If You Did Not Hear It Last Thur. Or Fri.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am addressing this to you as fellow taxpayers and fellow citizens.

We are now entering the final phase of a primary election campaign in which you will choose your next Probate Judge and several other officials of Chilton County. In the Democratic Primaries of May 6th and June 3rd you will choose your next Probate Judge. I cannot over-emphasize my belief that the Democratic nominee will be elected next Fall. Therefore, it is extremely important to all citizens and taxpayers that your Democratic nominee be a man of good will and good faith. He should be a man who will serve impartially the needs of all citizens and taxpayer, without regard to their party affiliation. He should be a man who will serve all communities in our County on a fair and impartial basis. He should be a man big enough to treat all citizens fairly, regardless of whether they voted for him or not. He should be a man who will not place the selfish interests of one family or one clique above the interests of his County or his Country. In short, he should be a man who seeks to change the way we have been doing things in Chilton County for the past thirty-six years.

It is very essential that your next Probate Judge be a man trained and experienced in modern business methods. This is extremely important because of the nature of the job. The Probate Judge of Chilton County is entrusted with management responsibility for the county's business. He must deal with the problems of general overhead, maintenance and repair of buildings and equipment, permanent paving of your farm-to-market roads, maintenance and repair to bridges and dirt roads. He must know how to deal with the problems of finance and new construction, and he should be a good purchasing agent. Your Probate Judge should be a man experienced in all phases of business. To assist your Probate Judge and Board of Revenue and Control an attorney is employed to represent the taxpayers of Chilton County. He is available to give legal advice on purchases and contracts. He represents the taxpayers with regard to claims and invoices filed for payment at the Probate office. The County attorney should determine that the minutes of each meeting of the County governing body are properly and legally drawn. In properly handling his job the county attorney is not only a valued assistant to the Probate Judge he is the watchdog over the taxpayers money, and your county attorney is paid with the taxpayers funds. Your county attorney should not be a man who has a political axe to grind—to steer or to permit someone else to steer your officials and your County government along the paths of corruption and destruction.

We have five men running for the Democratic nomination for Probate Judge of Chilton County. On May 6th and possibly on June 3rd you will cast your ballot for one of these men and your wishes will determine what kind of government we will have during the next six years.

In addition to being a good manager of money your Probate Judge should be a man capable of negotiating with various departments of the State and Federal governments for the best interests of Chilton County. In carrying out a program for progressive government for our County, your next Probate Judge will need to bargain with our Democratic State officials and with our Democratic Senators and Congressmen This will be necessary to secure the best deal possible for our County in State aid and Federal aid road paving funds. If your Prboate Judge is on the ball, he can bring a good influence to bear on your State and Federal officials in assisting the programs of the Board of Education, the departments of Health and Welfare and the agencies handling the farm program.

Your next Probate Judge should be able to drive a good bargain for Chilton County and be able to manage the County's business efficiently. The day has passed when an expert courthouse politician can fill the job.

Chilton County is a large County with a well balanced agriculture. We are proud of the progress made in increased production of orchard and berry crops, in truck crops, and in beef cattle. For many years we have had an active lumber industry in this county. Saw milling in Chilton County has brought a year around income to many people. The sale of timber has furnished many farmers with money to improve their land and farm buildings. The saw mills and planing mills have provided employment for many people. Lumbering and farming have brought new money into the county for the benefit of all businesses and all citizens.

But even so, there are not enough jobs here for all the people. Because of a lack of small factories to give jobs here at home, many Chilton County men and women must seek jobs in Birmingham, Montgomery, Selma, Childersburg, and even more distant places. When a man must ride 50 to 75 miles to his job and put in a full day's work and come home the same long route every day, he has less time to spend with his family and friends. He has less leisure to enjoy his hobbies. His take home pay is less because of the increased expense of getting to and from his job. Because of this, many of our citizens are moving away from Chilton County.

We have a good labor supply here, and this county needs and could support a number of mills and processing plants. We need factories for processing food and forest products. We need more textile plants and we have a favorable location for processors of metals and other small manufacture.

Three years ago, I was elected a Director of Associated Industries of Alabama in Birmingham, and last year I was elected a Director of the Southern States Industrial Council at Nashville. These groups of business men are interested in promoting industry and full employment in Alabama and the South. They seek to bring good industry and underdeveloped areas such as Chilton County together on a mutually profitable undertaking.

When a new industry seeks to locate here in Chilton County, the first thing to be considered by them is our local government. No good business man will invest his dollars in a community whose government is corrupt or inefficient.

You will all remember the recent case in the newspapers in which Phoenix City lost a $4,000,000.00 plant due to a bad incident. I am in a position to know that our situation in Chilton County politics is losing us ground in attracting new industry. The people of Chilton County are good people and they deserve honest, efficient government. When our county government is established with a clean slate, we may all look forward to progress and development along these lines.

Since entering this campaign, I have spent some time in the Probate office in an effort to become familiar with your County's business and its record-keeping system. I want to take this opportunity to personally thank Judge W. L. Parrish, Mr. Harold Smyer, Clerk of the Board of Revenue and Control, and Mr. Joe Mullins, County Attorney, for their cooperation in making this information available to me.

I am happy to report to you that our County is getting in excellent shape As of March 1st we had $182,204.26 in the County Treasury. In addition to this sum, we have available approximately $109,000.00 in State aid road paving funds to our credit in Montgomery. This sum will have to be matched by an equal amount of County funds. We also have $127,000.00 available in Federal aid road paving money. Seventy thousand dollars of this money is obligated for the Enterprise Road project, leaving $57,000.00 to be matched for other projects. Chilton County owes only $13,760.00 to a local bank and this sum will likely be paid off this year I am happy to inform you that Chilton County is free of bonded indebtedness at this time. It is my understanding that on recent purchases of heavy machinery, the taxpayers have been saved some money because the county is able to pay cash, eliminating interest and carrying charges.

Improvements have been made in the method of doing business, the system of accounts, and the recording of the minutes. It is my opinion that if the improvements made to date are incorporated into a progressive administration during the next six years, the taxpayers of Chilton County will be able to see something done with their tax dollars We will be able to see some good improvements made to our farm-to-market roads. New paving projects should be assigned a priority in accordance with traffic on the roads and the needs of the communities. I am opposed to politics in our road paving and will fight against anyone who advocates paving a road just for a political friend or denying a community its just share of paving for political reasons. The only fair way to pave roads is to pave the more heavily traveled roads first.

There are five candidates for the Democratic nomination for Probate Judge of Chilton County and we are all running on our records. For this reason, I am going to talk to you about myself and to tell you some very personal things.

As a small boy, I lived in Verbena during the depression, under conditions of extreme poverty. One of the most gratifying aspects of this campaign is that my former neighbors and friends who shared with us those years of want and misery are among my most loyal and earnest supporters.

My first business venture was as newspaper carrier at the age of 11 for the Alabama Journal in Verbena. It is particularly gratifying to me that many of my former newspaper subscribers of 22 years ago will go to the polls on May 6th and vote for John M. Higgins.

I graduated from Chilton County High School in the Class of 1936 and attended Auburn the following year. It was not my good fortune to finish college; the sudden illness of my father, Mr. Guy Higgins, prevented my going back to school and I began work at that time. However, I have tried to continue my education through [illegible] and study in several professional and educational societies connected with leading universities.

I graduated from the wartime Naval Officers School at Harvard University, and with the exception of three years' and four months service in World War II, I have been working here in Chilton County since 1937.

Many of you know of the difficulties under which I started in business. At the time I was handed the responsibility for operating the lumber business formerly operated by my father, its debts were nearly three times its assets. My mother's home was not paid for except for a 10% down payment, and the mortgage was being foreclosed. My father's farm at Mineral Springs had been forfeited for his debts. I am proud of the fact that after 22 months under my management, the business debts were paid, and the home and farm belonging to my parents were redeemed for them and paid for in full. In the final liquidation of my father's affairs in 1941, [illegible] a sum of cash in trust at the Peoples Savings Bank for my mother.

In 1940, I started by own business in Thorsby on borrowed money and have since that time operated various phases of the lumber business all over Chilton County. I have worked with many of you during these years, and have had transactions of all kinds with many citizens of this County. I want to take this opportunity to thank those of you who are supporting me on the basis of our having worked together in the past. The confidence you have shown me is especially heartwarming.

During the War I [illegible] Naval [illegible] bious Force I served in the Aleutians, the Philippines, the East China Sea Operations and Okinawa To those of you who also served at these and similar operations, there exists among us a bond of understanding known only to combat military personnel. All of us who left our homes and jobs and businesses in both World Wars, and in the present war in Korea, have done so in the interests of good government in a general sense. We must continue to exert our influence for good government here at home.

As a Naval officer during the war, men were entrusted to my care under combat conditions on several occasions. There is no responsibility greater than this. This responsibility for the safety and lives of other men is greater than man alone, and he must seek Guidance. I was baptized on Shemya Island in the Aleutians by Chaplain Ivan C. Whipple of the Army, a baptist minister from Providence Rhode Island, then serving as my Chaplain and my friend.

I have undertaken this campaign in a spirit of goodwill for my opponents. It is my determination to fight a clean fight and to fight a good fight.

I have lived here in Chilton County nearly all my life. From relative obscurity and through much hardship in early life, I have been able to accomplish something for myself here in Chilton County. This has been possible because of the good will, and fair and honest dealings shown me by many citizens here. I would like to have the satisfaction of serving you well as Probate Judge. I would like for you to be able to say six years from now that John Higgins did us a corking good job.

If I am elected, no business in which I have a direct or indirect interest will be eligible to make a sale to Chilton County. On this basis, I humbly ask for your vote and support at this time.

If you elect me your Probate Judge this year, and if you continue to elect honest, capable, and progressive citizens to all your public offices from now on, this county and our country will go forward. We will remain the strongest nation in the world. We will continue to fight for the principle of peace, the principle of Democracy, and the fundamentals of truth and religion.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Birmingham, Ala., Mar. 24, 1952.

The Chilton County News
In Care The Editor,
Clanton, Alabama

Dear Sir:

Last week, March 16-23, I led the singing for the revival at the Thorsby Baptist Church. Rev. B. B. Burks, pastor, his good wife, daughter, Geraldine, son, Bobby, and his good people were so congenial and fine spirited. It was a great meeting and a number of souls were added to the church through the Lord. The pastor's fruitful ministry is God's instrument of blessing to this fine church and community. He is considerate, humble, and a Christian friend to the lost sinner as well as a helper to the saved.

Rev. Fred Halbrooks, pastor of the Circlewood Baptist Church, Tuscaloosa, did the preaching. His messages were dynamic, which drew the interest of many people each service. It was a great joy to work with these men of the Lord, and this fine church, and I am indebted to all of these for their fine hospitality and inspiring Christian spirit. Bro. Burks will preach for the revival at the East Thomas Baptist Church of Birmingham, of which the writer is pastor, March 30-April 13th.

Very truly yours,

M. G. FIELDS.

Pastor East Thomas Baptist Church,
1136 Arkadelphia Road, Birmingham, Alabama.

JOHN M. HIGGINS SAVES FARMERS' NECKS

Testimony Before House Labor Committee In Washington.

Helped Full Employment And Good Wages At "Peckerwood" Saw Mills.

JOHN M. HIGGINS

UNCLASSIFIED INFORMATION

By HARTWELL HATTON

(Taken from the ALABAMA LUMBERMAN MAGAZINE of March 1952.)

In 1949 there were some fifty sawmills in Chilton County, employing, on the average, ten men each. In other words, the lumber industry in Chilton County gave employment to some 500 persons.

John Higgins, whose concentration yard at Thorsby was somewhat larger than average, as it employed twenty-five men, was called to Washington early in 1949 to testify before the House committee on education and labor as to the anticipated effect of a 75-cent minimum wage. He went as a member of the Southern Pine Industry Committee and turned out to be the star witness of the hearing.

Now that John is running for probate judge of Chilton County and may therefore be regarded as a politician, a review of his testimony given three years ago should determine whether he may also qualify as a statesman. So it seemed to us, at any rate, and we went back and read through the record.

As we recall events while they happened, John's testimony in Washington caused something of a sensation. Re-reading the transcript, we can understand why. In the first place, he got right down to cases. He didn't oppose higher wages at saw mills. He advocated them but he insisted that they should be tied to market conditions so that when the price of lumber was down small mills would not have to close and throw their workers out of employment. He went on to state the case of the small saw mill operator in such clear and simple terms that no doubt was left in the committee's mind that an arbitrary floor under wages would result in shutdowns in slack markets.

The action on the wage-hour bill is known to all. It was passed the face of the Higgins testimony and that of others who could foresee its effect on small operators and those who worked for them. The lumber industry, of course, has survived the increase in the minimum wage. Nobody supposed or suggested that it would not but ever since the 75-cent minimum became effective in early 1950 the industry has been using all its ingenuity to reduce hand operations. There has been a reduction in employment.

Today, three years after the hearings in Washington, the lumber market is depressed. There are now less than fifty saw mills registered in Chilton County and the number they employ is less than 500. Those that closed down did so simply because the cost of production was too high. This confirms John's prediction and, we think, helps substantiate his qualification as a statesman.

Being in the lumber business, John Higgins can feel no satisfaction in having his warning justified. We fancy he would have liked better to be proved wrong. There is one thing, however, that and others accomplished at Washington. It is the absence in the law of the then proposed provision that would have required farmers to keep records on their help and pay a minimum wage. If there is anything a farmer hates it is paper work for the government and, thanks to John Higgins and others who fought government encroachment, there is one job of paper work the farmer doesn't have to do. If the law had been passed requiring farmers to pay time and half for over-time when gathering their crops, the effect would have been ruinous in Chilton County and everywhere else where farming is carried on.

Although the regulators in Washington went ahead with their arbitrary notions, small mill operators and those who work for them owe John Higgins a debt of gratitude for stating their case better than it is usually stated before government committees.

FOLKS and THINGS ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

Carolyn Montgomery is back home and looking fit as a fiddle. She dropped by to say hello this week in her very attractive uniform. You know she has been seventeen months in the Pacific and she stated Clanton looked mighty good to her. She can relate many interesting experiences of her tour of duty in Japan. Within the near future she expects to resume her work at the County Health Office.

Mrs. Anna Thacker dropped in to say hello Monday, too. She is still living in Birmingham, but is planning on her trip West this summer. She stayed out there several weeks last year, but says she didn't get quite enough of Texas and so is going back again this summer. We're always glad to see Mrs. Thacker and appreciated her visit.

Wanta know why that big grin is on Delle Cobb's face Tuesday? Her old man has sailed from Korea for home. She hasn't seen him for about 18 months and she's been waiting months for word of when he would sail for the U.S.A. Well, now he's on his way home, all she's got to do is start waiting again. Anyway, we're mighty glad for her—he's at least on his way.

Well, since we're writing this column this week about the ladies, let us tell you about our operation. Naw, we didn't have an operation, but we can tell you a bright saying by our grandchild. His mother had told him about God sending the rain and he was out playing in the back yard. After coming into the house he solemnly stated: "He sure did mess that water up out there." "What water?" he was asked. "That water in the yard," the boy answered. "Who messed it up?" asked mother. "God did," said Ray.

Some of the candidates have had what we call a real "brain storm." We think credit for the idea should go to Wallace Cox, but it is good and should be looked into. As everyone knows all too few people take time or effort to vote in our elections. Now the idea is to offer some special prize to the Beat in the county that casts the most votes in the May 6th Primary. Of course the winner would be the Beat that cast the highest percentage of votes of the number of qualified voters in the Beat. Everyone knows that Beat 4 will cast the highest number of votes, but take the smallest Beat in the county and if they come nearest casting a hundred percent of the qualified voters in that Beat, then they would win the prize. It's something to chew on and we believe the candidates are going to try and work something out.

After the Retail Hardware Dealers Convention in Montgomery last week, at which Jimmy Bell was elected State President, Carl A. Miller and his wife of Kendallville, Indiana, came up to Clanton and spent the day with Jimmy and Mrs. Bell. Mr. Miller is President of the National Retail Hardware Dealers Association.

Here are the most powerful four lines we ever read or heard: And according to an announcer on TV the other night they were written by a seven-year-old girl:

Every time I pass a church
I step in for a visit;
So when, at last, I'm carried in
The Lord won't say:
"Who is it?"

BLOOD BANK DUE IN CHILTON COUNTY

Chilton County has a date with the Blood Bank on April 18th! The Red Cross Blood Mobile from Birmingham will make its third visit to this County on Friday from 9:00 until 4:00. It will be located at the First Methodist Church in Clanton, and all Chilton County residents between the ages of 18 and 59 are asked to donate blood.

We must have at least 300 donors this time, or Chilton County cannot continue to participate in the Blood Bank program! All blood donated to the Blood Bank is kept in storage for the Chilton County people who may need it in case of sudden illness or accident. At times some of the blood is even sent to the boys in Korea. You perform a service to your neighbors and to your fighting men, when you give blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank. Call in your pledge to 449, or fill out the pledge card in this week's paper. The Blood Bank will be in Chilton County on April 18th.

Clanton Schools Cooperating In Fire Inspection, April 18

Permanent good can be derived by the citizens of Clanton from the systematic building-to-building fire inspection to be made on April 18 by experts from the Alabama Fieldman's Association, in the opinion of H. A. LeCroy.

"These experts will locate and tag the fire hazards that are noticed in our properties, and will give the owner or occupant a list of recommendations to make us more fire-safe," stated Mr. LeCroy. "The inspection is free to us but the advice we receive may avoid loss of property and injury or loss of life to some of us. All we need do is correct these possible causes of fire."

Serving with Mr. LeCroy on the committee of Clanton citizens cooperating in this fire inspection are: F. L. Thompson, R. C. Williams, Dr. J. M. McKinney, J. H. Boockholdt, R. M. Tucker, T. E. Wyatt, Robert B. Taber, Sam D. Brown, Chas. E. Turner, Mayor C. Fenn Jones and Fire Chief Houston Nivens.

The Clanton Kiwanis and the Lions Club, having learned of the value of these inspections to neighboring States, invited the Alabama Fieldmen's Association to inspect Clanton. The fieldmen are representatives of the capital stock fire companies who assist the local agents in arranging proper insurance protection.

Clanton schools are cooperating in this inspection by conducting essay contests and home inspections. Cash prizes provided by the Kiwanis and Lions Clubs and the South-Eastern Underwriters Association will be awarded to the pupils who prepare the best essays to each of the three schools.

In a statement to this newspaper today, D. Trotter Jones, Executive Vice President of the Associated Industries of Alabama, one of the sponsoring organizations, termed the selection of Mr. Taber and Mr. Jackson to head-up the local version of the Industry Days program as "a guarantee that Clanton will again have one of the best local observances of this state-wide celebration."

"It is always good," Mr. Jones said, "to have outstanding local leaders to take up the important task of telling the people of their community what their local industry means to them. DON'T BE AN AMATEUR MECHANIC

An Editorial

We never cease to wonder at the man who will rush the family car to the repair shop at the first sound of an engine sputter and call in the heating expert when the oil burner acts up, and yet when something goes wrong in his own, infinitely more complicated system, indulges in self-diagnosis and home remedy. A small sore on his lip. . .and he applies salve from the family medicine chest. When the sore refuses to heal, he blames it on the salve and buys another brand. Or maybe a mole that he's had since childhood starts changing in color or size. He studies it in his mirror while shaving, and decides it's "nothing to worry about. They say those things change as you get older."

His wife, who has the same respect for engines and machines and mechanical devices as her husband, sends the vacuum cleaner out for repairs when it begins to heat up. She pauses in her household chores to remember that she noticed a small lump in her breast while dressing, and reminds herself that she'd better look into it one of these days . . . that is, if it doesn't go away "soon."

Familiar? Alarmingly so . . . because these are symptoms that Might mean cancer. They do mean an immediate visit to the doctor for prompt diagnosis and, if cancer is indicated, prompt treatment. The appalling loss of life to this, the nation's second chief killer, could be cut one-third today if men and women came to their physicians in time. The American Cancer Society lists the seven danger signals of cancer that call for prompt action on your part.

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

An early visit to your doctor, when any one of these conditions is evident, might make the difference to you or your family or to relatives and friends between "cured" and "condemned." It's your job to know and act upon these danger signals. If you can't remember them, cut them out and paste them on the inside of your medicine cabinet.

At the first sign of any of these symptoms, take yourself down to the man who knows what to do about it—your doctor. Give yourself the same break you're giving your car or toaster or lawn-mower. And give to the 1952 Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society.

RETIREMENT AT SIXTY-FIVE

B. A. Lindberg, associate professor of Business Administration at Harvard University, says that compulsory or mandatory retirement at the age of sixty-five is meeting with a lot of resistance in the United States. The Harvard professor questions the mandatory retirement age as a lasting standard.

"Our data seem to suggest that an individual's capacity to adapt is not materially affected by age if the individual is in reasonably good health and if the individual is working in a business climate which demonstrates its faith in his ability to adapt himself and learn new schedules. In other words, if the business climate is favorable, the elderly person can not only be taught new tricks, he is full of them," Professor Lindberg says.

The Harvard professor believes health and advances in medical science will enable the average worker to remain efficient for a steadily increasing number of years. His words will be encouraging to many employees, who feel able and fit but who find themselves automatically retired at the age of sixty-five.

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

The man down the street, who has six children, observed the other day that one of the quickest ways to go nuts is to try to analyze the casual statements youngsters make.

"No normal adult," he declared, "can possibly understand why children say some things or exactly what they mean. And adults are happier if they don't even try."

Hardly any parents will disagree with this theory.

Just the other night, for example, the three-year-old and the five-year-old were sprawled out on the floor working a jigsaw puzzle. The radio was on. When the announcer began his commercial the five-year-old fitted two pieces into the puzzle and said,

"That man wears glasses."

I should have known better, but I couldn't help asking,

"How do you know?"

"O," she replied, absorbed in the puzzle, "I can tell by the way he talks. All people who wear glasses talk different."

Now, days later, I still find myself trying to figure out why people who wear glasses talk different—if they do.

The well-groomed neighbor passed along some helpful hints the other day for keeping fresh looking even in sultry weather. She always adds a little starch to the rinse water when she washes her white fabric gloves. The starch restores the fabric's original crispness, and also makes the gloves more resistant to soil.

And she keeps her white nylon garments looking new by soaking them in warm soda water before laundering them.

There must be a simple way to do it, but I've never yet learned how to divide cake batter evenly in making layer cakes. The recipes say imply, "Pour batter into three well-greased pans," but no writer of recipes has yet told how to accomplish the trick of getting the same amount of batter in each pan.

When I make layer cakes, I practically wear the batter out transferring it from a too-full pan to an almost-empty pan, but my cakes still look as if they were made for the Three Bears—a great big layer for the Papa Bear, a middle-sized layer for the Mama Bear, and a wee little layer for the Baby Bear.

The neighbor around the corner is collecting clear cellophane wrappers from packages of cigarets which seemed a rather unusual hobby until I learned that she uses them to protect her recipe cards.

The wrappers are exactly the right size to cover a standard three-by-five inch recipe card, and they prevent the card's getting greasy, sticky or smudged.

Something I never knew: No two railroad conductor's ticket punches are exactly alike, and each ticket punch is registered in the name of the conductor who uses it.

Now here's a recipe you might like to put under a protective cellophane covering, a recipe for apple-cheese casserole:

Grind or chop fine 1 cup evaporated apples, bring to a boil in 1½ cups of water and boil gently one minute. Beat 4 eggs well, add 1½ cups soft bread crumbs, 1½ cups hot milk, 1 cup grated cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 strips crisp bacon (crumbled) and apples. Pour into greased shallow baking dish and bake at 325 degrees until set and lightly browned on top.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Clanton, Ala., April 7, 1952.

Dear Editor;

Will you please give me a little space in your paper as we have a Primary Election coming up in the near future when we voters will be called upon to select the person as a nominee for the different offices. As voters, we ought to vote for men who have proven their worthiness to the county, the church and their community.

Mr. J. J. Johnson; who is a candidate for Member of the Board of Revenue and Control, District No. 4, is a member of Walnut Creek Church, superintendent of the Sunday School and a Christian gentleman and worthy of the voters' consideration as I feel that he is in every respect well qualified to discharge the duties of that office.

I have worked with him in the church and had business transactions and as a neighbor of mine, we will appreciate the voters helping us nominate him in the Primary.

T. L. MADDOX.

MEASLES

Measles is one of the most dangerous of childhood epidemic diseases, largely because of the severe complications that may occur. Moreover, an adult who somehow escapes it in childhood may contract it at any age.

In its initial stages, the disease begins like the common cold with sneezing, red and watery eyes. These symptoms appear ten or eleven days after exposure. The eyes ache and are sensitive to light. There may be a hoarse, dry cough and a sore throat with congestion of the tonsils.

Three or four days after the appearance of the cold symptoms, a rash develops, first on the face and then on the trunk, arms and legs. Bluish white areas called Koplik's spots, named for a New York physician who identified them, appearing on the inside of the cheek and lips are another clue to the diagnosis of measles even before the rash appears.

The disease is caused by a virus, an organism so small that it cannot be seen with the ordinary microscope. Thus far, no positive immunizing agent has been found for measles, although a fraction of the blood serum of recovered patients, called immune globulin, has been used in minimizing an attack.

While the mortality rate from measles itself is low, the death rate is higher among patients in whom serious complications develop, such as infections of the eyes, the nose and throat, the bronchial tubes, and the digestive tract. Once the child's body is weakened from the measles attack, there is susceptibility to germs like the streptococcus, pneumococcus, influenza virus, and the organisms responsible for meningitis. The brain may be seriously affected, a complication which is believed due solely to the measles virus.

The measles patient should be under supervision of a physician at all times. The advent of such drugs as the sulfonamides and penicillin has rendered the complications incident to measles less serious. Yet, it must be remembered that more than 90 percent of the measles death rate is attributed to resultant pneumonia.

It's What You Think

Has anybody ever told you that every thought you think
Makes lines just like the little ones you write with pen and ink?
And thoughts of anger, fear, or hate will spoil the prettiest face
By making ugly little lines which nothing can erase.
But thoughts of love and kindness and joyousness and cheer
Make very pretty little lines, all fine and firm and clear.
And by and by your face becomes an open story book
Which every one can see and read each time they chance to look.
So if you want your face to tell a story sweet and fair,
You must see that only good thoughts do any writing there.

HAPPY EASTER GREETINGS to all our Patrons . . . May Springtime and the Eastertide fill your heart with all the joys of this Happy Season . . . The Management.

Chiropractic

THE FUNCTION OF THE PANCREAS

The pancreas is similar in structure to the salivary glands, and is sometimes called the abdominal salivary gland. It lies just about in the middle line of the abdomen and extends across the abdomen at about the level of the lower ribs. It contains numerous small lobules made up of cells that secrete fluid which is conveyed by a duct into the small intestines.

The pancreatic juice helps to digest the food. Certain cells in the pancreas make another secretion which instead of being carried into the intestine, passes directly into the blood stream: This secretion is concerned in the assimilation of sugars. Experiments show that one form of diabetes is due to the disturbance in the function of these particular cells. Many experiments have as yet failed to show the exact part played by the pancreas in connection with sugars. Complete removal of the gland is followed by a clearance of glycogen in the liver. This glycogen is the substance stored in the liver to be converted into sugar, for the body needs.

The nerve supply of the pancreas comes through the 10th cranial nerve and the 5th to the 12th thoracic nerves.

It has been found that stimulation of the nerves by electric currents increases very materially the secretions of the gland. Chiropractic relies upon the nervous control in all cases of disease in which the pancreas is involved.

It has been found in many diabetic patients that there is an impingement of the nerve, and that spinal adjustments have been very effective in restoring proper working of the gland. Proper diet is important. Avoid sugars and starches. The record of Chiropractic in diabetes is very favorable.

Picture Shows Should Be Encouraged Says Gov. White

Miss. Chief Makes Strong Pitch For Industry As He Signs Bill Cutting Taxes

Jackson, Miss. — Glowing tribute to the motion picture industry as "a part of the fabric of our life" and an institution which "should be encouraged and not emasculated by destructive and discriminatory taxation" was paid here yesterday by Governor Hugh L. White, on his signing of a theatre tax reduction bill.

New bill, effective July 1 and passed principally through the efforts of the Mississippi Theatre Owners with the co-operation of TOA, calls for a two per cent tax on each gross revenue dollar for individual theatres and small circuits up to 10 theatres, and an additional three per cent for chains of more than 10 theatres. The previous tax bill levied a tax of from 10 to 13 per cent.

The Governor's complete statement, extolling the industry and embodying every pitch made by industry leaders in recent years, follows:

Community Institution

"In passing this bill to reduce the unusual heavy tax burden now being carried by the motion picture theatres, the State of Mississippi recognized the fact that the theatre has long ceased to be solely a place of entertainment. It has become a community institution of first rank and has assumed its community responsibilities, and it is an industry that should not be unduly taxed.

"During the war no industry built a prouder record in its support of Government and community in the bond drives, Red Cross, scrap drives, and various other war activities. Government messages were given circulation without parallel through the theatres. Charitable organizations would contemplate no major drive without seeking the powerful aid of the screen.

"The motion picture emerged from the war as one of the greatest instruments of information and persuasion. It has become a fabric of our life, and as an institution it should be encouraged and not emasculated by destructive and discriminatory taxation.

"For a business already groaning under the weight of general Federal and State personal and corporate tax legislation and a special Federal tax on admissions of 20 per cent, it is economically bad to add unfairly to that burden.

Strikes Inversely

"Also it is scientifically unsound in that it violates the modern theory of graduated taxation, whereby the varying ability to pay governs the liability. It strikes the people inversely to their abilities to pay, affecting primarily as it does millions of people in the lower brackets of income and millions of children.

"It is anti-social in that it works to the detriment of a community-building institution. It seeks to classify the motion picture theatre as a non-essential luxury or minor vice. The movie today is not a luxury; it is a necessity. It is not a vice, minor or major, and should not be bracketed with commodiies or pursuis that may be.

"The movie theatres seek no Government subsidy or price supports. They merely ask that, in common with other mediums of communication, such as newspapers, radio, and magazines, they be relieved of any special form of taxation.

"We want the theatres to continue to provide that visual education for the nation which has made he screen the greatest medium of mass communication in the past.

Prepared for Emergency

"We want them to be prepared for any emergency, where the Government may call upon them either to provide adult classrooms within the nation, as civilian defense needs, or to provide in foreign service any visual education that our nation may require.

"The theatres can do that only if they are organically sound — and presently they are suffering from a tax cancer that can only be helped by its excision, or at least by reduction."

A one million volt x-ray machine costs $65,000. A contribution to the 1952 Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society can help provide the expensive equipment needed to fight cancer.

MRS. O. B. PLIER of Jemison, Alabama, Route 2, looks at one of the heifers that will make a profitable producer. Mrs. Plier has found that the amount of the milk check depends on the number of pounds of milk sold rather than the number of cows milked.

YOUNG DAIRY PROGRAM ALREADY PROFITABLE

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Plier of Jemison, Alabama, Route 2, started their dairy program less than a year ago. During the short time they have milked cows they found it to be a profitable undertaking. They have also found that the success of a dairy program depends on more than owning cows. Mrs. Plier stated that the milk check from the three best cows amounted to 2-3 as much as the milk check from the entire milking herd of six cows. Using the example as a basis for reasoning, Mr. and Mrs. Plier decided one of the very first objectives should be that of improving the herd. The higher producing cows are being bred to good Jersey bulls and the heifer calves from these cows will be kept to replace low producers.

Home grown feed has also been found to be a very important factor in producing economical milk. Mr. and Mrs. Plier have not had to buy feed, but they agree that possibly more milk could be produced with more feed and better pasture. Mr. Plier plans to seed more pasture and save more feed this year.

At the present, Mr. and Mrs. Plier's milk check from six cows amounts to $60.00 to $70.00 every 2 weeks. Mrs. Plier's statement that the best three cows produced 2-3 as much milk as the entire six should be kept in mind when determining the possible income from dairy cows.

Mr. and Mrs. Plier devote one hour night and morning to milking and handling the milk. Both Mr. and Mrs. Plier feel that this time is profitably spent. As soon as possible they hope to increase the herd to fifteen good cows. When this time comes they will have converted a great deal of their row crop land pasture.

Mr. and Mrs. Plier have confidence in dairying as a dependable source of income. In planning a program based on good cows and home grown feed ther are developing a program that will prove sound through the years.

John M. Higgins Wants Social Security Benefits For County Employees

John M. Higgins

Employees of Chilton County are not at present covered by Old Age and Survivors Insurance under the Social Security Act.

JOHN M. HIGGINS believes that County Employees should have these benefits.

An Act of the Alabama Legislature provides that a County may voluntarily come under the Social Security Act and provide insurance for its employees.

These benefits for County employees would cost Chilton County about $100.00 per month.

JOHN M. HIGGINS believes this small additional cost to the County would be more than off-set by increased worker efficiency due to bettering working conditions.

JOHN M. HIGGINS advocates fair wages and good working conditions for County employees as well as workers in private business.

TO THE CITIZENS AND TAXPAYERS OF CHILTON COUNTY AND STATE OF ALABAMA

Mr. H. C. Crane of Crane, Jackson and Wilson, Certified Public Accountants of Montgomery, Alabama, who are Members American Institute of Accountants, have examined two separate reports of Examiners of Public Accounts, one of which was filed on September 12, 1947, which reports upon an examination made by Messrs. M. F. Watson and F. W. Reid, covering the period from October 1, 1946, through January 19, 1947, and the second report filed on October 21, 1949, which was conducted by Messrs. Roland L. Sparkman and C. R. Keener, Examiners of Public Accounts.

The first and second audit was approved by Ralph P. Eagerton, Chief Examiner of Public Accounts of the State of Alabama. Mr. Eagerton knew at the time that he approved Roland L. Sparkman's and C. R. Keener's report which charged your officials with practically everything the Commissioners bought during the period covered by the report and that Watson and Reid who made the first audit covering the same period and the same records did not charge your officials with one cent.

For your information, I am quoting the statements made by the Certified Public Accountant, Mr. H. C. Crane:

"We have noticed that in a great many of the unsupported claims and warrants, that there is every indication of papers having been attached to such claims or warrants, in that the top part of the warrant and|or claim contains many perforations, apparently made by a paper stapling or bradding machine, indicating attachments thereto.

"The report of Watson-Reid states that all accounts of the County Board of Commissioners were verified by the Minutes; that claims paid were verified as to authority and proper funds; that all claims were checked as to regularity, and properly checked to the appropriate permanent records of the county. Nothing in their report indicates that claims were not properly supported, and we think it reasonable in the absence of criticism on the part of Watson and Reid, to assume that supporting documents were attached to all claims and warrants at the time they were prepared, approved by the Court, and paid.

"On many of the claims the statement is made that "Itemized statements are attached," yet at the date of your auditor's examination, the attached documents appear to have been removed.

There is such a great difference between the findings as reported by Watson-Reid and Keener-Sparkman, as to lead one to wonder what could have been the reason for an examination, going back over a period that already had been examined and reported upon by other Examiners of the Office of the Chief Examiner of Public Accounts. We think it understandable that two separate groups of examiners, equally able to conduct a proper examination, could differ in their interpretation on some items. Assuming that both sets of examiners examined the identical records, "in the same condition, we do not think that FOUR REPUTABLE EXAMINERS COULD POSSIBLY HAVE SUCH A WIDE VARIATION IN OPINION AS EXISTS BETWEEN THE TWO REPORTS, UNLESS THEY WERE BIASED AND|OVER-ANXIOUS TO FIND DEFECTS IN THE ACCOUNTS."

Inasmuch, as a local paper published the editorial of Roland L. Sparkman's and C. R. Keener's report without making any charge for publishing the report, or if they did make a charge they should be willing to publish the first examination of the Commissioner's Court records made by Messrs. Watson and Reid, and also the examination made by the Certified Public Accountants for the same price. If they refuse to publish these reports, I will continue to at my own expense.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Jiggs Gets Four "Hot-Foots"

Cappy Miller's bought himself a new car. We won't be seeing his old jalopy bouncing over the back roads any more. I'm going to miss it, too.

Many a morning Cappy and I drove off in that rattletrap for a day's hunting or fishing. We'd pile rods or guns in back, and prop open the trunk compartment—so Jiggs, Cappy's pointer, could jump in and go along.

They say when Cappy brought the new car home he opened up the hood to show off the engine—and poor old Jiggs hopped right in! Figured it was the trunk. He hopped right out in a hurry, too. That cylinder head was mighty hot.

From where I sit, old habits are hard to shake, once they get a hold. Like, for instance, too many people are still in the habit of trying to run their neighbors' lives—telling them how to act, what to wear, whether or not to enjoy a refreshing glass of beer. I say that kind of thinking's outmoded . . . ought to be turned in for a new model!

JAMES M. (Jim) DUNLAP

Since opening my campaign for re-election to the Board of Revenue and Control, Fourth District, Chilton County, I have been able to visit most of the beats and find a very favorable re-action to my campaign for re-election.

Most of you know me personally. For those who probably don't, I was elected Commissioner for the Fourth District in 1948, polling nearly 2400 votes. My record shows that I haven't betrayed this great trust and I now feel I am better qualified than ever to serve you. You will always find me to be ever ready for your constructive criticism and cooperative with other members of the Board, our Engineer, and in general, any ways and means of promoting better government for Chilton County.

I will do my best to see each of you between now and May 6th, but if I fail to do so I am still counting on you and your support.

Your kind remembrance will greatly be appreciated when you go to your polling place May 6th.

Thanks,
James M. "Jim" Dunlap

G. MARCUS JONES

In offering myself for membership on the Chilton County Board of Revene I do so with the full realization of what I wish to accomplish for the people of this county

I stand for better roads and will work for better roads during every day I serve our county.

I am old fashioned enough to believe in honest government and want the people to have honest government. This they will get if I am elected to help govern this county.

I believe that if we put the money we now have where it belongs we can do the things we need to do without increasing taxes. This statement goes from the County level to the government of the United States.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

In my race for Congress from the Sixth District, I earnestly solicit your vote and your assistance.

My campaign is based on one fundamental — namely, the need for a return to basic honesty in our Washington government and, with it, such house-cleaning activities as might prove necessary to achieve this goal.

I do not believe that, by necessity, we must have a government owned and operated by the sharp boys. These sharpsters—the double-dealers, the professional slickers, and the five-percenters—somehow have gained the idea that they are endowed with certain inalienable rights to use the federal government for personal gain. They have come to believe that these "rights" include a franchise for the privilege of gouging you, the ordinary taxpayer. I believe that we can get rid of these people — lock, stock, and barrel — and I so pledge my efforts.

During the remaining weeks of the campaign, I will see as many of you as possible. In the meantime, I will deeply appreciate your personal help in this campaign for a change in the fiscal and moral atmosphere of Washington. It is a campaign for clean government in which all of us have a real stake. I invite you to inspect my record, both public and personal.

I thank you—

Mr. Headley was very gracious in his remarks and keeps in touch with this section through The Union-Banner. Mr. Headley stated that he taught his first school at Pilgrim's Rest. Since has held pastorates in 10 states—Maine to Georgia. He has edited three papers and has written for various magazines, weeklies and dailies for many years. Part of his message I quote, "I once knew many people in that section, but ones you mention I do not know at all. A lot of Gandy's once lived near there." I feel that some of my readers might possibly remember Mr. Headley and I feel that some of you might like to write him. His address is Orman T. Headley, Bakersfield, Vt. I'm sure he would be happy to hear from you.

The health of your children is protected by CONCRETE SEWERS

Unseen and seldom considered by the citizen, sewers nevertheless play a vital part in protecting the health of his family. And the best protection is afforded by strong, durable, concrete pipe—the kind that serves dependably through many decades and keeps sewage flow safely confined within joint-tight walls—cuts leakage and "infiltration" to the minimum.

Concrete Saves Taxpayers Money

Your municipal sewerage represents an important investment. Concrete protects that investment! It resists corrosion, rust and decay. It is moderate in first cost and serves for decades with the minimum of maintenance expense.

Population has outgrown sewage systems in many cities. Urge your officials to plan new sewers using safe, economical concrete.

WAYS TO CONTROL LOSS OF FISH IN FARM POND

Pond owners should be on the lookout for possible death of fish in their ponds in Spring and Summer.

Only a few ponds show a partial kill of fish each year, and in practically all cases the cause cannot be determined. In some instances, however, the loss of fish has been directly connected with a deficiency of phosphorous, a high concentration of carbon dioxide, and a lack of oxygen.

Therefore, if the pond owner sees a number of bluegills and bass swimming close to the surface of the water, he should distribute 50 to 100 pounds of 18 per cent superphosphate per acre over the pond in the early morning. Then between three and four o'clock in the afternoon he should stir the water thoroughly by use of an outboard motor attached to a boat. Several motors on boats should be used if available. The stirring of the water with motors helps to distribute oxygen in the upper water level thruout the pond.

REMOVE STAINS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Most stains on clothing may be removed easily at home, but remember that prompt treatment is one of the most important rules.

Certain stains require certain treatments. This fact is why the nature of the stain should be known, if possible. When an unsuitable remover is used the stain may be "set" so that its removal becomes difficult or even possible.

Bleaches and other chemicals strong enough to remove stains will usually attack dyestuffs and fabrics. It is, therefore, necessary to handle colored fabrics carefully. They should be treated rapidly and rinsed thoroughly.

See the local home demonstration agent for complete details on removing stains.

—By Ben

Saw in a magazine where if you let an athlete have an inch he'd take a foot. For goodness sake, let him have it. Who wants athletes foot?

We expect to see some action behind this Alabama Industry Days celebration this year. Bob Taber and Joe Jackson are the co-chairmen of the local organization and both know how to get things done. Well, come on, Joe, Bob—let's get things done.

Talk keeps trickling around that R. C. Williams might be a candidate for Mayor. He knows the ropes and would make Clanton a good one. He has a lot of jobs to do already and would probably have to shed a few of his present responsibilities to be able to take the office if he were elected. Clanton's keeping would be in good hands with R. C. at the wheel.

It is reported that plans have already been completed to get the "white way" finished. That's good news and will add much to our little city's appearance to strangers coming through. Congratulations to the Clanton Lions Club upon their untiring efforts in behalf of this progressive project.

Went down last Friday morning to see Albert Gramatis at his new "Triple A" Cafe. It's a beauty and fixed the most comfortable you ever saw. Albert is very proud of it and so will his customers be when they have seen the nice dining room he has prepared for them. Visit the Triple A Cafe soon.

Some of the candidates were after us to suggest to more of the civic organizations to give "chicken suppers" and invite them so that they would have the opportunity to meet more voters. Well, come Friday night, that's tomorrow, the American Legion Post at Thorsby is giving them the opportunity they have been wanting. All candidates are invited to a chicken supper at the Junior High School and they will be given at least three minutes to speak their piece. Now what a candidate can say in three minutes remains to be seen, but we think it would be worth going out to the chicken supper just to see how many times a candidate can put his foot in it, in a three-minute talk.

Your atenion is called to the story appearing on the front page of this issue regarding the duties of your Board of Revenue members—and all of their duties are not listed here. Too, while we are about it, let us mention the fact that about 75 percent of the cost of our Engineer and his assistants are paid by the State and Federal Governments and not the County. The present administration at the courthouse have done a mighty good job in getting things under control through trying times and are to be highly congratulated on their fine work.

TO MAKE RADIO ADDRESS FRIDAY

Hear Armistead I. Selden, Jr., speak in behalf of his candidacy for Congress over Radio Station WKLF, Clanton, at 7:15 a.m. Friday morning, April 18th, 1952.

Plans Made For 1952 Community Concert Season

On Tuesday evening at 7:30 the officers for the 1951-1952 Community Concert Association of Chilton County met at the First Baptist Church. Perhaps no one thing has meant more as a cultural factor in the artistic growth of Chilton County than this Community Concert's Service. There has been much praise from various communities and groups of a successful Concert season which has just closed.

The Columbia Artists Management, Inc., the world's largest bureau, the most complete roster of the great names in music, and the fresh new talent, who will be great names of tomorrow is made available to each association. Through Community Concert Service Chilton County is provided with the largest possible selections of artist at the lowest possible cost.

The drive for 1952-1953 memberships begins April 21. The Community Concert dinner will be held Monday night, April 21. More details will follow by radio announcements.

The response from Chilton County Community Concert patrons has been enthusiastic and generous.

The drive this year bids fair for a larger membership. This will give a wider range in selection of concert artist in the higher brackets.

Monroe Boles, Dr. H. M. Nix, and Joe Maddox have planted two acres each of kudzu. They used 1500 to 2000 crowns per acre to hasten the ground cover.

Bicolor Lespedeza (Quails favorite winter food) will be delivered to the county in the near future. Prepare land and be ready.

Allen Lenoir, Hillery Bolton, Joe Gibson have held quail on their farm continuously with a bicolor border planted between the field and woods.

Jack Roberts is planning an irrigation system on his farm. Jack states, "Last summer taught me that you don't get rain as often as it is needed, and I have plenty of water running down the creek, so I want to fix it so I can put it on the field when it is needed.

GOOD FINANCIAL CONDITION

According to a recent audit of the books of the Board of Revenue and Control of Chilton County by the State Auditors, this paper is glad to report to the people of Chilton County that as of October 1, 1951, the County is in excellent financial condition. This audit, we are reliably informed, and according to the books kept by the Board, reveals that as of October 1, 1951, Chilton County has an unencumbered balance of $99,584.96. The word "unencumbered balance," as used by the Auditors, means that if every outstanding bill and debt of the County were fully paid, that the County would have left on hand, as of October 1, 1951, the sum of $99.584.96, cash.

A comparison of prior financial statements indicates that the County's financial affairs have been progressively more economically handled. The unencumbered cash balance shown by the last four (4) published financial statements of Chilton County, is, as follows:

October 1, 1950, unencumbered cash balance $	3,623.64
April 1, 1951, unencumbered cash balance	69,374.59
October 1, 1951, unencumbered cash balance	99,584.96
April 1, 1952, unencumbered cash balance	150,005.59

Evidently someone seems to be on their toes in the management of the affairs of Chilton County.

WHITHER DIXIECRATS?

Add to the Dixiecrat unhappiness:

A United Press news story datelined Tallahassee, Fla., reports that Sen. Dick Russell's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination "picked up additional support in Florida . . . as his backers sought to remove a states' rights 'kiss of death' from his campaign."

The Florida national committeeman, it appears, is so apprehensive over the effect of bolter support of Sen. Russell that "he warned loyal party members of an attempted 'power grab' by Dixiecrat elements.

Pointing out that some "unreformed" states' rights adherents have qualified in the Florida delegate race as Russell supporters, he said:

"To have these Dixiecrats . . . representing Richard Russell at the coming convention in Chicago will definitely give him the 'kiss of death,' giving his opponents . . . all the evidence they want to prejudice delegates from other states against . . . Russell."

First, when Sen, Russell became a candidate the Dixiecrats over the South, for the most part, sat on their hands while most Southern politicians applauded. Then, when popular support of the Russell candidacy became so strong that they felt they had to declare themselves, a few Dixiecrats tried to salvage something for their cause by getting on the bandwagon. Finally, however, it seems that the Russell people will move heaven and earth to keep it from appearing that their man is the darling of Dixiecrats, even to the point of disowning them publicly.

The question is, where will the so-called states' righters go? Perhaps their only salvation will be to nominate Horace Wilkinson, or some other Republocrat, if that can be called salvation.—Lee County Bulletin.

IT'S YOUR MONEY

The trouble with most discussions of taxes and the national debt is that they take place in a financial stratosphere. Almost no one can think logically in terms of tens of billions and hundreds of billions.

But when the meaning of taxes and the debt is related to the average man and the average family, the ominous picture clears. The Bulletin of the Southern States Industrial Council recently did that when it said, "The public debt is $260,000,000,000, and this lays a $6,800 burden on every family in America. The interest alone on this debt aggregates more than $6.000,000,000 annually—or $180 for every family. Last year the average family paid $1,589 in direct taxes and another $500 in 'hidden' taxes. A total of more than $2,000. This year the 'take' will be greater.

"When the $85,500,000,000 budget proposed for next year—which it is now estimated will create a deficit of $14,000,000,000 — is compared with current Federal spending—we find that it will add an average financial liability—either in taxes or increased debt—of $226 for every family in America."

There it is. We can't think in billions, but we can think in hundreds and in thousands. It's your money. It's coming out of your children's pockets. Debt and taxes are destroying us from within. It isn't a question of whether we "want" to cut government spending. We "must" cut it—if we are to survive as a free people. Times-Standard.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of, Alabama.

MUCOUS COLITIS

Colitis is a comprehensive medical term meaning inflamation of the colon or large bowel. The colon, about five feet long in adults, is divided into the ascending, the transverse and the descending sections. Its functions are to handle the indigestible material that is left after digestion and to take up water and sugar.

One type of colitis is mucous colitis. This is caused by the spasm and contraction of muscles. There is usually sharp, intermittent pain, and the condition seems more noticeable after meals.

Mucous colotis is common in persons who experience strong emotional crises of fear, worry, fright, hate, confusion, or frustration in business or social affairs. It is generally recognized that the digestive tract is affected by these emotional upsets, illustrative of the community relationship between mind and body.

Such cmomon complaints as "butterflies in my stomach," "quivering" and "nervous stomach" seem to precipitate the final contractions or spasms which produce severe pain. The person with mucous colitis is always conscious of his abdomen. He localizes his pain almost anywhere in the area, but usually in the descending colon, just above the left hip and towards the middle of the body. Hyperacidity, heartburp and excess gas are other symptoms, and constipation is common.

The cooperation of the patient is important. Medication will give temporary relief, but the cause must be exposed and removed. Some adults are emotionally immature and a defeat, whether it be social or economic, is a blow that cannot be endured. In others, a tense pace of living accounts for the symptoms, leaving too little time for normal body habtis, such as eating, relaxation and elimination of the waste.

The patient with mucous colitis should be under the care of a physician. Frequently it is necessary to place the patient under the care of a psychiatrist. When this occurs, the patient should make every effort to understand that when the emotional conflict has been removed, the physical symptoms will disappear.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

Although they seldom get any mail themselves, the three-year-old and the five-year-old delight in meeting the postman every morning and bringing in the assortment of bills and circulars he has for the adult members of the family.

The other morning the three-year-old got a letter of his very own, a letter from his grandmother. After it had been read and reread to him several times, he sighed happily and said,

"That's nice. I'm going to save my letter."

So he walked into the kitchen and deposited his precious letter carefully in the refrigerator!

This time every year I wish I had learned a bit more about botany during my school days. The three-year-old and the five-year-old hopefully planted a flower garden, and now that weeding time has arrived I can't tell whether I'm pulling out weeds or young flower plants. Mostly I work on the theory that the biggest plants are bound to be weeds and should be pulled up.

Seems to me it would be a good idea for the firms that sell seeds to put detailed pictures of the tiny plants on each package of seeds they market.

The neighbor around the corner has come up with a very practical suggestion for all mothers who hate the task of darning socks.

She says socks will wear much longer if the heels and toes are rubbed with paraffin. The wax coating reduces the friction, this delaying the appearance of holes.

With parking meters sprouting up along curbs faster than weeds in our garden, keeping small change handy to feed their ugly faces is becoming more and more of a problem. Our practical neighbor keeps a dollar's worth of pennies and nickels in an old coin purse in the glove compartment of her car for use in the meters.

It sounds simple enough, but how does she keep from spending the change for ice cream cones, bubble gum and popsicles?

This same practical neighbor has a big calendar on the wall of her kitchen. Each day she makes a note of the main dish served at each meal. By checking her notes on the calendar, she avoids serving the same foods too often and thus doesn't have to hear her family complain, "Not hamburger again this week!"

Our well - groomed neighbor around the corner has a new way to keep her hatpins within easy, and safe, reach. Instead of storing them in a box, she sticks them in the holes of a decorated salt shaker on her dressing table.

Here's a recipe for apple sauce nut loaf that has become a real favorite in most of the homes in our neighborhood:

You'll need 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup shortening, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup applesauce and 1 cup chopped nuts.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add whole eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each is added. Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Add to mixture alternately with apple sauce, being sure to stir well after each addition. Gradually add nuts. Pour into loaf pan which has been lined with greased paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 45 minutes.

FACTS ABOUT RED CROSS BLOOD

Your Red Cross Executive Secretary, Chilton County Chapter, has often been asked questions concerning Red Cross Blood. One resident of our county was under the impression that blood was being recruited thru the Red Cross to be used only in time of disaster. Another person asked if all blood donated thru the Red Cross goes to defense.

Red Cross blood is used for wounded fighting men as well as for injured civilians and also in cases of illness where transfusions are needed. The question has been asked, 'Does the Red Cross sell blood?' The answer to this is 'No'—There is no charge for the actual blood, however, there is an administration fee and also a laboratory fee. The doctor usually charges for giving transfusions, and this is the administration fee, and what is meant by a laboratory fee is simply that a laboratory technician is necessary in matching and typing blood. The public has become confused over such charges and they sometimes believe they are actually paying for Red Cross Blood.

It has been brought to this chapter's attention that some do not understand how to go about requesting Red Cross blood when entering a hospital. If a patient from Chilton County is carried, we will say, to a hospital in Birmingham, Selma or Montgomery and requires blood transfusions; If they will request Red Cross blood thru their doctor, he will arrange for the patient to be given Red Cross blood. Then if Red Cross blood is used—It should be shown on your hospital bill that such is used and there is no charge except for the administration of same. If the same patient or any patient was given blood other than Red Cross blood there would of course be a charge for the actual blood plus administration and laboratory fees, which will sometimes run from $35.00 to $50 per pint. Remember, this is blood other than Red Cross blood, that might be used from the hospital's regular blood bank.

The Birmingham Blood Center has a certain quota of blood to make each month to the armed forces overseas. There is a certain amount then stored in the blood center for civilian use thru the hospitals. Some larger hospitals keep Red Cross Blood in stock. The Birmingham Blood Center, however, stands ready to send out blood at a moment's notice on emergencies where Red Cross blood is not stocked.

Those in Chilton County who have given a pint of blood, and those who will give in the future do have the satisfaction of knowing they are helping to save the life of some fighting man as well as a civilian.

The Birmingham Blood Mobile Unit will be in our county again April 18th, this Friday from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. at the basement of the Methodist Church in Clanton. Please come and help us make our quota of 165 pints of blood. This quota is expected of our county to enable us to continue with the Red Cross Blood Program.

J. J. JOHNSON

Dear Voters of Chilton County:

Please let me take this means of reaching each of you, as it will be impossible to make personal contact with each voter before May 6, and to ask your support when you go to the polls. Most of you know me as I have worked over the whole County as a driver of the County Gasoline Truck.

Needless to say, I am interested in each community in our County and the churches and schools in it, and all the other things that make for better places for us and our children. I feel that I know the work of the roads and what would be expected of me as a member of the Board of Revenue in District 4. If you elect me, I feel that I can help to bring about a great improvement in the work for which our county funds are allotted.

I am interested in seeing more and better roads in our County. especially where the market roads are concerned and you will find me putting my efforts where the work is most needed.

If you elect me I assure you of my full cooperation in working with each County official and you for the best interest of all of us.

J. J. JOHNSON.

Concrete Streets can TAKE IT

Concrete streets have built-in strength, stamina and durability—and can be designed for any service requirement. Concrete is an all-year, all-weather pavement because (1) its gritty surface is skid-resistant, wet or dry, and (2) its rigid construction bridges weak spots in the supporting soil. You'll appreciate these facts most when mud holes, ruts and bumps make other streets impassable.

WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN, Mr. deGraffenried?

.. AND WHAT HAVE YOU BEEN DOING?

When you ran for Congress in 1948, you denounced your predecessor for his absence from the House of Representatives.

You ran an advertisement pointing out that, during his 11 years in office, he had failed to vote on 68 bills dealing with important legislation.

You promised that you would "stay on the job" and "vote for the welfare of the people of the Sixth District."

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?

The truth is that, while your predecessor failed to vote on 68 bills in 11 years, YOU HAVE FAILED TO VOTE ON 63 BILLS IN ONLY THREE YEARS.

Your record for absenteeism in the House during the three full years you have been in office is the worst, with only one exception, in the entire Alabama delegation.

For all three of those full years which you have served—1949, 1950 and 1951—your attendance record has been below the national average for the House—and this in face of the fact that the more inexperienced congressmen such as you, with the lighter committee assignments, are expected to have a record well above the average.

Inasmuch as you ran on a platform pledging attention to business, the people of the Sixth District have a right to ask you these questions:

"Where have you been, Mr. deGraffenreid?

"And what have you been doing with this time, which belongs not to you, but to the people of the Sixth District?

"How can you vote for the welfare of the people, when you don't vote at all on so much important legislation?"

WHAT ABOUT
Armistead Selden's Record
For Being On The Job and Attending To Business?

This is what Robert T. Goodwyn, Jr., Clerk of the Alabama House of Representatives, has to say:

> "I hereby certify that Representative Selden was present on each of the thirty-six days that the Legislature met during the regular 1951 session and that on EACH OF THE THIRTY-SIX DAYS REPRESENTATIVE SELDEN ANSWERED TO THE CALL OF THE ROLL."

Vote for a man who knows how to stay on the job. Vote for a man who means business, and who thinks that you mean the same thing when you say you want someone really to represent you in Washington.

Thorsby, Alabama

Dear Mr. Higgins:

This is formal confirmation of the action taken at the industry-wide meeting in New Orleans on April 17, when the general session authorized and instructed the Chairman of the Industry Committee to appoint a chairman of each state group represented on the Industry Committee, to comprise an advisory committee which would serve to expedite action when required and maintain a closer liaison between the Industry Committee and members of the industry in the respective states. Accordingly, Chairman Eagle has asked me to notify you of your appointment as Chairman of your state delegation and as a member of the Advisory Committee.

Sincerely,

SOUTHERN PINE INDUSTRY COMMITTEE

Allen Lenoir, Hillery Bolton, J. Gibson have held quail on their farm continuously with a bicolor bord planted between the field an woods.

Jack Roberts is planning an irrigation system on his farm. Jack states, "Last summer taught me tha you don't get rain as often as it i needed, and I have plenty of water running down the creek, so I wan to fix it so I can put it on the field when it is needed.

H. Fenn has planted two acres of Coastal Bermuda. His fescue and rescue grasses are good.

Jim Lockhart states, "A farmer should put back on the land a pound of either green manure, dry litter, compost, or commercial fertilizer fo each pound of harvested crop.

If a gas burner on your stove sputters, it's wasting fuel. Dirt i usually the cause. Remove the burner, clean out the holes with a pipe cleaner or wire, wash in hot soap suds, rinse, dry, replace, and you have a cure.

Some Thoughts For Better Government

To select your aids in your business, do you consider qualification as well as character?

Would you employ an inexperienced man and expect equal results?

Do you think that the people are entitled to the highest possible return for their investment?

Inexperienced help is expensive to any business. Your County business is no exception.

Thousands of dollars can be saved the county annually by having a man that is familiar with the repair of equipment and knowing the value of second hand equipment when time comes to trade. The undersigned has had valuable experience in this line.

Think of these important matters when you cast your vote on May 6th.. I have had 25 years experience of the type of work required of members of the County Board of Revenue and Control.

PATTERN SELECTION FOR SPRING FROCKS

Some patterns are designed for either heavy, stiff, flimsy, or soft fabrics.

Patterns for large plaid and checked fabrics are simpler than those for small all-over designs or solid color fabrics. A pattern with decorative details, such as small tucks, top stitching and shirring fails to show up in an all-over designed fabric.

Patterns with gathering, shirring, small buttons, and button holes, tiny tucks, unpressed pleats, drapes, or ruffles are especially suitable to soft, sheer or light-weight fabrics, such as voiles, crepes and silk

Patterns are designed for large pockets, large pleats, bound buttonholes, large buttons, and top stitching are more adaptable to firmer, heavier fabrics, such as linen, chambray, sharkskin, and wool.

KEEP VEGETABLES IN HOME FREEZER

Home freezer owners will be glad to know that frozen vegetables properly prepared, are safe from spoilage bacteria.

Tests by the New York Agricultural Experiment Station showed that vegetables frozen in still air at zero degrees Fahrenheit were safe from bacteria that would cause spoilage. The rapid freezing methods brought bacterial growth in these vegetables practically to a standstill, so that the number of bacteria did not increase. The home freezing at slower rates allowed the bacteria to increase slightly before the vegetables were entirely frozen, but the increase was so slight that the scientists did not consider it significant.

LOUSY CATTLE CAN RUB OFF PROFITS

Recently a large per cent of Alabama cattle herds has turned up with heavy infestation of lice. These insects cost herd owners millions of dollars each year.

There are three kinds of lice found on cattle in the state. They are chewing lice, sucking lice, and tail lice. The ox-tail louse is a new pest in this country. However, only a few herds in Alabama have been found to be infested with this insect. Reports indicate that the tail louse is a dangerous pest to have in the herd.

Lice can be cheaply and effectively controlled by spraying or dusting. The cheapest insecticide to use on beef cattle is DDT. Use 10 pounds of 50 per cent wettable powder in 100 gallons of water. Methoxychlor should be used at the same rate in treating dairy cattle. A dust that contains five per cent DDT or methoxychlor should be used.

To control the tail louse dip the brush of the tail of an infested animal in a bucketful of one of the sprays. Treat all animals a second time within two weeks.

IT PAYS TO CHECK UP ON BROOD SOWS

It takes about five and one-half pigs per year to pay a brood sow's room and board bill.

A sow should produce at least 12 hogs for sale annually. This fact should be remembered since Spring litters are being farrowed on many Alabama farms at this time.

An old trunk can be converted into an attractive toy chest or blanket storage box by painting it with quick-drying enamel in a color to match your decorative scheme. Red, white and blue is effective for a toy chest.

Lintless dustcloths are made, not born. Soak cloth in hot soapsuds with a few drops of turpentine for several hours, wring out, and let dry. The dustcloth will now hold dust and give furniture a brilliant polish. Repeat every two weeks.

TO THE VOTERS AND CITIZENS OF CHILTON COUNTY

JAMES M. (Jim) DUNLAP

The final phase of our primary election narrows sharply and as it narrows, I find more and more encouragement in my race for a Member of the Board of Revenue and Control from the Fourth District. Realizing the number of candidates on our ballot this time is quite large, should each of us have asked the individual voter for time for a personal interview, it would be costly to the voter in time, and to some, probably would be monotonous. For this reason, I have tried not to bother you too much, but still I want everyone to know I would feel honored to have a personal talk with you. As stated before, I am running on my record, both as Commissioner and a Member of the Board of Revenue and Control from the Fourth District, this change in county government being made during my one term in office.

It is customarily wise—in most instances—if a man proves worthy and an able and efficient servant in this office, to give him a second term. As a fellow citizen and taxpayer, I feel it an obligation to use my experience another term. An experienced man can get you more for your tax dollars and I will never betray your trust in me.

In my time as Commissioner, records show that no administration has ever done as much as we did with funds as low, equipment and materials almost impossible to get, and our roads in terrible condition. As Commissioner, I gave my full time to the office and road duties and sincerely believe all was done that could have been done under prevailing circumstances. I would greatly appreciate anyone checking over my record and remembering our progress since you elected me in 1948. As a Member of the Board of Revenue and Control, my record shows I have been cooperative with other members of the Board, our County Engineer the public in general, and tried to act as an honest, conscientious public servant should. I have and always will be for anything good for our county government and progress will be my watchword.

Our paving Program goes forward and I will work for more and more farm-to-market roads. Being a strong believer in preventative maintenance, hard surfacing of our roads is the answer to all costly road maintenance. I will work for paved roads that will serve the most people and will not show any favoritism to any group or any community.

The financial condition of our county has been brought up to a proud state. In asking you to elect me for a second term, I would like to continue our progress in every way and will assure you my full cooperation toward making Chilton County the most progressive county in our state.

Many thanks for your encouragement thus far. Your vote and influence at the polls will be highly appreciated.

JAMES M. (Jim) DUNLAP.

FOOD SALES PLANNING

A few minutes spent by retailers in planning for sales promotions as local foods become abundant can mean better satisfied customers, more money in the cash register, and better markets for farmers.

POLISHED RICE IS A SOURCE OF PROTEIN

Cereal products such as bread and rice are not especially good sources of protein. However, many people whose diets include very little meat, eggs, or dairy products must depend to a great extent on the protein in cereal grains.

Tests show that rice protein is nearly three times as valuable for growth as the protein in enriched flour. So perhaps rice should be served more often.

Our bodies are able to make better use of proteins in polished rice than proteins in enriched flour.

A good trick for keeping rubbers and rainwear from getting seperated or mislaid is to give your child brightly painted clothespins with his initials on them so he can clip galoshes in pairs, and rain hat to raincoat.

REMOVE STAINS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Most stains on clothing may be removed easily at home, but remember that prompt treatment is one of the most important rules.

Certain stains require certain treatments. This fact is why the nature of the stain should be known, if possible. When an unsuitable remover is used the stain may be 'set" so that its removal becomes difficult or even possible.

Bleaches and other chemicals strong enough to remove stains will usually attack dyestuffs and fabrics. It is, therefore, necessary to handle colored fabrics carefully They should be treated rapidly and rinsed thoroughly.

See the local home demonstration agent for complete details on removing stains.

It's Springtime In Alabama; Make It Happier For Others

Your discarded clothing and furniture can be used to good advantage by the Salvation Army in its program of service to others. On Thursday, April 17th, The Red Shield Truck will be in Clanton to gather your out of service clothing, shoes, furniture, appliances, etc. The clothing can be used no matter how badly worn, since even rags are utilized for some purpose. Furniture, however, should be in repairable condition so that the men being cared for by The Salvation Army can find use for their talents leading to their rehabilitation even thru reclaiming old pieces of furniture. Thus you render a dual service, aiding men to aid themselves, and finally the use of the furniture, clothing, etc. by those who need some.

SOYBEANS ADD TO THE FARM INCOME

Auburn, Ala. — Soybeans for oil production is an important cash crop in Baldwin, Escambia, and Jackson Counties, according to J. C. Lowery, API Extension Service agronomist.

He says that the crop is rapidly becoming popular in several other areas of the state, such as in the vicinities of Selma, Prattville, and Monroeville. In some sections yields in past years have been disappointing because of drought, unadapted varieties, or planting on land too poor to make good yields of soybeans.

"The planting date may extend from cotton planting time to June 15 in North Alabama and to July 1 in the Gulf Coast area," says Lowery. 'On well built-up gray, sandy, and on the heavy red soils of the Limestone Valleys use 300 to 400 pounds of 0-14-14. On land not well built-up, use 400 to 500 pounds of 4-10-7 per acre."

Farmers find that it is important to inoculate soybean seed, especially if they are being planted on the land for the first time. The Ogden vraiety is the most popular for oil production. Dortch is a popular variety, and Roanoke is showing some fine qualities for oil production.

CARE OF MILK AFTER IT REACHES THE HOME

The consumer can do much to maintain a safe milk supply by giving milk proper care in the home.

Prompt and adequate refrigeration and protection from contamination are just as important after the milk reaches the home as they are during the production and processing.

FRIENDS AND VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

As a candidate for membership to the Board of Revenue and Control, I would like to take this space to solicit your aid in the forthcoming election. As a lifetime resident of Chilton County I am familiar with the conditions of our roads and the problems they offer to our farmers and residents who use them to export their products and in their everyday travel. I have worked in road construction previously and have a working knowledge of how roads and bridges should be built and maintained. I am not a politician, but a citizen who is interested in the progress and development of Chilton County. If you elect me to office I sincerely promise you my full time devotion to my duty as a Commissioner and will see that your money is impartialy placed where it will benefit the most. I promise full cooperation with the other officials and citizens of Chilton County. I am seeking this office through my own merits and not the demerits of others. Thank you for your help in this race.

Sincerely,
G. C. (Grover) Donovan

TIME FOR A SPRING CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

A spring clean-up campaign at home—inside and out—will go a long way toward eliminating fire and accident hazards, especially on the farm.

Look in every nook and corner. Get rid of accumulated junk, trash, and discarded equipment, and get rid of dead grass and weeds near buildings.

Fire takes 3,500 lives on U.S. farms and damages $100,000,000 worth of property annually. Accidents cause about 18,000 deaths each year and 1,500,000 injuries.

ZINC DEFICIENCY WARNINGS IN CORN

If corn was white in bud when it came up last year and later showed white stripes in the leaves, there may be a shortage of zinc in the soil.

Especially is this fact true if previous crops have been grown on the same field and have been fertilized according to recommendations for normal conditions but still have shown the same markings.

The way to control this zinc shortage is to apply 10 pounds of zinc sulfate per acre with the complete fertilizer mixture used under the corn at or before planting.

It is doubtful if the use of zinc sulfate will pay when low rates of fertilizer are used.

To The People Of Chilton County

By this time you people of Chilton County are well aware that certain of my enemies, hoping to defeat me politically, have done everything in their power to discredit me with the people of this County.

Do you realize that Watson and Reid did not charge me with one cent and about two years later Mr. Keener and Mr. Sparkman in their audit of the same records charged me with $37,560.29? In order to give you the true facts, at my own expense, I have employed the firm of Crane, Jackson and Wilson, Montgomery, Alabama, members of American Institute of Accountants, being some of the most prominent certified accountants in the State of Alabama to make an examination of the audit made by Watson and Reid and also the audit made by Keener and Sparkman. From the information furnished me by Crane, Jackson and Wilson, I am briefly setting out below an explanation of the erroneous charges that were made against me:

TOTAL CHARGED AGAINST ME BY KEENER AND SPARKMAN ________ $37,560.29.

Crane Jackson and Wilson say that $3,179.86 of the amount charged was done so erroneously because it was made up of duplication of charges contained in the Keener-Sparkman report. In other words a single purchase was in many cases charged against me several times. $3,179.86.

Crane, Jackson and Wilson also say that $22,092.21 of the amount charged against me was charged erroneously and in connection therewith they say as follows: "Charges against J. Lee Smith, in the Keener-Sparkman report for failure to advertise for bids, where claims, supporting evidence and information, indicate there is no violation of the local Act as it appears in the book produced for our examination." 22,092.21; $25,272.07; $25,272.07; Balance ________ $12,288.22.

This leaves a balance of $12,288.22 charged to me by Mr. Keener and Sparkman. These charges consist of purchases or expenditures for items such as follows:

Supplies and materials for Chilton County, repairs to caterpillar tractors and road patrols and county trucks, truck hire for building roads, labor on roads and materials necessary for building and maintaining roads and bridges.

All of the above labor and material and supplies were contracted for by your County Commissioners and I did not buy one dollar's worth of material or supplies or hire any labor, with the exception of election supplies in the amount of $495.68, which the law required me to purchase.

I do know that the great majority of these claims are for purchases made by your county commissioners and were paid to the good citizens of Chilton County. I mention a few of them below:

Clanton Home & Auto Supply company, Lenoir Brothers, H. S. Shaw, Cobb Brothers, C. J. Klinner, A. H. Smith, J. D. Broadhead, Dr. Chas. R. Moore, Chilton County News, M. D. Foshee, Register in Chancery, J. E. Niven, Sheriff, Parker's Garage, Clanton Motors, R. R. Franklin Garage, Jemison Garage, Chambers Service Station, Chilton Truck & Implement Company, Cobb Brothers Garage, Gulf Service Station, Thorsby; W. D. Hocutt, J. W. Teel, Calloway Garage, Little & Collins, Thorsby; Pate's Garage, Jack Mims Grocery, Maplesville Service Station; Universal Oil & Supply Company and C. O. Jones (Jones Brothers).

Do you think for a minute that any of the persons or companies mentioned above made claims and were paid money by Chilton County for materials, labor or supplies not furnished to the County? And yet in this biased and unfair and prejudiced audit by Mr. Sparkman and Mr. Keener, each one of the above claims were charged back to me

The light of truth has been turned on and the people of Chilton County know that my political enemies and their henchmen have not told the truth about my record in office and the people know my enemies have done and are doing everything in their power to hurt my good name, with the hope that they can defeat me for public office. But in their hatred of me, they have gone too far. My supporters say the people are going to meet them at the polls on May 6th and give me a tremendous vote of confidence and approval. A good record is far better than campaign promises. On my record, I ask you for your vote and support.

J. LEE SMITH.

To The People OF THE SIXTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

I have just returned to the District for the Easter recess of the 82nd Congress and it is certainly a pleasure to be back in the District once again. I hope to see as many of you as I possibly can while I am in the District and I wish to say that it has been a pleasure to serve you in Congress. I believe my record is one of which you can be justly proud.

You were kind enough to re-elect me to Congress in 1950 and now I come back to report to you on the Record and ask you to re-elect me to serve you again in the 83rd Congress.

MY RECORD IN THE 82nd CONGRESS, AS TABULATED AS OF APRIL 1st, SHOWS THE FOLLOWING:

On	109 Roll Call Votes (1st Session, 1951)	88%
On	20 Roll Call Votes (2nd Session, to April 1, 1952)	100%

In addition to the above "On the Record" votes I have attended over 140 hearings of the Committee on Armed Services of the House during the 82nd Congress, including Full Committee hearings and hearings of the following Subcommittees of which I am a Member, and which hearings have often been conducted while the House was also in Session:

Subcommittee Number One (General Defense Legislation and Uni(form Code of Military Justice which (has passed Congress and is now the (law).
Special Subcommittee on Stockingpiling of Strategic Materials for Defense.
Special Military Clothing Subcommittee.
Special Subcommittee on Procurement (Hebert Subcommittee now (conducting investigations of defense (procurement contracts and now pre(paring legislation establishing a cen(tral procurement agency and single (catalogue system of procurement items
(by all branches of the armed services.
(which will result in millions of dollars
(saved to the taxpayers of America.)

Special Subcommittee for Military and Civilian Personnel.
Special Subcommittee on Aircraft Procurement.
Special Subcommittee on Reserve Components (This Subcommittee (investigated the Reserve program of (the Nation and formulated a Bill to (strengthen and improve the Reserve (Program which recently passed the (House of Representatives without a (single dissenting vote.)

I have recently been appointed one of four House Members by the Speaker of the House to serve on the Board of Visitors to West Point. (Duty of Board is to inquire into state of morale and discipline, curriculum, instruction, physical equipment and academic methods relating to the Academy.)

Your Vote & Influence Will Be Appreciated

HOME DEMONSTRATION LEADERS ATTEND LEADERSHIP SCHOOL

Chilton County Home Demonstration Leaders assembled at the City Hall in Clanton on Wednesday, April 9th, to hear Miss Levice Ellis, Clothing and Handicraft Specialist, demonstrate "Sewing With Wool Blends." Miss Ellis pointed out that many changes are taking place in the clothing world. This is especially true in the combination of wool rayon, acetate, orlon, dacron, nylon, and other fibers. These fabrics must be given special handling in sewing. Miss Ellis pointed these out to the leaders and showed samples.

Sixteen leaders attended from eleven clubs. Leaders and the clubs represented are as follows: Mrs. B. F. Milam, Alabama Mills; Mrs. Kate Smith, Baker; Mrs. C. J. Turner, Thorsby; Mrs. E. C. Robinson, Mrs. J. W. Heflin, Mineral Springs; Mrs. Leslie Thornton, Mrs. Turner Eiland, Mrs. J. E. Williams, Mrs. J. B. Parrish, Cedar Grove; Mrs. H. M. Kelley, Thomas Jr.; Mrs. W. E. Owens, Fairview; Mrs. Stanley Cost, Jemison; Mrs. Ben Sims, Friendship; Mrs. Ester Childers, Poplar Springs; and Mrs. O. R. Jones, Mrs. W. F. Hudson, Verbena.

"Sewing With Wool Blends" is the demonstration to be given in Home Demonstration Club in May. The leaders who attended the meeting in Clanton will give this information to their clubs.

A discarded perculator makes a fine grease container. When frying bacon, sausage or other meats where grease accumulates, it is poured off into the perculator, and of course strained and ready to use.

To prevent a fishy odor from clinging to your hands, rinsing hands in cold water before you touch the fish helps. Later, wash hands with water and salt. Soap dosen't do the job.

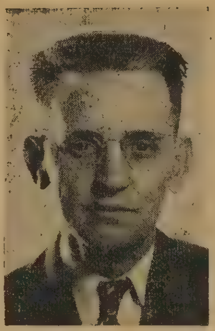
Fred Smith



Says

The Day of Reckoning is close at hand. Election Day is less than three weeks off. On that day the voters have the important duty of selecting their next County officials.

Have you as a voter and taxpayer attended, or even been invited to attend the secret night meetings of the clique which offers to barter away our County government and promises County jobs and busniess for support at the ballot box? If you haven't been a party to any of these political schemes, then you're not a member of the clique. You are an average Chilton County citizen seeking a way to clean out such mess on May 6th.

As a candidate for Probate Judge I don't have any friends to sell, and I don't propose to offer for sale the County government which belongs to the people. If I am your next Probate Judge, so far as practicable all jobs to be filled by the County and all purchases made by the County will go to Chilton County persons and Chilton County business people without their having to buy these things with their votes at the ballot box.

The people throughout the County are telling me that they want only a fair, honest, and business-like administration of the County's affairs. I am carrying to the voters of the County my platform as a candidate and shall continue to do so, using all means and facilities available to me to the day of the election that the voters may know what I stand for and what they may expect of me if and when I am elected their next Probate Judge. If you want the type of Probate Judge in keeping with my platform, then if I am elected you will get the type of government I have stood for as a candidate.

I shall be grateful for your confidence in my efforts to serve you and good government in Chilton County.

THE EFFECT OF SHOCKS AND STRAINS

We all know that people who work outside are generally more free from ailments than those who work inside. No doubt fresh air has a good deal to do with it but there is something else. An outdoor life calls for more activity, which develops more strength and tone in muscles and ligaments. It requires more force to injure a strong man than is required to injure a weak one. The strong man's muscles can withstand greater shocks and strains than can those of the man whose muscles have grown soft through insufficient use.

We are all subject to the shocks and strains of lifting, pulling and pushing. Often we do not think of these things seriously as they perhaps only cause a slight pain which soon passes off. Yet they may produce trouble later on.

Few of us have development of muscles equally on both sides. For example, right handed people naturally become stronger on that side.

The muscles and ligaments of the spine hold the vertebrae in position, and when the spine is subjected to a force greater than the resistance of the tissues surrounding it, the damage is naturally apt to take place on the side of the weaker muscles. The pain produced may only last a day but perhaps the effect upon the spine is only then begun. The muscles on the weaker side are still slightly affected and do not counterbalance the pull of those on the other side. Gradually this causes a tilting or rotating of a vertebra and the opening through which a nerve passes is made smaller. When this is sufficient to impinge from fibers in the nerve a disturbance arises in the tissue supplied by those fibers, including the muscles of the spine.

Correction of the misplaced vertebra by Chiropratic adjustments will correct the inco-ordination in the tissues and increase the tonicity of the spinal muscles.

IT PAYS TO CHECK UP ON BROOD SOWS

It takes about five and one-half pigs per year to pay a brood sow's room and board bill.

A sow should produce at least 12 hogs for sale annually. This fact should be remembered since Spring litters are being farrowed on many Alabama farms at this time.

Jim Lockhart states, "A farmer should put back on the land a pound of either green manure, dry litter, compost, or commercial fertilizer for each pound of harvested crop.

PATTERN SELECTION FOR SPRING FROCKS

Some patterns are designed for either heavy, stiff, flimsy, or soft fabrics.

Patterns for large plaid and checked fabrics are simpler than those for small all-over designs or solid color fabrics. A pattern with decorative details, such as small tucks, top stitching and shirring fails to show up in an all-over designed fabric.

Patterns with gathering, shirring, small buttons, and button holes, tiny tucks, unpressed pleats, drapes, or ruffles are especially suitable to soft, sheer or light-weight fabri such as voiles, crepes and

Patterns are designed for larg pockets, large pleats, bound butto holes, large buttons, and top stit ing are more adaptable to firm heavier fabrics, such as linen, cha bray, sharkskin, and wool.

FOLKS and THINGS

ABOUT TOWN
—By Ben

Jim Parrish has just returned from Washington, D.C. He went visiting and says the report that he went to try to get Harry Truman to run again is absolutely not true.

Ruben Lowe has the right idea about this fishing business. He is building him a camp on the river and has the screened in front porch right above the bank of the river. He is going to lay on a nice comfortable couch, tie a fishing line to his toe and let nature take it's course. If one of the big cats that we have seen caught down there, get ahold to the line we are liable to see Ruben sailing along down about Mitchell Dam some bright shiny night making like a submarine.

Speaking about fishing reminds us that Millard Lancaster is leaving Chilton County. What's the connection? Well, when we learned the news Millard was going fishing as usual this time of the year. He was headed north to Guntersville Lake, for what reason we'll never know with all the good fishing we have in Chilton County. Anyway, we will get back to the Lancasters leaving. They're going to Troy, Ala. We hate to lose Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster and hope they get back home often.

That paragraph about Mrs. Gladys Deramus and the first fish story of the season was all right the other week except the fish didn't jump in Gladys' boat, but in the boat of Col. Carmichael. And while we're about Gladys, she has a husband on the East side of the world and a son on the West side of the world. Barnett Deramus is in Reslip, England, and Junior is in Korea. That's just about giving your all.

Heard compliments on Dr. W. C. Golden, Leo Thompson on the way they presented their "piece" to the State Planning Board last week when they appeared before that Board at Montgomery. The compliment came from none other than Congressman Edward deGraffenried who stated that Dr. Golden and Leo Thompson both made exceptionally good talks and after all we'd think that Hon. Edward knows. He's been listening to good speakers for years in the Congress of the United States.

Oh yeah, attending that meeting with the State Planning Board was Malley White, E. C. LeCroy, Cleveland Tucker, Leo Thompson and Dr. W. C. Golden. The meeting was in the interest of securing the County Hospital this year.

Jeff Miller's Fishing Contest is underway. Jeff is giving a lot of nice prizes again this year to the fishermen, or women, who catch the biggest fish in their species. Whales don't count.

Saw a sign in a barber shop down the street: "We Need Your Head In Our Business."

Leo Thompson was down at Bob Taber's office and called to remind us to remind you that those who wish to vote an absentee vote in the May 6th Primary, but only get the time and poportunity on Saturday. Saturday will be your last chance unless you take a day off.

A bum asked a neatly dressed man for $1.

"If I give you a dollar you'll gamble with it," said the man.

"No I won't," promised the bum. "I never gamble."

"Then you'll spend it on some woman," said the man.

"No, I never associate with women," the bum declared.

"You'll spend it on drink," the man persisted.

"I don't drink," declared the bum.

"Well," said the well dressed man eyeing the bum, "I'll give you $5 to come home with me. I want to show my wife what happens to a man with no bad habits."

Burton To Speak Here Friday Night

Mr. John G. Burton, business manager and treasurer of Howard College in Birmingham, will speak at the Brotherhood Rally at the First Baptist Church, Clanton, April 25, at 7:00 p.m. The rally is a county-wide Brotherhood emphasis.

Mr. Burton was mayor of Jasper for 13 years. In 1936 he was elected president of the Alabama League of Municipalities and was at that time the youngest mayor in Alabama. He came to Howard in September, 1948, in his present capacity.

He is now a deacon of the Southside Baptist Church, Birmingham, and has filled many of Birmingham's church pulpits, although he is a layman. He has taught Bible Classes for 14 years and is at present associate teacher of the Men's Bible Class in Southside Church.

His message will be in the form of a challenge to the Brotherhood.

CANDIDATE FOR REELECTION AS COUNTY TREASURER

B. E. (Earl) REEVES WRITES VOTERS

To the Voters of Chilton County:

The time is drawing near when you will go to the polls and cast your ballot to decide who will serve in the various county offices. I trust you have considered the qualifications of each candidate carefully, and will vote for the candidates who will best serve the people, so that all nominees selected will be good and true and will make the best officials.

I would like to say, in my behalf, that my record as your County Treasurer, proves that all my duties have been handled without favor or prejudice to any one.

All my records have been examined and audited by the state Examiners, and were found correct. In fact, I asked them to make any suggestions or criticism they could, which would enable me to do a better job, and they stated that they had none to make; and commended my record very much.

I want to make it clear to all that I am not obligated to any group, clique, ring, or what have you. I am, however, obligated to all the people of Chilton County, and I pledge you that I will continue to do the duties of the office faithfully, honestly and efficiently to the best of my ability; and with God's help will give you another term, that will cause no one to say that I have betrayed your trust and confidence.

I have been in all sections of the County, campaigning in a gentlemanly manner, and have received wonderful praise and encouragement everywhere I have been, for which I am truly grateful. I am sorry that it is impossible for me to contact each one of you personally, but I do thank you for your past support and do solicit your continued good will.

I feel that when a servant of the people performs his task faithfully, which I have done, he is entitled to be rewarded. The only reward I ask, or want, is your continued confidence and trust; which I feel sure will be expressed at the polls, when you make me the Democratic Nominee for County Treasurer, on May 6th.

B. E. (Earl) REEVES.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS MEETING

The Glad Hand Class of men from the First Baptist Church will meet at the home of Mr. B. E. Reeves, 1205, 5th Avenue, North, at 7:30 p.m., Friday, April 25th, for our regular monthly class meeting.

All members of the class are urged to be present at this meeting and bring all prospective members with you as we have important work to do at this time. J. E. Long, Jr., Publicity Commitee.

NATIONAL GUARD WEEK END TRAINING

The 657th Transportation Truck Company, a National Guard Unit stationed at Calera, Alabama, started field training last week end. Under command of Lt. Edwin B. Nickerson, Company Commander, the unit camped over the week end near Spring Creek Church in Shelby County. The outdoor training consisted chiefly of individual and unit training. The men pitched tents and slept under the same conditions that would be found in Regular Army training.

The men were given training on the proper way to set up a bivouac on arrival at the camp area. Field Santitation, First Aid, and many other military subjects were scheduled for the first day. Training films covering military subjects were shown Saturday night. Sunday morning the program started with Reville at 5:45 a.m., followed by calesthenics and a good breakfast. After breakfast the training continued with Range Firing, Carbine training, Military Courtesy, and Customs of the Service.

All meals were prepared at the area with field ranges under the direction of Cpl. Walter Martin, Jr., and Cpl. Edward Bogle. The noon meal Sunday was outstanding according to the comments of the men. Fried chicken and all the trimmings were served at that meal. "All the meals were above the average for field training," stated Lt. Charles E. Knowles.

Sfc. Harvey T. Bagwell, Platoon Sergeant of the second platoon, states that more than half of his platoon would be able to qualify as sharpshooters or experts on the firing range according to the scores they fired this week end. The men did not fire for record this week end. All the men fired good scores and received excellent training under direction of Warrant Officer Hobson G. Searcy, Range Officer.

Sgt. James B. Ellison from HQ and HQ Company, 135th Transportation Highway Transport Group, Selma, Alabama, attended the training and functioned as Platoon Sergeant of the first platoon. Sgt. Ellison said, "I have never seen a bivouac carried out with the organization this one had. This is the best I have ever seen."

"We have one of the best companies I have ever seen in the Alabama National Guard," commented First Sergeant James C. Martin. "We will be the best unit in the Guard by the time we go to camp for our fifteen day training period in August," Sgt. Martin states.

All the men enjoyed the week end and they are looking forward to the second week end bivouac that will be held May 17th and 18th.

The 657th Transportation Truck Company is located in the school building in Calera, Alabama.

SENIOR III PLAY AT ISABELLA

A good laugh is good for the soul. And there are at least a hundred good laughs in the three-act comedy, "He Couldn't Marry Five," which is to be given by the Senior III Class of Isabella, in the school auditorium, on the evening of May 2, 1952.

The title of this clever play alone is enough to make one chuckle because it brings to mind all sorts of complications. Well, "He Couldn't Marry Five" more than lives up to its title—it is at the same time laughable and charming, crazy and enjoyable. This is because it is so gay and well-written—its characters so true to life. Yes, 'He Couldn't Marry Five" is a very human play—one that amuses people while seeing it and they remember for a long time afterward.

"He Couldn't Marry Five" is the type of play that appeals to men, women and children alike, so bring the whole family—they'll be grateful to you for having given them one of the most enjoyable evenings of the year when they see, "He Couldn't Marry Five."

Program Planned For Industry Days May 1-3

A full program is planned for Alabama Industry Days to be celebrated next week here. A band concert on the Evans Lot just East of the Courthouse will be a feature of Saturday afternoon. A speaker from Montgomery, Jeff Henry, Director of the Industrial Division of the State Chamber of Commerce, will also be featured on the program.

Friday, May 2nd, Alabama Mills will hold "open house" as is their custom and all who are interested in inspecting this modern cotton mill is cordially invited to be their guest.

Local talent and local speakers will also be presented on Saturday during the celebration.

Cancer Drive Lagging Here

The 1952 Cancer Drive is sorely lagging in Chilton County and the local chairman and committee are urging those who have not been asked for a donation to please get in touch with a member of the committee and do their part.

According to reports the contributions this year have been small and unless more donations are made the county as a whole will make a very poor showing.

Time is short so if you are able to help in this worthy cause, please do so.

COMMUNITY CONCERT WEEK IN CHILTON COUNTY

The Chilton County Community Concert Association opened it's '52-53 Concert season with a dinner in the private dining room of the Dixie Cafe at 7 o'clock Monday evening. The invocation was given by Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson, outgoing president.

Mr. A. R. Knight, the new president for the coming Concert season, presided. Serving with him are: Mr. Raymond P. Mims, vice president; Mrs. Beatrice Bryan, corresponding secretary; Mr. Clyde Willingham, recording secretary; Mr. James D. Heflin, treasurer, and Mrs. Hugh Jones, publicity chairman. Mrs. Rowena Fowler, Community Concerts Representative, explained the advantage of the annual campaign for members and other details of the membership week drive opening Monday, April 21st. She also discussed briefly every artist available for the approaching season and praised the wisdom of a Spring drive which enables the members to obtain a much better selection of artists. Mrs. Fowler will be in Clanton all week to assist with the campaign. While here she is scheduled to make radio appearances and is available for club meetings by appointment. Telephone 800, headquarters at Willingham Hotel.

Mrs. Harold Lawrence, the membership chairman, distributed compiled membership lists to volunteers, stressing earliest possible contacts with names on these lists.

Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson, 1951-52 president of the Association, who also addressed the dinner meeting on Monday night, expressed the warm appreciation for the fine spirit of cooperation given him during the past successful season. It was brought to the attention of those present that all holding Community Concert memberships were entitled to reciprocity privileges from any city sponsoring Community Concerts.

The campaign will close on Saturday, after which no more members can be received.

In an interview following the meeting, Mr. Knight, Association president, expressed his appreciation of a large number of Chilton County Community Concert workers, anxious to contribute their efforts during the campaign week to accomplish something so eminently worthwhile for the communities throughout the County, many of them had representatives present at the dinner. Mr. Knight also said that every dollar collected by the Association goes into securing more concerts and that the only limit to the possible value of a membership is the seating capacity of the auditorium. The concerts are presented on a no-profit and no-loss basis. The larger the membership in Chilton County the more available will be the top-ranking artists. We bespeak your cooperation for the most successful of drives for the 1952-53 Chilton County Community Concert Association.

Temple Church Remodeling Finished; Corner Stone Laid

Last Saturday afternoon we journeyed to Temple Church with the Pastor, Rev. A. T. Hickman, where so much activity has been going on the past several weeks.

The Church In The Wildwood" has been remodeled and 12 new Sunday School rooms have been built each opening on a hall where none can be disturbed by others while studying God's Word. A Pastor's Study has been added and the most beautiful auditorium with indirect lighting and hardwood floors.

This is not a new thing. It has been in the mind and heart of the pastor for the past six years and when the Board of Trustees of the Church gave the go sign" the Pastor was first with a saw and a hammer to start work on the new church. He and many of the members have worked tirelessly to complete the job.

The corner stone was laid last Wednesday afternoon, April 16. It contains a Bible, pictures, clippings from newspapers and many other items. Upon its face is the inscription: Temple Church. Founded 1906, erected 1952." However the pastor says there is some dispute as to the founding of the church. Some of the "old timers" say that it was founded in 1905. It was the first full time rural church in Chilton County and boasts a wonderful attendance and growth over the past half century.

In the near future a date will be set for the dedication ceremony.

NOTICE

The Jr. R.A.'s of the First Baptist Church will meet Friday afternoon, April 25th, at 3 o'clock, at the church.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Clanton Chapter 271 O.E.S. will hold the regular meeting Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, April 24th.

On Friday night, April 25th, at 7:30 o'clock there will be a school of instructions. All members are urged to be present at both meetings.

Birmingham, Ala — [illegible] in every walk of life [illegible]

[illegible] April 28-May 3 [illegible] proclamation of Governor [illegible] Alabama Industry Days. Local Chambers of Commerce, merchants, educators, businessmen and newspaper publishers, are cooperating in carrying the program out at the community level.

Officials of the sponsoring groups are intent on proving that the Alabama that was called a national economic problem less than two decades ago, has thrust aside the shambles synonymous with agrarian share-cropping and today stands in the nation's spotlight of industrial progress.

And they have much to back them up.

For the widespread awakening to the importance of industry in this state has been brought to the fore in recent months by the organizing of countless committees in numerous communities to attract new industry to this state. And all the while, a continuous effort has been afoot to work with, assist, and encourage the existing industry in Alabama.

As the industrial center of the State, Birmingham will have an outstanding observance of Alabama Industry Days this year.

A committee, under the Chairmanship of William E. Hood, President, Industrial Paint Manufacturing Company, has arranged for 12 downtown exhibits to be placed in prominent store windows featuring Alabama-made, Alabama-grown, or Alabama-processed products.

These exhibits will be unusual in that they will take several kinds of Alabama raw materials and show the manufacturing processes through which they must go before the end product is obtained. A letter from top company officials of each of the manufacturing companies having such exhibits, will be sent to all of the company's employees urging them to visit the downtown store in which their exhibit is placed.

Augmenting these downtown Birmingham exhibits, as will be true, throughout the State, will be some 25,000 large banners and broadsides calling attention to the Alabama Industry Days and proclaiming "What Alabama Makes, Makes Alabama."

Also augmenting the celebration in honor of industry is the Alabama Restaurants Association as well as the State and County Home Demonstration Agents. The restaurants during this observance, will feature menus composed of Alabama-grown or processed foods and some 25,000 table cards denoting Alabama Industry Days will be placed on tables of the leading eating establishments throughout the State.

More than fifty other Alabama communities have planned elaborate programs to take place during April 28-May 3.

In Fort Payne A.I.D. Chairman W. Y. Shugart, Jr., of the W. Y. Shugart and Sons Manufacturing Company will tie in the Alabama Industry Days program with a huge

ROUGHAGE FOR DAIRY COWS IN SPOTLIGHT

In recent weeks many dairymen and others have expressed a renewed interest in roughage for dairy cows.

High quality roughage for dairy cows is essential to economical production. And summer and winter pastures are the cheapest source.

North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station records show that 100 pounds of total digestible nutrients can be produced by a pasture crop for 58 cents. In other words, a dairy farmer gets a $23.09 return per man hour spent on pasture.

Summer and winter pastures are the cheapest and best sources of roughage. The next best source is high quality hay, grass or legume, and the third best source is silage.

Limited Dairy Program Prove Profitable

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wilson of Jemison, Ala., Route 2, find that a few good cows can add considerably to the farm income. Even though Mr. Wilson does not own his farm he has learned that a limited dairy program is worthwhile.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are milking three good grade Jersey cows and selling the milk on Carnation route. After hauling expenses are deducted, the average milk check amounts to sixty dollars. In addition to the cash return the cows are supplying milk for home use.

Mr. Wilson stated that he was able to pay the grocery bill with his monthly milk check and also buy a new refrigerator and washing machine. By milking better than average cows and producing homegrown feed Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are able to supplement their income without a lot of extra work

John M. Higgins Will Get New Industry For Chilton County

JOHN M. HIGGINS

John M. Higgins, leading Democratic Candidate for Probate Judge of Chilton County is presently serving his third term as a Director of Associated Industries of Alabama and was recently elected to the Board of Directors of the Southern States Industrial Council.

These groups of business men seek to promote the growth of industry in Alabama and the South.

Chilton County needs new industry so that everyone can have good jobs here at home at good wages. Many Chilton County people have to drive 50 to 75 miles to work each day, this costs money and cuts down on a man's leisure time.

If we elect a good business man to head the county Government, new industry will be interested in our area. John M. Higgins can help get new industry because he knows the problems of starting a new business. He knows how to get the right people interested in locating shops and factories in Chilton County.

To get new industry in Chilton County, the first thing we must do is see that the machine politicians do not take over our county. If Chilton County is to grow and prosper, COURTHOUSE POLITICS MUST GO!

No good business man will locate a new business in a county operated by a dictatorial, selfish clique.

Chilton County will go forward in every way if we, as taxpayers, vote for progressive government.

For New Industry For Chilton County

As one of the farmers and taxpayers of Chilton County living out of any paved highway and having to use dirt roads for transportation, I want to call your attention to the candidacy of Jimmie J. Johnson for member of the Board of Revenue and Control No. 4, and also as to his qualifications for said office.

I have known Mr. Johnson for 20 years and know that he as a Christian gentleman and is actvie in those things which make our county more progressive. Several years ago Mr. Johnson was in charge of working the roads in my community and during his time in office as foreman our roads were kept and maintained in the best condition they have been since I have lived in Chilton County, which is about 20 years since I moved to this county. Mr. Johnson knows how to operate his business and lives within his income and I feel that if he is nominated and elected he will see that the county gets full value in return for same and if the people of Chilton County will join us in nominating and electing Mr. Johnson I feel sure you will never have cause to regret doing so.

VOTE FOR

BROUGHTON LAMBERTH

CANDIDATE FOR

Associate Justice

Supreme Court

Of Alabama

Place No. 2

(Pd. pol. adv. by Chilton County Friends of Broughton Lamberth)

POLITICS MAKES STRANGE BED-FELLOWS

A candidate is known by the company he keeps. Look around you and see who's in the bed with the candidates for Probate Judge. If you find the BIG-SHOT MONEY BAGS and the POLITICAL BIG-WIG STATESMEN around the courthouse are in the bed with a candidate, then Mr. Average Voter, don't be fooled. This is the clique which operates our government to suit itself while you struggle to keep them in tax money on which to grow fatter and richer. This is the very same gang who doesn't know the average man except on election day at which time you become A LONG LOST FRIEND. Don't be fooled by this sudden warmth of friendship. A candidate who was not interested as a private citizen in your welfare will not be interested in your welfare as a probate judge.

The candidates have told you what BIG-SHOT STATESMEN they are and have belabored you with high-sounding words and phrases about efficiency, honesty, and money, which will be the order of things in the Probate Office during the next six years. But Mr. Average Voter, have some of these candidates told you that our County Government is being bartered away for votes at the ballot box? Have you been promised a road, an auditorium, a job, or County business in exchange for your vote? If you have not, then the Big Shots have not let you in on what's going on in your County. In their scheme of things you are only expected to furnish the votes and let them run the government to suit themselves.

Surely the people of Chilton County recognize that the members of the Board of Revenue and Control constitutes the governing authority of our County Government, and the Probate Judge, as chairman of this body, has no right, moral or legal, to spend the taxpayers money without being authorized to do so by our four duly elected County Commissioners. I don't believe the taxpayers are ready to surrender to a dictator in Chilton County, and as a candidate for Probate Judge, I promise only to work in harmony and co-operation with our duly elected officials to bring about the greatest possible progress to our people and their government.

The hour has come in Chilton County politics when the voters should weigh the candidate in the light of what they want next January as Probate Judge. The issue is clear-cut: You as voters of this County in the coming elections will say by your ballots that the average people and NOT THE CLIQUES will have control of our County.

I am interested in good government in Chilton County regardless of who is elected Probate Judge, and I believe that the voters should dig behind the high-sounding words and phrases of the candidates and see if what we say is in line with what we are as private citizens.

I shall greatly appreciate your vote and if I am elected your next Probate Judge I will give the best that is within me towards meriting your confidence.

Hats Of To The People Of Chilton County

F. E. (Floyd) Ellison

Dear Friends:

I am making a race for the Board of Revenue. Friends, we have been promised so much through the papers and face to face until it has got to the place that promises do not work after a man gets in office, therefore, I am not promising anything but fairness and honesty to all. I will work with any man that is in office as long as it is to the benefit of our county.

As for my experience, I helped to build U. S. 31 through Chilton County. As for our country roads I worked with Uncle Fonzie Vinson two years hauling gravel all over the 4th district. On bridge work I have had 10 years of carpenters experience and bridge work, therefore, I think I can estimate the cost of building bridges.

Thanking you in advance for your support and influence.

Yours truly,

FLOYD ELLISON.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MR. JOHN M. HIGGINS OF THORSBY AND WASHINGTON

Tax Payers And Voters Please Take Notice

Mr. Higgins, in your desperation for the nomination on the democratic ticket for the office of Probate Judge you have placed your campaign on a very low level, misrepresentations, untruths and wild statements. This type of campaign is not being appreciated by your opponents or by the voters of Chilton County.

You have made some very hard statements against some of your opponents, that they were ignorant, not capable and wholly unfit for the office of Probate Judge.

All of you boys are well known to the people and in my opinion each of you are capable of being Probate Judge. Your statements to the contrary are not helping you in your race.

Also, it is a well known fact that you did go to Washington in 1949 opposing a 75c minimum wage bill. This was at a time when you were getting rich in the lumber business. Why do you want to deny this? I have a complete copy of your statements to the committee on education and labor opposing this 75c minimum wage bill if you would care to refresh your memory.

Now, regarding your statement in your Keynote Radio Address, which statement also appeared in the County Papers you made the following statements:

"Many of you know the difficulties under which I started in business. At the time I was handed the responsibility for operating the lumber business formerly operated by my father, its debts were nearly three times its assets. My mother's home was not paid for except for a 10% down payment, and the mortgage was being foreclosed. My father's farm at Mineral Springs had been forfeited for his debts. I am proud of the fact that after 22 months under my management, the business debts were paid, and the home and farm belonging to my parents were redeemed for them and paid for in full. In the final liquidation of my father's affairs in 1941, I was able to also leave a sum of cash in trust at the Peoples Savings Bank for my mother."

Had you paid the debts of your father's business as you above stated it would have been highly commendable. But you did not pay the debts as you above stated. A certain widow in the City of Clanton, whose husband held notes your father had signed, one note of which was in the sum of $500.00, asked you after your father became ill and after you had taken over your father's business to take these notes up. You refused to do so stating that you knew she needed the money but that your father owed other debts, or his business owed other debts and that if you paid her you would have to pay all the others. This widow at that time very badly needed her money owed her by your father. Is it not a known fact that you changed the name of the business to avoid the payment of these debts. Also after, as you stated in the final liquidation of your father's affairs, creating according to YOUR statement a trust fund for your mother at the Peoples Savings Bank, Clanton, Alabama could not these debts have been paid.

Also another debt still outstanding and unpaid of more than $300.00 owed to a man in Clanton who is cripple and operating a peanut parcher. Your father owed this man and this is just another debt you said you paid but did not. The notes above referred to are available if you care to pay them and also the man operating the peanut parcher would like to have the money if you care to pay it.

I do not hold you responsible for your father's debts and I presume that the people in general would not hold you responsible however we all hold you responsible for making the statement that you paid those debts when as a matter of fact you did not.

Another thing Mr. Higgins, at the time the Board of Equalization of Chilton County was composed of Mr. Irby Deramus, Verbena, Mr. Burton Mullins, Clanton and Mr. Arthur Lecroy of Isabella why did you accuse those gentlemen of raising and lowering taxes for the political benefit of one of your opponents? I know all of the above gentlemen and do not believe that any of them would have played politics with tax figures. This was a serious mistake on your part because our tax board is the one agency of this County that should not be brought into any political campaign. Their job is bad at its best and your accusations against them will not aid you in your race for Probate Judge.

You had some very good people supporting you in the beginning of your campaign, you still have some very good people on your side and if I were you I would in an attempt to keep them on my side retract all misstatements I had made to the people and get my campaign back on a level of that of your opponents.

Among those of your very active supporters are Mr. John Deramus and Mr. Jim Wade, both members of the City Council of Clanton. I do not believe that these two men have known of your wholesale misstatements of facts. I invite them up to my house to hear the facts, the truth the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

In the beginning of your campaign and for a time thereafter you were highly inflated but the above facts, statements of truth are the answer to the question, who took the wind out of Higgin's bags.

To The Voters Of Chilton County:

I am a candidate for the office of Clerk of Circuit Court. This is the first time I have run for public office and I am asking for your vote, support and influence in the primary of May 6th. I believe that public offices should not be filled as a "lifetime" office for any one person.

During the war, I served as war-time substitute Postal Clerk in the Clanton Post Office, and, at the present time I am manager of the Greyhound Bus Station in Clanton.

J. Lee Smith

PROBATE JUDGE

To The People Of Chilton County

By this time you people of Chilton County are well aware that certain of my enemies, hoping to defeat me politically, have done everything in their power to discredit me with the people of this County.

Do you realize that Watson and Reid did not charge me with one cent and about two years later Mr. Keener and Mr. Sparkman in their audit of the same records charged me with $37,560.29? In order to give you the true facts, at my own expense, I have employed the firm of Crane, Jackson and Wilson, Montgomery, Alabama, members of American Institute of Accountants, being some of the most prominent certified accountants in the State of Alabama to make an examination of the audit by Watson and Reid and also the audit made by Keener and Sparkman. From the information furnished me by Crane, Jackson and Wilson, I am briefly setting out below an explanation of the erroneous charges that were made against me:

TOTAL CHARGED AGAINST ME BY KEENER AND SPARKMAN .... $37,560.29.

Crane Jackson and Wilson say that $3,179.86 of the amount charged was done so erroneously because it was made up of duplication of charges contained in the Keener-Sparkman report. In other words a single purchase was in many cases charged against me several times. .... $3,179.86.

Crane, Jackson and Wilson also say that $22,092.21 of the amount charged against me was charged erroneously and in connection therewith they say as follows: "Charges against J. Lee Smith, in the Keener-Sparkman report for failure to advertise for bid, where claims, supporting evidence and information, indicate there is no violation of the local Act as it appears in the book produced for our examination."

22,092.21; $25,272.07; $25,272.07; Balance .... $12,288.22

This leaves a balance of $12,288.22 charged to me by Mr. Keener and Sparkman. These charges consist of purchases or expenditures for items such as follows:

Supplies and materials for Chilton County, repairs to caterpillar tractors and road patrols and county trucks, truck hire for building roads, labor on roads and materials necessary for building and maintaining roads and bridges.

All of the above labor and material and supplies were contracted for by your County Commissioners and I did not buy one dollar's worth of material or supplies or hire any labor, with the exception of election supplies in the amount of $495.68, which the law required me to purchase.

I do know that the great majority of these claims are for purchases made by your county commissioners and were paid to the good citizens of Chilton County. I mention a few of them below: Clanton Home & Auto Supply Company, Lenoir Brothers, H. S. Shaw, Cobb Brothers, C. J. Klinner, A. H. Smith, J. D. Broadhead, Dr. Chas. R. Moore, Chilton County News, M. D. Foshee, Register in Chancery, J. E. Nivens, Sheriff, Parker's Garage, Clanton Motors, R. R. Franklin Garage, Jemison Garage, Chambers Service Station, Chilton Truck & Implement Company, Cobb Brothers Garage, Gulf Service Station, Thorsby; W. D. Hocutt, J. W. Teel, Calloway Garage, Little & Collins, Thorsby; Pate's Garage, Jack Mims Grocery, Maplesville Service Station; Universal Oil & Supply Company and C. O. Jones (Jones Brothers).

Do you think for a minute that any one of the persons or companies mentioned above made claims and were paid money by Chilton County for materials, labor or supplies not furnished to the County? And yet in this biased and unfair and prejudiced audit by Mr. Sparkman and Mr. Keener, each one of the above claims were charged back to me.

The light of truth has been turned on and the people of Chilton County know that my political enemies and their henchmen have not told the truth about my record in office and the people know my enemies have done and are doing everything in their power to hurt my good name, with the hope that they can defeat me for public office. But in their hatred of me, they have gone too far. My supporters say the people are going to meet them at the polls on May 6th and give me a tremendous vote of confidence and approval. A good record is far better than campaign promises. On my record, I ask you for your vote and support.

I Will Appreciate Your Support On May Sixth

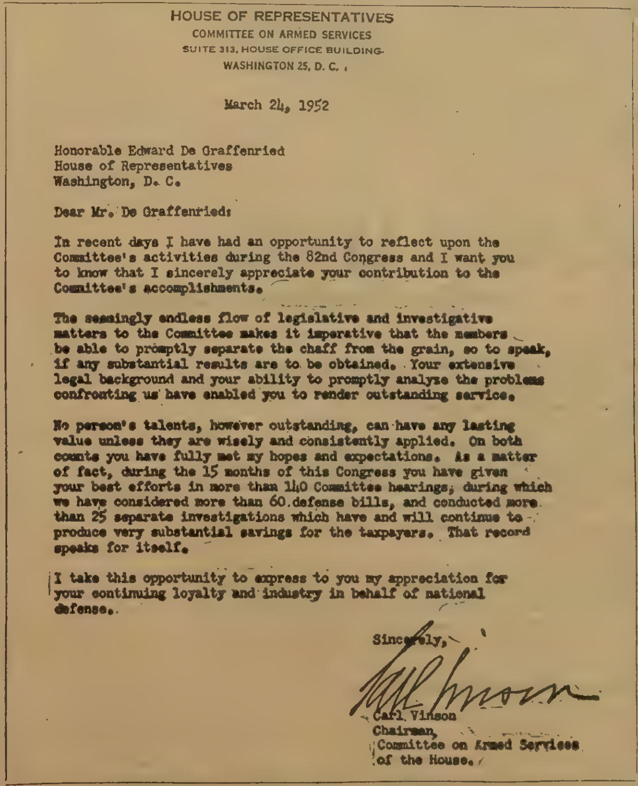
EDWARD deGRAFFENRIED

The following letter is indicative of the regard the Chairman of the Armed Services Committee of the House has for the service being rendered by EDWARD DeGRAFFENRIED in the Congress of the United States.



HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES
SUITE 313, HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

March 24, 1952

Honorable Edward De Graffenried
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. De Graffenried:

In recent days I have had an opportunity to reflect upon the Committee's activities during the 82nd Congress and I want you to know that I sincerely appreciate your contribution to the Committee's accomplishments.

The seemingly endless flow of legislative and investigative matters to the Committee makes it imperative that the members be able to promptly separate the chaff from the grain, so to speak, if any substantial results are to be obtained. Your extensive legal background and your ability to promptly analyze the problems confronting us have enabled you to render outstanding service.

No person's talents, however outstanding, can have any lasting value unless they are wisely and consistently applied. On both counts you have fully met my hopes and expectations. As a matter of fact, during the 15 months of this Congress you have given your best efforts in more than 140 Committee hearings, during which we have considered more than 60 defense bills, and conducted more than 25 separate investigations which have and will continue to produce very substantial savings for the taxpayers. That record speaks for itself.

I take this opportunity to express to you my appreciation for your continuing loyalty and industry in behalf of national defense.

Sincerely,

Carl Vinson
Chairman,
Committee on Armed Services
of the House.

BUCK ROBERTS

To The Office Of

Probate Judge

Of Chilton County

MY FRIENDS:

I am addressing this letter to those of you who want a friendly, honest and common sense administration of your County affairs for the next 6 years.

I am not here to tell you how corrupt and inefficient your present administration is or other officials in your County Government. As a matter of fact I do not think any of them are corrupt, but on the contrary they are faithful and are doing the very best that they know how.

I am here, not to lambast past administrations, but to give you some idea perhaps of what you may expect for the next 6 years should you elect me your next Probate Judge.

I have no big schemes or grand ideas and do not intend to experiment with the affairs of Chilton County.

For the information of some who may not know, I would like to tell you that your Probate Judge does not run or control your County Government. Your County Government is run and controlled by a board of revenue, consisting of 4 members of the board of revenue and your Probate Judge in the capacity as their chairman. Five men, including myself, are running for the office of Probate Judge, and in my opinion, either of them are capable of serving you as Probate Judge. Our ideas and views will of course conflict, but if each of them will, in the administration of the affairs of the office of Probate Judge, take the members of the board of revenue and the public into their confidence and be guided by the wishes of a majority of the people, then we will have a safe and sane administration of our County affairs. This I propose to do.

I wish to again state to you that I will not advocate or participate in putting this County in bonded indebtedness unless a majority of the people vote to do so at the polls.

Now, if I may, I would like to discuss some of the political angles and problems facing us this political year.

Mr. John Higgins has said that the Republican Influence ends at the County Line, and Mr. Higgins also stated that you would choose your next Probate Judge in these primary elections. Most of you old battle-scarred Democrats will agree with me that your Probate Judge will be chosen in the General Election in November. We may as well face the facts now and prepare ourselves for a hard battle in November. The Republican Party in Chilton County is not dead, but on the contrary, very much alive. I have battled those boys in past General Elections and know from experience that it is not going to be a push over.

The Republican Nominee has some little experience along these lines, gathered over a short period of approximately 30 years in Chilton County Politics.

A man well versed in the knowledge of Chilton County Politics is needed to assure you victory in November. The man you nominate will head your ticket and be responsible for winning or losing for you. He certainly will owe you victory.

This will be my last appeal to you before the primary election. May I take this opportunity to express my appreciation for all past favors and thank you for your kind support should you be with me in this election.

You Can Help
SAVE 10,000 LIVES
—Maybe Your Own!

You—the man, woman or teen-ager behind the wheel—have a big responsibility!

In 1950, 35,000 persons were killed in traffic accidents. Last year there was an increasing crescendo of death on the highways—the worst fatality toll in a decade.

What can you do about it?

Your acts of safe driving are your contributions toward a greatly lessened death toll. Every time you lower your speed to stay within safe limits, drive more carefully at night and weather conditions demand extra care, stay in your own traffic lane and abide by all the rules of the road, you are contributing to greater highway safety. Being a safer driver is like giving blood for a transfusion to save a life. Taking a heedless chance may spill your blood—or someone's—and waste it on the highways.

10,000 lives to be saved in 1952 is a goal worth striving for by all who drive or w Even half that number saved would help stem the rushing tide of death on our highways Don't ride with the reckless! Most drivers play fair and observe the traffic rules, but som —the speeders, cowboys, road hogs, drinking-drivers and chronic accident repeaters—mu be forced to conform. Temptation to follow their bad examples means that more lives wi become death statistics.

Be selfish with your own life—careful with the lives of others.

FORD WINS AGAIN!
TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A"
IN THE 1952 Mobilgas Economy Run

Ford's the Class "A" Winner for 3rd Consecutive Year!

New Ford Mileage Maker SIX Thriftiest in its Field!

Again this year! . . . Ford was first in gas economy over all cars in its price class in the Mobilgas Economy Run. In this toughest test, a Ford Six with Overdrive (optional at extra cost) averaged 53.855 ton-miles per gallon and 25.463 actual miles per gallon. A very important contributing factor is Ford's Automatic Power Pilot which squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas. Pound for pound, Ford's All-New Mileage Maker Six is definitely the most economical low-priced car to run!

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons consumed.

COUNCIL OF CLUBS

Clanton has organizel a Council of Clubs and to the organizers or promoters should go a vote of appreciation from all residents. In numbers there is strength.

With all Clubs and Civic Organizations of Clanton pulling together, much good can be accomplished, and there is much to be done.

Our complete cooperation and assistance can be depended upon at all times by the Council of Clubs.

FIRE INSPECTION DAY

Last Friday was Fire Inspection Day in Clanton and the Clanton Kiwanis Club's project in cooperation with the merchants went over big. In conversation with one of the inspectors we learned that the most needed single unit here was another garbage truck, or better garbage control, however it was obtained.

The single truck that the City now operates is badly over worked. At times it is two weeks between garbage "pick-ups," and never is it called for more than once each week. For some places of business and residences that is often enough—for others it is sorely inadequate.

Clanton needs better garbage collecting facilities. Our recent Fire Inspection Day officials report proved it.

FREEDOM AND AN OPEN MIND

This being an election year, the average American is now being subjected to a barrage of propaganda and advice from public officials and candidates seeking public office. In all this traditional American hokum, the American voter must remember that an open mind and an ability to resist efforts to stir his prejudices are necessary if he is to make an intelligent contribution in the American election system.

In the United States, citizens are free to read what they please, write what they please and to think as they please. These freedoms are enjoyed because this generation's forefathers fought for that very individual freedom of choice which we sometimes take for granted. One does not have to travel far to find areas where the citizen is not allowed to think, read or say what he truly believes.

More important, in many areas of the world, the average inhabitant is not given full access to the truth, has only a poor chance at best of receiving a full and liberal education and, therefore, is not mentally equipped to decide the great issues of the day.

In the United States, however, our educational standards are comparatively high and where the industrious individual can find the truth if he seeks it, there is little excuse for narrow-minded, prejudiced views, which have no basis in fact or reason.

This election year is an excellent time for you to examine your convictions and challenge your accepted theories as a means of testing their true value. The great difference between the United States and other democracies in the world, and dictatorial forms of governments and groups is that freedom of mind, individual liberty, freedom of choice and the individual rights of human beings are stressed above others. During the coming months, it may be hard to keep a cool head and a rational perspective, but for the best interests of the nation, the American citizen should resolve to do his best to think out the problems of the day in a fair, open-minded manner. If those in a democracy will do this, there will be no chance of failure in our democratic form of government.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

TRICHINOSIS

Raw or undercooked pork can bring trichinosis, a long, painful and sometimes fatal disease. The disease is caused by a round worm known as the Trichinella spiralis. It is acquired by human beings by eating meat, usually pork, in which the larvae are established. The larvae are encased in a transparent capsule in which they have existed for long periods in the muscular tissue of the hog. When the pork is eaten, the capsule dissolves in the stomach. The larvae then bore into walls of the intestines where, in a period ranging from seven to fourteen days, they grow into mature worms. Within six weeks, each female then produces about 1,500 eggs which hatch out into larvae. These larvae enter the lymph spaces of the intestinal walls, thence the blood stream, eventually reaching the heart. From the heart they are distributed in the blood to the muscles. They bore in between the muscle fibers and then form again the characteristic capsule or cyst, where they may remain alive for many years.

In its early stage, when the larvae are digging into the intestinal walls, the disease is usually marked by stomach upsets, followed by muscular pain, twitching and weakness If the number of worms swallowed is large, the symptoms will be more intense with pain so severe that it is often difficult to move. In the next stage there may be also difficulty in breathing, chewing, swallowing or talking, depending on what muscles have been invaded. Other common symptoms are headache, chills and a general feeling of illness. Puffiness appears around the eyes and the throat is sore. Acute attacks last for a week or two until the wandering larvae become encysted, with a large majority of cases ending in recovery. There is always high fever in the second stage, with an increase in the white cells of the blood. If the parasite invades the heart muscles, death may result. The third stage, that of encystment, may show anemia and skin eruptions, with a few cases of pneumonia. The fever becomes remittent.

When raw pork is bought for food, the one sure way to prevent trichinosis is to cook it thoroughly. Raw or rare pork is dangerous. Remember that a mouth full of pork may contain hundreds of the parasites causing trichinosis.

celebration of Fort Payne Day.

Under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce, seventy-five leading Fort Payne merchants and businesses will make Wednesday April 30th, the biggest day in Fort Payne's history. A total of $1875 will be given away in trade on that day. There will be seventy-five prizes given and each of them will be worth $25 in trade at some business house in Fort Payne. Tickets will be given visitors to each business during that week, and these tickets will be good on all prizes given.

In addition, a huge parade has been planned, with an outstanding speaker to address the crowd at the public drawing for prizes. Most of the Fort Payne concerns will also open their doors to the general public through their plant visitation program during Alabama Industry Days.

Anniston's Industry Days Chairman, Charles S. Martin, President M and H Valve and Fittings Company, has lined up an impressive four-point program during A.I.D. The Anniston Star, with suitable feature stories on local industries and advertisements from industry, will run a special Alabama Industry Days edition.

Anniston merchants are cooperating in placing many displays of locally-made products in their more prominent windows, and at least two plants have issued an invitation to the general public during their "Open House." Special programs on industry at civic clubs together with broadcasts on local industry are also to be Anniston features.

Bessemer, under the leadership of Chamber of Commerce Vice President Steve Stutts, has planned one of the outstanding programs in the State.

A two-day industrial exposition, featuring action-packed exhibits from eleven local manufacturers, will be open to the general public at the City Auditorium on Friday and Saturday. In addition, retailers will have special window displays of made-in-Alabama products which they sell.

Four of Bessemer's leading civic clubs, Civitan, Kiwanis, Lions, and Rotary, will each have programs durnig the week featuring industry. Speakers to address these clubs include, Herbert E. Smith, Jr., Vice President, Vulcan Rivet and/ Bolt Corporation, who will speak on "The History and Progress of the Alabama Industry Days Program;" Albert B. Stapp, Stapp Auto Supply Company, will discuss "Alabama's Industrial Progress during the past two decades;" Dwight Wilhelm, Executive Vice President, Alabama Cotton Manufacturers Association explaining "Alabama's Textile Industry;" and, J. M. Stauffer, State Forester, will speak on the "Keep Alabama Green" program and other aspects of this state's lumber industry.

Rounding out Bessemer's program will be three special lectures on industry, using the flannel-board technique, to the seniors of Bessemer High School and Dunbar High School.

At Greenville, Grey Thornton, Office Manager of the Alabama Mills' Greenville Plant, has served as Industry Days Chairman for the past two years and is again heading up the program this year. All local manufacturing plants will hold open house to the general public, and local merchants are donating a large number of prizes to be given away at a public drawing. Expected to address the "Rally Day" crowd of approximately 2,500 people will be Thurman Sensing, Executive Vice President, Southern States Industrial Council of Nashville. Parades, a band concert and cooperation of local merchants in running "specials" on Alabama-made products are expected to add their part in making this one of the outstanding programs in the State.

Other communities who are expected to have impressive ceremonies include Clanton, Dadeville, Aliceville, Wetumpka, Fayette and Winfield, where programs similar to the Greenville celebration have been planned.

In addition to many other activities planned in Gadsden in observances of Alabama Industry Days, the Gadsden Times will produce the largest "special edition" in its history.

With the backing of the Cleburne News and its energetic publisher, Fred Eiland, Heflin will observe Alabama Industry Days for the first time. Emphasizing its claim as Alabama's Broiler Capital," that city has planned a novel celebration by proclaiming one day out of the Alabama Industry Week as "Broiler Festival Day." Promising to have the "works," the committee has arranged for parades, speeches, prizes, a radio broadcast direct from Heflin, exhibits and tours.

Daniel W. Davis, President, Norwood Theatre Company, Inc., and Chairman of the Alabama Industry Days program in Florence has lined up an impressive program for his community.

All merchants in Florence are being requested to display Alabama-made or processed merchandise throughout their stores and windows beginning Friday, April 25. These same merchants are also being asked to promote and have special sales on Alabama-made items with their advertisements to break on Sunday, April 27. Additional exhibits are being planned in downtown store windows with local manufacturers providing the displays.

J. T. Flagg Knitting Mills and Reynolds Metals, together with a number of other smaller Florence industries, will conduct plant tours for at least two afternoons during the A.I.D. program. These tours will be open to families of employees, as well as to the general public.

In addition, outstanding industrial speakers have been secured for civic clubs during A.I.D. week.

These are but a few of the plans which will be followed by other communities from the four corners of the State as it casts an appreciative eye toward its industry beginning Monday.

Again at the helm of the Alabama Industry Days Program for the third consecutive year is Paul A. Redmond, President, Alabama Mills, Inc., of Birmingham. Originator of the program, Mr. Redmond believes the keynote of the observance was struck in the Governor's proclamation when he stated "the people of this state are entitled to know better the industrial concerns and their products which have made possible the full utilization of the vast resources of this state."

Beginning Monday, they will have that opportunity.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

One of the many engaging traits of little children is their calm acceptance of their own perfection. Most of them like themselves just the way they are and aren't a bit interested in making any changes. The other night at bedtime, after the five-year-old had said her prayers and climbed into bed, it was suggested to the three-year-old that he ask God to help him be a good boy. He knelt beside his bed, but instead of asking for help he said:

"Thank you, God, for making me so sweet and precious."

Next year we're going to try to work out an arrangement with the Easter bunny for cutting down on his delivery of eggs.

The children were unusually successful at finding eggs at the hunts they attended, and for days after Easter we had hard boiled eggs in some form at almost every meal. We ad them in salads, stuffed, in casseroles, in meat loaves, every way I could think of. Might not be a bad idea to start collecting recipes for hard boiled eggs now for use after next Easter! !

The mother of the twin babies down the street had almost dispaired of ever getting their tiny fingernails cut because they keep their fists so tightly clenched. Then a wise neighbor suggested that she wait until after a feeding when the babies are drowsy and their hands relaxed before trying to snip their nails.

Our neighbor who raises prize flowers always plants her seeds and bulbs exactly the depth specified on the packet. To take the guess work out of her planting, she tacked part of an old tape measure to the handle of her trowel. By using her convenient tape measure, she can tell exactly how deep to dig the holes for planaing.

No sooner did I get our heavy blankets and wool clothes packed carefully away in moth balls than the weather decided to turn cold again. Out the warm things had to come. And I probably won't get around to storing them properly again until mid-July.

The next door neighbor doesn't use moth balls in her woolens when she stores them for the Summer. Instead she drops several cloth bags filled with cloves into her storage chests. She claims the cloves discourage moths as effectively as regular moth balls do, and she likes the smell much better.

Speaking of moth balls, the neighbor who does a lot of knitting always winds her hanks of wool around a moth ball. Then if she doesn't use all the wool at once, she can put it away until it is needed without danger of moth damage.

If you would like to know how our three-year-old and five-year-old look, you can get a picture of them by writing to me at 516 Dallas Avenue, Selma, Ala. No box tops or coupons needed; just write your request for a picture in a note or on a post card, and the photo will be on its way promptly.

When you need a quick frosting for a cake, break two chocolate almond bars and put the pieces in the center of the cakes as soon as you take it from the oven. Put marshmallows around the edges. Good!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I think that the biggest morale builders is the paper from home and the Chilton County News is my favorite paper from home. One of my favorite columns is "Folks and Things About Town." It not only lets you know what people are doing back home, but it brings in plenty of humor.

Yes, the paper is a hit here, there are about 200 boys here from Alabama, and believe me, the paper really gets around.

Sincerely,
LEONARD (Red) WEAVER.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Voters of Chilton County:

As we all know, the time is approaching for another first primary election. I would like to congratulate all the candidates for conducting such a nice, clean campiagn. I can truthfully say I haven't heard an unkind word out of a one of them about their opponents. That is good, clean sportsmanship and as a friend of them all, that is something to be proud of.

In reading their letters and contacting the candidates they all say they would like to serve in a capacity where they can render their best service, and perform faithfully all duties allotted to them.

Then as Chilton County happens to be blessed by being situated in a spot that according to its road posters, signs and advertisements to be the best place in the world for producing berries, peaches, corn and other agricultural products that is far above the average; if it has all these hidden resources besides the fine men, I don't see why it shouldn't continue to make progress.

It makes me think that there is always a faithful few and a few fine people who love their county, state and nation and hope to see it move on. With some honest efforts for future developments in keeping up brighter days in agriculture, education, commerce, industry, and staying on the level on foreign affairs, we can keep harmony, good will and cooperation in the party.

Respectfully,
J. SHELTON COOK.

Sandy Puts His Mind To It

Sandy Johnson took over the Ladies Auxiliary's booth at the Firemen's Fund-Raising the other night and really made it pay off.

Before Sandy stepped in, the booth wasn't doing much business. Offering china statues at 50 cents and not many people were buying.

So Sandy set up a "Mind-Reading" booth and claimed he could answer any question. He charged fifty cents, and if he couldn't guess an age or a birthday correctly (which was practically all the time) he'd give a china statue as a forfeit. He soon "lost" all of the statues — and made the Ladies Auxiliary $40 richer.

From where I sit, good business depends on the extra thinking you put into it. That's why beer retailers co-operate voluntarily with the Self-Regulation Program sponsored by the Brewing Industry. They run their places in the best possible manner at all times. It's good sense. It pays off in community good will, and in dollars and cents as well.

The banks of Lake Martin, near Alexander City, is the homeland of the Creek Indians who were defeated by Andrew Jackson and his Tennessee soldiers on March 27, 1814, at the historically famous "Horseshoe Bend Battleground" on the Tallapoosa River. An old covered wooden bridge leading to the battle ground is one of the longest (922 ft.) in the nation. It is held together with wooden pegs.

The old saying, "Laugh and the world laughs with you, cry and you cry alone," is just a lot of hooey. If you don't believe, just turn on your radio and listen to the many different versions of Johnny Ray's "Cry."

The Modern Approach to Natural Health

BLOOD PRESSURE—HIGH AND LOW

There has long been a saying among doctors that a man is as old as his arteries. There is truth in this statement because the condition of the arteries is related to the condition of the heart. If the arteries show signs of growing old, the heart is put under strain, and the victim is aging regardless of the number of years he has lived.

One of the best ways of knowing the condition of the arteries and the heart is to watch the blood pressure. Normal arteries are elastic like rubber. With each hertbeat the arteries stretch because more blood is being pumped into them. Between heartbeats the arteries spring back to smaller size. The pressure in the arteries during heartbeat is known as systolic pressure. The pressure in the arteries between heartbeats is known as diastolic pressure. If the doctor says, "Your blood pressure is 130 ovevr 80," he means that your systolic pressure is 130 and your diastolic pressure is 80. If he merely says that your blood pressure is 130 he means, of course, the systolic pressure.

Whether the pressure is above or below normal must be left to the doctor to determine. But there are certain symptoms which may cause a person to suspect that his pressure is high or low.

The usual symptoms of low blood pressure are: lack of normal energy, drowsiness, and a tendacy to tire easily. This condition may indicate some constitutional disease, nervous exhaustion or merely a nervous condition that could be easily corrected. Constitutional diseases and nervous exhution, however, are conditions that require more prolonged treatment and are not so readily overcome.

The usual symptoms of high blood pressure are: headache, dizziness and head noises (ringing in the ers). These symptoms may be caused by disease of the heart, kidneys, or arteries or by nervous strain. All of these ailments except possibly nervous strain, are conditions that require treatment.

Abnormal blood pressure calls for treatment of the disease that produced it. Good results can be obtained only if the patient follows the doctor's instructions, for the doctor alone cannot produce the desired results. The doctor will have certain instructions to be followed in each case.

The best thing one can do about abnormal blood pressure is to try to live so as to prevent the diseases that cause it. After all, the blood pressure itself should be no cause for concern. The first aim should be to avoid those abnormal conditions that raise or lower the pressure.

What can one do to prevent these ailments? Here are some practical suggestions which, if followed, will be of definite value in the prevention of such diseases:

1. Eat moderately; balance your meals.
2. Avoid highly seasoned foods. Condiments such as salt, pepper and vinegar should be used sparingly, if at all. This applies also to alcohol, coffee, and tea.
3. Don't try to "keep up with the Joneses."
4. Don't "burn the candle at both ends."
5. Modern life goes at a hard, fast pace. Slow down a little.
6. Be moderate in all of your living habits; don't go to extremes.
7. Try to keep your mind at ease. As far as possible, avoid mental and emotional strain, including worry.

Follow these suggestions and you will soon note marked health improvement.

ARMISTEAD SELDEN ASKS ---

WHAT ABOUT THOSE PROMISES?

In 1948, when he ran for Congress, Edward deGraffenried denounced his opponent for voting against income tax reduction.

What is Mr. deGraffenried's OWN record?

He not only has failed to vote for a reduction of our income tax, he has voted to INCREASE these income taxes to their present onerous heights.

In 1948, Mr. deGraffenried ran on a platform of economy.

WHAT IS HIS RECORD?

On 14 vital Economy vs. Spending Issues in the House in the 82nd Congress last year, he voted with the spending boys NINE times. He voted with the Economy forces only once. Five other times, he didn't vote at all.

In 1948, your present Congressman scolded the incumbent for his failure to express opposition to Mr. Truman.

WHAT IS HIS OWN RECORD?

He not only hasn't fought the Truman program; he has joined forces with them most of the time and made himself part and parcel of the Tax-and-Spend Forces in Washington.

SO. . . .

If you want to continue that waste of your money in Washington. . .

If you want to keep on taxing, and keep on spending. . .

If you want to promote new and reckless socialistic schemes. . .

If you want your party kept in the hands of the five-percenters, the income tax dodgers, and those others who have come to believe that they deserve to get rich because they have the "right contacts" in Washington. . .

THEN DO NOT VOTE FOR ME. I'M NOT YOUR MAN!

BUT. . .

If you believe that we should put a stop to the present federal program of increased taxation coupled with increased spending and an unbalanced budget. . .

If you believe that the socialists ought to be curbed. . .

If you believe that we need a house-cleaning, starting in Washington and coming right on down to the Sixth District — then

G. MARCUS JONES

In offering myself for membership on the Chilton County Board of Revenue I do so with the full realization of what I wish to accomplish for the people of this county. . .

I stand for better roads and will work for better roads during every day I serve our county.

I am old fashioned enough to believe in honest government and want the people to have honest government. This they will get if I am elected to help govern this county.

I believe that if we put the money we now have where it belongs we can do the things we need to do without increasing taxes. This statement goes from the County level to the government of the United States.

I believe in putting the money where it will be of benefit to the most people.

If elected I will do my very best to make you the best public servant you have ever had.

I am 35 years of age, married and have two sons.

I was graduated from Auburn in 1939, with a degree in Business Administration.

I have been actively engaged in the lumber business in Maplesville, Alabama, since July, 1939, and at the present time I am Secretary and Treasurer of Graham Lumber Company, Inc.

I am the Representative from the 6th Congressional District on the Board of Directors of the Alabama Forest Products Association. In the interest of better government, local and national, we should elect to our public offices men who we believe would not sacrifice convictions for personal gain or fame.

IT PAYS TO CHECK UP ON BROOD SOWS

It takes about five and one-half pigs per year to pay a brood sow's room and board bill.

A sow should produce at least 12 hogs for sale annually. This fact should be remembered since Spring litters are being farrowed on many Alabama farms at this time.

LOCAL MAN LEADING IN DISTRICT FOUR

J. J. JOHNSON

Here I come, voters, for the last time before the primary, as you know this is the last issue of the paper before the primary, May 6th, and I am sincerely asking you for your vote and influence. And I feel no one in the race would appreciate your vote any more than I will.

I was born and reared in Chilton County and I can truthfully say that I have our county at heart. And I feel that the people in Chilton County are great people and they deserve the best of any official who should be elected.

A number of people have asked me questions concerning county duties and roads. I will say to you now, if I am elected I will be interested in doing all I can to get black-top roads where it is most needed, and I will always be fighting for anything that will be for the benefit to the county to make it a better place in which to live. I feel with the experience I have that I am well qualified for this office as Board of Revenue and Control, District No. 4. Thank you all in advance for your vote and influence.

Yours truly,
JOHNNY J. JOHNSON.

OUR TRIP TO MOUNDVILLE

The Better Speech Club went visiting, to Moundville we did go;
To see the mounds and valley, and skeletons lined in a row.
We rode in mothers' cars, in groups of five or six;
We started out quite early, no flat tire had to be fixed.
The woodland scenery showed works of beautiful art;
We really learned one thing, mother nature's very smart.
Now, when we got to Moundville, the very first think we did;
Was file into the monument, we were told not to laugh or kid.
There were Indian pots and dishes, and trinkets of every kind;
There were pictures of how they looked, clothes and flesh we didn't find.
To the lovely picnic grounds, we went to eat our lunch;
We remained in an orderly file, to be such a hungry bunch!!
Then across the park we drove, to climb a great tall mound,
'Twas the greatest fun racing up, but some of us tumbled down.
We returned by Tuscaloosa, the museum there to go through;
Where we saw many things of science, and rocks of all kinds too.
Then getting into the cars, we started out toward home;
We were sorry we were leaving, we like to ride and roam.

—ROSEMARY WILLIAMS.

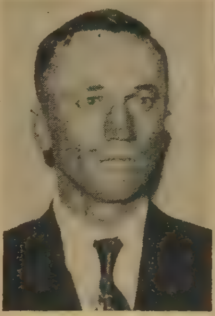
LONNIE PORTER WRITES VOTERS



Lonnie Porter

I, Lonnie Porter, am asking the voters and taxpayers of Chilton County to support me in the oncoming election for Place Number Four (4) as a Member of the County Board of Education.

I was born and reared in Chilton County and am a graduate of Jemison High School. I am married and have two children, one in school.

I feel that our educational system is a very important matter, because of the welfare of our children who will fill our places of tomorrow.

I earnestly and sincerely promise to discharge my duty to the best of my ability.

Sincerely yours, for better schools,
LONNIE PORTER.

HATS OFF TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

Dear Friends and Voters:

I am making a race for member of The Board of Revenue and Control of District Four. I am trying to see each and every one of you if I possibly can before election day, but if I don't see you, just take it for granted that I did see you and give me your vote. It will be appreciated. I promise only fairness and honesty to all the people of Chilton County. I will stick to my promise. Honesty I believe in, honesty I will keep, honesty I will prove to the people of Chilton County if I am elected. I have been promised approximately 1800 votes. So people, keep your promise, and I will keep mine.

A vote for F. E. (Floyd) Ellison is a vote for Honesty, Efficient Government. Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

F. E. (Floyd) ELLISON.

Sylacauga is built on a bed of solid marble. Marble has been quarried here since early 1840's. Some of the finest buildings in the country contain Sylacauga marble, these include the U. S. Supreme Court building, the Lincoln Memorial and the General Motors building at Detroit.

RESERVE ALFALFA LAND

Farmers who plan to plant alfalfa this fall according to API Agricultural Experiment Station recommendations should not grow a crop on the land this summer

TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

I wish to take this means of expressing to you my deep appreciation of support which I have received from so many of you during the present campaign. I shall continue to serve you in the future diligently and to the best of my ability.

In an advertisement which a friend of mine ran for my benefit in 1948 in which my friend stated: "Mr. deGraffenried has promised not to employ his wife as an Executive Secretary," the only statement I ever made to anyone was that my wife would not be my top or executive secretary. I have never stated nor intended to imply that she would not be a member of my staff. Immediately after my election in 1948 I announced that my wife would be a member of my staff. It has never been a secret that Mrs. deGraffenried is a member of my staff. I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to my office staff for their untiring efforts in helping me render to the people of the District the service to which they are entitled.

I HAVE KEPT EVERY PROMISE TO THE PEOPLE OF THE SIXTH DISTRICT, INCLUDING THE PROMISE THAT MY ENTIRE STAFF WOULD BE COMPRISED OF RESIDENTS OF THIS DISTRICT.

Your Vote And Support Will Be Greatly Appreciated.

EDWARD deGRAFFENRIED.

(Pd. Pol. Adv. by Edward deGraffenried, Tuscaloosa, Alabama)

Mr. And Mrs. Voter Chilton County, Alabama

Election day is only a few days away, and I realize that there are many voters I have not seen in the interest of my candidacy for Probate Judge. Since it will not be humanly possible for me to see every voter, I am taking this means and opportunity of writing you a personal letter through our County newspapers, asking for your vote for me and for your support of my candidacy for Probate Judge in the coming primary election on May 6th.

When I announced for Probate Judge I did so as an average citizen of our County, believing at that time, as I do now, that our people were alarmed to a point where they wanted a man for Probate Judge who was fresh from the rank and file of our citizens, and a man who knew the problems of the taxpayers and who would represent them honestly, efficiently and fairly, regardless of political faith, creed, or race.

At the time of my announcement I also published in the County papers and in pamphlet form my platform, setting out clearly what I stood for and what the people could expect of me if I am their next Probate Judge. When I announced, I believed in the principles printed in that platform, and throughout the campaign I have steadfastly lived by them and I stand by them today. I will redeem these promises and principles announced in that platform if I am elected Probate Judge.

I still believe that our government belongs to the people, and that PUBLIC OFFICE IS A PUBLIC TRUST. If you, as a voter, and citizen, believe in these principles I shall be grateful for your vote for me and good government in Chilton County on May 6th.

Yours for fairness to all our people and decency in our government, I am,

Sincerely,

FRED SMITH

Keep seeing headlines about drafting Truman. That's silly. He's too old for the Armed Service.

YOUR DUTY IS TO VOTE

Tuesday is election day and it is the duty of all citizens of Chilton County to go to the polls and vote for the candidate of their choice.

We know that is an old story and probably you are tired of reading the same old "song and dance," just before every election. But that does not lessen your obligation to yourself and your country. If you cherish your freedom and way of life, then show it by exercising your right as a patriotic citizen and voting next Tuesday.

COLLEGE EDUCATION HIGH

The younger generation these days is finding that a college education is not easily paid for. Because money is comparatively plentiful at this time, the real effects of increased tuition bills and increased fees in colleges has not yet produced its full impact.

However, colleges all over the United States have been forced to increase their tuition rates, room and board charges have skyrocketed in many instances, and the cost of materials, clothes and food—not to mention other essentials—is up appreciably. A recent survey showed that tuition at many colleges has doubled in less than ten years and in many cases they have risen far more rapidly than the cost of living and the average pay check.

This poses a serious question for all Americans, since this country's heritage is, to a large extent, tied up with low-cost, liberal education. Most of this country's great leaders have received their foundation in a liberal arts school of some kind.

The colleges are not to be blamed, necessarily, because, in many cases, their endowments have shrunk in proportion to the increase in inflation and, in other cases, their long-time investments pay interest rates today which are considerably lower than the average and not in line with increased costs of operation. The problem is an American problem, which may eventually have to be decided by the taxpayer, in one form or the other.

An acute situation is arising, wherein high school graduates with meritorious records are not financially able to attend college. The number of such students will increase greatly as soon as a period of deflation sets in.

While the armed services offer this unfortunate youth a course of life, and while these military services need the manpower, this is nevertheless a regretable situation. The problem is being studied by private colleges and by many leading citizens independently. It merits the serious thought of every American.

SUMMER HAZARDS

Summer months offer many opportunities for fun and good healthful living; yet, because warnings are ignored and common sense forgotten, the outdoor attractions of summer result in sickness, even death for numbers of people.

Summertime, for most people, means more time spent in the outdoors. If done injudiciously, exposure to the sun's rays even for a limited period, causes a sunburn that will bring hours of discomfort. Excursions, automobile trips, golf, tennis, swimming, and just sitting outdoors in the sun, are all activities that should be indulged in gradually, allowing one's skin or muscles to become seasoned.

Swimming is one of the most pleasant of all outdoor sports, but injuries and death associated with swimming are numerous. Dives into unknown waters may result in broken necks and other severe injuries. Overexertion, while swimming, produces a fatigue and exhaustion that may end in drowning. Swimming in unsanitary waters may be responsible for infections.

These are but a few of the hazards of summer. They can be avoided, if care and wisdom are applied to outdoor activities.

Keep cool by keeping comfortable. Wear light and loose clothing; free circulation of the blood is essential to health. Because the skin accumulates dirt more rapidly in summer than in winter, frequent bathing is advisable.

Eat nothing that may be suspected of being spoiled. And watch your disposition. An angry frame of mind can cause the body heat to rise.

Summertime can be playtime. Have fun, exercise and enjoy the outdoors. Moderation and a little common sense will keep you well and happy.

GOING TO MOUNDVILLE

On Friday morning at eight o'clock sharp,
The Better Speech Club was gay as a lark.
For into the cars got every soul,
Not one hesitated, no one had to be told.
There, shining so brightly o'erhead was the sun,
That over to Moundville went every one.
We saw the preserved bones of some ancient man,
That long had been buried deep in the sand.
We then drove about the attractive grounds,
And raced and played up and down the mounds.
We saw everything that there was to see,
Some will doubtless draw pictures, gay as can be.
Others will write stories of different size,
But I'm writing this poem you'll read with your eyes.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

Anything can happen when you take a five-year-old shopping for groceries. Past experiences should have prepared me for any eventuality, but our most recent buying expedition was a shocker.

I was busy selecting oranges by the dozen and apples by the pound when the five-year-old called out: 'Mother, please buy me some egg nog."

Other cart-pushers in the vicinity stopped and looked at the child with stunned expressions.

I quickly leaned over as far as possible into the frozen food chest, hoping nobody would connect me with the startling request. But my attempt to hide failed miserably. The five-year-old skipped up and began tugging at my skirt as she repeated her request.

A few of the other shoppers seemed to be amused at my embarrassment. Other sterner souls glared at me. I cringed, but I tried to make my voice super-convincing when I replied:

"Why you don't want any egg nog! You don't like it—I mean you've never even had any!"

"O, yes, I have had some too, lots of times. And I like it."

I was too uncomfortable to see what effect this pronouncement had on our growing audience.

"Look," continued the five-year-old, "here's the one I want." And she held up a big, beautiful, purple egg plant. I was so relieved I bought three!

Work saver: Going over window screens with the dusting brush attachment of the vacuum cleaner eliminates much of the dirt that blows into the house.

Our neighbor around the corner is on the committee for decorating the school cafeteria for the annual Junior-Senior banquet. As is usually the case, the committee was faced with the problem of creating attractive table arrangements with very little money to spend.

Know who came to the committee's rescue? A wallpaper dealer! He gave them several tolls of paper which he had had in stock a long time, and they spread the bright paper over the long cafeteria tables. At first the paper didn't want to lie flat, but after a few hours on the tables it behaved nicely. The neighbor says a warm iron run over the paper would have hastened the smoothing out process.

Next year they plan to get several big wallpaper sample books, pink the edges of the sheets and make attractive place mats for the banquet.

For appealing to Springtime appetites, our good-cook neighbor suggests a cheese ring. Here's her recipe:

Heat three cups of milk in the top of a double boiler. Beat three egg yolks and add ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika and ½ teaspoon dry mustard. Pour a little of the hot milk into the egg mixture. Then pour egg mixture into top of boiler with the rest of the milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constanlty, until mixture thickens. Then add 1½ cups grated cheese. Remove from heat after cheese has melted. Add two tablespoons of gelatin which has been softened in ½ cup of cold water. Pour into well oiled ring mold. Chill until firm. Then unmold and serve garnished with fresh vegetables from the garden.

MARKETING 'PEEVES' BOOST FOOD PRICES

Almost everyone has some "pet peeves" in regard to food marketing, finds Austin Ezzell, API Extension Service marketing specialist.

Food shoppers are peeved if retail stores are not clean, attractive, and well stocked with good quality foods at reasonable prices.

Retailers are peeved if the quality of foods they buy from wholesalers or farmers fail to meet the rigid standards expected by their customers. They are also peeved when a customer pinches, punches, squeezes, or damages foods in other ways while shopping.

"Since these 'pet peeves' often add to the cost of marketing foods," suggests Ezzell, "everyone can well afford to consider all means that will eliminate 'pet peeves' in food marketing."

POULTRY LICE CONTROL

Lice can be controlled for just a few cents in just a few minutes by dusting two pounds of sulphur in the litter of the poultry house for every 100 square feet of floor space. The treatment should last about three months.

36 Clanton Soldiers Have Front Row Seats For Spectacular Atomic Blasts

Camp Desert Rock, Nev. — Thirty-six soldiers from Clanton, Ala., make up the biggest hometown contingent at the current atomic warfare maneuvers in Nevada.

These men are members of Clanton's National Guard unit—Company B, 1st Battalion, 167th Regiment, 31st Infantry Division.

Fresh from Exercise Long Horn in Texas, they come from every walk of life in Clanton. Seven farmers, three truck drivers, three service station workers and two students were among the Clanton contingent.

Typical of the men's reaction to the show they were seeing in the Nevada desert is the feeling of Private Billy Mack Jones and Private First Class Earl Jones, sons of Mrs. Mary E. Jones, Second Avenue, Clanton.

"We'll sure have a lot to tell the folks at home when we get back," they said, "something to remember all our lives."

Every Clanton man will have a "front row" seat for at least one of the spectacular atomic explosions. The combat troops have been assigned foxholes at the shortest distance from the atom's detonation point yet used in troop maneuvers.

The operation marks the most extensive use of atomic weapons with combat troops in military history. The maneuver is the fourth phase of an atomic training program known as Exercise Desert Rock

In addition to seeing and feeling an atomic explosion, the combat soldiers will maneuver in the area of the burst—attacking and securing a simulated military objective beyond it.

The training indoctrination is expected to add to the Army's pool of men who "walked through" a similar battlefield problem here last November and provide an instruction base within combat units for further atomic training Troops in the exercise represent the 82nd Airborne Division, the 31st and 47th Infantry Divisions, the 11th Armored Vavalry Regiment and the 369th Engineer Regiment.

NEED FOR MORE MILK PRODUCTION IN STATE

Auburn, Ala. — Alabama farmers who are interested in selling milk for manufacturing purposes will find an unlimited market in their home state.

And J. R. Parrish, API Extension Service dairyman, points out that nationally, the population has been increasing faster than milk production for several years. Also, the price of milk shows signs of becoming more favorable in relation to the price of beef cattle and some other livestock products than it has in recent years.

"Therefore, with the outlook for a strong market during the next several years," adds Parrish, "Alabama farmers are in a favorable position to expand production of milk for manufacturing purposes."

"Forsake not an old friend..."

THE OLD PROVERB which counsels that one not forsake old friends while seeking new ones comes to mind during Alabama Industry Week.

NEW INDUSTRIES in Alabama are important. It was our pleasure during 1951 to assist directly or indirectly in the establishment of forty-one new industries in thirty-one communities directly served by us.

BUT OLD INDUSTRIES which have been in a community a long time are important too — many of them in many Alabama communities expanded their operations during 1951 — creating new opportunities for employment just as in the case of new industries. We were happy to increase our facilities to make available to them the additional power they needed.

BOTH OLD AND NEW FRIENDS are needed to balance the life of an individual. Both old and new industries are needed to balance the economic life of a community. The old contribute to stability — the new contribute to present growth and future stability.

WELCOME THE NEW INDUSTRY, but "Forsake not an old friend . . ," Steadfastness to old friends is impressive to the prospect who may become a community's newest industry.

I am sure most of you have already made up your minds as to whom you will vote for in the various offices. To those of you who have not made up your mind, I would like to point out to you that it is very important that you select honest and efficient men to govern our County.

I want to thank all of you for your encouraging support given me so far, and I humbly solicit your vote for WELCH ROEBUCK as Associate Member of The Board of Revenue and Control, District No. 3, on Tuesday, May 6th.

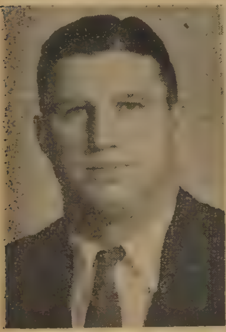
TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY



Sherman Motley

I am asking you to elect me as a member of the Board of Revenue and Control in District Three of Chilton County. I have lived in District Three at Maplesville almost all of my life. I am married and have two children. I have had seven years experience in road work, one year as Supervisor on State Highway No. 22, six years as overseer for Chilton County.

I have always had a desire to serve the people of Chilton County and I feel that I am well qualified to fill the office I am asking for.

I have not gone out and made a lot of promises that I could not fulfill. The only thing that I have promised to do is to be honest and give the people the best service possible, and that I intend to do.

It will be impossible for me to see each and every voter of Chilton County before the election. So if I should not get to see you, I want you to know that I do want to serve you and will appreciate your vote and influence in the coming election.

Sincerely,
SHERMAN MOTLEY.

TEXT OF SPEECH OF J. C. PATTILLO OVER RADIO STATION WKLF APRIL 25th

Will Be Re-Broadcast May 2nd At 12:45 P.M.

Hello Friends:

This is J. C. Pattillo, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, coming to you with the short tale of a horse, but not a horse with a short tail.

Once upon a time, back in the horse and buggy days (however the story is as applicable in this day of automobiles and airplanes as in horse and buggy days) there was a country doctor whom we will call Dr. Curem who made his visits with a horse and buggy. The doctor had trained his horse so well that the horse would go fast when the road was good and slow and carefully when the road was bad. Sometimes the doctor would be late coming home at night from a seriously sick patient and would fall asleep in the buggy while old Dobbin, the horse, would take him safely home.

One morning the doctor had a specially long trip to make and the hired man suggested hitching one of the other three horses to the buggy. The hired man said Old Dubbin was getting old, had served faithfully for several years and ought to have retirement. "No," said Dr. Curem. "I know what old Dobbin can do, but I don't know about the other horses, as they have had no buggy training. Old Dobbin is still full of pep. He loves his work. He knows just what to do in every emergency. So hitch up old Dobbin AGAIN.

Now, I am sure you would have done just what Dr. Curem did. And if, in this day of automobiles and airplanes, you needed a chaffeur or pilot, I know you would employ one with experience and who had a good and safe record of performance.

I wish I would see each one of you, shake your hand, and tell you this story in person. Then I could thank you personally instead of over the radio for the confidence you have had in me during the past. However, my first duty is to the job, and it leaves me little time for campaigning; so I am taking this method of greeting you and asking for your support in the May 6 and June 3 primaries. Just as Old Dobbin, the buggy horse, learned his job, I have learned the complicated details of the courts. I have always tried to make my life a life of service. I have, I believe, several more years of work left to me, thanks to the goodness of God and temperate and Christian living. I would like to spend these years in useful service to you, the people of my native county. I KNOW I can serve you better in my present job than in any other way. Therefore, a plea for your vote is a plea for a chance to be useful.

The job of circuit clerk is not a job to be passed around so as many persons as possible may benefit from it. The job deals with the hopes and fears of men and women in all walks of life, and it requires a knowledge of the courts and laws. Several Alabama counties, knowing this, have elected their circuit clerks for more than four terms. Many of them have served three terms, and one I know of, has served eight terms. The job is one in which PUBLIC SERVICE AND HUMAN RELATIONS is the keynote, and NOT financial gain, as many seem to think.

I know you will keep these thoughts in mind when you mark your ballots on May 6 and June 3. I know you will cast your vote for the man you know to be best fitted for the work.

Now, kind friends, if I do not get to see you before the Primaries, consider this radio message a personal visit to you—and you—and you—in which I pledge my continued honest and efficient service in return for your vote in my favor . . . . Goodbye, and may God's richest blessings be yours.

(Pd. pol. adv. by J. C. Pattillo, Clanton, Ala.)

STATE SEED INDUSTRY WORKS TO MEET NEEDS

One of the recent developments in Alabama agriculture is the seed industry. And growing, harvesting, processing, storing and marketing seed are important steps in the new industry for several reasons.

A changing agriculture with the emphasis on dairying, beef cattle, hogs, and poultry which creates a demand for new grazing, grain, and forage crops that will carry the animals over most of the year. This program means new varieties of crops adapted to local conditions are needed.

Also securing the best in seed requires much effort, and, of course, when seed are purchased a considerable outlay of cash is needed. Formerly, Alabama's seed supply came from other states and foreign countries at a high cost. Now, much of the seed is produced in Alabama and some of the supply is left over for sale out of state.

CONCRETE STREETS are Smooth Riding

You can relax when you're driving on concrete because concrete pavement is smooth-riding and safe. It stays smooth-riding, too, because it stays free from ruts, bumps and chuckholes. That saves you money on tires and car repairs, reduces your taxes for street maintenance by not running up bills for patching and surface tinkering.

Some Thoughts For Better Government

To select your aids in your business, do you consider qualification as well as character?

Would you employ an inexperienced man and expect equal results?

Do you think that the people are entitled to the highest possible return for their investment?

Inexperienced help is expensive to any business. Your County business is no exception.

Thousands of dollars can be saved the county annually by having a man that is familiar with the repair of equipment and knowing the value of second hand equipment when time comes to trade. The undersigned has had valuable experience in this line.

Think of these important matters when you cast your vote on May 6th. I have had 25 years experience of the type of work required of members of the County Board of Revenue and Control.

(a) I am the son of a Methodist Minister. My father has been a Methodist minister for the past 38 years in Alabama.

(b) Myself and three sisters have taught in the public schools of Chilton County. My family has served the public schools of this county for a total of 31 years.

(c) The Veterans Farm Program of which I am head, is rated as one of the top three counties in the State.

(d) In 1948 I married Miss Mable Camp, who was Bible Teacher in the Chilton County High School and Grammar School. We have two children.

(e) I have been active in all civic affairs in the County and have especially been a booster to the agricultural programs.

(f) As to my war record I served over three years in the Army Air Forces and was stationed in Foggia, Italy. On my 26th mission I was wounded and bailed out at 24,000 feet over Germany. I was captured and spent 12 months in a German Prison Camp as a prisoner of war. In 1945 I was repatriated and sent to Northington General Hospital, where after one year I was given a discharge.

Through educational advantages, experience through personal contacts, and my ability to work with people, I feel that I am qualified to be your next Probate Judge, and with your cooperation, I will be elected on May 6th.

LET'S PROMOTE

BUCK ROBERTS

To The Office Of

Probate Judge

Of Chilton County

MY FRIENDS:

I am addressing this letter to those of you who want a friendly, honest and common sense administration of your County affairs for the next 6 years.

I am not here to tell you how corrupt and inefficient your present administration is or other officials in your County Government. As a matter of fact I do not think any of them are corrupt, but on the contrary they are faithful and are doing the very best that they know how.

I am here, not to lambast past administrations, but to give you some idea perhaps of what you may expect for the next 6 years should you elect me your next Probate Judge.

I have no big schemes or grand ideas and do not intend to experiment with the affairs of Chilton County.

For the information of some who may not know, I would like to tell you that your Probate Judge does not run or control your County Government. Your County Government is run and controlled by a board of revenue, consisting of 4 members of the board of revenue and your Probate Judge in the capacity as their chairman.

Five men, including myself, are running for the office of Probate Judge, and in my opinion, either of them are capable of serving you as Probate Judge. Our ideas and views will of course conflict, but if each of them will, in the administration of the affairs of the office of Probate Judge, take the members of the board of revenue and the public into their confidence and be guided by the wishes of a majority of the people, then we will have a safe and sane administration of our County affairs. This I propose to do.

I wish to again state to you that I will not advocate or participate in putting this County in bonded indebtedness unless a majority of the people vote to do so at the polls.

Now, if I may, I would like to discuss some of the political angles and problems facing us this political year.

Mr. John Higgins has said that the Republican Influence ends at the County Line, and Mr. Higgins also stated that you would choose your next Probate Judge in these primary elections. Most of you old battle-scarred Democrats will agree with me that your Probate Judge will be chosen in the General Election in November. We may as well face the facts now and prepare ourselves for a hard battle in November. The Republican Party in Chilton County is not dead, but on the contrary, very much alive. I have battled those boys in past General Elections and know from experience that it is not going to be a push over.

The Republican Nominee has some little experience along these lines, gathered over a short period of approximately 30 years in Chilton County Politics.

A man well versed in the knowledge of Chilton County Politics is needed to assure you victory in November. The man you nominate will head your ticket and be responsible for winning or losing for you. He certainly will owe you victory.

This will be my last appeal to you before the primary election. May I take this opportunity to express my appreciation for all past favors and thank you for your kind support should you be with me in this election.

BETTER SPEECH CLUB VISITS MOUNDVILLE

The members of the Better Speech Club chose to visit Mound State Monument instead of going on an Easter egg hunt. Our interest in this site had been aroused because our studies had carried us into many regions where remains of early civilizations had been excavated.

On Friday, April 11th, seven cars took us over with home room mothers driving. Our usual chatter was some what subdued as nature constantly flashed before our eyes all the pastel shades of early spring woodlands. Beautiful crimson clover blossoming along the highway formed a lovely aisle of red down which we made our way. Occasionally we observed the dainty, but gloomy, lacework of erosion on the banks along the highways.

After about a two-hour ride we reached the parks where we stopped at the Administration Building and were introduced to the building guide, Mrs. Velma Montgomery. She hastily preceded us over to the monument and admitted us into that impressive section which is used for a display of the early culture. How busily we worked with note books and pencils as squad by squad we proceeded from case to case where samples of all the unearthings were shown. Among them were copper fish hooks, clay pipes, bone needles, bone hairpins, pottery, shell beads, and a variety of other ornamental and useful articles. By squads we entered the pits where we saw the burials and learned that the approximate height of these yellow-race people was five feet, three inches. The average age of the males was twenty-four years and the average life span of the female was about twenty-three years. They are thought to have been a peace-loving peoples, as no remains of war weapons have been found. It was considered stylish to flatten their heads in youth. One skull indicates that the man was probably scalped. Mrs. Montgomery said that if the faces are turned down, they are thought to have died in disgrace. Their valuable personal possessions were placed near their heads when they were buried, but the strangest of all customs it seemed to us, was their practice of burying the dead under his own house. Under one house site, we found as many as four generations. These were indeed an ancient people since they had disappeared before 1500 A.D.

We enjoyed our lunch down at the picnic area beside the broad peaceful, yet treacherous Black Warrior River. This attractive area is well planned and perfectly cared for. Who could but enjoy good food in such surroundings?

As we were driving out of the park, we stopped at huge Mound B to race up and down its steep side.

Our next stop was at Smith Hall Museum at the University where we thoroughly enjoyed seeing that huge quartz crystal, various rock formations, preserved smokes, and stuffed animals.

The trip was most enjoyable from the standpoint of recreation, entertainment and education. — The Better Speech Club.

LIVESTOCK PRODUCERS SAVE SOIL AND LABOR

There is a considerable saving in labor when livestock harvest their own feed, according to S. R. Doughty, API Extension Service soil conservationist.

"And think of the fuel and machinery saved compared to that required for row crops," adds the specialist. Also, pasture is the cheapest source of feed nutrients."

Of cuorse, neither man nor nature has found a better weapon against waste of soil and water than a good sod.

MY TRIP TO MOUNDVILLE

Just forty-three were gathered in front of the school that day;
To take a trip to Moundville, and were anxious to be on their way.
Each group was carefully selected,
the cars in order stood;
We all then piled in hastily, promising Mrs. Thomas we'd be good.
We saw the skeletons of people, who lived very long ago;
They said 'ere fifteen hundred, as history goes to show.
They were a tribe of Indians, not warlike, so they say;
Who buried their young dead, in the position that they lay.
We saw many things of interest,
it really was time well spent;
I'm sure no one in the group, will be sorry now they went.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

G. MARCUS JONES

In offering myself for membership on the Chilton County Board of Revenue I do so with the full realization of what I wish to accomplish for the people of this county.

I stand for better roads and will work for better roads during every day I serve our county.

I am old fashioned enough to believe in honest government and want the people to have honest government. This they will get if I am elected to help govern this county.

I believe that if we put the money we now have where it belongs we can do the things we need to do without increasing taxes. This statement goes from the County level to the government of the United States.

I believe in putting the money where it will be of benefit to the most people.

If elected I will do my very best to make you the best public servant you have ever had.

Sincerely, G. Marcus Jones.

ALABAMA FARMERS LIKE TO PRODUCE CHICKENS

Alabama farmers like to produce chickens. This fact is evidenced by the 1950 census which shows that a higher percentage of Alabama farms grows chickens than any other state in the U. S.

To be exact, 87 per cent of all Alabama farms has chickens, as compared with the national average of 78 per cent.

Alabama farmers recognize the poultry flock as a profitable source of a good food supply, and many farmers are depending on the poultry flock for a big part of their income.

I am 35 years of age, married and have two sons.

I was graduated from Auburn in 1939, with a degree in Business Administration.

ARMISTEAD
SELDEN urges you to

CHECK THE RECORD!

That's the fair way to make your decision on the Congressional race.

What Mr. deGraffenried Promised:
During the 1948 campaign, he attacked his opponent for being absent from the House so much, and he pledged, if elected, to stay on the job so he could "vote for the welfare of the people of this district." He pointed out that his predecessor had missed 68 roll calls in 11 years.

What Mr. deGraffenried Has Done:
Instead of a mere 68 roll calls in 11 years, he has managed to miss 63 roll calls in ONLY THREE YEARS. His record of absenteeism is the worst in the Alabama delegation, with only one exception

What Mr. deGraffenried Promised:
In 1948, he denounced his predecessor for his failure to vote for income tax reductions, with the implied promise that HE would vote for reductions.

What Mr. deGraffenried Has Done:
He not only has failed to vote for income tax reductions. He has voted to increase these taxes to the onerous heights which you remember as of March 15th.

What Mr. deGraffenried Promised:
He denounced his predecessor for hiring his wife as a secretary, and he promised he wouldn't do the same thing.

What Mr. deGraffenried Has Done:
His wife, Mrs. Motie G. deGraffenried, is now on the payroll as Mr. deGraffenried's secretary at $610 a month. Mr. and Mrs. deGraffenreid draw more than $22,000 a year from the U. S. Treasury in salaries and expenses, plus travel allowances—explaining, we suspect, why he isn't interested in cutting your taxes.

What Mr. deGraffenried Promised:
In 1948, he denounced his predecessor for being "closely aligned" with the Truman administration, and for his failure to express his opposition to Truman.

What Mr. deGraffenried Has Done:
Mr. deGraffenreid has forgotten his opposition to Truman; in fact, he has joined forces with Truman. He is recognized as a less important member of the "Me-Too" crowd which supports the extravagances of the Missouri Gang. On 14 vital bills, with the economy forces pitted against the Spending forces, he voted with the Truman Spenders 9 times, and with the Economy forces only once. On five occasions, he didn't vote at all.
We are not dealing in fancy; we are dealing in FACTS.

This Is The deGraffenried Record

A Record of Short Memory, of Broken Promises, of Sheer Neglect

We think you have a right to know your present Congressman's Record. At the same time, we invite you to inspect Armistead Selden's Record.

ARMISTEAD SELDEN is young, energetic and capable; and, at the same time, a man of legislative experience.
He served in his country's Navy for 42 months during World War II. As a member of the Alabama Legislature, he has made an outstanding record. He is a member of the Judiciary Committee, and he served on the Interim Committee on Revision of laws. He is acting chairman of the Committee on State Administration. He is known as a legislator who isn't afraid to introduce constructive legislation, then has the ability to steer this legislation to passage. He was singled out as the member of the House who contributed most to Road Progress in Alabama during the last session. He knows how to co-operate with his fellow legislators for the welfare of his own people back home and for the betterment of the state as a whole.
In brief, he knows how to get things done. He is a man not only of ability, but of tireless energy as well. In Congress, he will give these eight fine counties of the Sixth District the real representation which they deserve. His age is just right. He is 31 — not too young to be without experience, and yet not so old that he will be ready to retire before he gets any real recognition, through the seniority system, in Washington.

ELECT
J. Lee Smith
Probate Judge

To The Voters Of Chilton County

It takes an experienced business man to assist in managing the business of Chilton County. There is no substitute for experience.

Your Probate Judge has many duties to perform. One of the most important duties imposed upon him is being Chairman of the Board of Revenue. This Board is composed of six men who work together. Five of them are elected by the people. The County Attorney is appointed by the Board. His duty is to advise the Board of Revenue as to the legality of all claims and to draw up all contracts made and entered into by your Board of Revenue for the county.

It is the duty of your Probate Judge, as Chairman of the Board to keep them well advised as to the financial condition of the county and to keep them informed as to all money made available by the State and Federal Government for county aid, and to see to it, that it is spent to the best interest of all of our people. This I will do.

It is the duty of your Board of Revenue to purchase all the equipment, materials and supplies for the building and maintenance of roads and bridges, and to audit and approve all claims made against Chilton County and to see to it, that your tax money is spent for the benefit of all of our people and that here are no special favors shown.

It is the duty of your Probate Judge to inform the people of all important matters pertaining to your county affairs. I could make you many promises, as some candidates do, to get your vote and support that would never be fulfilled. Check my record in the past. I made no promises that I did not carry out. I have been a citizen of Chilton County for fifty-one years. You know how I have conducted my business affairs. If elected, I will serve all the people at all times and will not be dictated to by a small group. I am opposed to any additional taxes.

I shall be ready at all times to join in every movement for the good of Chilton County and the progress, welfare and happiness of all.

The people of Chilton County know that my political enemies and their henchmen have not told the truth about my record in office and the people know my enemies have done and are doing everything in their power to hurt my good name, with the hope that they can defeat me for public office. But in their hatred of me, they have gone too far. My supporters say the people are going to meet them at the polls on May 6th and give me a tremendous vote of confidence and approval. A good record is far better than campaign promises. On my record, I ask you for your vote and support.

Go To The Polls Tuesday And Vote

There is an undercurrent of feeling throughout America that "politics" is a dirty word and, in the minds of some, "a necessary evil." We do not subscribe to that belief. Politics is an integral part of our Republic and the right to choose our public officials is the basic principle of our free nation. As Kiwanians, we believe in the Constitution of the United States, which established the best form of representative government that has ever been conceived in the minds of men. We further believe that election to public office is the highest trust to which free men can aspire. It is our opportunity and responsibility to see that the right men are chosen to represent us.

Therefore, vote electiog day as you please—BUT VOTE!

SENIOR III PLAY AT ISABELLA SCHOOL

"He Couldn't Marry Five" is the amusing title of the three-act comedy to be produced by the Senior III class of Isabella in the school auditorium on the evening of May 2, 1952.

The title describes the major plot of the play which is about a young man who goes to visit a family with five eligible daughters and falls in love with each and every one of them! To make things worse, the sisters all fall in love with the young man—or think they do. If this isn't a complicated situation for any young man to find himself in, we'd like to know what is. It seems hopeless, but after many laughable situations, everything finally straightens out to everybody's satisfaction through the common sense advice of the girls' grandmother.

Those taking part in the play are: Connie, the mother, played by Laura Ratliff; Ralph, the father, Talmadge Short; April, the oldest daughter, Norma Foshee; May, the next in line, Betty Hayes; June, the third daughter, Arra B. Sims'; Taris, the fourth, Berndean Wyatt; Leona, the youngest, Colleen Smith; Granny, Mr. Barton's mother, Hazel Durbin; Etta, Mr. Barton's sister, Catherine Hayes; Donald Regan, the only outside member of the Barton family and the son of Mr. Barton's boss, Harold Hayes.

The curtain rises promptly at 8 o'clock. 50c for adults and 35c for children. Remember the date, and don't let anything else interfere with your coming to see "He Couldn't Marry Five."

She makes a speech in school against drinking to try to win popularity. She only convinces everyone that her father is a drunkard. When she turns to her mpther for help, her mother calls a nice young man she knows. On the night of the Prom the nice young man turns up in short pants and knee socks. Let's all come to the high school auditorium on May 9, 1952, at 8:00 p.m. and see how Hildegarde solves her problem. Admission 25c and 50c. This is by permission of Dramatics Publishing Company.

New Regulations For Septic Tanks

Dr. G. M. Taylor, County Health Officer, has announced that the Alabama State Board of Health has adopted new regulations governing the construction of septic tanks and other sewage disposal systems. These regulations became effective May 1, 1952. After that date it will be unlawful to construct or put into use any sewage disposal system that does not have the approval of the Health Department. Dr. Taylor states that the County Health Department is in a position to assist all persons in installing a sewage system and is also in a position to enforce the law if necessary

Any person desiring to install a septic tank or any contractor who accepts the job of making the installing should contact the Health Department prior to starting construction, and after completion for an inspection. There are many factors involved in determining the location and size of the septic tank and disposal field and it is to the home-owners advantage not only from a health standpoint, but also from a stand-point of satisfactory operation and maintenance to use the services offered by the Health Department.

Enterprise Jr. High Wins in Club Rally

The students of Enterprise Junior High School salute the Chilton County citizens this week with the news of another victory. Our school won first place over county wide competition in the Chilton County 4-H Club Rally which was held Friday, April 18th, in the ball park, Clanton, Ala.

This marked the second year in succession that Enterprise has been acclaimed first place winner in this contest and we hope that we shall continue to give a good account of ourselves in years to come.

This was the last time that many of us will be wearing the colors for Enterprise, but we can truthfully say that the ideals, inspirations and other virtues which we have received from our school activities shall go with us throughout our lives—a quitter never wins and a winner never quits.

Winners in the Junior competition include Maurine Sansom, Verlyn Mims, Elvie Jean McGee, Doris Dennis, Jesse Merle Moore and Henry Moore, who triumphed in the sack race, relay race, three-legged race, beauty contest, broad jump, fifty yard dash, respectively.

In Senior competition, Jean Wyatt, Lucretia Davis, Doris Burkhalter, Billie Grace Pike, Jo Anne Fant, Arnold DeLoach, T. J. Cox, and James Emfinger were winners.

HUGH W. ROBERTS, Jr.

Candidate
For

CONVENTION

from the Sixth
Congressional District

Why should you vote for Hugh W. Roberts, Jr., for Delegate to the National Democratic Convention from the 6th Congressional District?

Hugh W. Roberts was born, reared, educated and has spent most of his life in West Alabama. His education at the University of Alabama was interrupted by World War II. He served over five years as a combat infantryman, fighting campaigns in Germany, France and Austria. After the war he completed his legal education at the University in 1948. Hugh Roberts is active in church, civic and community affairs. As a candidate for Delegate he offers a constructive program.

Hugh Roberts believes that the rebirth of the South began in 1932 and that the greatest economic strides in our history have been made during the past 20 years under Democratic administrations. He points to the great farm programs, fair labor standards, veteran's benefits, hospital and health programs, assistance to schools under state control, waterways developments, social security, insurance of bank savings and many others as tangible evidence of the benefits we in Alabama have received.

Hugh Roberts will go to the National Convention and fight for a Party Platform that will secure these economic advances to the South and will expand them. He will oppose FEPC, Civil Rights, and similar planks designed to humiliate the South.

Hugh Roberts is not committed to any candidate for President. He is fair and open-minded; and only asks for a presidential nominee who will give the South just treatment.

Elect Hugh M. Roberts, Jr., as your Delegate from this district and you will elect a man who will strive to protect your interests at the National Democratic Convention in July.

FRED SMITH SAYS

I ANNOUNCED FOR PROBATE JUDGE ON THE FOLLOWING PLATFORM, AND

I HAVE ASKED THE PEOPLE TO VOTE FOR ME ON THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS OUTLINED IN THIS PLATFORM, AND

I WILL CARRY OUT THE PRINCIPLES OF THIS PLATFORM IF I AM ELECTED YOUR NEXT PROBATE JUDGE.

If The office of Probate Judge of Chilton County is being offered for sale to the highest and best bidder for cash—then I don't want it that way and COUNT ME OUT, and

If The people of Chilton County want the same kind of government they have had in recent years—then I don't want it, COUNT ME OUT. I refuse to believe the good people of Chilton County are offering the office of Probate Judge for sale. I believe they know that a candidate who will buy the office will likewise sell the office. I refuse to believe that the people of Chilton County want a continuation of the kind of government which has brought so much embarassing publicity to our County and people.

I Believe The People of Chilton County want an honest, fair, and efficient government which is responsive to all the people regardless of political faith, creed or race. On this basis, I will greatly appreciate the vote and influence of the voters of the County, and if elected your next Probate Judge, I will give the best that is within me to merit your faith and confidence.

I Believe The People of Chilton County are aroused and interested, as never before, in the type of man who is to be their next Probate Judge. I believe they should and will look into the public and private lives of each candidate for this office, and from these facts vote for the candidate who, in their best judgement, gives the greatest promise of administering the affairs of the office honestly, fairly, efficiently and impartially to all the people of the County. If I am that candidate, I shall be most grateful for your confidence. If I am not that candidate, then I will still be interested in good government in Chilton County.

I Believe The People of Chilton County will want a clear-cut, straight-from-the-shoulder declaration from each candidate as to what he stands for, and what he proposes to do when and if he is your next Probate Judge. I do not propose to pussy-foot the issues in this campaign; pull any punches, have any secrets or connive with enemies of good government, or be a party to any form of clique operations.

On the above and following declarations, I solicit your vote and influence in my humble efforts to represent all the people of Chilton county as your next Probate Judge:

1. WHO AM I? I am just an average country boy who has come up the hard way. I never knew the comforts of plenty, but I know too well the disappointments of not enough. I have known hard work, and I am now making a living operating a small grocery store at Jemison. I am 49 years of age, a member and Deacon of the Baptist Church, member of the present Chilton County Board of Education, Mayor of Jemison, member of the Thorsby-Jemison Lions Club, member of the Chilton County Chamber of Commerce, and interested in every worthwhile institution or project in my community and County, which tends to promote the progress of our people. Out of a very humble beginning, I had a desire and ambition to better my humble lot and the living standards of others just like me. I have fallen far short of my ideals, but as a private citizen, member of the Town Council and Mayor of Jemison, member of the County Board of Education and official member of my church, I have done the best I could with the tools given me to promote the welfare and higher living standards and opportunities for my neighbors and community. My compensation has been largely the success of many projects and the comforts and progress which has come to this community and our people. These accomplishments, though seemingly small and trivial, have fired an ambition and desire in me to be of greater service to a larger number of our poeple, and if elected your next Probate Judge, I hope to be instrumental in promoting and bringing greater opportunities to an even larger number of people of our county.

2. BUY AT HOME. I believe the government of Chilton County belongs to the people of our County. The tax payers, financial and business institutions should be considered first when the people's money is being spent for materials, supplies and equipment necessary for the operation of our government. If I am your next Probate Judge, purchases of whatever kind and county business of whatever nature will be transacted with Chilton county taxpayers, so far as it is possible and practicable to do so. If Chilton county tax payers pay the taxes, then they should have a fair and equal opportunity to keep these taxes at home.

3. MEMBERS OF OUR BOARD OF REVENUE AND CONTROL. Members of our Board of Revenue and Control play a very vital part in our County government, and if I am elected your next Probate Judge, it will be my duty and pleasure to cooperate fully with them and all other elected officials of our County to the end that our people will have confidence and respect for our local government. Co-operative officials beget a co-operative peo-people.

4. CLIQUE GOVERNMENT—I am opposed to any kind of clique government. Around every courthouse there is an old political clique, administering the affairs of government from dark and secret places. I am not that kind of a candidate, and I will not be that kind of Judge if I am elected to this office. The cliques must move out and the light of day turned on every official act of our government. The door of the office of Probate Judge will be open to every man, woman and child for the impartial transaction of county business regardless of political faith, creed or race.

5. NO STALKING HORSE—I am running for Probate Judge of my own choosing. No one has tricked me into the race to strengthen or weaken another candidate. I am running my own candidacy as an average citizen and taxpayer of this county. I have not entered into any political alignments of any kind or nature, and I will not do so for personal gain or advantage to the hurt or injury of any other person, candidate, or to the detriment of good government.

6. EDUCATION. As a member of our Chilton County Board of Education, I am in a position to know that our school program is far below the needs of our children. We know that all schools are crowded, lack facilities that other schools have; our teachers and school bus drivers are still inadequately paid, but our program is being administered efficiently as present appropriations will permit. Whether I am your next Probate Judge or a private citizen, I will always be interested in greater educational opportunities for our children.

7. PENSIONS. While the Probate Judge has nothing directly to do with assistance to our aged people, it is my belief that those who are left alone in their old age, without adequate means of support, should be properly provided for through public aid. If I am your next Probate Judge, I will lend my personal efforts and the influence of the office to any measure which seeks to properly take care of those who need our help.

8. COUNTY GOVERNMENT—I believe our County government should remain in the hands of Chilton County people. There is entirely too much centralization of government from Washington down through Chilton County. There are people in Chilton county just as honest and as capable as their are in Washington who can administer our local government and should do it.

9. MISSING FUNDS. I have seen newspaper accounts and have heard many comments by local people concerning the "Missing Funds" issue. I Do not know all the facts about the story, but I do know that the County and our people have come in for some very unfavorable publicity and criticism. Honesty is as honesty does, and any man worthy of the honor of representing the people of Chilton County as their Probate Judge should desire for honor's sake to be an honorable and trusworthy servant of the people. When an official has been found to betray the trust placed in him by the people, then we have the constituted authorities in our courts to deal with such betrayals of trust and mete out justice through fair and impartial processes of law. I have not and will not attempt to assume any of the rights and prerogatives of the courts. It is the duty of the courts to determine the guilt or innocence of any and all persons charged with unlawful acts.

10. VETERANS—I am not a veteran for the simple reason that I was born at the wrong time to be one—too young for World War I, and too old for World War II. As a patriotic citizen I would have served the Armed Forces of my country just as all veterans did if I had been called to the service. Whether as a private citizen in the rear ranks, or as your next Probate Judge, Veterans and their organizations may know that I am ready to serve them and their cause at all times. In my opinion, every consideration should be given to the welfare of our boys who faced the guns and terrors of war that we might have Peace in the World.

11. PEOPLE'S GOVERNMENT. All citizens of Chilton County regardless of status in life or location in the county, should have an equal interest in the administration of our government. I believe the county government belongs to all the people, and without fear or favor, it should be so administered. If I am honored by your vote and election to this office, I shall dispose of any private business that I may have, move to Clanton, and give my full time and efforts toward making you the best Probate Judge of which I am capable.

12. OUT OF THE MUD. Chilton County has never received its fair share of road funds. If I am your next Probate Judge, I propose to start a movement the day I take office to get Chilton county "Out of the Mud." My past record supports this promise to you.

The kind of government we are to have during the next six years will be decided by the voters next Tuesday. I ask for and will greatly appreciate your vote for me when you go to the polls next Tuesday.

Yours for fairness to all the people and decency in our government, I am

Sincerely,

FRED SMITH

Since I am offering myself again to serve you as a member of the County Board of Education, Place No. 4, I would like to urge your support and influence. I have not been able to see you all, so I am going to be forced to depend upon you and my friends who have known me.

This will be my last chance before the primary election, may I take this opportunity to express my appreciation for all past favors and thank you for your kind support should you be with me in this election.

180 HP CHRYSLER V-8 FIRST IN 3 CLASSES IN ECONOMY RUN!

Here is truly dramatic proof that Chrysler's great new FirePower 180 HP V-8 engine design sets an entirely new standard of efficiency among American passenger car engines!

In this annual economy test, rigidly supervised, and limited strictly to stock car entrants, cars competing are divided, by price and size, into 11 standard classes. The route, from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, covered 1,415 miles of every possible kind of driving. Average speed for all cars was just under 41 miles per hour.

And in 3 of the 11 classes, the Chrysler V-8 engine was best for gasoline mileage.

In Class "F", this magnificent new engine won first place for a Saratoga 6-passenger sedan (125½-inch wheelbase, 4010 pounds). In Class "H", it won first honors for a Saratoga model 8-passenger sedan (139½-inch wheelbase, 4510 pounds). And in the top price and size, Class "I", it was again first, in a Chrysler Crown Imperial Sedan (145½-inch wheelbase, 5360 pounds).

To travel these substantial cars at this speed under these conditions gives additional proof, we believe, that here in the FirePower V-8 engine is the finest and most efficient engine ever put into an American passenger car!

JOHN DERAMUS TELLS OF POLITICAL TRADE-OUT BETWEEN BUCK ROBERTS AND BURT MULLINS

Tax Officials Playing Politics In Tax Assessor's Office

Burton Mullins Pulled Political Wires To Get Appointed Chairman Of Tax Equalization Board

April 26, 1952

TO THE TAXPAYERS AND VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

There appeared in the Union-Banner and Chilton County News of April 24, 1952, a letter signed by D. S. Smith addressed to John M. Higgins.

This letter contains a feference to my deceased brother, Irby Deramus of Verbena, who was a member of the Tax Equalization Board at the time of his passing.

Mr. D. S. Smith has invited me to come to his house to get some facts, and he does not believe that there has been any politics in the activities of any member of the Tax Equalization Board.

About two hours after my brother passed away, Mr. Burton S. Mullins called for me at Irby Deramus' home in Verbena and asked me to come out and sit in the car. I thought he had come to express his sympathy, but he talked for approximately 30 minutes about the Tax Equalization Board, until I excused myself and went back into the house.

The following day Mr. Burton S. Mullins went to Montgomery and engineered his own appointment to be Chairman of the Tax Equalization Board in Irby Deramus' place.

A few days later Mr. Mullins saw me in front of the Clanton Post Office and told me that State Senator Tom Phillips stated that if Buck Roberts were elected Probate Judge that he would let Burton Mullins and John Deramus advise him on who to recommend to the Governor to serve Mr. Roberts' unexpired term as Tax Assessor. Mr. Mullins had been supporting John M. Higgins for Probate Judge, but at this point he urged me to switch over and help elect Buck Roberts.

The full meaning of this new maneuver by Mr. Mullins was not clear to me at that time, as I was still upset from the loss of my brother.

However, Mr. Mullins actions in this campaign have now clearly revealed what he is after.

Sincerely yours,

John B. Deramus

"DOC" SMITH'S LETTER NO SECRET TO COURTHOUSE SCHEMERS

Burton S. Mullins, Chairman of Tax Equalization Board, Knew All About "Doc" Smith's Letter A Week Before

April 25th, 1952

Mr. D. S. Smith
Clanton, Alabama

Dear Mr. Smith:

In your letter appearing in the County newspapers last week you have singled me out for an invitation to come to your house to get some facts about some notes and debts allegedly owed by the late Mr. Guy Higgins, Father of John M. Higgins.

It will not be necessary for me to come to your house. I was advised by Mr. Burton S. Mullins, Chairman of the Tax Equalization Board, about these matters a week before your letter was published. Mr. Mullins also advised me in this same conversation that an article would probably be published and that this article would be "dynamite" in this campaign. Mr. Mullins also stated that he had a note in his pocket which represented a just debt of the late Mr. Guy Higgins, and that in his opinion this note should be paid by Mr. John M. Higgins.

Mr. Smith, I will give you the same advice I gave Mr. Mullins. I do not want to become involved in dirty politics, and I believe that the letter which you signed is the lowest blow I have ever seen dealt in any political campaign.

After your letter appeared in print, I have investigated the debts in question. Upon learning the details, I am now a stronger supporter of John M. Higgins than before.

It does not make sense to me that a successful business man, now running for Probate Judge, should be called upon in the newspapers to pay debts of his Father made in 1926 and 1930, at which times John M. Higgins was seven years old and eleven years old.

Yours very truly,

James Q. Wade

MR. MONROE WYATT DOES NOT LIKE BEING MA POLITICAL FOOTBALL BY BUCK ROBERTS & COHO

INNOCENT VICTIM OF MACHINE POLITICIANS

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

About two months ago I approached Mr. John M. Higgins on the street in Clanton and advised him that his father, Mr. Guy Higgins, had owed me a bill in the amount of $301.75, which debt was contracted in 1926.

Mr. John M. Higgins was seven years old at that time, and I am sure he had no knowledge of the transaction. When I mentioned this matter to Mr. Higgins two months ago this was the first time I had ever mentioned it to him or had ever made him acquainted with the fact that his father owed me this old debt dating back to 1926.

John Higgins is under no moral obligation to pay me, but I told him I would appreciate anything he felt like doing on this matter. Mr. Higgins told me that this was the first knowledge he had of this debt, but that he would go into the matter thoroughly with me when he had more time after the election, and I could have time to get my records together to present to him.

We left the matter in that condition and were to get together at a later date.

I am evidently "the man in Clanton who is a cripple and operating a peanut parcher," referred to in a letter signed by D. S. Smith, Clanton, which appeared in the county papers on April 24, 1952.

I wish to state to the voters and taxpayers of this County that I did not authorize either Mr. D. S. Smith or Mr. Buck Roberts to publish this information in the county newspapers, and I do not appreciate the fact that this information was published without my knowledge.

I am satisfied with the manner in which Mr. John M. Higgins has handled this matter.

Respectfully yours,

About 27 years ago the late Mr. Guy Higgins became indebted to me in the sum of $2,000.00. This was a personal transaction between me and the late Mr. Guy Higgins, contracted when John M. Higgins was 5 or 6 years old.

Prior to the date of this letter, I have never mentioned this matter to Mr. John M. Higgins, and so far as I know, Mr. John M. Higgins has not known of this matter until this date.

Mr. John M. Higgins does not owe me anything and is under no moral obligation to pay me anything.

I have known John Higgins all his life and commend him on the fact that he is prompt and responsible in meeting his financial obligations.

John M. Higgins Answers Accusers With FACTS

TO THE VOTERS AND TAXPAYERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

There appeared in both county newspapers last week a letter signed by D. S. Smith, Clanton, Alabama, and published as a paid political advertisement by D. S. Smith.

I think the voters and taxpayers of this county should know that this letter was actually written by Mr. N. L. (Buck) Roberts and delivered by him in person to the office of the local newspapers.

The letter, which is a crude attempt to discredit me personally and politically, contains several falsehoods and misrepresentations.

I take this opportunity to answer these untruthful statements, and I shall discuss each point separately.

POINT 1. THE MINIMUM WAGE BILL

On February 4, 1949, I testified before the House Labor and Education Committee in Congress. I had been nominated by the Southern Pine Industry Committee to represent 15,000 small, portable sawmill operators and their employees, and I was invited by the Government to testify as a qualified witness. I advocated then and still advocate, a flexible minimum wage based on living costs and market conditions. I believe that if the cost of living goes up, and market conditions permit, that the wage should be adjusted upward. I believe that if living costs go down, and the market is depressed, that the wage should be adjusted downward. This is much better than having a fixed wage which forces the small sawmills to shut down and put their workers out of jobs in times of recession.

Mr. D. S. Smith stated that he had a copy of my speech. He certainly does, because I gave him one and asked him to read it over and he would find that I had done nothing detrimental to the interest of the working man. He admitted to me privately that this was true but that it was "good politics" to spread rumors against me about this testimony.

POINT 2. MY FATHER'S BUSINESS DEBTS

In my Keynote Radio Address I made the statement "I am proud of the fact that after 22 months under my management, the business debts were paid, and the home and farm belonging to my parents were redeemed for them and paid for in full." In my Keynote Speech I found it necessary to talk about some very personal things in order to offset some vicious rumors that were being spread about me. The statement about my father's former business was made with that in mind.

My father had lost everything he had in the crash of 1929, but had started back in business with Mr. J. B. Downs in 1933. I worked part time in this business while in school and commenced full-time employment in June 1937. My father was a good businessman, and his business affairs were in good shape at the time he suffered a stroke of paralysis in August 1937. The expenses of his illness and bad market conditions during the next 18 months caused his business to go broke again.

At the time I took over management of the business known as The Forest Lumber & Tie Company it owed the Peoples Savings Bank approximately $27,000 and there was a $5,000 mortgage on my Mother's home and a $1,800 debt against my father's farm. In addition to that, there were several thousand dollars owed to doctors and nurses, to drugstores for medicine and sundry bills to local merchants.

I paid off all of these debts, and in addition, deposited the sum of $4,000 cash in a special account at the Peoples Savings Bank with Mr. Frank Callen as trustee.

This money was paid out by Mr. Callen to help provide for my mother and father while I was away in the Navy during World War II.

My father left unpaid at the time of his illness certain obligations dating back to the time his business went under in 1929. He had paid most of these off prior to his stroke in 1937. When I wound up his affairs in 1941 and 1942, I settled off all of the known just indebtedness of the former business.

Any persons having just claims had ample time to present them, and all just claims presented during the time required by law were given favorable consideration.

POINT 3. DEBT ALLEGEDLY OWED "A CERTAIN WIDOW IN THE CITY OF CLANTON"

This widow turns out to be Mr. Buck Roberts' aunt, Mrs. T. C. McSwain. At the time I was approached on this matter in 1937, Mr. McSwain was deceased, and my father was unconscious after suffering a stroke of paralysis. I was not financially able to pay any debts at that particular time, and I knew that this debt in question had been substantially settled between my father and Mr. McSwain. Mr. Bill Inzer, son-in-law of Mrs. McSwain who was handling her business affairs at that time, attempted to collect the full amount of the note, without taking into consideration any payments on this note. He attempted to bring suit for the full amount of $500.00 at this time.

I sincerely believe that this debt was settled by Mr. McSwain and my father during the time they both lived, and if I had not thought so, I would have paid it.

POINT 4. ALLEGED DEBT "OWED TO A MAN IN CLANTON WHO IS CRIPPLED AND OPERATING PEANUT PARCHER"

Two days after I announced my candidacy for Probate Judge, Mr. G. Monroe Wyatt approached me on the street in Clanton and asked me if I would now pay a debt my father owed him in the amount of $300.00 Mr. Wyatt stated that this amount was owed him since 1926. I was only seven years old that year, and naturally do not remember this transaction, and my father never told me of it during his lifetime. I asked Mr. Wyatt why he had not presented his claim at the proper time, and why he had waited until this particular time to ask me for this debt which is 26 years old. I further advised him that I was busy in this election campaign, but that after the election was over, I would go over the matter with him and would ask that the present his invoices and ledger accounts for consideration.

Mr. Wyatt is embarassed that this matter has been brought into the newspapers at this time.

POINT 5. THE STATEMENT "IS IT NOT A KNOWN FACT THAT YOU CHANGED THE NAME OF THE BUSINESS TO AVOID THE PAYMENT OF THESE DEBTS?"

This implication is an outright lie. I have never changed the name of any business that I operate or have operated, and I defy any person to show where I have ever failed to pay a just debt.

POINT 6. THE TAX EQUALIZATION BOARD

It is implied that I have made accusations against the late Mr. Irby Deramus of Verbena and Mr. Arthur Lecroy of Isabella, members of the Tax Equalization Board, of raising and lowering taxes for the political benefit of one of my opponents.

This is a misstatement of fact. Irby Deramus was one of the most honorable men I have ever known, and Mr. Arthur Lecroy is likewise honorable and fair.

Mr. Burton S. Mullins, present Chairman of the Tax Equalization Board, has been very active in this political campaign for the political benefit of Mr. N. L. (Buck) Roberts.

Mr. Burton S. Mullins had foreknowledge that the D. S. Smith letter would be published, and he had foreknowledge as to the contents of same.

It is my opinion that the Chairman of the Tax Equalization Board should be a fair-minded, straightforward, sound-thinking, successful businessman. He should be capable of dealing fairly as to tax matters with all citizens, regardless of their political beliefs.

CONCLUSION

In conducting my campaign, I have been primarily concerned with advocating a platform for sound economy and a progressive outlook for our County Government.

I have been running on my record in business, civic, and educational affairs.

If elected, I am determined to make you the best Probate Judge you have ever had. I am determined to do all I can to make a good record in office, and I am determined to leave the office with permanent improvements in all communities in this County, as a lasting monument to progress.

Sincerely Yours,

JOHN M. HIGGINS

Mrs. T. C. McSwain
Clanton, Alabama

Dear Miss Sidney:

It has come to my attention that your nephew, Mr. Buck Roberts, Tax Assessor of Chilton County and candidate for Probate Judge, has in his possession a promissory note dated in 1929 or 1930. In order to promote his campaign, Mr. Buck Roberts has been showing this note to citizens in Clanton and Maplesville.

Mr. Burton S. Mullins, Chairman of the Tax Equalization Board and a supporter of your nephew has also had this note in his possession.

This note represents an obligation which my late Father, Mr. Guy Higgins, owed your late Husband, Mr. Thad McSwain, and this obligation was incurred when I was 10 or 11 years old.

My Father and Mr. McSwain had numerous business transactions after 1930, and it has been my understanding that adjustments were made from time to time on this account. I recall that at one time Mr. McSwain got a bill of lumber of about $150.00 which was applied on this account. I remember that the invoice for this lumber was kept in our business ledger for a number of years after Mr. McSwain's death.

Judge Victor J. Heard was then keeping the books, and I was acting as his assistant. Judge Heard may also remember something about this transaction.

I recall that shortly after Mr. McSwain's passing, your son-in-law, Mr. Bill Inzer, called on my Father and demanded payment of this note at its full face amount. My Father attempted to explain to Mr. Inzer the details of this account, but Mr. Inzer refused to believe my Father, and negotiations between them were broken off.

The full details of this matter were known only to Mr. McSwain and my Father and neither are here to straighten this matter out.

My Father was a good man and Mr. McSwain was a good man, and they were the best of friends. My Father always had the greatest respect for you. Buck Roberts and Burt Mullins must have gotten this note from you, and I am deeply hurt that you would contribute to casting this unfair reflection upon my Father, who was your friend, when he is not here to speak in his defense.

Sincerely yours,

John M. Higgins

EX-VETERANS OFFICER WRITES IN BEHALF OF DAVE TINGLE

No doubt you know that Dave Tingle is a candidate for Probate Judge of Chilton County. I had the privilege of working with him for four years. I have found him as you have, if you have had any dealings with him, to be honest, competent, efficient and not a "fence sitter." If you want to know how he feels about an issue just ask him and you will get forth right, constructive answer. Dave has an outstanding family background, being the son of a minister, now District Superintendent of Tuscaloosa District.

During World War II Dave was wounded eight times and was forced to bail out over Germany, and was a prisoner of war for 12 months. I have worked with many disabled veterans in Chilton County and I have never head Dave complain about his disability. Dave naturally has the interest of all veterans and service men in the armed forces at heart.

I know he is well qualified from an educational standpoint to serve your county. He knows Chilton County from one side to the other. Chilton County is mainly an agricultural county, and as a trained agriculturist Dave can become a leader in building a more prosperous farm economy if elected Probate Judge.

I have visited in his home many times and know he is a devoted family man. He is married and has two lovely daughters and owns his home in Glendale Drive, Clanton. If you want honest, forthright, confident leadership in your Probate Judge, elect M. D. "Dave" Tingle your next Probate Judge.

Signed,
ARCHIE C. ALLEN.

WE NEED A

SOUTHERNER

IN THE WHITE HOUSE

The South is America's Land of Opportunity as a result of the great Democratic reforms of the past 20 years. As your Delegate to the Democratic National Convention, I will work for a fair and just Party Platform that will continue those benefits. I will vigorously oppose any plank in the Platform which will be discriminatory to the South or against our way of life.

I favor the nomination of a Southerner for President of the United States — a man like Senator Dick Russell of Georgia, for instance, who is regarded in both the North and the South as one of the great statesmen of our time. Regardless of who he may be, we must be sure of obtaining a Democratic presidential nominee who will carry through a favorable Party Platform.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

It has just been brought to my attention that a statement is being circulated in this county saying that I promised in my campaign for election six years ago, that if I were elected, I would not offer for office any more, and I desire to say here and now that I never made any such unqualified statement. I remember that I did say if my health at the end of my term did not give promise of my being able to discharge the duties of this office for another term, that I would not run; and that whether or not I would seek the office again would depend entirely upon the condition of my health at the end of my term. Further than that, I have never promised to not run for another term, and if my health were not such as to cause me to believe that I would be able to capably discharge the duties of the office for another term, I would not now be running or seeking it.

May I say again, that my only desire is to be of useful service to the people with whom I have lived and worked all of my life, and knowing of no better way in which I can be of as great service as in the office I now hold, I am asking for your votes and influence on this basis, and assuring you, that if elected, prompt, courteous, efficient and honest service will be given to everyone alike as opportunity affords.

Respectfully submitted,
J. C. PATTILLO.

Their hearts were young and gay as they enjoyed the food, fun and fellowship. After dinner the club was called to order by the president, Miss Lenore Oglesby. This is a service club and many items of business of a civic nature were discussed. It was voted to again support the Community Concert and the club purchased a ticket for some worthy young person. Miss Nanette Nivens presented a call from the Home Makers Sunday School Class and a committee was appointed to assist this group with their annual party for older women and shut-ins of Clanton. Miss Maxine Westerman will serve as chairman of this committee.

The club sponsor, Miss Blalock, expressed her appreciation for the beautiful orchid presented her by the club on Easter Sunday. The girls assured her this was but a small token of their respect and adoration of her helpful counseling and leadership.

Plans were made to entertain the Senior class and other friends with a party after graduation exercise, on May 19, at the City Hall. The P.-T.A. president, Mrs. Parr, members of the faculty, and a number of parents have congratulated these young women on this worthy project and have pledged their loyal support. This party promises to be a highlight of the graduating season.

Further club business was disposed of and the meeting adjourned. The next meeting will be with Miss Rebecca Popwell.

This Is

WALLACE COX

I am a candidate for the Board of Revenue and Control for the Fourth District.

I have tried to make a clean, high type campaign and I would also like to make the same type official. I believe that if you can't make a clean campaign you won't do any better if elected.

My opponents have done likewise and I have the utmost respect for them. It is unfortunate for them, however, they did not choose the type of work for a living that would have qualified them for the job they are asking for as I have.

All my life I have heard officials being criticised for not doing a better job or not doing anything at all, and had you been in their place, you probably wouldn't have done any better, because of lack of experience.

There are many things that I can't do, but I'm not asking to do them. The office that I am asking you to honor me with is one that I feel that I can do better than the others that are asking you for it. If you want to try a man that is willing to assume the responsibility of the duties that come under the Board of Revenue and Control, I will assure you that you will make no mistake by voting for me on May 6.

I have owned my own tractor, bulldozer, and patrol for the last ten years. I have three tractors and a patrol in the county now clearing land for pastures, building fish ponds, and grading for building sites.

I regret very much not seeing each one of you in person to ask for your vote and influence. I have made a strenuous effort, but realize that there are some that I have not been able to see. I hope that you will not hold this against me and will go to the polls and vote for me on May 6th.

I would like to stress the point that the office that I am asking for represents every beat in the county and my personal interest will extend into every area.

I am earnestly soliciting your vote and influence from every section of the county and I have confidence that if you will weigh each candidate seeking this office on ability as well as character, you will cast your vote for me on May 6th.

I hvae only the deepest regard for Mr. Reeves and congratulate him on a clean race. I will, when duly elected, be a servant of all the people and do my best to give them a good administration of the County Treasurer's Office.

WALLACE COX THANKS VOTERS

When I see a crowd of less than 882 people now I am going to assume they all voted for me on May 6th, and I am asking you all to continue your fine support of my campaign through June 3rd. DAVE TINGLE IN RUN-OFF FOR PROBATE JUDGE

In my run-off election for the office of Probate Judge, I am counting on the good people of Chilton County who supported me in the election on last Tuesday. I want to thank you for your vote. Too, I am asking all you who didn't support me to give me consideration on June 3rd. I will promise you a clean, honest administration. In the meantime, if it is at all possible I will do my best to see you personally.

Thanks again,
DAVE TINGLE.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

May I take this method to express my sincere thanks for, and appreciation of, the support given me in the recent Primary Election. It is, indeed, gratifying to have the endorsement of my service in the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court by so many of the voters of the County. To those of you who voted for one or the other of my opponents, I have the kindliest of feeling; and I believe that your main reason for doing so was, that you thought I had held the office long enough or that I am now too old to render the best of service, and not because you thought I had not performed the duties of the office satisfactorily.

My hat is off to both of my opponents for the clean and honorable manner they conducted the campaign, and if I felt that I could be of as great service to the people in some other field I would graciously surrender the office to either of them, because I consider them worthy and competent in every sense of the word.

Again thanking each and every one and expressing the hope that we may all forget any past disappointments or reverses that we may have had and all pull together for a harmonious progress for our County, State and Nation.

Sincerely yours,
J. C PATTILLO.

IN RUN-OFF

Thanks for your support in Tuesday's election. Now, as one in the run-off, I will deeply appreciate your support on June 3rd.

J. M. (Jim) DUNLAP.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

To those of you who voted for me and supported me, I wish to express my sincere appreciation. To those of you who supported the other boys in this May 6th Primary, I have nothing but the warmest friendship. Things happen this way in politics, and I think that every man should be perfectly willing to abide by the results.

I wish to congratulate Mr. Higgins and Mr. Tingle for the fine showing that they made and I wish to reassure that my vote and support will go to which ever of you are nominated in June.

It has always been my opinion that the welfare of Chilton County could be better served with Democrats in our county offiices, and my best efforts will be behind the Democratic ticket in November.

Thanks for all past consideration and if ever I can serve you, call by the Tax Assessor's Office.

Sincerely,
N. L. (Buck) ROBERTS.

John M. Higgins Leads In Probate Race; Selden Leads deGraffenried Over District

Fast Finish Brings Out Good Vote Despite Perfect Weather For Farm Work

The hottest contested election in years came to an end Tuesday night when the Democrats of Chilton County named the candidates for the run-off or second primary, June 3rd.

Dave Tingle, who started from scratch, worked his way to second place in the voting, being topped only by John M. Higgins, Thorsby lumberman, who led the field with 1195 votes. Tingle second was 759.

Buck Roberts, who was generally conceded a place in the run-off, run third with 571 votes. Fourth place went to J. Lee Smith, ex-Probate Judge, with 356 votes, and fifth was Fred Smith, Jemison merchant, with 346 votes.

Two hundred ten boxes out of 219 boxes in the Sixth Congressional District gave Armistead Selden 12,633 votes to deGraffenried's 12,168. A later report shows that this race will be determined by the official count.

Leading vote-getter in the campaign was Earl C. Parrish who ran up more than 1700 votes in his race against B. E. Reeves for the office of County Treasurer.

In the race for Circuit Clerk the run-off will be between the encumbent J. C. Pattillo and Horsley White. White led the ticket in that race.

Wallace Cox led the ticket in the race for Membership on the Board of Revenue and Control with James M. Dunlap running a close second.

In District Three the run-off will be between Joe W. Graham and Sherman Motley. Graham led Motley by only 23 votes in this race.

HOYT ELLIS BURGESS, 4-H Club member of Clanton, Route 1, is shown holding his pure bred Jersey cow and her heifer calf. Hoyt is selling milk on the route as a Junior dairyman, and expects his cow to produce $250.00 worth of milk this year in addition to raising a fine Jersey heifer.

Hoyt Ellis Burgess, a 4-H Club member of Collins Chapel, has done an outstanding job with his 4-H Club work. Hoyt Ellis' 4-H work is not limited to a single project but includes an entire form program.

It would be hard to say which of Hoyt's projects was the best as he has done so well with all of them. Among the projects Hoyt has carried, dairying has been particularly outstanding. When his pure bred Jersey calved he decided to start an active junior dairy project. Since then he has sold milk on the route so that he could add an extra source of income from his 4-H work. When Hoyt was asked the question as to how much milk his cow would produce this year he stated, 'According to what she has produced already, it should amount to two hundred and fifty dollars or better. In addition to the milk he will sell, also has a pure bred heifer that he will keep for a milker.

Last year Hoyt Ellis planted a little less than three acres of cotton. When picking time came, he picked and sold four bales of cotton from his patch

Last but not least, is his corn project. Last year Hoyt Ellis made nine hundred bushels of corn in spite of the dry weather. Hoyt planted one of the recommended hybrids and did a good job of fertilizing. It might be added that the only help Hoyt had in producing his corn was in applying nitrate as a side dressing.

When Hoyt was asked what he wanted to do when he finished school, he said, "I want to keep right on farming." This is an unusual answer for boys of his age, since most of them plan to leave the farm. It would hardly do to say that Hoyt will make a good farmer because he is a good farmer already.

POLLS AND THE 1952 ELECTIONS

Supporters of General Dwight D. Eisenhower and Senator Robert A. Taft are now busy arguing the merits of various public opinion polls. As the reader knows the great majority of polls in 1948 predicted the election of Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, to the presidency.

The effect of the election of President Harry Truman in 1948 on the major polls was severe, although not as disastrous as in the case of The Literary Digest. It is probably accurate to say, however, that the confidence of millions of Americans in these polls was rudely shaken by the 1948 upset.

Now, again, the polls show overwhelmingly that one candidate is favored by a majority of the voters. In fact, the polls this year are even more one-sided than they were in 1948. Reduced to the Republican candidates, the polls show that Eisenhower is generally preferred over Senator Taft.

While no editor can say exactly how accurate the public opinion polls are in 1952, it is fair to say that they are not altogether useless as a measuring stick of public opinion. The great popularity evidenced by General Eisenhower could not be entirely a fluke-finding. On the other hand, Eisenhower's popularity today may not mean that he could win an election in November, since Governor Dewey also led in the popularity polls in the pre-election period of 1948.

ON PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARIES

The business of presidential primaries is confusing to many Americans. In the first place, only sixteen of the forty-eight states stage primaries to choose delegates in party convevntions in the states. In a number of these states, the delegates are chosen by the party machine in power in that state.

It is accurate to say that almost half of the delegates to a national party convention, which total number approximates 1200, are selections of politicians in power in the states from which they come. Thus the nomination of a candidate, in either the Republican or Democratic convention, is left to the politicians as much as it is to the voters.

Of the sixteen states in which primaries are held, New Hamshire's primary, which is on March 11th, is first. Next comes Minnesota, then Nebraska, Wisconsin, Illinois, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and so on. It is in these sixteen states, where primaries are held, that the presidential candidates have an opportunity to put their personalities on the voting market to get an indication of their potential appeal in November. They also provide voters in states where no primaries are held an idea of the popularity of the various candidates.

The entire presidential election, in fact, becomes rather confusing when one goes into it. From the first to the last the voter does not have a chance to vote on a presidential candidate. In the first instance, at best, he votes for delegates to the convention. In the final analysis, he votes for a slate of electors who are not pledged to support any particular candidate. It is one of the curious ways of a democracy — a way which is always subject to change by constitutional methods.

CANCER RECAPITULATION

Cancer control month has just passed; so a recapitulation will be helpful.

Unfortunately, the cause of cancer is not known. It is likely that there are several causes. But, as research continues in various forms and as more knwoledge is accumulated, it is to be hoped that the cause of cancer will ultimately be determined.

It is known that cancer is a curable disease, provided it is recognized sufficiently early. There are some cancers that do not fall into this classification, but they are rare exceptions. Why is this? Principally because people ignore the warning signals that indicate a possibility of cancer, thus permitting the condition to spread throughout the body.

There are seven clues or danger signals to the presence of cancer: any sore that does not heal, a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere, unusual bleeding or discharge, any change in a wart or mole, persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing, persistent hoarseness or cough, and any change in normal bowel habits.

Cancer attacks quietly. Outside the tell-tale danger signals, no pain is felt. A normal cell in the body through some unknown actions, becomes a cancer cell. The cancer cell splits and becomes two cancer cells — and so on until the disease, if permitted to go undetected and uncurbed, spreads into different sections of the body. It is only when cell after cell has been affected, resulting in metastases or spreading and destruction of tissue, that pain is a complaint.

Cancer does not favor sex. Exclusive of cancer of the breast, which takes the lives of some 15,000 women annually, more men die of cancer than women. Children are not immune because one and a half per cent of all cancer deaths are in the age group from birth to 14 years.

Interest in your own self-preservation should lead you to your physician for a careful physical examination. Let your physician check every possibility for the presence of the disease. Let him look for cancer.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

Little boys are notoriously hard on clothes, but our three-year-old is even more destructive than most members of his sex. One day last week when he came in for lunch, there was a big snag in the seat of his blue denim shorts. It was the third pair of pants he had torn in as many days, and, although I really didn't expect to receive an answer, I couldn't help asking.

"How in the world did you tear your pants this time?"

He gazed up at me solemnly and replied, "Well, A Big Old Thing just snatched a hole in my pants!"

Now if I can only track down that Big Old Thing, my mending troubles will be over.

The neighbor around the cerner has some advice for old grads who are tempted to return to college campuses for class reunions: Don't do it! She made the mistake of going back.

"The first shock," she recalls sadly, "came when I realized that the greying, fat women bustling about in the reception hall weren't retired faculty members but my former classmates.

"And then I caught a glimpse of a group of students. Children! That's what they are, just children. The contrast was so great I almost called the nearest old ladies' home to make a reservation!"

When the five-year-old meets a new child these days, her first quest is, "Do you have a television set?"

The neighbor who knows about such things says the best way to remove coffee or tea stains from teacups is to dip a damp cloth in table salt and rub the dark spots away.

Armed with this bit of information, I plan to put the three-year-old and the five-year-old to work cleaning the teacups the next time rain keeps them indoors. Of course I'll have to use psychology—the salt will have to be rechristened Special Magis Powder, and I'll have to invent a string of "conjur words" to use while making the stains disappear at the touch of the enchanted damp cloth. At least it's worth trying!

Our thrifty neighbor says worn cork place mats should never be thrown away. She uses them under her cloth or plastic mats to keep hot dishes from making rings on her table top.

This same neighbor (her grandfather came from Scotland) uses old bath towels as fillers for pot holders.

The shoppers at the neighborhood grocery store were swapping recipes the other morning, and the one which caught my ear was for old-fashioned wilted lettuce salad. Fresh garden lettuce, the leafy kind, is best for use in this salad although head lettuce is good too.

You'll need two heads of lettuce or two bunches of leaf lettuce to make six to eight servings. First shred the lettuce into a large salad bowl.

Then fry five slices of bacon until crisp. Remove bacon from frying pan and crumble into small pieces. To the bacon grease left in the pan add one teaspoon sugar, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup vinegar and 1-8 teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil and pour over lettuce. Mix lightly, adding bacon bits. Sprinkle chopped, hard cooked geg over the top.

WATER THAT "RUNS AWAY" CARRIES SOILS WITH IT

Water that "runs" down hill usually runs away with soil and plant nutrients.

"And," says API Extension Soil Conservationist S. R. Doughty, "it doesn't take a 'gully-washer' to rob land of fertilizer and topsoil. Bare land, row crops not on the contour, overgrazed pastures, and burned woodland invite rainfall to escape and carry soil with it."

Doughty points out that sod crops act like blotters. In other words, they absorb and hold water needed to produce good crops. Well-terraced lands farmed on the contour and supported by good crop rotations, which include the maximum of thick-growing legumes and grasses, help the land absorb and store water.

BEST SOURCES OF ROUGHAGE

Summer and winter pastures are the cheapest and best sources of roughage. The next best source is high quality hay, grass or legume, and the third best source is silage.

HOMECOMING AT VERBENA METHODIST CHURCH

The W.S.C.S. of the Verbena Methodist Church is sponsoring a Homecoming Day on May 11, 1952, to be held at the church.

All former members of the church and all former pastors are especially asked to return for a visit to this historic village church on that day. All other people are cordially invited.

The collection at the morning service will go to the regular Parsonage Fund. All donations will be most appreciated.

A basket dinner will be served at noon by the ladies of the church.

The Verbena Methodist Church was erected in 1877. Plans for this building were made as early as 1875. Construction continued for a period of two or three years. In 1878 G. Waverly Briggs was appointed as first pastor to this new building. One month later, he was transferred to Texas. John D. Simpson followed to serve the charge for eleven months.

The Methodist Church of Verbena originated as a plantation chapel and was called Cooper Chapel. It was located a short distance to the east of the village. Later, when Verbena became a resort town, this chapel was used by the general public. After permanent residents came, it was necessary to expand the facilities of the church.

Around 1885 a porch was added to the present building, completing the Old Southern architecture that makes this building so attractive. It has a tall steeple that can be seen for miles throughout the countryside. The interior is beautiful with a high beamed ceiling and panelled doors and windows. Frosted glass window panes give a soft light to the auditorium.

The bell for the Verbena Church was donated by two of the Charter Members. They were Mrs. Martha Baldwin and Mrs. G. W. Paine, both of Verbena. Throughout two World Wars, this bell has rung out at Angelus calling upon all within its sound to pause and pray for World Peace. This idea was sponsored by Mr. S. L. Gibson, Sr., a present member of the church.

DATE SET FOR ANNUAL JERSEY HEIFER SALE

Auburn, Ala. — The annual heifer sale sponsored by the Alabama Jersey Cattle Club will be held at the State Agricultural Coliseum in Montgomery May 17.

Harry S. Gilmore, Jr., sales manager, says that 23 leading Alabama breeders will offer 65 heifers for sale. They include 14 junior calves, 24 senior calves, 15 junior yearlings, nine senior yearlings, and three two-year-olds.

"This sale will offer an excellent opportunity for 4-H Club boys and girls, FFA members, and breeders to buy quality cattle," states J. R. Parrish, API Extension dairyman.

USE OF LIQUIDS IN TIRES ON TRACTORS

Although better traction is obtained when tractor tires are weighted with liquid, it is important to know when and how much liquid to use.

Some tire companies recommend that tires be weighted not more than 75 per cent and that water or a calcium chloride anti-freeze solution be used for this purpose.

"If the liquid exceeds this percentage," says J. T. Gaillard, API Extension specialist in farm mechanization, "tires lose more of their bruise resistance and fail quicker."

He adds that properly weighted tractor tires give better traction, less slippage and power loss, more drawbar pull, slower tread wear, and longer tire life. They also eliminate costly wheel weights.

TRUCK CROP FERTILIZER TIP

Many successful truck crop growers have found it advisable to split their fertilizer into two or more applications on such crops as tomatoes, beans, okra, peppers, and squash.

Recently Wed In New Jersey

Ina Saxon Beard, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Randolph Beard of Taff Drive, Millington, New Jersey, became the bride, Saturday, April 26th, of Gordon Philo Kane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson Kane of Forrest Hills, New York. The double-ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 p.m. in All Saints Epispocal Church at Millington by the Rev. George E. Rath, Rector. A reception followed in the bride's home.

Dr. Beard gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle with fitted bodice, stand up collar and long sleeves. Her bouffaret skirt ending in a chapel train, was accented by a tapering lace peplum. Her imported illusion veil fell from a cap edged in lillies of the valley and she carried her great-grandmother's white satin prayer book with stephontis. Miss Mary Lou Hayden of Xemier, Ohio, was the bride's only attendant. She was gowned in gold net over gold taffeta and carried talisman roses.

David Flemming, Hempstead, Long Island, New York, was best man. Ushers included Charles W. Beard, the brides' uncle of Hartford, Conn., Frank Ransome, Donald Kramer, and Jean Flynn, all of New York. Wedding music by Mrs. John Nelson, church organist. Herman Parsons, New York, was soloist.

The bride was graduated from Bennards High School, Bernardsville, N. J., and Adelphi College, Garden City, New York. She is an art teacher in Leviltown, Long Island. Mr. Kane also graduated from Adelphi College and is attending Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute for his Masters Degree. He is a Chemis associated with Warms-Hudnut Institute of Therapeutic Research. The couple will reside in Rockville Center, Long Island.

The bride was guest of honor at pre-nuptial parties given by Mrs. Charles L. Schlier and Mrs. Donald N. Heuworthy of Millington.

Mrs. Kane is the granddaughter of Mrs. N. S. Johnson of Clanton, Alabama.

Fin-Fan Items

High chilling winds did much to dampen the spirits of many anglers last week, but others fished and creeled outstanding catches. The Coosa and Tallapoosa Lakes are clearing beautifully and offer prime water conditions for all types of fishing. Lake Martin is now at peak condition, while all Lakes are giving up an unprecedented number of sport fish.

More and more out of county and out of state automobile tags are seen at the various fishing camps, giving mute evidence that the good word of large catches is spreading far and wide. Birmingham people are trying Lake Jordan, which is about 85 miles from home, and more Montgomery sportsmen are moving on over to Lake Martin for the first try. Georgia, Tennessee, Missouri, New York and California tags, show that many out of staters are stopping by long enough to wet a hook and get a look at Central Alabama's scenic play ground. If you are a fisherman or nature lover, you owe yourself and family a visit to these out of door treasure spots.

Next week, the judges of the Alabama Power Company Fishing Contest will announce the April prize winning catch. All weigh-in stations are asked to please mail all April entries in at once so they can be considered for the prize. A new month is now under way and an average fish may win the monthly prize, so welcome all comers.

The following outstanding catches entered last week are as listed below:

Lake Yates—

E. B. Ballard's Store, near Tallassee, reports: Elridge Hornsby, East Tallassee, used a Lazy Ike to hook his largest catch of the day, which was a 7-pound 14-ounce Smallmouth Bass. We sure would like to have a snap shot of this one for "Field and Stream" magazine. They doubt our Smallmouth Bass.

Lake Martin—

B. J. Phillips Paint Company, Sylacauga, reports: R. L. "Dick" Webster, Jr., 309 South Church St., Sylacauga, one of Sylacauga's expert anglers, made himself a brown popping bug and with the aid of a 5½ ounce fly rod, "D" line, and 8 ounce leader snagged into a 8 pound 8 ounce Largemouth Bass. Only a highly skilled fisherman could have out maneuvered and landed such a monster on such light tackle. Dick's modest commit was "simple catch." How about that! Can't you just feel the sweat on your brow, the hollow feeling in your stomach, and the long questionable struggle between the time the strike was made and boated. Elkahatchee Creek was the scene of action—so go get yours.

Lake Hill Inn, near the Tallapoosa River Bridge between Alexander City and Dadeville, reports: R. D. McCallough, Dadville, also fished Elkahatchee Creek and also caught a monster. Using a Cisco Kid, "Mc" tied into a fighting 7 pound Smallmouth Bass, and needless to say, business picked up for the next few minutes. W. E. "Buck" Motes, 213 South Elm Street, Sylacauga, fished Piney-woods Creek with a fly rod and Popping Bug to mix up with, a 2 pound 13 ounce Stripe Bass. Buck got some what of a surprise when this lunker took his too water bait.

Lake Lay—

Tommie Wills Fishing Camp, Little Tom Creek, reports: Elsie Wills, Woogufka, used live minnows in Little Tom Creek to pick up a nice string of Crappie. Her largest for the day was 1 pound 12 ounces.

Ed Hardiman, Manager, Riverview Fishing Camp, near Lay Dam, reports: Billy C. Martin, 611 Avenue F, Lipscomb, had a good day fishing for Crappie, his largest was 1 pound 12 ounces. Mrs. Gladys Hardiman, Route 5, Clanton, fishes around Riverview Camp just about every day and catches nice strings of Crappie. Her largest catch last week tilted the scales to 2 pounds 4 ounces. Elmer Woods, 7208 North 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, went out during the high winds and fished with a Cisco Kid. His reward was a 4 pound 15 ounce Smallmouth Bass.

Lake Mitchell—

Little Joe's Fishing Camp, Fixico Creek, reports: Shorty Dukes, Sylacauga, caught 11 Crappie that averaged 1 pound and 12 ounces. The largest was 2 pounds 5 ounces. Live minnows and Fixico Creek was the combination used in making the catch. Jimmie Farris, Birmingham, turned in a 1 pound 13 ounce Crappie as the prize winner from his string. Frank Simpkins, Pell City, registered a 1 pound 14 ounce Crappie on his string from Fixico Creek. J. M. Wideman, 25 Lakeview, Tuscaloosa, racked up a 1 pound 10 ounce Crappie to earn his Whopper Catcher Certificate. Bob Ammons, Childersburg, had a nice day on Fixico with live minnows. His largest catch was a 1 pound 12 ounce Crappie.

E. R. Young's Store, Lay Dam Road, reports: Miss Virginia Bennett, Route 1, Clanton, fished the upper reaches of Mitchell Lake with a Coosa Nugget and hauled out a 2 pound 5 ounce Stripe Bass. Miss Bennett is known throughout Central Alabama for her exceptional skill in bait casting and ability to catch fish.

Lake Jordan—

Log Cabin Beach, near the Ferry below Mitchell Dam, reports: C. E. Drake, 1524 Wharton Avenue, Birmingham, used a Buck's Fluffy Tail in the upper reaches of Jordan Lake to string up a nice catch of Stripes. His largest catch weighedin at 2 pounds 14 ounces.

Mrs. Mathews, Manager, Blackwell's Fishing Lodge, Shoals Creek, reports: R. L. Little, 1233-188th Place, Southwest, Birmingham, fished Shoals Creek for his whoppers. The best Crappie was 1 pound 12 ounces, caught with a Bomber.

Varner's Store, Slapout, reports: J. D. Jackson, Wetumpka, had good luck fishing about the mouth of Sofkahatchee Creek with a Midget River Runt. Doc's largest White Perch was 1 pound 15 ounces. C. R. Ellis, Montgomery, earned his Whopper Catcher Certificate by hooking a 4 pound 7 ounce Smallmouth Bass from Shoals Creek.

Competition for the April prize of a $10.00 merchandise certificate, for the largest fish in proportion to the Whopper Catcher weights, was very keen last month. Join the fun and enter your catch. Friendly weigh-in officers will be glad to measure your catch.

CHIEF ALAPOCO SAYS: Don't get the notion that big Bass always bite big plugs—often they prefer the very small ones. Remember, the smaller the lure, the more certain it is of hooking the bass that strike. Even the biggest Bass seldom ever takes a lure completely in his mouth.

IMPROVED CORN YIELDS IS GOAL OF PRODUCERS

The 1952 more-corn-per-acre campaign is on in many Alabama counties.

The object of this campaign is to increase the average yield to 30 bushels or more per acre. "But many county agents are hoping their growers can do even better than this," says J. C. Lowery, API Extension agronomist.

Discussing the value of higher corn yields, Lowery said to farmers: "Let's say you plant 20 acres in corn on the average and make 15 bushels per acre—or 300 bushels in all. If you can make 30 bushels you will have 600 bushels of corn; if you make 50 bushels per acre, you will have 1,000 bushels of corn. Just a little figuring will show that at present prices you would have above $1,500 worth of corn. Furthermore, this is enough corn to grow about 100 top hogs."

STARTER SOLUTION FOR TOMATO PLANTS

The use of a starter solution when setting tomato plants has been shown to give good results in producing strong, stocky plants and increasing the yield of tomatoes. To prepare the solution for a commercial planting, dissolve three pounds of nitrate of soda or one and one-half pounds of ammonium nitrate in 50 gallons of water. Use one cup of this solution around each plant when set.

WITH EGG PRICE RISING, GIVE POULTRY BEST CARE

Auburn, Ala. — Egg prices are now moving up and soon will be at a very profitable level.

"Therefore," said API Extension poultryman, John Weeks, "it is important to get the greatest production possible out of the hens we now have in the laying house and to keep them in a high rate of lay.

"Cull and market all hens that go out of production. Watch for those yellow beaks and shanks, indicating a non-layer.

"Be sure that lights are off the laying flock now," continued Weeks. "These lights will be needed on the flock again in June or July. Make plans now for moving the old hens to temporary laying shelters when the pullet flock is ready for the laying house."

If you like glamorous, long fingernails and hate wearing a thimble when sewing, protect your nails by putting a little wax in the top of the thimble.

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR GOOD MILK MARKET

Auburn, Ala. — Dairy products are among the few items that are bringing more money this spring than a year ago.

"And," says API Extension Marketing Specialist A. W. Jones, "prospects indicate that dairymen may enjoy a good market for some time to come. Demands for dairy products continues strong to keep prices up."

Dairy prices have been slightly abve parity for the past five months, after running below the parity level much of the time since World War II. Jones says this may due in part to the fact that there are two per cent fewer dairy cattle on farms now than three yeras ago. And the number of cows and heifers is about 10 per cent below the 10-year average. He adds that we have fewer milkers than at any time since 1930.

All this makes business look promising for the dairyman.

WHITE-STRIPED CORN LEAVES

If corn was white in the bud when it came up last year and later showed white stripes in the leaves, soil may be deficient in zinc.

CUTTING THIN TUBING

One of the best ways to cut thin tubing is to insert a wooden dowel in the tubing and permit the saw to cut through the tube and wood.

The use of a wooden dowel allow tightening of the stock in a vis without danger of crushing the wall of the tube.

It Sure Took The Smile Off "Smiling Sam"

"Smiling Sam" who sells used cars is always dreaming up new ways to make more sales. But his last idea backfired louder than the oldest car he's ever sold.

Seems Sam offered a $10 discount from the price of any car in the lot for every child belonging to a prospective buyer.

Well, Red Fleming came in and walked right up to a car marked $100. He looked it over, paraded his seven kids before Sam's startled eyes, and then drove away in his new used car — for exactly thirty dollars!

From where I sit, Sam got his money back in publicity. But it kind of shows that "bright ideas" alone aren't enough to run a sound business on. The beer retailers know this well. They voluntarily co-operate with the Brewing Industry to run their places according to sound, proven, good-business practices—keeping their places clean, bright and orderly. It gets them the kind of public good will that keeps everyone happy.

Chiropractic

The Modern Approach To Health by

Dr. Marshal L. Ware

ANEMIA

BLOOD is composed of a thin straw-colored fluid containing many tiny cells of different kinds. Red blood cells give the blood its red color. Anemia is present when the amount of blood in the body is decreased, as in cases of hemorrhages, or when the red blood cells are not present in normal quantities, or when they do not contain enough of the substance which gives them their red color. This substance is known as hemoglobin. Anemic patients are pale because of a lack of blood, or of red blood cells, or of the hemoglobin in the red cells. Disturbances in the digestive system result in this abnormal quality of the blood. Such cases are known as primary anemia. Secondary anemia is present when the composition of the blood has been made abnormal by some disease condition of the body wherein there is sufficient accumulation of toxic substances to seriously interfere with the constituents of the blood. Such a condition is found in malignant growths, abscesses, etc.

The time required for a cure in all cases depends upon the nature of the cause. In primary anemia it is necessary to correct the condition in the digestive tract, while in secondary anemia the disease process in the body must be cured before the blood can be purified.

The cause of improper digestion of the disease condition lies in the spinal column where a misaligned vertebra is impinging nerves which carry vital force to the organs of the body. Thus in the one case, the function of digestion is not carried on efficiently, and in the other the expression of the vital force is manifested in an abscess, or other disease condition. Recovery depends on a removal of the cause of disease, in the spine. It is the Chiropractor's business to correct abnormalities here. He should be consulted as soon as an anemic condition is noticed.

Better Farm Living--- A Reality In Alabama

By MRS. LILLIE M. ALEXANDER
State Home Demonstration Agent

HOME demonstration club women throughout the nation celebrated National Home Demonstration Week April 27-May 3. And for the 63,000 Alabama club women there were many reasons for celebrating. Each of the 2,000 clubs has accepted the responsibility of making better farm living a reality in Alabama—and they are getting the job done.

Through their 18,000 volunteer local leaders, the foods and nutrition, food preservation, food consumption, clothing, handicraft, home management, house furnishings, and child development and family life programs have been carried to all club families.

Through the home demonstration clubs, family and community life have been strengthened to meet the changing economic and social conditions. Members have studied citizenship, as it affects them in their community, state, nation, and the world. Interest in community life is shown by their efforts for more attractive mailboxes and signs that dot the highways, and rural roads are due in large measure to the work of home demonstration clubs.

The concern that home demonstration women show for the young people in their community is shown by the interest and encouragement they give to boys and girls with their projects, recreation, and other programs. They are interested in farm organization and the contribution it makes to better farm living in Alabama.

SEWING SUCCESS—Mrs. Hubert Anthony, of the Hubbertville H. D. Club, has made an enviable record with her sewing. She paid for the machine she is shown using above in three months—just by sewing for friends and neighbors in her spare time. Besides that, she keeps an excellent wardrobe of clothes designed for every occasion. The successful seamstress is president of her local club and has been an officer on the Fayette County H. D. Council for two years. She was a county dress revue winner in 1949 and again in 1951.

Home Demonstration Clubs Reach Out To Serve

WELCOME TO WEBB
METHODIST CHURCH

WHETHER the job is to help in the remodeling of a rural church, to take part in a community clean-up campaign, or to prepare and serve food at a community gathering, home demonstration club members are always willing to work in any capacity where they may be of service.

Just as the organization of home demonstration clubs has expanded during the past third of a century, the membership and activities of the clubs have also grown. In almost every community in the state there are many marks of progress that can be directly or partially attributed to the work of some portion of the state's 63,000 club women.

Home demonstration club women use the theme, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World," but their objectives reach out much further than the home. The trim, white church at right, for example, owes some of its beauty to the willing, working hands of the Webb Club women. This church, like many others over the state, was remodeled by the combined efforts of church members and the local home demonstration club.

During the past 40 years, home demonstration work in Alabama has continued to expand. Interest in the program is keener now than ever before.

For these reasons and many more, congratulations are in order for each leader who has served in her club during the year. The contributions of rural leaders to the Extension program have made it possible for this work to reach many people with its educational program for better homes and communities in Alabama.

Busy New Club In Chilton

ALTHOUGH Cane Creek Club is the newest home demonstration club in Chilton County, this group is coming through with flying colors. At their third meeting some excellent reports of projects were given.

It didn't take the club's 23 members very long to realize that most of their homes were inadequate for club meetings. They have set out to remedy this situation by repairing an old house for a club building. Members and their husbands meet on Saturday mornings and do repair work on the house.

In addition to the club house project, the Cane Creek women were interested in providing something for their young people to do. They wanted a community 4-H Club and got one in February. The 14 members of the 4-H Club are eager to help with the club house project too. They also plan to make a recreation area around the club house for games and picnics.

Officers of Cane Creek Home Demonstration Club are Mrs. T. L. Williams, president; Mrs. E. R. Young, vice president, and Mrs. Tony Connell, secretary.

Did You Get A Handbook?

DID you know that the Iris, or flag as it is commonly called, which your wife plants around the yard can cause the death of cattle? Or did you know that wild hydrangea contains the same poison as do the sorghums? More than likely you didn't know these things—but if you are a cattleman you'll admit that these are worth-while facts to know. This information came out of the fifth edition of the Handbook of Alabama Agriculture and there are thousands of other timely tips on better farming in this 398-page book. If you are a farmer you need one of these books; if you just like to keep up with agriculture, the handbook is a handy guide. Copies are available at your county agent's office. The price is 75 cents which barely covers printing costs.

Bankers and county agents from sixteen East Alabama counties recently met on the farm of Olin Riser, Sylacauga, Rt. 1, to study ways of making Alabama forests more profitable. The meeting, one of a series of six in all sections of the state, was sponsored by the Birmingham branch of the Federal Reserve Bank, of Atlanta, the A.P.I. Extension Service, and the wood-using industries. The purpose of the meeting was to give bankers a better knowledge of the great possibilities of Alabama forests.

On Riser's farm some 75 bankers and agents saw truck loads of cut pulpwood, discussed fire prevention, and tree planting.

At left above, I. R. Martin, A.P.I. Extension forester; Olin Riser, Sylacauga, Rt. 1, and Sam Morgan, Opelika banker and chairman of the Forest Committee of the Alabama Bankers' Association, examine some pulpwood just cut on Riser's farm.

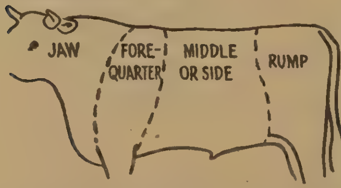
A. A. Lauderdale, Shelby County agent; J. E. Morriss, Elmore County agent; F. F. Davis, Eclectic banker, and Roy Downs, Calera banker, look over a truck load of pulpwood at right.

Timely Facts About Alabama's New Livestock Branding Law

By BOB FARQUHAR
A.P.I. Extension Livestock Specialist

OF interest to most cattlemen is the recently enacted branding law which became effective April 1. While this law does not make it compulsory for livestockmen to brand their cattle, it does require that cattlemen who brand their stock must have the brand registered.

To apply for the registration of your brand, you should get an application form from your county agent. All applications must be made on forms prescribed and furnished by the State Department of Agriculture and accompanied by a fee of $2. A first, second, and third-choice brand should be submitted in order to prevent delay in the event your first choice has already been registered by another cattleman. Applications should be sent to the Department of Agriculture and Industries, Division of Stockyards and Brands, Box 220, Montgomery, Alabama.



The diagram above illustrates the different areas that may be used in branding. These areas are as follows: the rump or hind quarters, the middle or side, the forequarter, and the jaw (from the forequarter forward is considered the jaw). You may apply for your brand on any one of these regions, or if desiring more than one region, you will have to make separate applications for each region desired. Each of the eight regions (four on each side) are considered separate.

There will be a renewal period for recording brands once every five years beginning with Oct. 1, 1951. Those who own registered brands will be notified by the department at least 90 days before the renewal period. The renewal fee will be $2 or more, according to the number of regions registered in your name.

If you have submitted an application and have not yet heard from it, please be patient. The department is swamped with applications at the present time. Your brand will be registered and you will be notified as quickly as possible.

PASTURE PROMOTION IN AUTAUGA—Sixty Autauga County farmers were recently awarded pasture certificates for "outstanding work in producing grazing crops" by the local pasture promotions committee of the Autauga County Cattlemen's Association. Looking over one of the certificates are, left to right, Edward Wadsworth, Prattville, chairman; Charlie Breedlove, county agent, and J. C. Lowery, Auburn, A.P.I. Extension agronomist. The awards were made at a banquet sponsored by Prattville and Montgomery businessmen.

Along the Way

P. O. DAVIS
DIRECTOR, A.P.I. EXTENSION SERVICE

HISTORY reveals that certain movements have caused lasting and important changes in the lives of people. Among these is the home demonstration movement, which is known to most people through county home demonstration agents and assistants.

But many others are involved. In fact, it's a cooperative service with participation by the counties, the state, the federal government, and by the people themselves.

At the outset, it recognized the high importance of the home to the economic, the social, and the religious life of people. This is why the week of April 27-May 3 is National Home Demonstration Week. Theme for the week is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

This reminds us of Adam and Eve, the first man and woman on earth. To them, Paradise was home but to all good people of their descendents home is Paradise.

There is an old Chinese proverb in these words, "A hundred men may make an encampment, but it takes a woman to make a home." Another said, "The most essential element in any home is God."

Thus we see that what we are today was determined largely by our homes of yesterday; that today's home can really build tomorrow's world.

This is because our achievements—individually and as a nation—spring from our ideals; our ideals, be they good or bad, are conceived and nurtured in our homes.

At the beginning, home demonstration work only concerned food. Specifically, it was production and canning tomatoes for more and better food. Then it spread into other phases of nutrition—clothing, home management, and now, citizenship.

These material things marked epochs in home demonstration work. Not one, however, has been abandoned. Instead, each has been continued and meshed into a bigger and a more complete program.

Home demonstration work fully recognizes the fact that food, clothing, and shelter are basic essentials of mankind. It recognizes also that "man does not live by bread alone." It sees, too, that man is composed of mind, body, and spirit with needs and aspirations in all three of his natures. This is the democratic conception.

To preserve and promote this ideal, the 1,995 home demonstration clubs and the 62,901 home demonstration club women of Alabama are observing the seventh National Home Demonstration Week.

In each of their programs they're seeking a better world today and in the future by improving their own homes and by helping their neighbors to improve their homes in the right way and for the finest ideals.

The farm home is of double importance in that it is an organic part of the farm. The two rise or fall together.

Our homes are as important to our nation as they are dear to us. They are the symbol of our democracy, the basis of our freedom, the place where we turn science into better living, where we create and enjoy good citizenship, and the foundation of our community, our national and our international understanding and good will.

Thus we see that as a farm home improves itself as a wholesome place for men, women, and children to live and grow, it also improves itself in relation to the farm and to other people so that both the farm and the home may participate properly and jointly in making the world of tomorrow better.

Stretch The Phosphate Supply By Using Your Fertilizer Wisely

By L. E. ENSMINGER, Associate Soil Scientist
A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station

WITH 1952 crop goals six per cent higher than in 1951 and the superphosphate supply about 13 per cent lower, limited phosphate supplies must be used as efficiently as possible to meet production goals. In the light of these facts, the residual value of unused or accumulated phosphate in the soil should be considered.

In some areas of the state, rather large quantities of phosphate fertilizers have been used. A considerable amount of this added phosphorus has accumulated in the soil and the question is often raised as to the residual value, or long-time effect, of the accumulated phosphorus. Results of experiments conducted by the A.P.I. Experiment Station for a number of years show that there is a definite residual effect of phosphate which is in proportion to the amount added. In many cases, however, yields do decline when phosphorus is left out of the fertilizer. Although some phosphorus should be applied for best results, the amount used may be reduced where rather large quantities have accumulated as a result of past applications.

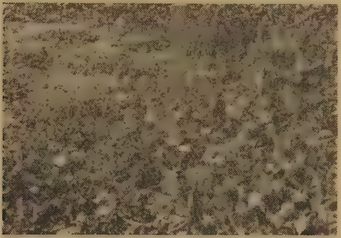
In a residual phosphorus study on the Sand Mountain Substation, at Crossville, superphosphate was applied at rates of 167, 333, 500, and 667 pounds per acre annually for a five-year period. When the superphosphate treatments were discontinued, the yield of seed cotton in all cases dropped about 200 pounds per acre the first or second year. However, there was a residual value of phosphorus which was in proportion to the amount of phosphorus previously applied. Even though yields have been going down for the 10-year period since phosphorus fertilization was discontinued, they have not reached the low level of the unphosphated plots.

Results from a study at the main station, at Auburn, also show marked residual effects of phosphorus. Plots which had not received phosphorus since 1934 averaged 726 pounds of seed cotton per acre during the period from 1948-51. Plots which had received heavy applications of phosphorus from 1934-47 and none thereafter averaged 1,360 pounds. Plots that received phosphorus during the entire period averaged 1,651 pounds.

Further evidence of the residual value of phosphorus can be seen from the results of the pasture studies on the lime soils of the Black Belt Substation, at Marion Junction. Three pastures which had received superphosphate from 1931-36, amounting to a total of 4,000, 3,333, and 2,333 pounds to the acre, but none since 1936, produced 281, 269, and 188 pounds of beef per acre, respectively, as an eight-year average since 1936. Another pasture which received 600 pounds of superphosphate annually since 1936 produced 317 pounds of beef as an eight-year average. During the same period, an adjacent pasture that was not phosphated produced 90 pounds of beef per acre.

This does not mean that phosphate should be left out of the fertilizer in most cases. It does show, however, that phosphate will give larger returns when used on land that has not received heavy applications of phosphate in past years. Certainly past phosphate fertilization should be considered in using the limited superphosphate supply for 1952.

The supply of superphosphate is expected to be shorter this year than last because of the shortage of sulfur which is used in making sulfuric acid. Superphosphate is produced by treating ground rock phosphate with sulfuric acid. Consequently, the shortage of sulfuric acid has resulted in a decrease in the production of superphosphate.



KNOW YOUR SEED. Here seed made the difference. Seed from white clover adapted to Alabama were planted on the area to the right of the stake. Unadapted white clover seed were planted on the area at left. Both lots of seed were sold under the trade name Louisiana white clover.

The results of this test at the Plant Breeding Unit, at Tallassee, indicate the advantages of obtaining seed of an adapted clover from a reliable source. Alabama farmers harvest about one-half million pounds of white clover seed each year. Farmers who harvest their seed from areas that have produced good white clover for a number of years are good sources from which to buy adapted seed.

Increased Sheep Production--A Logical Move

Sheep production is one of Alabama's growing livestock industries. And the picture at right explains this growth in several ways.

The state's mild winters and the possibilities for year-around grazing offer much inducement for any livestock man. Less storage space is needed for keeping a winter supply of feed and—as sheepman Francis Courier, shown at right with one of his prize ewes, can testify—it takes very little shelter for wintering a flock of sheep.

Courier, like many producers from the North, migrated to Alabama to get away from the hazards of the cold winters in Illinois. As he puts it, "It would take a tight, well-heated barn for my ewe flock at lambing time in Illinois, but down here the lambs are born in the open pasture.

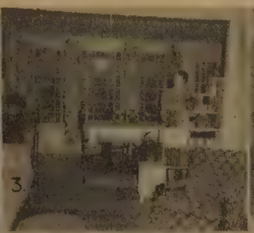
The sheep breeder decided to move South after attending several lamb sales in Alabama. He says that the quality of the lambs was so much better than those raised farther north that he figured the best thing to do was to move south and take advantage of the better sheep-growing conditions. He picked Madison County as the choicest spot in which to settle and moved his flock of registered Montedale sheep to the county in January. He is now operating a farm on Huntsville, Rt. 4.

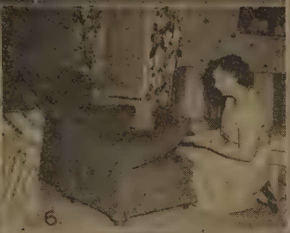
Vaccinate The Laying Flock

COMMERCIAL egg producers this year will vaccinate their hens for Newcastle disease and fowlpox. This should be done when the birds are from eight to 16 weeks of age. The following points should be remembered in vaccinating these birds:

1. Use a live virus vaccine obtained from a reputable company.
2. Keep all vaccine under refrigeration until time of use.
3. Add the dried virus to the diluent and thoroughly mix just before vaccination.
4. Do not allow the mixed vaccine to become overheated or exposed to the sunlight for a long period.
5. Apply according to directions.
6. Give the right size dose of vaccine. The number of birds to vaccinate from one vial of vaccine should agree very closely with the number of doses prescribed on the label.
7. Vaccinate only flocks of birds in good health.
8. Burn all vaccine bottles and left-over vaccine.
9. Birds that have been vaccinated should not be subjected to marked changes in management or housing immediately following vaccination.

COMMUNITY MEETINGS—This group of Cherokee County farm women are making an inspection tour of their new community club house. The new concrete block house will be used for home demonstration club meetings, family group meetings, and other activities and will serve as a general community meeting place. Members of the Piney Community Club raised money through box suppers, bazaars, and similar functions to get money to build the new community home. They have been working on the project for 10 years and at last they are able to see the project almost completed. Shown standing in front of the new building are, left to right, Mrs. Betty Arthur, Mrs. Gene Neyman, Mrs. Lillian Satla, Mrs. Harvey Steele, Mrs. Nodi Steed, Mrs. Estelle Kelley, and Mrs. Lois Lockridge.





Home Demonstration Club Activities Around The State

These pictures represent but a few of the many phases of the home demonstration club work carried on by Alabama's 60,000 club members. Home, community, county, state, and national projects covering every part of rural living are never too large or too small for these women to undertake.

1. Mrs. Travis Jeffreys, president of the Wolf Springs H. D. Club, standing at extreme right, goes over plans for buying additional equipment for the local school lunchroom with members of the club. This group remodeled a classroom and, through various fund-raising activities, equipped the room. Students began eating in the new lunchroom in January.

2. Mrs. J. R. Formby, a member of the Holtville H. D. Club in Elmore County, trims the shrubbery around her recently remodeled home. She added a couple of rooms by enclosing a hall and front porch—but her pride and joy is her modern U-shaped kitchen equipped with plenty of cabinets.

3. Mrs. Guy A. Youngblood, Montevallo, Rt. 1, is shown in the combination living and dining room she built from an old hallway. She is a member of the Darlington Club in Shelby County.

4. Mrs. Joe Roberson, foods leader of the Renfroe Club in Talladega County, gives a demonstration on freezing cooked foods to Mrs. J. A. Sims, Mrs. Mattie Hubbard, Mrs. W. A. Green, Sr., Mrs. Helen Thomas and Betty, Mrs. Hugh Sims, Mrs. Mallory Hughston, Mrs. Joe C. Hodge, Mrs. William Vaughn, Mrs. Grover Fulmer, Julia Moore, and Mrs. Oscar Mitchell.

5. Mrs. Billy Brabham, of Perote, and Bullock County Home Agent Carolyn Henderson discuss the beautifully refinished antique furniture in Mrs. Brabham's living room. Mrs. Brabham's mother, Mrs. George Hardin, Jr., a member of the Union Springs H. D. Club, remodeled the furniture and gave it to Mrs. Brabham as a wedding gift.

6. Mrs. Carl Furr, Eutaw Club member, looks over a refinished ottoman. She made two chairs and one sofa from old car seats for $25. The ottoman and chair cost $15.

7. This comfortable couch started out as a discarded pair of bed springs. But the ingenuity of Mrs. Mathew Flynn, of the Pine Springs Club, soon turned the springs—plus some old quilts and scrap lumber—into a very serviceable piece of furniture. The Lamar County homemaker now has a couch as good as new for only $6.

8. Members of the Shady Grove H. D. Club, in Washington County, work on their club project—making a layette to be used by the county health department.

10. Mrs. H. C. Turley, president of the Royal H. D. Club, and Blount County Assistant Home Agent Mrs. Sandy Buckner admire the new refrigerator in the Royal School lunchroom. The lunchroom was built and furnished by the Royal Club members.

12. Mrs. L. C. Storey, of Ethelsville, Pickens County, works on a lamp shade for her living room. She covered the couch, made cornices and drapes, and wallpapered the entire home.

Small Club With Big Projects

THE eleven farm women who make up the Pollard Home Demonstration Club in Escambia County have found that leadership and working together go a long way toward getting results.

Last December they selected the improvement of the community church interior as their community activity project for this year. And even though December is one of the busiest months in the year, these enthusiastic club women found time to meet at the church nine days to work on their project. Paint was removed from the piano, pulpit, and chairs and each was carefully refinished.

Since the first of the year, the women have raised funds to purchase carpeting, a gas heater, a pulpit scarf, and a bookmark. Money for this was obtained by the sale of twelve quilts, napkins, pot holders, clothespin bags, pajama bags, and aprons, which were all made by the skillful fingers of the Pollard Club members. Two scrap-iron drives also helped pay the bills.

There's No Grass Growing Under The Feet of Avant's Club Members

MEMBERS of the Avant Home Demonstration Club in Butler County are not letting the "grass grow under their feet." They planned a full schedule for the year and have made a good start toward getting the work done.

Three community projects are on the receiving end of their concentrated efforts this year. The church is of foremost importance to the group so they have chosen as one of their projects the task of keeping the church and church yards clean. They will also put out shrubbery where needed. The church yard is one place where they'll let the grass grow—but the weeds will be kept down.

Mailbox improvement, a project carried for several years, will be continued. Added to this, attractive markers for the farms and community will be erected.

The big project for the year is the building of the Avant Community House. The whole community is interested in this project because there is no school or other building that can be used for community social gatherings. And the Avant people like to get together for social occasions.

Already this year, the home demonstration club has had a husbands' night banquet at which time an installation service for the club's new offciers was held.

To raise money for the community house, a "Little Miss and Mr. Avant" were chosen. The club cleared over $100 from this activity. The crowning of the King and Queen was another community high light.

Etowah Quilting Party Pays Big Dividends

WHEN farm women in Etowah County held their first quilt show and silver tea in 1932 they had little idea of what they were starting.

The annual event is now supporting a scholarship fund that is helping worthy girls to pay their way through college. During the past 16 years the annual quilt show has helped to send 21 Etowah County girls to college.

"The quilt show was started as an achievement day," explains Home Agent Sarah Thomas. "Club women in the county were making pretty quilts and they decided it would be interesting to display them at an annual quilt show. Expenses of the show were paid through a silver tea offering."

The idea caught on quickly and in the past 20 years over 1,000 quilts have been made and displayed. Other handiwork such as tablecloths, bed spreads, and handmade articles of all kinds also are shown, but quilts still dominate the show.

"The fund is known as the Dianna B. Williams Scholarship Loan Fund and is available to active 4-H girls or to daughters of active home demonstration club members," says Mrs. Walden Hopper, of Morton's Chapel. Mrs. Hopper has been chairman of the quilt show since its beginning 20 years ago.

Hard Hand Work Refinishes Furniture

A lot of hard hand work went into the job, but Mrs. Lois Purdy, of the Pleasant View Home Demonstration Club, now has a set of dining room furniture that she wouldn't sell at any price.

Mrs. Purdy says the furniture was handed down from her mother and all of the pieces have been in constant use for years. Although the furniture was scratched and marred by many a bump and jolt, the homemaker decided to literally "start from scratch" and rework the whole set, which included a large oval dining table, six chairs, a china closet, and a buffet.

After endless hours of paint removing and sanding, Mrs. Purdy finally got the furniture ready for a sealer coat to close up the cracks that couldn't be sanded off. Then she sanded the whole "works" again and put on a coat of clear stain that brings out the grain in the old wood.

The job's all done now and Mrs. Purdy says she wouldn't take $500 for the work that went into the furniture—and twice that amount wouldn't buy the furniture.

Doll Project By Peterson Club Women

Each of the thirty-one home demonstration clubs in Tuscaloosa County undertakes a civic project during the year. These projects cover a wide variety of community and county activities.

The project selected by the Peterson Club was to make dolls for the children at Partlow State School, and from the looks of the group of dolls shown above, the club women have been mighty busy. Displaying the dolls are Mrs. J. W. McGee, left, and Mrs. Ted Dill. Both are members of the Peterson Club.

Wilcox Clubs Make Early Start

HOME demonstration clubs in Wilcox County got an early start on their projects for 1952.

The Pineapple Club began its projects last November by making nylon corsages. From old hose, a little dye, and floral tape and wire the women have fashioned corsages of all colors and styles. Working with the Methodist Women's Society, the two groups have each netted $111 from the corsage project.

The Pine Hill Club has been at work encouraging the town council to secure land for a garbage dump and to set up a garbage removal program. They also have plans under way for a playground for small children.

Oak Hill Club members are landscaping their church grounds. And the front of the church will be completed as an additional church project. Expenses for this project will come from the proceeds of a hen sale and a game party.

Through a shrubbery donation campaign the Furman Club was able to add base plantings to both the Methodist and Baptist churches in the community. By selling sandwiches and cakes at a school program, the club netted $42 for this work.

Five other clubs in Wilcox County are carrying cemetery improvement projects. They expect to complete this work by early May.

PRIDE OF THE PARLOR—Soon to be the pride of Mrs. Will M. Wood's parlor is this hooked wool rug she is working on. Mrs. Wood makes the rugs during her spare time and has already made seven of them. She uses all-wool scraps. Another distinction the Randolph County home demonstration club member has is that she has never missed a meeting of the Lebanon Club in the 19 years she has been a member. Mrs. Wood, who lives on Roanoke, Rt. 2, has also served in almost every office of home demonstration work in the county including county council president.

Coffee Council President Promotes Rural Youth Work

BELIEVING that the promotion of rural youth work begins at home, Mrs. Raymond Parker, president of the Coffee County Home Demonstration Council, set out to do something for the rural youth in her community last year. And she has set quite a record in the past few months.

No 4-H Club was available for the children in the Tabernacle community so Mrs. Parker organized a community 4-H Club in her home last August. Since then the club has grown to 20 members and the group meets each month at Mrs. Parker's home. These youngsters—just like those in other clubs—work on projects and enjoy picnics and parties.

MRS. PARKER

Although Mrs. Parker is a very busy homemaker, she always finds time to help the boys and girls plan their meetings and solve their project problems. Caring for her own five children and serving as president of the county council consume a lot of time and work, but Mrs. Parker says that the time spent with her 4-H Club group isn't work.

Jackson's Rural Youth Program

RURAL youth leaders of Jackson County home demonstration clubs were busy during March with a series of Rural Life Sunday programs in 15 churches in the county. Club leaders report that excellent programs were given at each of the churches.

Rural Youth Leader Mrs. Ida Dean, of Scottsboro, Rt. 1, reported that the Holland's Chapel Methodist Church in the Tupelo community sponsored two programs. At the morning service, duets were given by 4-H Club girls and the boys acted as ushers. At the Sunday evening service, the history of 4-H work was discussed. Club members also participated in this program.

At the series of special programs, 102 4-H Club members participated and 585 farm people attended the services.

Urea sprays at the rate of five pounds of urea per 100 gallons of water applied at the first, second, and third cover sprays are about equal to equivalent soil applications of nitrate of soda for Delicious apples.

PUTTING A CORSAGE TOGETHER—Mrs. M. J. Walker, center, of Edwardsville, puts a camellia corsage together. The 76-year-old farm woman is one of the best nylon flower-makers in the state. Her specialty is orchid corsages.

FINISHED PRODUCT—At right, Mrs. Mae Evans shows Home Demonstration Agent Annie R. Milner, right, some of the corsages she makes. Miss Milner learned flower-making in Louisiana and taught it to Cleburne County club members. Mrs. Evans has sold corsages in seven states.

A New Crop

Nylon Flowers Are Popular Hobby In Cleburne

HOME demonstration club women in Cleburne County are building a good business from discarded nylon hosiery. They are making them into beautiful corsages.

"About 50 club women are making flowers from nylon hose now," says Home Agent Annie R. Milner. "Since they learned how in a club demonstration in October, they have made more than $4,000 worth of nylon flowers."

Mrs. Mae Evans, a Northeast Heflin member, is turning her flower-making hobby into a profitable business. In five months she sold more than $300 worth of flowers to customers in seven states.

Mrs. Evans says she can make a corsage in about one hour. The corsages sell for $1 to $2 each, depending on the size and number of petals.

Another club member, Mrs. M. J. Walker, of Edwardsville, is turning her flower-making talents to profit. She has made camellias, jack-in-the-pulpits, orchids, roses, gardenias, and a host of other corsages from nylon stockings.

Mrs. Walker's finished corsages are some of the best made in the state. She sells ordinary corsages for $1 each—orchids are made for $5.

"The materials needed are quite simple and inexpensive," says Mrs. Walker. "Florists' tape, color remover, dye, small copper wire, small black wire, nylon hose, and ready-made stamens are the necessary materials.

"First, remove the color from old hose with color remover. Some hose come out in beautiful tones; others will have to be dyed to get the desired color," explains Mrs. Walker.

To make the flower, take out several strands of wire from copper screen. Cut wire into four-inch lengths and shape into petals. Mrs. Walker wraps the wire around a small bottle to get uniform petals. Then over this frame she places a three-inch square of nylon, stretches it tight, and wraps a small length of black wire around the petal base to hold the material in place.

Excess nylon is trimmed off. A minimum of five such petals will be needed for each blossom in the corsage. Some flowers, such as camellias, will require several petals.

Wrap the base of the blossom and the stem with green florists' tape. Leaves are made in the same way as petals except the shape of the wire is more oblong and green nylon is stretched over the wire.

A bud can be made by wrapping nylon around a small ball of cotton. Smaller petals are used in the bud.

Arrange the blossoms, leaves, and buds into a corsage as desired. Wire together with small black wire and cover with florists' tape. The end of each stem should be twisted so that it won't unravel.

Nylon corsages are very colorful and extremely durable. When crushed, they can be reshaped easily.

An old powder puff can be put to good use. Wash it thoroughly and use it as a buffer with which to polish silver. Larger bath powder puffs are handy to use in spreading cleaning fluid on mirrors and windows.

ALABAMA broiler growers are doing a fine job of putting a top-quality bird on the market. Good management is making this success possible. However, some growers would do well to examine their disease control program very closely. Nothing hurts quality and profits more than disease in the flock. Respiratory diseases are becoming more and mose costly and have caused heavy losses in some flocks during the last few months. Although losses from coccidiosis have been reduced, considerable loss is still experienced from this disease.

One of the greatest sources of poultry diseases on broiler farms is old chickens. A few old hens, Bantams, or other poultry running over the broiler farm can contaminate the entire area with disease and parasites and infest every flock of broilers that is brought on the farm.

The investment and profits from broiler flocks of 3,000 to 50,000 birds are too great to be jeopardized by keeping a few hens for the home egg supply. The old hens maintain such diseases as bronchitis, colds, coccidiosis, and worms on the farm continuously, and infect every flock of broilers started. To hold disease to a minimum, rid the farm of all other poultry and keep only one age of broilers.

This Month on the Farm

by API EXTENSION SPECIALISTS

THE spring litter should be weaned at eight weeks of age and the sow should be rebred for the fall litter about a week later. Sows bred about May 1 should farrow during the last ten days of August and that's a very good time.

NOW is the time to spray cattle for horn flies, stable flies, and mosquitoes. These pests cause cattle much misery and prevent them from gaining as they otherwise would. Next fall's grubs can be greatly reduced by following a regular monthly spray program now. Use a spray containing both DDT and BHC, following the directions on the package.

A patch of ripe oats is good for the sow and litter to run on during the few weeks before the pigs go into the early corn field. Pigs will maintain themselves very well on mature oats, but oats have too much fibre to be depended upon for a fattening feed. For best results, feed pigs running on ripe oats a little corn and supplement.

GET things ready for the turkey poults and start grazing crops for these birds. Turkeys can profitably graze soybeans, grain sorghum, clovers, and other growing crops. Alabama produced about one pound of turkey meat per person last year. The national consumption of turkey meat was five and one-half pounds per person.

IF your corn isn't following a good crop of winter legumes be sure to side-dress it with plenty of nitrogen the first time it is cultivated. Try to keep a good stand of corn during cultivation. For a good yield of corn more than 8,000 stalks per acre are needed. Side-dress on time, cultivate shallowly, and "lay by" early.

PLAN now to plant some grain sorghum around the middle of June to combine for grain or to graze with cattle and hogs this fall. Plant grain sorghum following winter legumes harvested for seed or after winter grazing crops. Be sure to use a recommended variety and plant plenty of high germinating seed that have been treated for smut and seedling diseases.

FOR good peanut yields, thick stands are necessary. Be sure to cultivate enough to control weeds and to hold a good stand until harvest. Be ready to dust for leaf spot control. May is a good time to locate the chemical dust you will need for leaf spot control later on.

START grazing old stands of sericea if the crop is four to six inches high. Graze it enough to keep it from getting tough and woody.

NOW is the time to cut fence posts. The spring and early summer months are the best times to cut fence posts because the bark can be removed easily. Timber for posts can be obtained from thinning young stands of timber, clearing for pasture or crop land, and removing undesirable timber from woodlands.

Homemade Labor Saving Devices Make Broiler Production Easy

HOW would you like to make a net income of $6,000 a year—and work less than two hours per day to make it?

Well, H. O. Smith, a Lowndes County poultryman of Burkville, is doing just that. His secret is homemade labor-saving devices.

In fact, Mr. Smith doesn't spend a minute on any job if he can figure out a way to do the job in 30 seconds. Take feeding, for example. With the system he has worked out, he feeds 16,000 broilers in 22 minutes.

He has two large poultry houses with a capacity of 8,000 broilers each. The houses are divided into two sections, with the feed room in the center. A barrel, cut in half and suspended on an overhead track, serves as a feed conveyor. The track runs the entire length of the house.

Smith loads up the barrel conveyor, hooks a guide rope to his waist, and walks down the center of the house. The barrel of feed follows along beside him. Feeders are placed in two rows near the center of the house.

With this equipment, feeding 16,000 large broilers takes only a few minutes per day. The cost of a feed conveyor for one house of 8,000 broilers was only $16.

But that's only the beginning. Raising and lowering windows was a time-consuming task, so Smith invented a device which enables him to open or close 18 windows in about two seconds. Each broiler house has 72 windows, yet every window in both houses can be opened or closed in two minutes. The cost of this time saving gadget was only $28 per house.

The inventing poultryman also cut costs and labor on the watering system for his broilers. Surplus U-shaped galvanized troughs run the entire length of the house. A hydrant on one end is left open just enough to feed a continuous stream of water into the drain. A continuous flow of water runs the entire length of the house, and surplus water drains out the end of the trough into the sewage system.

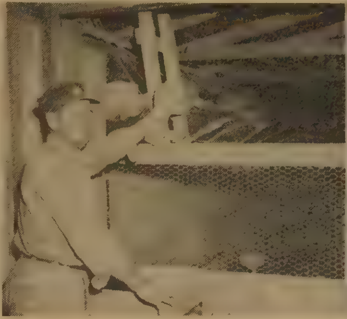
These homemade waterers were built for about $12. Conventional type automatic waterers including water pipe would have cost about $400, Smith estimates.

Inventive ability paid off again with the pump system for supplying water to the poultry farm. Smith has an electric pump, a hand pump, and a 60-gallon barrel all hooked up together. In case of power failure the barrel is filled from the hand pump. In the event of a disease outbreak, medicine is mixed with water in the barrel and this treatment is fed to the birds through the automatic watering troughs. With coccidiosis or other diseases, this has proven to be a big labor saver.

A common problem with butane gas brooders is the tanks freezing during cold weather, but Smith has this one licked too. He uses gas from two above-ground tanks simultaneously. Then if one tank freezes, the chances are that the other will keep operating.

Good management practices make the Smith broiler business profitable and homemade devices reduce the labor.

Smith spends a total of less than two hours per day on all tasks connected with the broiler business. And these two hours are almost free of stooping, straining, or other heavy work often necessary in feeding and caring for broilers. And with a net profit of 10 cents for each of the 60,000 birds he grows each year, Mr. Smith wouldn't trade his broilers for any other part of the farm.



WINDOW ROLLER—A big time-saver on the H. O. Smith broiler farm near Burkville is the rig for opening and closing windows shown above. By turning the crank a couple of rounds Smith can open or close 18 windows at once. This device saves about 30 minutes work per day.

STORAGE BIN—When Mr. Smith is away from the farm for a day or two he fills up the overhead feed bin, then Mrs. Smith can fill the barrel conveyor without lifting heavy feed sacks. She is shown at right above filling the conveyor from the overhead storage bin.

FEED CONVEYOR—At right, H. O. Smith gets feed from his barrel-type conveyor. With this homemade conveyor he feeds 16,000 broilers in 22 minutes.

BUILDING A BETTER COMMUNITY

Community progress is a good measure of the growth of cooperation among the farm families in any area. And the progress farm people of the Mulberry community, in Autauga County, are making with their community house shows they are working together for community betterment. A lot of personal donations and receipts from box suppers, costume parties, and a community harvest supper have supplied the cash necessary for the building project. Then, too, the many hours of labor put in by the folks in the community have helped put the project across.

Credit for the project goes to all of the community. The Mulberry Home Demonstration Club and all of the other community organizations have done their share as well.

Mrs. J. A. Lambert, community activities chairman of the home demonstration club, who designed the house, is shown at right above looking over plans for the partially completed building with Mrs. Marcus Houston, club president, and Home Agent Margaret Parrish, center. The 56 by 32-foot building will have a roomy kitchen, large recreation room, and two rest rooms.

Dairy Dates To Remember

SHOWS, sales, and field days highlight the dairy industry in Alabama during the next six months. Listed below are the dates or tentative dates set for these events:

May 17—Alabama Jersey Heifer Sale, Montgomery.

May 31—Alabama State Cattle Club Sale, Huntsville.

June 11—Alabama Jersey Field Day, Sanitary Dairy, Dothan.

Aug. 2—Southeastern Jersey Regional Sale, Old Reliable Jersey Farms, Talladega.

Tentative dairy show dates are as follows:

Gadsden, Sept. 3-4; Decatur, Sept. 5; Fayette, Sept. 10-11; Dadeville, Sept. 11-12; Montgomery, Sept. 16-17; Mobile, Sept. 18-19; Demopolis, Sept. 23-26 (tentative). The date for the Bessemer show has not been set.

Sept. 20 is the deadline for state junior entries in the Alabama Dairy Show which will be held in connection with the State Fair in Birmingham.

Artificial breeding technician training courses have been set for May 26-31, Aug. 25-30, and Nov. 10-15. These courses will be held at Auburn.

Try This System For Saving More Pigs

LITTLE pigs that never go to market because they're lost at farrowing time, or soon after, are an enormous drain on market hog profits.

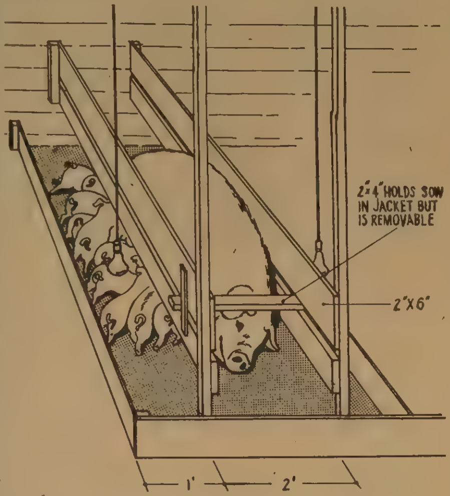
Alabama farmers must save bigger litters if they are to make bigger profits. Farrowing jackets may help solve the problem.

The jacket sketched at right can be easily installed in any box-shaped farrowing house. The sow is driven in about a day before farrowing time and is kept in the jacket for only three or four days. She can get up and lie down, but cannot turn around. Pigs are not as likely to be stepped or lain upon since they'll be under and outside the panels of the jacket—particularly if a 150-watt light bulb for heat and light is located outside the panels.

The sow may be fed and watered while in the jacket or she may be let out for feeding and exercise. She should be driven into the jacket rather than backed in as shown in the illustration.

This new idea for saving little pigs has not been tried experimentally in Alabama, but it is being widely recommended and used in the Midwestern hog country.

A few Alabama farmers have tried this method—they claim it is a real pig saver. However, until it is tested and found good experimentally, it will not be recommended for general use—but many pork producers might like to try the system on a small scale.



A New Club--But Very Active

THE Arley Club, one of Winston County's youngest home demonstration clubs, has only been organized about a year—but they have already set an excellent record with their youth work.

Mrs. Lucille Wooten is rural youth chairman, and with the help of the club's active president, Mrs. Susie B. Horsely, and the other club members, at least one recreational program has been sponsored each month for the young people of the community.

Members of the club feel that if the youth in their community are recognized, are given jobs, and provided with recreation, they will respond by being better boys and girls, and will help make the community a better place in which to live.

A newcomer to the bull stud of the A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station Artificial Insemination Unit is Royal Signet of Sibley Farms. This bull classifies "very good" and qualifies for six stars—but what's more important, his first eight daughters averaged 510 pounds of butterfat as compared to 475 pounds for their dams. The seven-year-old bull is shown above as he appeared shortly after the trip to Auburn from Sibley Farms, Spencer, Mass. Semen from this bull is now available to members of the 10 county artificial breeding associations participating in the state artificial breeding program.

"PASS THE FRIED TURKEY"—Something new has been added to the poultry industry in Limestone County. A number of farmers there are trying their hands at the job of raising turkey broilers for the market. While turkey broiler production is already an established business in some parts of the country, it is just getting started on a trial basis in Limestone. Mays Montgomery, left, Poultryman R. F. Patterson, center, and County Agent F. K. Agee are shown above looking over a flock of 600 four-week-old poults that Patterson is growing out. These birds were part of the first 2,000 poults brought into the county for the broiler project. They are Beltsville White turkeys. Montgomery, fieldman for E. D. Wilson and Company, Athens, says his company is shipping in 2,000 poults each week. They will also process and market the birds when they are 12 to 15 weeks old. At this stage the birds should weigh around six or eight pounds.

Soybeans for oil have a real place on many farms in Alabama, especially after early harvested vegetables, winter grazing crops, and winter legumes harvested for seed. It takes good land and good fertilization to make high yields of beans. The main producing areas in Alabama now are Baldwin, Escambia, and Jackson counties. There are other areas which can and should grow oil beans. But don't expect profitable yields of soybeans on land too poor to produce good yields of other crops.

Research Results

from A.P.I. AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION

THE QUALITY OF CANNED AND FROZEN VEGETABLES is affected greatly by the method of handling. The action of certain enzymes causes such vegetables as sweet corn, asparagus, lima beans, snap beans, peas, and okra to deteriorate rapidly after harvesting. The damage is more pronounced if the vegetables are picked during warm periods and held without chilling to remove the field heat. Early morning harvesting often helps reduce deterioration from field heat. If processing is delayed, deterioration can be slowed down considerably by holding the vegetables in cold storage.

ALL-PURPOSE GARDEN DUST is effective against many garden insects and plant diseases. In experiments conducted over a period of many years, rotenone has been found to be effective against many garden insects, and Zineb has been effective against a variety of plant diseases. The two materials blended together to contain one per cent rotenone and five per cent Zineb constitute the all-purpose dust. The dust is particularly valuable to small gardeners who use one or two insecticides.

DAILY PRODUCTION OF FLUID MILK per dairy in Alabama averages roughly 25 per cent higher in the six months, March through August, than in the six months, September through February. Distributors' sales of bottled milk are off five to 10 per cent in the summer. Increased fall and winter milk production is needed if markets are to be adequately supplied then, without heavy spring and summer surpluses.

HORMONES HELP CONTROL PRE-HARVEST DROP OF APPLES. Two applications of Fruitone (naphthalene acetamide) to Delicious apples, at the rate of 10 parts per million during the ripening period, reduced preharvest drop 30 per cent. The first application was applied when about five or six sound apples had dropped, and the second application was three weeks later.

A CORRECTION. Nicotine sulfate was erroneously recommended for controlling red spider on camellias in the April column. Sulfur is the recommended material for use during hot weather. Florida Volck, Parathion, or EPN may be used during cool weather.

NET PROFITS OF $52 TO $100 per acre have resulted from control of cotton insects while the crop was being set and matured during seasons of insect abundance. Application of insecticides when boll weevil or other insects were not damaging cotton has proved wasteful, and in some instances has created bollworm problems.

GOOD HARDWOODS ARE QUITE AS DESIRABLE AS PINES in a forest stand grown on bottom lands. Yellow poplar on a small experimental area grew about as fast as pines. Control of slow growing, defective trees is needed, but many hardwoods can be selected to make up a bottom land stand of desirable trees. These trees are just as profitable to grow as pines.

FOLKS and THINGS ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

"They told him it couldn't be done.
With a smile he went right to it.
He tackled the thing that couldn't be done—
And couldn't do it."

That is the brain child of Burns Bennett, but it struck us as funny so we pass it along to you.

Judge Annie Lola Price stopped in passing through Clanton Tuesday afternoon. Judge Price says there are so many people to see and such a short time to see them she must depend on her many friends and supporters over the state to carry the fight for her. She led the field in the first primary over three other opponents by a large vote and has a perfect record on the court for the past year to prove her ability. She is the first woman ever to hold the office as Judge on the Court of Appeals.

Had business the other night with a businessman from Thorsby. In fact, he is a banker there. He was to meet me at the office after supper to discuss some work we were doing for him. He told us that it would have to be after 8 o'clock or around six or six thirty as he had to be at home at 7 to see "I Love Lucy.' 'Funny thing: If Leonard Bosworth hadn't told us that first we would have had to tell him we couldn't meet him until after "I Love Lucy" show.

Our good friend, Joe Azbell, has been promoted to City Editor of The Montgomery Advertiser. We knew Joe back when he was a weekly newspaper publisher. Then we knew him when he was a struggling reporter and he knew us too. Then when Joe was State Editor we knew him and he still recognized us now and then when passing through Clanton and he needed a story. But now, Joe is City Editor—we don't know whether he'd recognize us or not. Well, we're going to Montgomery to see Joe the first time we get a chance and if he don't remember us—our highest ambition has always been to tell a City Editor off. Naw, we're kidding. Our congratulations to Joe Azbell. We are proud for him. May he continue to advance in his chosen field and his headaches grow less with the years.

We heard a fellow say the other day one of the candidates was so green that he was sprouting maypops. That was in the first primary. If our guess ain't wrong there was some oats sprouting in that campaign too.

Sorry to learn that our very good friend, Mrs. J. B. Downs fell and broke her hip last Friday. She is in a Birmingham hospital. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

When Mark Twain was editor of a Western newspaper, a superstitious subscriber found a spider in his paper and wrote the editor to ask if that was a sign of good or bad luck.

With his usual needle-witted appreciation of the situation, the humorist answered in the following vein:

"Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and live a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

SOME POLITICAL FACTS

To The Voters of Chilton County:

In industry, in Civil Service and in the military areas of American life employees are assured financial security after retirement. A public official has no such assurance. Unless he has held an office which pays more than a living wage at the end of his service he is without a source of income. If he has served past his sixty-fifth birthday when forced to retire and still needs to earn a living, he is, according to public sentiment, unfit for a job in industry or business. His only recourse is to apply for old age assistance.

As all of you know, I have held one of the lowest-paying offices in the courthouse. The State Examiners will tell you there is by far more work in proportion to pay in the circuit clerk's office than in any other. Yet I have been content and have not asked you for a higher-paying or easier job. Unlike many low-income officials, I have not divided my time and strength between the office and a private business. I have given the circuit clerk's office everything I have in an all-out effort to keep it well-organized and make it more efficient. In return for this whole-hearted service I am confident the fair-minded voters of Chilton County will give me a heavy majority of votes on June 3rd.

Sincerely your friend,
J. C. Pattillo

LETTER FROM WALLACE COX

WALLACE COX

My object in qualifying for this office was to get in position to be of service to my county.

My objectives are for sound, economical, progressive government which it could take pages to explain a four-year plan.

I feel that my observatoin of other county governments and their progress has given me ideas that I can help put in effect that will bring our county to the front.

Our main need as I see it in this county is paved rural roads to make it possible to transfer our school children cheaper which would leave more money for educational purposes.

To build permanent roads mean our maintenance cost is lowered; that our farm products can be delivered to market in much better condition and will prevent the home and furnishings from being coated with dust.

I want every voter to know that their vote for Wallace Cox will be a contribution to a better county from every standpoint.

WALLACE COX.

TWO CLEAN MEN

Two clean men will be running it off in the race for Probate Judge and we are looking to a spirited race.

Higgins and Tingle, the two high men in the race, are each out after the other's scalp of course, but whoever is elected to represent the Democratic Party in November against the Republican's picked candidate, we are sure will win his race in an honorable and fair election. We have the highest regard for both men and expect the kind of political race of which neither will be ashamed when the votes are counted on June 3rd.

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

All can't be winners in a political contest and the election just past was no exception. In fact the great majority of the candidates were losers.

We can say this for the losing candiates—they were all mighty good sports and we heard comparatively little "griping" after the returns were counted.

We congratulate those who won a place in the run-off election for a good race, and we congratulate the losers on their sportsmanship. As one candidate put it in his advertising: "Our hat is off to the candidates in the May 6th Primary."

THE UNITED STATES AND NEWSPAPERS

The people of America buy 54,017,938 daily newspapers, for which they pay $2,589,000. This represents a high intelligence level and a people who want the complete news of local, national and world affairs.

The newspaper is an American tradition—the weekly newspaper even more so than the daily—about which the above figures relate. Although many people do not realize it, the weekly newspaper today has equally as much influence as the daily.

Most of the people of this huge country of 155,000,000 live in towns of 10,000 or less and, in many cases, in many of these towns, the people subscribe to only one newspaper—their local weekly, bi-weekly, or tri-weekly.

The small newspapers of America, which began a great tradition in this country of freedom of the press, reach a grass-roots audience which the huge metropolitan dailies do not touch. The farmers and the small-town inhabitants of the county read their small-town newspapers religiously, from cover to cover. They are much more likely to weigh the thoughts expressed therein more carefully than the average metropolitan resident or worker, who usually takes one of two or three newspapers daily, and who is so pushed for time, he can seldom examine any of these papers thoroughly.

On the other hand, the weekly subscriber has all week to read his local weekly. Advertisers sometimes forget that some 10,000 weekly papers offer great opporunities and concentrate primarily on the approximately 1,500 dailies in the country. Likewise, those who mail out various political propaganda sometimes fail to realize the importance of the weekly press which is still the backbone of the American press.

In both the daily and weekly fields, however, the American reader has demonstrated a keener desire for the news of his area, country and the world than the average citizen of any other country. As long as our newspapers continue to print the truth, and tell the news, which most of them do today, and as long as Americans have the urge for the news and the truth, this country will remain the best informed of any in the world. — Times-Standard.

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

Toy manufacturers would likely be quite surprised if they could see how their products are used by children in their play.

Just this week, for example, the five-year-old received a brightly colored metal gadget with a crank on the side which was supposed to be used in blowing giant size soap bubbles. For about ten minutes this toy served its original purpose, and then, suddenly, it became a movie camera. Bubble blowing was completely forgotten as neighborhood children were rounded up to take part in a thrilling Western movie all about a cowboy named Texas Tom (played somewhat reluctantly by the three-year-old) and his horse, Prancer.

When I looked out the kitchen window, Texas Tom was plodding about in the yard on his snow shoes (I never did exactly understand the plot) made by strapping two small tennis rackets to his bare feet. The sheriff was hobbling along behind him on sections of track that came with the wind-up train last Christmas.

Suddenly there appeared on the scene a fairy godmother (as I said, I did not understand the plot) who waved her magic wand. Know what her wand was? The broken barrel of a toy gun!!

Our neigbor who likes to try out new ideas has been having a lot of fun lately painting pictures on her cakes. She doesn't even pretend to be an artist, but her decorated cakes are most attrcative. Her painting is done with regular liquid food coloring, red, green, yellow and blue, using a small water color brush.

First she covers her cake with white icing, the kind that makes a hard surface. When the icing has hardened, she paints designs on the cake just as if she were painting on a sheet of paper.

Her cakes with nursery rhymes printed on the top have delighted all children who shared them, and flower lovers have acclaimed the cakes with bouquets of posies on them. For the mother of a new baby, she made a special cake with pastel safety pins painted on its surface.

Odds and ends: Eyebrow tweezers are perfect for picking up threads when drawing threads for hemstitching or fringing. . . Dry salt or dry mustard rubbed on the hands immediately after peeling an onion will remove the unpleasant odor. . . Cheese grates more easily after it has been chilled.

Speaking of cake frosting, as we were a couple of paragraphs ago, a favorite on chocolate cakes around our house is bitter-sweet frosting, and here's how it is made:

You'll need 1½ packages of confactioners sugar, 1½ sticks of butter or margarine, 1½ teaspoons vannilla flavoring, 3 squares of unsweetened chocolate and a small amount of water.

Allow butter or margarine to soften to room temperature and gradually stir in sugar. When mixture becomes dry, add vanilla and continue stirring and adding sugar. As mixture becomes dry again, add water a tablespoons at a time until all the sugar has been added and the frosting is of proper consistency to spread between layers and over top of cake. Beware of adding too much water!

Spread frosting on cake. Melt unsweetened chocolate over hot water. Allow to cool to room temperature and then pour over cake, dribbling it in a circular pattern.

CHILTON COUNTY DEPT. OF PUBLIC HEALTH

With the advent of warm weather Chilton County will be faced with a serious fly problem. It is common knowledge that the fly is, aside from being an unwanted pest, a carrier of several diseases. Germs that produce dysentery, poliomyelitis and several others have been found within and on the fly. Knowledge of the breeding ground of flies is in itself sufficient for us to hate and fear them, for the most unpleasant sites in the community serve as the spawning ground for flies. The stable, pig pen, chicken yards and coops, decaying vegetable matter, exposed body wastes, and almost any spoiled, decaying substance. Most of us have seen fly larvae, commonly called maggots in decaying substances. Each of these will become in a few days an adult fly. Contrary to popular belief, the adult fly will not always remain close to its breeding ground but may fly for many miles. Through experiments it has been proven that flies may fly as far as twenty miles in a few hours. Flies may get into a car and ride for many miles. Then the problem becomes one for all of us. There are several insecticides and larvicides available today that will aid in the control of the house fly. These chemicals may be used by homeowners with very good results. A better approach to the problem, however, would be the eradication of breeding places. The adult fly in order to propagate must lay its eggs in some substance that will provide food for the larvae. If no such substance is available the larvae when hatched will die. By removing the breeding ground a multiple purpose is achieved. The fly is controlled, unsightly objects are removed, and many unpleasant odors are eliminated.

Sanitary sewage disposal, sanitary garbage disposal, and the sanitary keeping of livestock and fowl will accomplish this. Your County Health Department will be glad to discuss with you methods to eliminate fly breeding and methods to control adult flies through the use of insecticides. — E. F. Sloan, Co. Sanitation Officer.

Eggs with clean shells keep best. Wipe off soiled spots with a damp cloth, but don't wash eggs until just before you use them. When eggs are first laid, the shells have a film known as the "bloom" which seals the pores and helps keep out bacteria and odors. Washing removes this protective film.

MACEDONIA

Sunday was our regular preaching day, with Rev. Hyman Atcheson bringing the message, both morning and evening. The Sunday School and B.T.U. classes were discussed well.

The B.T.U. class was led by Mrs. Alline Hayes, who does a grand job each night, and Miss Mariah Freeman, who always has such fine Bible questions. The class was pertaining to sin, entitled "Love One Another." However a person chooses to live is the way his fellowmen know him. As quoted in our sermon, every man has a name. If he is a Chrsitian, he is called a Chrsitian. If we were each to be given a name, what would it be? How much do we love Jesus? We should love Him enough to lay down our life for Him. He did as much for us. "Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends." We may say we'd die for our children or mother, but Jesus died on the Cross between criminals for sinners, the lowest sinners, just to give them a chance of redemption.

As we all know, Sunday was Mother's Day; a day to remember mother, the greatest person on earth. And almost everyone in the community was visited by their children. Each one so proud and happy because his mother was the sweetest of all. I know I was. It sure made me happy to wear a red rose, to still have my mother with me, and I like everyone else, felt a little more fortunate that she was my mother. Many have mothers gone on to Heaven. Don't you want to meet them again? I have a loving grandmoter. I know that she is there, and I don't want to miss Heaven, because I know she'll be there. Do you?

Our pastor, Rev. Hyman Atcheson, is planning a wonderful trip to Cuba, with every mile, a mile for the betterment of his learnings as a good Christian minister. Let each of us who pray, pray that his trip will be a successful one.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones Sunday were Rev. Hyman Atcheson and wife and baby, Mrs. Georgia Crumpton, Mr. and Mrs. Arliss Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harris and their children of Selma; Mr. Hoyt and Miss Mariah Freeman, Miss Bessie Smith, Mr. Johnny Moore and Mr. Sterling Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Ermon Rasberry and Miss Fannie Lee Mims spent the day Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith and children of Pates Chapel Community.

MAKE USE OF CHART IN PATTERN BOOKS

In the front of each pattern book is a chart showing the various sizes available.

Levice Ellis, API Extension clothing specialist, says that the bust measures of Junior Miss and half sizes are an odd number of inches, such as 29 inches for size 11 or 35 inches for size 14½. Junior Miss, Misses', and Women's bust sizes are in even numbers.

"The same bust measure in a Girl's, Misses', or Woman's pattern will not fit the same figure," adds Miss Ellis. "The curve of the bust differs. The Girl's bust is only slightly curved, the Junior Misses' is more fully developed, the Misses' is more pointed, and the Woman's is fuller but more rounded.

"Another difference to be found in patterns is the variation in the length of sleeve and waist. This difference can be checked on the chart of measurements found in the pattern book or on the back of the pattern.

The cost of growing pullets can be cut by furnishing plenty of green feed while they are on the range. And usually a stronger, healthier pullet results from the use of a good range program.

To freshen French or Italian bread or hard rolls, simply let a little cold water run over them a second.

Jemison High Defeats Selma's Parrish High

After copping the 1952 Chilton County Championship by trimming the Chilton County High of Clanton twice, Jemison moved into the 3rd district play-off and whammed out a 13 to 1 victory over Parrish High from Selma, Ala., on Wednesday, May 7th.

J. W. Langston, rangy 6-foot 2-inch pitcher for Jemison High, breezed a 6-hitter by the Dallas County Champs. He struck out 11 batters and walked two. The Selma lads were simply unable to connect solidly as J. W. clipped the inside and outside corners of the plate with a blistering fast [illegible] With one exception, the Jemison High School infield clicked like a run-away mustang on a concrete skating rink. This one exception ultimately led to the scoring [illegible] Parrish's only score. The [illegible] baseman was caught out of [illegible] position with a runner on second and Harris drilled a hopper between first and second to drive in Parrish's lone run.

Kent Lowery and Dan Price each got a hit for J.H.S. and each of these hits were homers. Price's drive drove in two runs ahead of him. Earl Ellison, who plays left field when not pitching, turned in a fielding gem in the 6th inning, when he backed up against the fence in deep left center and snagged a long high fly for the third out; two runners were stranded at second and third when he pulled down this well hit ball. Little Wayne Guin, who is fast developing into one of the best catchers J.H.S. has yet produced, played his usual consistent game, and after [illegible] a couple of would-be [illegible] in the early part of the game, the Dallas County baseballers quickly gained respect for his quick accurate pegging to second.

This win gives Jemison High a season's record of 12 wins against [illegible] loss; a 5 to 3 decision to Columbiana, the third game of the season played at Columbiana on [illegible] 11.

Jemison High was slated to meet [illegible] team last Tuesday, May 13, at Jemison. A report on this game will be given next week when your reporter will summarize the total seasons record for Jemison High School team, which in the judgement of many, is the best baseball combination in the history of our school. The real beauty of this is that all the players will be back next year with one exception. We lose hard-plugging third baseman, Kent Lowery through graduation. Kent aspires to win a berth on the [illegible] team next year. With [illegible] wishes for happy [illegible]

[illegible] scheduled to [illegible] High School of [illegible] week in the sec[illegible] the district. [illegible] with summerizations [illegible]

[illegible] games were not [illegible] to get in this week's [illegible] Chilton County News.—R. [illegible]son, Sports Reporter.

GRAZING SERICEA

Many farmers still make the mistake of waiting until sericea has made too much growth before turning livestock onto it. Grazing of sericea should start when it has made three or four inches growth in the early spring. At this stage of growth, sericea is tender and livestock like it.

FUR TRAPPERS HOPE FOR BETTER MARKET

Auburn, Ala. — Alabama trappers were hard hit this past season when the bottom dropped out of the fur market.

"Prices for raw furs in some cases were 50 per cent less than the prices paid for the same pelts a year ago," reveals Earl Kennamer, API Extension wildlife specialist. "Reports from a New York fur auction company indicate that the market was very quiet during and following the season."

Kennamer says that one possible explanation of a partial drop in value of pelts is that France is not taking American furs this year. That nation has been a fair buyer of the higher priced pelts, especially those of muskrat, mink, raccoon, and beaver.

Of course, fur trappers hope the slump will disappear by Fall and higher prices for Alabama pelts will prevail as in earlier years.

STATE-GROWN PRODUCTS OFFER A WIDE VARIETY

A number of favorite foods grown in Alabama will be on the market during the next few weeks.

"New Irish potatoes are going to market now," says A. W. Jones, API Extension marketing specialist, and strawberries, along with a wide variety of spring greens, are available."

He adds that a plentiful supply of pork and broilers is on hand. Also, cold storage beef stocks are nearly double those of last year. Eggs are still in large supply and milk production is increasing with the coming of warm weather and more grazing.

Therefore," says Jones, now is the time for thrifty food buyers to take advantage of these plentiful state-grown foods."

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING IMPROVES DAIRY HERDS

The latest report on artificial breeding of dairy cows in the U. S. is encouraging, according to Pete Turnham, API Extension dairy specialist.

He points out that daughters of proved sires used in artificial breeding last year averaged 459 pounds of butterfat. This figure is over twice the production of average cows in the U. S.

"In Alabama," says the specialist, "the artificial breeding program is gainning in popularity, and it is doing much to improve the quality of milk cows as well as increase milk production."

Mr. E. N. Varden of Union Grove moved to his present location in October, 1951. Being located on the Carnation Milk Route, Mr. Varden and his family decided to investigate the possibility of selling milk. Since he moved to the farm too late to produce any feed, it seemed that his prospects for making any money were very poor. However, Mr. Varden reasoned that if he could make feed expenses he would be satisfied, because he wanted to keep his three cows until some home grown feed could be raised. After getting his first milk check he found with high producing cows, it might still be possible to realize a net profit. After looking at cows all over the country he finally found four more cows with production that he felt would justify buying feed for. At present Mrs. Varden and the four children are milking seven cows. During the last two weeks pay period, the Varden milk check amounted to $124.00. The feed cost for the same period amounted to $66.00. Mr. Varden stated that by producting his own feed he could have reduced the feed cost $40.00.

Mr. Varden plans to plant sixty acres of pasture just as fast as possible. As he develops his feed program the number of cows will be in creased. Even though the herd is far above the average Mr. Varden has bought a top quality Jersey bull to use on the herd. By selecting the best heifers he feels that production per cow can still be increased. "After all," stated Mr. Varden, "it's the milk above feed feed cost that determines the net money — not the number of cows

CUTTING GLASS

To get cleaner cuts of glass, place the sheet of glass near a source of heat for 12 to 24 hours. When it has warmed throughout, it is ready to cut. The glass should be placed on a pad made of several thicknesses of newspaper when being cut.

Put some prepared mustard on steaks, ham, and hamburgers before cooking. It adds zest to the dish.

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

ONE OF ALABAMA'S LEADING WEEKLIES

VOLUME XXX | CLANTON, ALABAMA | THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1952 | NUMBER 21

—By Ben

Patterson Hicks's announcement that he would resign as Principal of the Chilton County High School as of June 1st, came as a surprise. He made the announcement at the Commencement Service Monday night at the High School Auditorium. He has been principal at C.C.H.S. for the past 16 years and deserves the gratitude of hundreds of parents throughout Chilton County for his watchfulness and care of their offsprings. He has served well and we wish him every success in his new venture.

The old tin building across from the News office has gone the way of all old buildings. It was torn down this past week to make room for a more modern interprise—a car lot. Originally it housed a grist mill. Clanton Motors, Inc., has taken over so we expect to see the old place shine now with new paint, etc. Whatever goes on over there will be an improvement.

Just about half the populace, it seems, is in Panama City, Fla., this week. Now that school is out the FFA, the FHA, the Junior Stewards at the Clanton Methodist Church, and any number of private parties are spending the week at the beach. No one from Chilton County will miss old familiar faces at Panama City Beach this week.

You ought to go down and see Ed Mullins new General Electric show room in his new building on 1st Avevnue behind Moate's Market and Groceryv. He's fast completing his decorating and finishing touches and will be ready within a short time to hold open house. However you're welcome to visit just any time.

The other Wednesday a very accommodating butcher left us some steaks at the Farley Drug Store because we couldn't get to the store before they closed at noon. In the afternoon when we called for the package the 'Three Fine Farleys" had the meat on ice and was taking mighty good care of the precious item. We thanked Mrs. Farley and she said she was glad to take care of it for us—in fact, she said, if we hadn't called for it she still would have taken care of it for us.

The meanest man in the world is the man who put a tack in the electric chair.

The dignified office manager was dismayed, on looking out a back window, to discover several employees kneeling in the alley in a reverent attitude — about a crap game. He turned to the office boy and ordered:

'Jimmy, go down there and break up that dice game."

The matter slipped his mind for the next hour, and then he noticed the office boy and the others quietly stealing back to work.

"Jimmy!" roared the boss. "Didn't I tell you to go down and break up that game of dice? What took you so long?"

"I did what you said, sir," replied Jimmy, with righteous dignity, "but all I had to start with was a quarter."

ELECTRIC FACILITIES SERVING CLANTON UNDERGOING IMPROVEMENT

Elsewhere in this issue you will read a notice that tells of a short interruption to the electric customers in certain areas on next Sunday morning.

You have probably noticed a large amount of line crew work being done on the electric distribution lines here in Clanton. Mr. Gordon L. Robertson, District Manager of the Alabama Power Company, states that his company is revamping and improving the lines and is also increasing the capacity of the Substation located in South Clanton on 6th Street. He also says that when the present work is completed that the electric distribution system here in Clanton will be so arranged that should line trouble occur here in the city, the area in trouble can, in most cases, be isolated by the switches installed in the lines and service restored to other sections of the city.

The work now in progress will be completed in the early part of July and our City of Clanton will have an electric distribution system as modern as any City of comparbale size anywhere in the state. The increase now being made in the capacity of the substation in South Clanton indicates the continued ability of the Alabama Power Company to provide adequate and dependable electric service to supply the needs of our growing city.

Notice!

The quantity of water required each day by the people of Clanton for their own needs is approaching the daily filtering capacity of our filtering plant. Therefore, peach growers and others who have been permitted to take water from the water mains at the fire plugs will please discontinue doing so immediately.

By order of the City Council.
THE CITY OF CLANTON
C. FENN JONES, Mayor.

Heifer Sale At Central Alabama Stock Yards May 26

Arrangements are being completed for securing and selling at public auction, approximately fifty (50) started dairy heifers. The heifers are being secured from purebred herds of dairy cattle in Minnesota and Wisconsin. They will be approximately two months old and ready to be carried on calf feed.

This will be an opportunity for 4-H and FFA members and dairy producers to secure at public auction desirable female milk production prospects.

In addition to the sale a drawing will be held giving a heifer calf to a lucky 4-H or FFA member. The club member must be present to win.

Don't forget — 7:00 p.m., Monday, May 26th, at the Central Alabama Stock Yards.

Effective Revival Completed At West End Baptist Church

The West End Baptist Church of Clanton, Alabama, has just completed the best and most effective revival since the church has been in existence. This revival was not planned by the church; but the Spirit led people to believe that a revival was in order. This one was ... addition to the Simultaneous Revival in March.

Twenty-six were added to the church. Twenty-two came by an experience of grace. The pastor, Rev. R. E. Wilkins, was the evangelist.

God wonderfully blessed and His power was manifested in every service. Souls were born into the Kingdom and Christians were revived.

Moores Make Rapid Progress In Farm Program

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Moore of Route 1, Maplesville, are making notable and rapid progress with their farming operations under the supervision of the combined efforts of the agricultural agencies in Chilton County. They received a farm development loan from the Farmers Home Administration in February, 1951. Since that time, they have erected posts and fenced their entire farm, seeded 15 acres of sericea, 15 acres of reseeding Crimson Clover, 15 acres of Fescue and Ladino Clover and set out 12 acres of Kudzu crowns in addition td their 30 acres of row crops in 1951.

The long-time plan on this farm consists of 20 beef cattle, 2-sow unit, and 8 Jersey cows for the sale of Grade 'B" milk. This will provide a well-rounded program and income will be on a bi-monthly basis.

Many other farmers are realizing the importance of the milk program that is progressing so rapidly.

P.-T.A. Sponsors Dance Recital

Mr. Hooks had his initial training with Frank Jones School of Dance, of Anniston, before the War. During his Navy career, he studied in Chicago, New Orleans, Panama and New Zealand. He was with the New Orleans Opera Company Ballet, two seasons before joining Frank Jones where he was five years, prior to coming to Birmingham this year.

Mrs. Referee Lineberry and Mrs. C. C. Crig have charge of the ticket sale. The admission will be 30c for children and 60c for adults. Due to limited seating capacity, every child must have a ticket, regardless of how small.

This recital promises to be one of the outstanding events of the season. The material for the costumes came from a Theatrical Company in New York and besides the local talent from the classes, there will be musical numbers and several guest artists from Birmingham to appear on the program.

RECEIVES HONOR FROM EMORY UNIVERSITY

Paul M. McKinney, 205-8th St., Clanton, was recently named to Phi Beta Kappa, highest scholastic honorary at Emory University. He took part in Honors Day ceremonies on the Emory campus last week, at which time recognition is given to new members of honor societies, and special awards are made.

W. L. Parrish Turns Surplus Milk Problem Into Dairy Unit

JUDGE PARRISH looks at three of his nice Jersey cows that created his surplus milk problem. As the result of having "too much milk," Dr. Parrish has started a profitable dairy unit that he plans to more than double within two or three months. The cows above have daughters that will freshen soon and can be put on the milking line.

Judge W. L. Parrish of Clanton recently found that a few good cows could produce more milk than he and the family on his farm could possibly use. Since the cows had to be milked, Dr. Parrish decided to see if something could be worked out whereby the surplus milk could be sold without having to go to a lot of expense and trouble.

After talking to Joe Finley, a colored share-cropper, it was decided that Joe and his family would care for the cows and in return receive half the milk check. The first month the milk check amounted to $72.75 after hauling expenses were deducted. Three cows were milked during this pay period. One of the three cows was finishing the last month of her lactation period and was below the average production.

When Dr. Parrish was asked about the cost of feeding he stated, "The milk was produced without any feed other than pasture." In Dr. Parrish's case, pasture consisted of an excellent growth of white dutch, crimson clover, rye and native grass.

Within ninety days Dr. Parrish plans to bring the milking herd to seven cows. Heifers from the best cows have been saved and will be used in the milking herd. All dairy cows are being bred to purebred Jersey bulls and the best heifers will be saved to increase the herd to ten or fifteen milkers.

By developing good pasture and keeping only the highest producing heifers, Dr. Parrish feels that he can keep production costs to a minlimum. When Dr. Parrish was asked how cheap he could produce milk, he replied, "I can produce it as cheap as anybody else." With the combination of good pasture, good cows and home labor it appears that Dr. Parrish is not far wrong on his cost estimate.

Dr. Parrish feels that with the labor on the farm, ten to twelve cows can be milked without having to reduce the cash crops. All feed used in the dairy unit will be grown on the farm, even when the cows are fed in the barn.

CLANTON'S HORSE SHOW

The Clanton Lions Club is making ready to give Chilton County and Central Alabama another good horse show. The date has been set for June 4th, and the various commitees are working feverishly to get things in order for Clanton's biggest and best Horse Show.

Full cooperation of the merchants and businessmen of the county is needed to make it the success it should be and the Clanton Lions are counting on this cooperation.

Proceeds go to the Lions Sight Conservation Fund and the Crippled Children's Fund, which alone makes the project deserving of your support.

CONGRATULATIONS!

It's time to congratulate the Seniors again, and each year it is a time of sadness as well as joy, to see the "youngsters" finish high school.

Their's is a reward they well deserve and worked many hard hours to receive.

We wish for them the very best from life and we have only one small bit of advice: "From each task you undertake, you will receive no more, or less, than you put into it."

NEW MAIN STREET

Through the efforts of our Mayor and Council, Clanton is sporting a new main street. The tar and gravel base was put down last week and within a few days we expect to see the blacktop laid.

The old street was "cracking up" and the new blacktop was badly needed.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

When toys are lost around our house, the first place I look for them is in the bath tub. Now this may seem to be a rather unusual place to locate toys—but we have a three-year-old in our family.

The three-year-old doesn't really object to taking a bath, not if he can take along "just a special toy or two" to keep him from getting lonesome in the tub. The trouble is that he can't count very well. Two, to him, means any number more than one. So, after his last bath, there remained in the tub two airplanes, one red ball, one plastic clown, one speed racer, three blocks, one top, four whistles, three assorted wheels and one shovel. And one very black ring!

It hardly seems possible that the three-year-old could find room in the tub for himself after he got his "special toy or two" in.

We were rushing to get dressed for Sunday School the other Sunday when the five-year-old broke the strap on her white sandal as she was pulling it through the buckle. It took some frantic searching before we located some other shoes that were not too disreputable to wear.

The neighbor around the corner says she prevents such broken-strap accidents by sticking adhesive tape to the back of the straps, trimming it to fit and punching holes in the proper places. This reinforcement makes the straps last much longer.

It seems that every time I open my sewing box to make hasty repairs on some garment, the tape measure is always tangled around everything in the box! Tape measures just won't stay neatly rolled, at least not in my sewing box.

Our helpful neighbor offered a suggestion though that will probably work wonders. She tacks her tape measure to a large spool, rolls the tape around the spool and anchors the free end with a snap.

This same neighbor has a bread board with two dozen nails in it hung on her wall in the sewing room. Each nail holds a spool of thread, a clever way to keep her thread as untangled as her tape measure is.

For a refreshing, light dessert some hot day try slicing a ripe banana into the white of an egg. Beat with a rotary beater until stiff. Add sugar to taste, a dash of salt, a couple of teaspoons of lemon juice. Serve over chilled sliced oranges.

To go with this dessert, here's a suggestion: Lay green spears of canned asparagus on thin slices of cooked ham. Put a poached egg on top of the asparagus and sprinkle with grated cheese. Place under the broiler just long enough for the cheese to melt and serve at once.

Something I never knew before: Cream that seems too thin can be coaxed to whip if the bowl containing the cream is placed in a larger bowl of cold water until well chilled. Then place in a bowl of hot water. After this treatment, the cream will whip without difficulty.

Put some prepared mustard on steaks, ham, and hamburgers before cooking. It adds zest to the dish.

DR. OLIVER C. CARMICHAEL WILL DELIVER ALABAMA COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

BALDNESS

Alopecia is the medical name of baldness. The reason the hair falls out, leaving the scalp bald, is not known. Many theories have been advanced, but thus far there is no proof to substantiate them. Heredity seems to be a factor in baldness, just as it is in families whose members are known for their luxuriant growth of hair.

Certain diseases accompanied with a high fever play a role in the "falling out" of hair. This is usually a temporary loss with the hair growing again just as it did before the illness. Bald patches are also noticed frequently with boils, carbuncles, and some accidental injuries when the scalp has been scraped.

Each hair grows from a bud or root known as a papilla, about a quarter of an inch below the surface of the skin. That is why it is good to stimulate the circulation beneath the skin by rubbing the scalp with the finger tips. Since dry and falling hair are suggestive of a physical disturbance, it is wise to have an examination to rule out any internal condition.

Clealiness of the hair is essential in the care of the scalp. Even when the hair is light and fine, odors will cling to it as will dust. Brushing of the hair helps to keep it clean as does wasihng at regular intervals.

If the hair is dry and unmanageable, the application of a little oil or grease will keep it in place. However, this application does not nourish the hair. True nourishment of the hair comes from within. If the internal machinery of the body is in good working order so that food is properly assimilated and disturbed, necessary fuel or nourishment is provided.

Since baldness is associated with many different factors, such as inefficient glands, heredity, injuries and certain systemic conditions, it is evident that many causes are involved. More study and research are required to make the diagnosis and treatment of the condition an uncomplicated procedure.

544 S.S. CHECKS GO TO CHILTON COUNTY AGED

Checks for insurance payments under Federal social security went to 544 aged persons, children and their widowed mothers in Chilton County for December 1951. Today, the figures are slightly larger.

In releasing these figures today, Jack Adamson, Field Representative of the Birmingham Social Security office, also said that these monthly payments under the old-age and survivors insurance program amounted to $13,399.00 in this county. "Without these payments earned by workers under this contributory system, the ability of many people to pay for necessities would have been drastically curtailed or entirely ended," he said.

More than one-third of all people over 65 in the United States who could not count on income from work for support, were getting social security insurance benefits. About 323 persons over age 65 in Chilton county were receiving these payments.

Mr. Adamson pointed out that this Federal program is affording substantial survivor insurance protection. Three out of every four mothers and young children in the Nation are now assured of monthly payments if the insured breadwinner of the family dies.

In this connection, he cited monthly payments totaling $4,794.00 to 184 children, and 37 widowed mothers in Chilton county. These monthly payments are going to families deprived of earned income by the untimely death of the wage earner. They are making it possible to keep families together, and keep children in school, and, at the same time, lessening the drain on both public and private welfare funds, he declared.

Mr. Adamson added that he is at the Employment Office in Clanton the first and third Thursdays in each month at 1:30 p.m. to assist the public in social security matters.

TO THE VOTERS AND CITIZENS OF CHILTON COUNTY

J. M. (Jim) Dunlap

Very soon you are again to be called upon to go to your polls and elect your Democratic candidates. This should be taken as seriously and as duty binding as any of your voting, if not more so.. Weighing the qualifications of each candidate, not to suit any particular group or community, but as to his fitness for the entire groups as a whole should come first. The candidates you select now may be the deciding factors of victory for your party in the final elections later.

As a run-off candidate for the office of Member of the Board of Revenue, 4th District, I again want to invite your close examination of conditions when I became your Commissioner and now. We have made more progress, records show, under the most trying conditions than any other administration. Should there be more said?

It is customarily wise and profitable to the taxpayers to give a proven, progressive and able officeholder a second term in office. This is economy. I will as always work closely with other members of the Board, your Probate Judge, our Engineer and You, the Public, for the promotion of better Government for our good county. The records are open for your inspection of any and all transactions the county has made during my term in office and will continue to be as long as you see fit to keep me there. Your constructive criticism continues to be welcomed by me and your great trust in me will always be guarded jealously.

Honor me with your vote and this trust will never be betrayed. Your aid will be appreciated greatly.

Thanks in advance for your vote and influence.

ADJUST IRONING BOARD FOR BETTER PRESSING

The ironing board should be the correct height for comfort and padded to give it a smooth, even, hard surface, according to Levice Ellis, API Extension clothing specialist.

She suggests that the padding may be cotton flannel, old blankets, or sheets without wrinkles or uneven places in the padded surface. Each ironing board should have several covers. They will give better service if laundered as often as necessary.

A piece of asbestos cut to fit the broad end of the ironing board and fastened with thumb tacks will prevent scorching the cover.

OUR DAY IN MONTGOMERY

On Wednesday, May 7th, Mrs. Haywood's fifth grade went to Montgomery. Mrs. Teel, Mrs. Wade, Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Haywood took us in their cars.

We went into the Coca-Cola Bottling Company and inspected it. Before we left they gave us a Coca-Cola and a pencil.

After we left the Coca-Cola Bottling Company, we went to the Capitol. There we learned that a father and son were governors. As we went into the capitol we saw a gold star. It was on this star that Jefferson Davis stood when he was elected President of the Confederacy.

At Jefferson Davis's home we saw his bed, wash bowl, dresser, valise, slippers, chair, suit case, top hat box, collar box and sword.

We also saw the dining room, sitting room, Mrs. Davis's room, the baby's room and two relic rooms.

In the music room there was an antique piano. Also a mirror about seven feet tall.

After we left there we went to the State Department of Archives and History. Before we went in we saw a negro who said he was one hundred and nine years old. He said he had had three wives. He said there was a silver hat in the museum he wore in the war.

Ervin Dailey and I were told that the museum was twelve years old and cost six hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

We saw the emblem of the Liberty Bell.

In the hall on the third floor there were stuffed birds, and animals. There was a lizard whose skin is used for drums, and eggs for food in the country from which it came.

After we left there we went to the Park and had lunch, played a while and then came home.—Written by Mary Jo Sandlin.

THE BETTER SPEECH CLUB

On Tuesday night, May 13th, at 7:30 o'clock, Mrs. Thomas' Sixth Grade Class, the Better Speech Club, of the Clanton Elementary School, presented their final program of the school year.

Due to the fact that so many fathers of the students have been unable to attend the daytime programs, this was a very special program presented at night so that the fathers too could enjoy and see at first hand what progress their children had made in the year's work which had just been completed. Although not all of the members of the Club could be present, a large number did take part in the program.

Several songs, folk, semi-classical, lullabies, etc., were sung under the direction of Mrs. Audrey Bonanno, musical director. The members presented various types of poems, readings and piano selections with the final number, "Farewell," being sung by the class.

At the close of this highly entertaining program, delicious sandwiches, cold drinks and other refreshments were served to the large number of parents and Club members, under the direction of Mrs. Morris Popwell, who was head of the room mothers for the past school year.

Ed Got Red In His Own "Hot Water"

Big Ed started a "Pay-Your-Bill" campaign last week and ended up with a slightly red face. Ed's been our Water Commissioner for ten years, and for ten years now he's been getting riled up over slow payments of bills.

So, he finaly decided to do something drastic about it. Last week he sent notices that if the slackers didn't pay up by Friday, he'd shut off their water.

Naturally, some still didn't square accounts. Ed ordered their water turned off, and 14 homes went without all week end—the Commissioner's among them. Seems Ed forgot to pay his bill.

From where I sit, Ed's mistake is one we all make at times. We are too quick to accuse others while forgetting our own faults. Lots of us do it, for instance, over a difference in taste for a soft drink or a friendly glass of beer. Let's respect each other's preferences and we'll all stay out of "hot water."

JEMISON FHA MET

The Jemison Future Homemakers of America had their monthly meeting Thursday, May 8th. They selected the following officers for the next year:

President, Peggy Cost; vice president, Barbara Glasscock; treasurer, Doris Peters; secretary, Billie Sue Burgess; reporter, Mary Clyde Gore; parliamentarian, June Northcutt; song leader, Janis Miller.

Something Of Interest To Every Voter

Let's think of June 3rd as the date that your county officers for the next four years will be elected. You should want to have a part in selecting them. Show your interest by talking good government until June 3rd and then voting on that date for the one that has done things before and not things that are promised to do later.

It is your money to be used and you and your county are to benefit from it, so you should want to have a voting interest. Take time off from what you are doing and carry some one to vote on June 3rd as you can't do it before or after.

The good voters of this county should take the county election in their own hands, and do the job in a way that the people in other parts of the state will give us some favorable comments.

The undersigned received 882 votes in the May Primary, which was 241 more than my opponent of June 3rd. I am thanking everyone of you for your past vote and am also asking each one of you to carry same one with you that didn't vote for me May 6th, to the polls June 3rd and vote for me.

FIRE

Careless acts that may cause a fire include throwing away lighted ed cigarettes and matches, tossing oily rags in a heap, letting children play with matches, and using flammable cleaning fluids.

SUMMER EROSION

Heavy summer erosion can be reduced by practicing contour farming, mending weak places in terraces and getting sodded terrace outlets in good condition before summer downpours begin.

It is better to select closely woven fabrics for slip covers because they give greater protection against dust, hold their shape better, wear longer, and tailor more easily than do loose-woven materials.

CHAPEL OF THE RESURRECTION MASS

On Sunday, May 11th, at the Chapel of the Resurrection Mass was offered for the mothers at 8:30 a.m. The sermon, "The Sacred Responsibility of Motherhood," was delivered by the pastor, the Rev. Walter Mikosz, C.R.

Bishop Toolen had asked that on Mother's Day we combine our love and veneration for our Blessed Mother with the love and devotion for our natural mother and that we supernaturalize that devotion by each family receiving Holy Communion. To this end the ceremonies began with a procession of the children of the parish singing the processional: "On This Day O Beautiful Mother." The children were dressed in white and carried lovely little nosegays. Preceding the coronation Father Mikosz blessed the crown. Susan Scott, the crown bearer, then presented the crown of roses on a silver plaque to Suzanne Lennon who had been chosen to crown the Blessed Mother, as the congregation sang, "O Mary We Crown Thee with Roses Today."

Horsley White Urges All Voters Go To The Polls

HORSLEY WHITE

As American citizens all of us should go to the polls on Tuesday, June 3rd and cast our vote, thinks Horsley White, candidate for Circuit Clerk in the coming election. Too many people are staying away from the polls.

Mr. White also thinks it is the duty of each voter to vote for all the offices on the ticket and not just one or two and skip the rest. "Our office holders are selected by the opinion of the majority," he stated, "and only by every voter going to the polls and casting his vote for the candidate best fitted for the office, can we get the choice of the majority."

Mr. White also stated that he deeply appreciated the good vote he received from the people of Chilton County on May 6, and will appreciate the support of all the voters of the county on June 6th

OUR TRIP TO MONTGOMERY

Mrs. Haywood's fifth grade room of the Clanton Elementary went to Montgomery Wednesday, May 7, 1952. Our room mothers, Mrs. Teel, Mrs. Wade, Mrs. Morris and our teacher, Mrs. Haywood, took us. When we got there we went to the Coca-Cola Plant. We went inside and inspected it. We learned that one Coca-Cola cost $1,000.00 if you made it alone. Each mineral comes from a different country.

After we left the Coca-Cola Plant, we went to the Capitol of Alabama. We learned that a father and his son was once governor and their name was Bibb. We saw where Jefferson Davis was installed as president of the Confederacy. We saw many pictures of governors.

After we left the Capitol of Alabama we went to Jefferson Davis's home. We saw a beautiful picture of Jefferson Davis. The stairs were so old that only one person could go up at a time.

Then we went to the State Department of Archives and History. There were many things interesting. There was a ship made by hand which was 449.0 x 631. We saw eye glass, home-made shoes, stuffed beavers and many more things. A lady gave Mary Jo and me some information about the building. She said that the building material came from Alabama and that the building was 12 years old. It cost $650,000.

Then we went to Oak Park and spent the rest of the afternoon there. We returned home about dark.—Written by Ervin Dailey.

CRIMSON CLOVER SEED HARVEST REPORT UPPED

Auburn, Ala. — A final estimate on last year's U. S. Crimson clover seed crop has been placed at 27,360,000 pounds.

Ralph Jones, API Extension seed specialist, says that this is an increase of about 6,000,000 pounds over earlier reports.

The final yield for Alabama's 1951 crimson clover crop was 8,500,000 pounds.

"This year's harvest is under way," states Jones, "and, of course, weather conditions during the season will affect the size of the crop. However, the Alabama yield should be about the same as for 1951, since the current crimson clover acreage about equals last year's."

RESULTS OF GOOD LAND USE PLUS MANAGEMENT

Auburn, Ala. — Above-average yields, low production costs, and higher average farm incomes are some of the results of good land use and land management.

"Despite the many and varied soil conditions in Alabama," says S. R. Doughty, API Extension soil conservationist, "a few broad suggestions on good land use may be applied to most all farms. They include using more fertile, less erosive, and more level land for row cropping; using crops adapted to the soil, and using gently rolling and rolling land in rotations planned to fit the land pattern."

Doughty urges that strongly rolling and hilly lands be used for sod crops. Steep and stony lands should be used for permanent pasture and woodland. Of course, wet or damp land are best suited for pastures.

NEW-TYPE BARN LOWERS MILK PRODUCTION COST

Time spent in the milk barn adds up to one of the big costs in milk production, according to J. R. Parrish, API Extension dairyman.

He points out that the average dairyman spends 125 10-hour days with 20 cows in one year.

"To make these work hours as efficient as possible," says the specialist, "several new-type dairy barns have been on the planning boards of Extension Service, agricultural engineering, and state health workers for some time. Some of these plans are now available on request through the local county agent.

ALABAMA'S new radar apparatus for checking up on speeding motorists is now in use, as the State Public Safety Department continues the relentless drive by Gov. Gordon Persons to make highways and roads safe. Here, examining one of the new devices are State Public Safety Director L. B. Sullivan, left, and Patrolman W. B. Painter, right, Montgomery. When the mechanism is placed in position by the side of a highway, it registers both visually and on a graph in ink, the speed of the passing car. The officer on duty at the apparatus can then radio fellow patrolmen, who will be stationed down the road in either direction, to pick up the speeder.

FARMERS CAN CONTROL WATERMELON DISEASES

Auburn, Ala.—There are diseases hat cause a heavy loss of watermelons in Alabama each year.

John Bagby, API Extension horiculturist, says that some of these iseases are best controlled by lanting resistant varieties on land hat has not been in watermelons or several years. Also, seed should e treated before they are planted.

"Three of the diseases—anthracose, downy mildew, and gummytem brilght—may be checked by praying or dusting vines with Zieb," states Bagby. "The treatent should start when plants bein to 'run,' and it should be reeated every seven to 10 days. It is [illegible]t important to thoroughly spray dust the plants at the first sign leaf spotting."

To make the spray, use two ounds of Zineb concentrate to 100 allons of water. For dusting, use mixture containing six per cent ineb. It is important to cover all rts of the plant with a fine film, ther than leaving big patches of ust on parts of the plant.

ILED DUSTCLOTHS OT GOOD ON WAX

Auburn, Ala. — Oiled dustcloths d oiled mops pick up dust, but ould never be used on waxed rfaces.

Alice Peavy, API Extension home anagement specialist, explains at an oiled cloth used on furniture nished with wax makes the wax icky and dingy. For dusting waxfurniture, use either a clean, soft, tless cloth, a dusting mitt, or a und brush attachment of a vacm cleaner. After dusting, rub furniture with the grain of the od to keep the surface shining.

"Furniture may need re-waxing ce or twice a year, depending how much it is used," says the ecialist. "If paste wax is used, ce a small dab of wax between veral layers of cheesecloth and b burniture with a circular mon. Let the wax dry a few mines and then polish briskly followg the grain of the wood. If liquid x is used, apply with soft cloth, t dry a few minutes, and then polh. Always polish before the wax ecomes hard."

Again the Chilton County Chamber of Commerce gives a helping hand to local 4-H Clubs. R. C. Williams, President of the Chamber of Commerce is holding a prime calf fed out by Marietta Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raney Jones of Mt. Pisgah Community.

Mr. Hollis Jackson was authorized by the Chamber of Commerce Board Members to purchase the calf at 40c per pound, with the understanding that any losses would be absorbed by the Chamber of Commerce. The calf dressed out above 60 per cent and was sold to various Chamber of Commerce members.

Other 4-H Club members showing and selling calves at the Birmingham Fat Stock Show were: John M. Williams, Baker; Carl Jones, Mt. Pisgah; Bobby Littlejohn, Baker; and George White, of Isabella. Prices received for each calf ranged from $300.00 to $438.00.

SPACE FARM BUILDINGS SO FIRE WON'T SPREAD

Fires may quickly destroy all farm buildings that are close together, espceially if roofs are made of flammable material.

William Cox, API Extension specialist in farm buildings, admits that little can be done about the location of existing buildings, but a new house, barn, or tool shed should be located a safe distance from its neighbors. When fire starts in one building, it can be more easily controlled if buildings are adequately spaced.

"If buildings are closely spaced," states the specialist, "use fire resistant roofing, such as asphalt shingles, metal, asbestos, or slate."

WATER FOR DAIRYING

Water is an important factor in the operation of modern dairy plants. Each cow requires a minimum of 25 gallons daily, and many more gallons are needed in the dairy barn.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

R. C. Williams is in the process of preparing twelve acres of idle land for an early planting of Fescue and Ladino clover.

Mr. A. B. Jones of Plantersville has been planting pasture for a long time. Kudzu and sericea have served for years as his best temporary grazing crops. Kudzu is used only after frost. He says it furnishes grazing for one month for all his livestock.

Charlie Patterson has nitrated the Coastal Bermuda Grass he planted this spring. The middles are being harrowed so the grass can knuckle down to give a ground cover. Charlie states he might grow one row [illegible] each middle to get a larger [illegible] return per acre this year.

Hoyt Freeman states, "I have started at the back of the field behind the house and I am going to sod some every year until I get to the barn (which is all the field). I am thruogh with row crops because of the labor shortage.

Curtis Collins is in the process of harvesting crimson clover on Joe Gibson's farm in Verbena.

Dick Hayes has done an excellent job of cleaning stumps and brush from 65 acres on his farm 5 miles north of Clanton on the Lay Dam Highway. This area will be planted this fall to fescue and ladino clover.

FOXHUNTERS TO HOLD FIELD TRIAL THIS YEAR

At a recent meeting in Clanton, the Board of Directors of the County Foxhunters Association decided to have a Field Trial in Chilton this year. The date will be August 18th through 21st.

Hotel Willingham will be headquarters for the entering of hounds on the evening of August 18th. There will be a bench show on the Hotel parking lot that evening. On the three mornings following, hounds will be cast—possibly east of Clanton near the river, with judges on horseback.

All classes will be shown on the bench, with over fifty ribbons being awarded to winners. In the field, eight trophies will be awarded—four to the first four Derby Hounds (under 2 years) and four to the All-Age. Places for kenneling and numbering of hounds will be announced later.

This is the first field trial ever attempted by the association and all hunters are invited and urged to help in every way possible to provide a great field trial for the many out-of-town visitors expected. Invitations are being mailed hundreds of hunters throughout the state.

On Monday night, June 9th, there will be another meeting of the Board of Directors at the Willingham Hotel. All hunters interested in helping promote this event are urged to attend.

For further information, write Chilton County Foxhunters Association, Hotel Willingham, Clanton, Ala.

MORE POLITICAL FACTS

J. C. PATTILLO

To the People of Chilton County:

There are about 7,000 voters in Chilton County. In past elections only 50% of them have voted. In the May 6th primary less than 50% of them voted. Therefore, the results of the May 6th election is the choice of less than half of Chilton County's voters.

Edmund Burke, political writer, says: "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing." In talking to people I hear things like this: "Politics has got so rotten I just quit voting." Nothing can be worse for our political health. It is the duty of Chilton County people to find out the truth about questions in hand and about the office-seekers; then upon facts alone to form opinions and support these opinions by speaking out through the ballot. Every man and woman should be a voter and each one of us should shoulder our responsibility by casting a ballot for the good of our county.

If I were a preacher, I would have for my text at this time, II Thessalonians 5:21, which says: "Prove all things; hold fast to that which is good." You have let me PROVE that I can make you a GOOD circuit clerk. For this I thank you so much! It gives me the right to again most respectfully ask for and expect your vote and influence in the June 3rd Primary.

Your sincere friend,
J. C. PATTILLO.

—By Ben

Did you hear what a shocking experience Herbert Linton, manager at Watson's, had last Sunday afternoon. Being no respector of persons, lightning struck his home. In fact it struck the corner of the room where he was sitting and blew out the fuse plug. We mean the one in the wall., It also wrecked his television set, knocked a four-foot hole in the roof and just about destroyed Linton's equilibrium. Luckily no one was hurt but if we'd been in the same situation we'd probably hurt ourself.

A horrible mistake has been made. Earl Reeves was one of the first of the candidates in the May 6th Primary to bring a statement of thanks to the people who supported him in the primary and it got misplaced and left out. We're terribly sorry. Just wanted you folks who supported him to know it was no fault of his. He said he really appreciated the support his friends gave him and he wanted them to know how he felt about it. We want to publicly say it was accidental and, fact is, we haven't found that darn notice yet. We do know he brought it in the day after election because we took it ourself. We do cute things around here boy.

That big grin that Joe Jackson of Clanton Drive-In is wearing around here isn't because of the good business up there, or the good start the Peach Festival has got off to. His daughter, Miriam Jean Jackson, graduated from Howard College with honors this year. She won a scholarship to the University of Syracuse, N. Y. Congratulations!

R. C. Williams and Rev. J. M. McKinney took the Junior Stewards of the Methodist Church to Panama City last week. They all had a wonderful time. We think that R. C. Williams is especially due a vote of appreciation from the parents of those boys for his interest in them. We know he sacrificed much in money and time to afford them the wonderful week they spent on the Gulf Coast.

We have another "I Love Lucy" fan to join the club. He's A. B. Foshee. Buster called to say he didn't think any self respecting T-V fan would interrupt another fan while he was watching the I Love Lucy Show, and that he was for suspending telephone conversations and business appointments each week during that period. Now you're talking, Buster!

Keep hearing that our "Little Brother, Buck" is going to run for public office the year after next. Wonder if it's so?

Brother, did it rain Saturday and Sunday in Chilton County? It didn't rain cats and dogs maybe, but it rained catfish and waterdogs aplenty. In fact, it tried all in twenty-four hours to catch up on the water deficit for the whole year.

The Lions Tenth Annual Horse Show catalogs will be off the press this week end. The show is next Wednesday at the City Park, you know. They are looking for a big turn-out for the show as nearly everybody loves to look at pretty horse flesh. By-the-way, they said to tell you that you are invited too.

As Mrs. White said to Mrs. Black over the back fence: "I don't like to repeat gossip, but what else can you do with it?"

EDITOR OF THE CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

I believe the people will appreciate the following information. At the beginning of this Administration in October, 1948, we had in use 902 water meters. Today we have in active use 1302 water meters and four meters installed, but water not turned on, making an increase of 404 connections to homes and a few places of business that did not have water service in October, 1948. Of course, many of these homes have been built since 1948, but not near all of them. These new users of water will increase the revenue of the City about $900.00 per month.

It was necessary to lay several miles of water pipe and sanitary sewer pipe to reach these people and the cost was many thousand dollars, but the improvement is paid for and we did not borrow any money. Could we have used the money more wisely and justly than by connecting these hundreds of people, many of whom are children, with pure water and sanitation? I think this improvement had priority over any other development Clanton needs and I am personally proud we were prepared to offer them this splendid service. I do not believe there is a person in Clanton who can conscientiously criticize the City Officials using the money.

Our consumption of water is closely approaching the daily filtering capacity of our filtering plant and in the near future it will be necessary to add one or two filtering units to our plant. Larger water mains are needed in Candler Terrace and in Glendale to afford greater water supply and the erection of an elevated water tank in that section is necessary to give adequate water pressure and fire protection.

Respectfully,
C. Fenn Jones, Mayor.

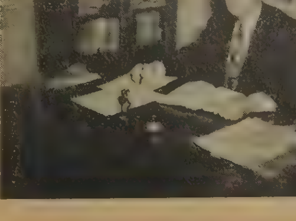
New Building At Temple Church To Be Dedicated Next Sunday

The recently completed Temple Church will hold Dedication Ceremonies next Sunday according to a statement made this week by the pastor, Rev. A. T. Hickman.

Work on the new structure was started last February 12th, and the work by the committees on the project was well thought out and efficient. This combined to give the member of Temple Church one of the prettiest rural churches in the county.



Rev. Hickman has completed eight years of ministry at Temple and during his service here his members have bought a parsonage and have completed their new church.

Rev. Hickman issued a cordial invitation to friends of the church to attend the Dedication Services next Sunday. (Photo by Scott)

JUDGE PRICE QUALIFIED

Judge Annie Lola Price of the Alabama Court of Appeals who is a candidate for re-election is well qualified for the place. She has proven this in her excellent work during the past year, and more, she has served on this Court.

It doesn't seem wise to cast a vote for a candidate of unproven ability when since Judge Price took the oath of office not a single decision that she has written has been reversed by the higher court. A better record just couldn't be made.

The contest for a place on the Alabama Court of Appeals is the only State-wide contest in the run-off election next Tuesday.

GO AND VOTE TUESDAY

You, and you, and you, spend a lot of time bellyaching about the kind of government we have and the number of useless offices and office-holders we have on our local, state and federal government payrolls. Let's see if you care enough to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote. You know that is the only way we will ever change the course that the present trend of tax and spend is taking us.

If you really care what kind of government you have, you will go and vote. It may not seem like you can do very much alone, but if all the people will do as you do and vote in every election and cast their vote for the very best qualified men to conduct our government offices, we can stop some of our griping. We will begin to see results. Start by voting next Tuesday.

ATTEND CLANTON'S HORSE SHOW

Next Wednesday night the Tenth Annual Clanton Horse Show will be held at the Clanton City Park. It is being sponsored by the Clanton Lions Club and to make it a success they are depending on your support.

Clanton's Horse Show has grown with the years and the Show this year is attracting more attention than ever.

Make a date next Wednesday night to attend Clanton's Tenth Annual Horse Show at the City Park.

HERE, TOO!

Those rains over the week-end and at the first of this week have worked miracles in the gardens and in the fields of Covington County.

Town folks with friends out in the rural areas will be planning some visiting come another Sabbath.

And it will not be with fellowship in a country home as the only objective. If there are some extra turnip greens, potatoes or snap beans out in the garden, the city dwellers will have plenty of space in their automobiles to carry any surplus back to town.

So don't be surprised to find the folks out in the rural areas "on the go" over the coming week-end. Our farm neighbors understand, too, when to expect neighborly calls from the cousins, aunts and uncles back in town.

And about the only way for the gimmie boys from town to be curbed on their trips to the country to raid the gardens is for the farm folks to be absent when visitors call. — Andalusia Star-News.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

Being prepared for handling future emergencies is quite an admirable trait, but it does seem that our five-year-old is taking the thing a bit too far.

The other day the adults in the family mentioned casually that a friend had taken her husband to the hospital. At once the five-year-old was all interest and all questions.

"Did she take him in the car? Did he ride on the front seat or the back seat? Did he lie down or sit up? Who went with them? Did he wear his pajamas or did he have on his regular clothes?

The questions came so fast that I couldn't have answered even if I had known what the enswers were. So I countered with a question of my own.

"Why are you so interested in all those details? I asked.

"Well," she replied, "when I get grown and have a husband, if he gets sick and has to go to the hospital, I want to know how to take him. And if I don't ask questions, I won't know."

The neighbor down the street, the one with the big family, says that for years every time she let the children travel alone on the bus or train to visit their grandmother, they always managed to lose some of their baggage or to get it mixed up.

Now she ties a piece of brightly colored ribbon to the handles of their bags, and her children always arrive at their destination with their proper luggage.

Speaking of visiting grandmother, the three-year-old and the five-year-old had a story book not long ago which told of a little boy from the city ging to the country to visit his grandmother. Included in the story was an account of how he washed his face and hands at the pump in the back yard.

Well, it turned out that the three-year-old and the five-year-old had no idea what a pump was. Even after they had seen pictures of pumps, they still cuoldnt quite believe that pushing the handle up and down would produce water. So for weeks now we've been trying to find a pump, one that really works, to show them. We're about to believe that pumps are as rare as 35 cent haircuts.

Odds and ends: Aluminum foil wrapped around paint brushes will keep them soft for several days or until you finish a paint job and are ready to clean them properly. . . Frozen meat will thaw out much quicker if you sprinkle over it the amount of salt needed for seasoning. . .Stubborn lipstick stains can usually be removed from washable fabrics by working glycerine into the material and then laundering it us usual. . .A small piece of felt underneath the fabric will keep the weight of a pin or broach from tearing thin dresses and sheer blouses. . .

Peanut butter cup cakes have become a favorite tea party time treat with the neighbor around the corner, and here's her recipe:

Cream thoroughly ½ cup butter and 1½ cups brown sugar. Add ½ cup peanut butter, stirring until smooth. Then add 1 teaspoon vanilla and two eggs, beating well. Add 1½ cups flour which has been sifted with ½ teaspoon salt, and 2 teaspoons baking powder, making the additions of the dry ingredients alternately with 2-3 cup milk.

Bake in greased muffin rings or paper cups in moderate oven for about half an hour.

Commercial photographers selling services at retail must post a copy of their ceiling prices in prominent or clearly visible position in ther place of busness.

One basic objective of OPS emergency price control is to seek to maintain normal market levels and relationships that existed just before the Korean war.

Pastor's Conference—

Baptists Pastor's Conference will be conducted at the First Baptist Church in Clanton on Saturday, June 7, at 2:00 p.m. The program committee is very anxious that all active and inactive ministers of the Chilton-Unity Associations be present for this meeting. To our brethern and co-laborers in the ministry who did not attend the Southern Baptist Convention that recently met in Miami, Fla., will have the opportunity to hear a report of the convention.

Associational Meeting—

At the executive committee meeting of the Chilton Baptist Association held last Sunday afternoon at the Liberty Hill Baptist Church the following plans were made.

First that we set the date of July 20-August 3, as the time to project Vacation Bible Schools in the churches that have not already had one conducted this year. This is a simultaneous movement.

Second on the list was selection of pastors who agreed to work with a group of churches. Ministers selected are: Rev. Haggard, Rev. Cox; Rev. Hughes, Rev. Carroll, Rev. Atcheson, Rev. Jones, Rev. Lowery, Rev. Brown and Rev. Burks.

We feel sure that the churches will cooperate with the person chosen to work with them. Outside County workers will be brought to us to help promote this work and we will also have workers from the churches in the county.

Rev. B. B. Burks, Thorsby, Alabama, has been chosen as the one to promote Vacation Bible school work in Chilton County and he asks that yu contact him at any time concerning your needs in this work.

Congregational Church—

Last Sunday we observed Soil Stewardship Sunday. The sermon topic was "Soil and Souls." The following members of the 4-H Club took part in the service: Ruby Ann Scarborough gave the call to worship and invocation, Bennie Jo Franklin led the responsive reading, Bobbie Reed Shelton read the Scripture, and the offering was collected by Larry Raybon and Ronnie Kincaid.

Next Sunday at the hour of the morning service we will worship in the Thorsby Institute auditorium, were the Baccalaureate Service is to be held. In the evening, we have been invited to worship with the Lutherans in their church at 7:30. TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

HORSLEY WHITE

I am earnestly asking for your vote and the support of your influence in the primary on June 3rd. Though I have not been in politics before, I do believe myself to be thoroughly qualified to serve this county well as your Clerk of the Circuit Court.

This office requires that the Clerk be honest, efficient, and capable of dealing with the public. While self-employed, while working at the post office, and at the bus station where I now work, I have made a record that shows I am qualified to fill these requirements for this office.

I am deeply grateful for the excellent vote I received in the May 6th Primary. I led in the race for Clerk of the Circuit Court, receiving 1184 votes. I want to again say, "thank you" to each of you who voted for me and to those of you wh used yur influence in my behalf.

I am running my own race. I am not politically-connected with any candidate now running for office. I am running wholly on my own merits.

I am making every effort to see as many of you as I possibly can and personally ask for your vote and support for the Primary on June 3rd. To those of you that I do not get to see, I now respectfully ask for your vote and your support.

Sincerely,.
HORSLEY WHITE.

PATRICIA MINTHORNE GRADUATES

Clanton friends of Patricia Minthorne, New York City, N. Y., a granddaughter of Mrs. Clara B. Curry, will be interested to note that Patricia is in the midst of the rounds of activities that precede graduation in the Walt Whitman School.

'The evening of the 19th consisted of the rendition of many interesting numbers in music and poetry. Among these were readings by Patricia with her own accompaniments on harp. The evening of the 23rd was spent in entertaining appreciative patrons and guests with interpretive dancing as might have been designed by Terpsichore, herself. Earlier in the month, a dramatization of The Abandoned," a novel by Paul Gallico with adaptation for the seniors, by Elizabeth Lutes, was presented on the stage of the Carl Fischer Hall, with Patricia Minthorne in the leading role.

The evening of the 29th instant will crown the series of commencement activities with the awarding of diplomas, following the usual address and other features of the graduation program.

It is gratifying to friends of Patricia Minthorne, to note that she has successfully passed an examination, preparatory for entrance into Briarley, a select private school in New York City. Also of pleasing interest to friends of Patricia, is the fact that she will continue the harp in her course of study.

A Tribute to the Gold Star Mothers—

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States is founded upon the true comradeship of men bound by experiences, interests and everlasting patriotism. It is the sort of comradeship that lives through succeeding generations and far back into memory because we know that neither time nor events can separate those who have joined in common defense of our flag and country.

That is the way we feel about the men who are absent. We do not consider them gone. In reality they are very close to us. They are definitely a part of our thinking and actions. We feel that they have molded the future of our nation. They give us strong incentive to carry on our crusade for lasting peace and better purposes of life. The highest tribute this organization can render those men—the most profound respect all of us can demonstrate—is to apply to our lives the strong faith and undaunted courage which were theirs.

To the mothers of those comrades, whom we honor today, we pledge the sincere friendship of this post and its Ladies Auxiliary.

Letter To The Editor

To Chilton County Voters:

Do you know that when you vote for a Probate Judge and a Member of the County Board of Revenue and Control (better known to the public as a Commissioner), you are voting for managers of Chilton County's business affairs for the next six years? And did you know that this Board of Revenue and Control spends approximately $667,000 each year or a total of approximately $4,000,000.00 of the taxpayers money during the six years they are in office? his includes the appropriations from the federal and state governments, which are available and which they will get if they are alert and aggressive. A part of this $4,000,000.00 is your local tax money.

If you had a personal job you wanted done that involved the spending of $4,000,000.00 of YOUR money over a period of six years, you would be very careful to employ men who had the ability and experience, and men who would handle your affairs efficiently and economically. In voting for men to manage the business affairs of Chilton County (your business affairs indirectly) you should be just as careful and conscientious in selecting men as if you were employing men in your own personal business.

These Members of the County Board of Revenue and Control should have business ability and experience, be wide awake and aggressive enough to persuade the Directors of Industries looking for a location, to come to Chilton County and investigate the advantages to be had here. They should also get the Government to locate projects in our county, so as to provide employment for our fast increasing ppulation and furnish a market for our products. In other words, the men on the County Board of Revenue and Control should be men who would have influence away from Chilton County, as well as here at home.

Judge our candidates and vote for the men who can and will do the job for the good of the whole county. — W. A. Gulledge.

(Pd. pol. adv. by W. A. Gulledge, Verbena, Ala.)

IMPORTANT POLITICAL FACTS

To the People of Chilton County:

There are sixteen elective offices which Chilton County voters are responsible for filling with capable men. Four of these offices are to be filled in next Tuesday's election. We, voters and citizens, should study the jobs as well as the men before we go to the polls.

Since I am interested in the department of Courts and Law Enforcement, I want to talk to you along this line. Officials in this department are Circuit Judge, Inferior Court Judge, State and County Solicitors, Circuit Clerk and Sheriff. Every official in this department must have law experience before he can be successful. The office of circuit clerk is the center of the whole set-up. At the best, court cases are long and costly and mistakes and errors will tend to make them more so.

The job of circuit clerk is not merely a matter of keeping records. The writing of warrants and other legal documents is its most important work, also preparation of appeals to higher courts which takes skill and practice. Knowledge of law is the only way the circuit clerk can make these papers stand up in court.

Before I became circuit clerk I was bookkeeper for a large farm and mercantile business. Here, in connection with the business, I learned to write legal papers which got results in courts. I also served as Justcie of the Peace and found out how to deal with criminal law. When I began work as circuit clerk I was well grounded in legal matters. If I had not been, I would have been at a complete loss as to how to take hold of the work in the office.

Other counties have found is wise to keep circuit clerks who have proved themselves competent. The people know they would not be treating themselves right if they did not keep them.

When you go to the polls Tuesday look at the job as well as the man. I had legal experience before I ran for the job the first time. I felt that this was necessary. I can make you a better circuit clerk now than ever before. That is why I again most respectfully ask for your vote on June 3rd. I KNOW I KNOW how to serve you well in the office I seek to hold.

Your sincere friend,
J. C. PATTILLO,

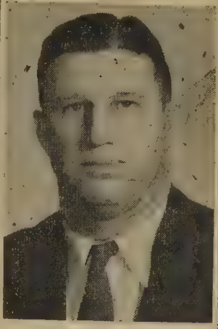
TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY



SHERMAN MOTLEY

Election time is drawing near and this will be the last chance I will have before the election to thank you for the nice support and encouragement you have given me during my campaign.

I am proud to say that in the May Primary I received the largest number of votes in the District that I am supposed to represent. There are seven boxes in the Third District and I led my opponent in six out of the seven. I count this an endorsement of my candidacy from my home District and wish to express my appreciation for the confidence they have in me.

I feel that I am well qualified for the office that I am asking for, as I have had seven years experience in road work. If I am elected as a Member of the Board of Revenue and Control, I will serve you honestly and to the best of my ability. So go to the polls on June 3rd and cast your vote on my behalf. Thanking you in advance for your support.—Sherman Motley.

(Pd. pol. adv. by Sherman Motley, Maplesville, Ala.)

SHILOH

The health of our community is fairly good at present. We are glad that Mrs. J. O. Bice and Mr. Joe Baker are home from the hospital much improved. We hope they will soon be back in church and Sunday School.

Our Sunday School and preaching servcies are very well attended each Sunday, but there are others that we would be glad to have out each Sunday.

We will not have our Home-Coming on the first Sunday in June, as usual, but will have it on the fifth Sunday in June. We will spend the entire day singing. We are inviting all singers as well as all former members and preachers. We have our new piano now and we hope all singers will come out and help make this the best singing of the year. We already have the promise ot some good quartets. So remember the Fifth Sunday in June and come to Shiloh Baptist Church.

All crops including peaches are looking promising since we have had some nice rains for which we are really thankful.

We had some visitors from Montgomery and Liberty Hill Sunday. We are always glad for visitors to come and they are always welcome. —L. C. Keen.

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

YOUR NOSE

Aside from its cosmetic effect, the nose has an important function in the health of the body. Composed of cartilage and small bones, the nose acts as a conveyer of air to the lungs which are the breathing apparatus of the body.

The lobule or tip of the nose is of a soft structure and acts as a valve. Inside the nose is a partition known as the septum. It separates the right from the left side and maintains the rigidity of the pathway through which the air passes as it goes through the nasal structure.

Very often, through accident or disease, these air passages are obstructed. When this happens, one sees the victim breathing through his mouth. The lining or mucous membrane of the nose is very sensitive, and damage or injury renders it very susceptible to infections that can easily impair the general health of the body.

The hair serves to filter out dust or infectious material that ent the nose from the air. The breat ing passages of the nose into lungs are quite small, curved a rigid; and obstructors of any ki may prove serious. When for a reason the function of these in vidual units is impaired, impro and inadequate breathing is apt result.

Plastic surgery is utilized in repair of the nose, serving to store good function and, frequen improved cosmetic appearance surgical repair, the required bo and cartilages are usually tak from some section of the patien body. It is interesting that cartila is the body tissue most resistant infection. It also requires nourishment than other tissu Thus it can be safely transplan to another area with good resu Very often in nasal repair, a s flap from the forehead is used.

When a nose has been destro by accident or disease, a complet new nose has to be fashioned fr neighboring tissues. The most co mon repair, however, consists of arranging and remodeling the na tissues still present to give the b function and most pleasing eff

Since OPS became effective in January of 1951, the rate of rise in prices has been cut by almost two-thirds. Prices rose 8 percent from June 1950 to January 25, 1951—prices since then have risen only about 3 percent. Of the 3 percent about half has been on commodities over which Congress has given OPS no price control.

To The Voters Of Chilton County

When you go to the polls next Tuesday to cast your vote for the man who will be at the head of our County Government, and hold the highest office in the county for the next six years, you want to take these things into consideration:

First, will the man benefit most from the office, or will the office benefit most from the man?

If we are just going to elect a nice young man who needs the office, there are thousands of young men in the county who would be glad to accept the office for the next six years. On the other hand if you want to elect a man who will bring new industry, modern methods to our county government, outside contacts that will mean new growth for our county, and numerous other advantages, then I say elect John M. Higgins.

Second, if we are going to elect a man with proven ability against a man with little, or no experience in business, then Higgins is our man.

Third, if it is a veteran of World War II with a combat record then Mr. Higgins fills that requirement also.

Sum up all the advantages of the two candidates before you go to the polls next Tuesday and see if you don't agree that John M. Higgins has more to offer Chilton County.

What we need now in our Probate Office is a man who can get things done. A man who has wide experience and contacts with Local, State and Federal authorities. A man who knows his way around and will go after state and federal aid when it is rightfully ours and badly needed here in our county.

I am going to vote for John M. Higgins because I believe he can do more for the county by giving us a progressive, honest, efficient administration in the Probate Office.

Yours truly,
RALPH MIMS, Rt. 4,
Clanton, Ala.

(Pd. pol. adv. by Ralph Mims, Rt. 4, Clanton, Ala.)

SOMETHING OF INTEREST TO EVERY VOTER

Let's think of June 3rd as the date that your county officers for the next four years will be elected. You should want to have a part in selecting them. Show your interest by talking good government until June 3rd and then voting on that date for the one that has done things before and not things that are promised to do later.

It is your money to be used and you and your county are to benefit from it, so you should want to have a voting interest. Take time off from what you are doing and carry some one to vote on June 3rd as you cant do it before or after.

The good voters of this county should take the county election in their own hands, and do the job in a way that the people in other parts of the state will give us some favorable comments.

The undersigned received 882 votes in the May Primary, which was 241 more than my opponent of June 3rd. I am thanking everyone of you for your past vote and am also asking each one of you to carry some one with you that didn't vote for me May 6th, to the polls June 3rd and vote for me.

WALLACE COX.

(Pd. pol. adv. by Wallace Cox, Clanton, Ala.)

J. M. DUNLAP

To the Voters of Chilton County:

This will be my last appeal to my friends, the voters of Chilton County. I have tried to contact all of you personally since the May Election, but since it is entirely impossible to do so, I am taking this means to invite you to go to the polls June 3rd and cast your vote for me.

I am thankful that this race has been conducted in a gentlemanly manner.

I am very thankful for your support in placing me in the run-off election on June 3rd for Candidate for Member of the Board of Revenue and Control, District No. 4, of Chilton County, Alabama, that is why I am asking you to go to the polls and take some friend with you on June 3rd.

Thanking you in advance, I am your friend,

J. M. (Jim) DUNLAP.

ISABELLA

Although the weather was bad Sunday, both services were well attended at Mulberry. Our pastor, Rev. J. W. Jones, who has been ill, was able to bring both messages. We were glad to have a former member, Clarence LeCroy, of Savannah, Ga., and especially enjoyed the solo numbers he gave.

There will be a Clean-Up Campaign on Wednesday afternoon, June 4, at Mulberry Church. All interested, please make plans to come and bring necessary tools to work with.

The monthly meeting of the W.M.U. will meet Tuesday evening, June 3, 7:30 in the church auditorium.

Calfee Reunion—

The annual Calfee Reunion was held in the Isabella School lunchroom Sunday, May 25. This occasion is honoring four Calfee brothers who have birthdays in May. There were about 85 relatives who enjoyed the day laughing, talking and eating. Besides the relatives from Isabella, they were from the following places: Florence, Birmingham, Bessemer, Clanton, Wetumpka, Montgomery, Selma, Niceville, Fla., Panama City, Fla., Orange, Texas, and places in Coosa County.

This community extends its congratulations to Miss Ruth Edna Grooms and Lee Smith, Jr., who were married Saturday evening, May 24, at the home of Bro. J. W. Jones in Thorsby. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Grooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Odis Cooper of Montgomery were week end visitors of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cooper.

Miss Betty Lois Conway, of Jacksonville State Teachers College, is home visiting her parents between quarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rasberry and children and Mr. and Mrs. Coy Rasberry, all of Macedonia Community were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Jones.

Warrant Officer and Mrs. Elrie Calfee, Larry, Ronnie and Jean, of Orange, Texas, and S-Sgt. and Mrs. Hudson Calfee and Rhonda, of Panama City, Fla., are spending several days here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Calfee.

Mrs. Emma Manning is visiting her daughter, Mrs. K. S. Weeks, in Tuscaloosa this week.

Mrs. Y. E. Smith is still confined to her home in a wheel chair, because of her accident several months ago when she broke her hip. She would appreciate receiving cards and having visitors. We should never forget our shut-ins, and remember to pray for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smitherman of Auburn were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. LeCroy.

Erby Dobbs got in from Camp Atterbury, Indiana, May 26, with his honorable discharge. Mr. and Mrs. Dobbs will soon move to Montgomery, and he will return to his former job at the Continental Gin Cmpany at Prattville, Ala.

Spend-the-day Party—

Miss Lona Manning entertained a few of her friends at her home Wednesday, May 21. Those enjoying this occasion were: Mrs. Hattie LeNoir, Mrs. Maxine LeNoir, Miss Bettye Smith, Mrs. Jessie Summers, Mrs. Arnold Middlebrooks, Mrs. Phil Childers, Mrs. Maggie Summers, Mrs. Maud DeShazo, Mrs. Ethel Cummings, Mrs. Renfroe Veazey, Mrs. Mamie Veazey and Miss Pauline Veazey.

A spirit of unusual cheerfulness was shown throughout the day. Pictures were looked at that brought back many pleasant memories, and antiques were shown by the hostess, one of them being a letter with a five-cent stamp printed on it, written in 1845 by the hostess's great uncle; also a newsppaer printed January 4th, 1800, with death and burial of George Washington, our first president. Many other interesting things too numerous to mention were shown the guests.

Another enjoyable feature of the occasion was when the guests drew a number, and the one bearing the same as Miss Manning was presented a gift.

A bountiful dinner was served at the noon hour. Each guest brought a covered dish. The large party cake was baked by Miss Manning. It was white coconut, and pink candy was used for party favors.

Miss Willie Mae LeNoir and Miss Pauline Veazey assisted in entertaining.

Everyone reported a real nice time.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

Mr. James M. Dunlap, a candidate for the Board of Revenue and Control in District Four, has lived in District Four all his life. He grew to manhood on the West side of Clanton and for the last twenty-five years has lived on the East side of Clanton. He has had twenty odd years of experience in business and has learned well the principals of sound business practices. This enables him to know the value of profits and to guard against losses.

Mr. Dunlap has a sterling Christian character, which comes from the Christ enthroned in the heart, this makes us believe that he will not be guilty of any dishonest act. This coupled with his good business judgment that he has gained by sound business experience makes him a very dependable man to help handle the affairs of the County.

There is no man anywhere, that has applied himself to a task that was assigned him, more faithfully than Jim Dunlap has to the office of Commissioner in District Four in the past four years. We have watched him work and we know that no public official has been any more faithful to his constiuency than he. These four years have helped him to know where the danger spots are, which will enable him to help guide us around them. We feel that we cannot afford to lose the valuable things he has learned in the last four years as Commissioner of District Four.

We, his friends, are interested in the future of our County, its welfare and its development. We ask you to consider these things and go to the polls on June 3rd and cast your vote for James M. Dunlap.

Friends and neighbors of J. M. Dunlap. — W. O. Thrash, Clyde J. Wright, Floyd Minor, E. G. Johnson.

Plans For 1952 Peach Festival Well Under Way

Blaring bands, marching feet, gayly decorated floats, flags flying and cheering crowds! That's the order of the day for the 1952 Chilton County Peach Festival to be conducted in Clanton, July 16th.

But that's not all! Excitement will run rampant throughout the county as thousands jam the Festival ground waiting for the all-important announcement as to which peach growers' daughter will receive Chilton County's most coveted crown, that of Queen of the annual Peach Festival, an honor to be born by some lucky girl throughout 1952-53.

Each entry for the Peach Queen contest must be the daughter of a Peach Grower, between the ages of 16 and 21 and unmarried. At the same time, Mr. Jackson reported, the Peach King for the day will be the son of a Chilton County peach grower.

Enthusiasm has already started to run high even as the committees, appointed by Mr. Joe Jackson, General Chairman, get their plans under way.

And already too, members of many organizations from throughout the State of Alabama have expressed the desire to bring large delegations to Clanton to take part in what is expected to be one of the largest Peach Festivals in the history of the county. Especially desirous of attending are members of several Chambers of Commerce including those from Montgomery and Birmingham as well as many from the Alabama State Chamber.

At the same time many dignitaries from throughout the state government have promised to be on hand along with several prominent speakers.

Organizational meetings have been conducted for the past several weeks by Mr. Jackson, one of them having been conducted only recently, with the first general meeting scheduled to be held at 1:30 p.m., Wednesday, June 11th, at the Dixie Cafe in Clanton.

The Peach Festival this year has also endeavored to be of much more service to the Chilton County Peach Growers. There is now a Peach Festival Office having been opened in the Mullins Building over the Western Auto Store, Clanton. The Festival has also hired a full time man to solicit peach buyers to come into the county when the peach crop begins to come in. This is being done, according to Mr. Jackson, in an intensified effort to help the farmer to sell the bumper crop of peaches that will be available about July 1st.

Committees that have been set up and are now functioning include: Parade Chairman, Thomas Childers; others include A. D. Headley, Cliff Klie and Russell Shelton; Exhibits Chairman, Bing LeCroy; others, L. C. Shields, Fred Ledbetter, Carlos Owens and Gordon Conway; Farmers Educational: M. R. (Red) Glasscock, Chick Carleton and Olin Fields; Floats: J. P. Lawrence and Marvin Marcus; Entertainment: Newly elected board of directors of Chilton County Chamber of Commerce; Publicity: Bob Taber, Chairman; R. H. Kirkpatrick, Co-Chairman; others, Gene Wyatt, Ben Tucker, Jack House, Tommy Hill, L. O. Brackeen, Bob Chestnut and Joe Azbell.

MORE COTTON

To make maximum yields of cotton per acre there should be 25,000 to 30,000 plants per acre after cultivation is completed.

Save juices from canned pineapple, pears, apricots, cherries, etc., and add to whipped cream as a dressing for fruit salads. A few ground nuts make a pleasing addition.

Instead of buttering cinnamon toast in the usual way, try dipping strips of toast in melted butter before rolling in cinnamon-sugar mixture. Then toast in the oven until brown.

If your waffle irons stick, try filling the irons with dry salt and heating. While the irons are still hot, clean out the salt with a dry brush or cloth. Grease old-fashioned irons, when ready for use, with shortening. For electric irons, dip dry cloth or brush in olive or Wesson oil, and rub irons. They will not have to be greased again.

When making Butterscotch pie, try adding one tablespoon of molasses to the filling. This will enrich the color of the filling, and the molasses will blend with the sugar, butter, and vanilla, giving the pie a real butterscotch candy flavor.

TWO PASTORS

Clanton loses two pastors this week who have meant much to the civic as well as the religious life of our community.

Rev. J. M. McKinney, who has been pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church for the past two years goes to Bay Minette, Ala., where he will assume duties as pastor of the First Methodist Church there. Clanton and Chilton County will miss the McKinneys. Besides his church duties Rev. McKinney has taken the lead in several civic drives and just recently completed his work as County Chairman of the Crippled Children's Fund.

The other pastor who has resigned his church pastorate is the Rev. A. T. Hickman who has been at Temple Church for the past eight years. Rev. Hickman has also been a leader in our civic activities and has recently completed the construction of a new church at Temple.

The Community can ill afford to lose these two fine men and their families and the News and it's Staff wishes for each member of the two families much happiness in the years to come, and to the pastors contentment in knowing theirs was a job well done.

GAD — THIS TRUMAN

Newsprint prices went up another $10.00 per ton recently.

This makes $20.00 per ton increase during the past twelve months. The Government went up on our newspaper postage 20 per cent recently and will go up 20 per cent each year for three years until the increase amounts to 60 per cent. Freight rates increased 15 per cent recently, which will add greatly to our expense and to the epense of everyone doing business. Telephone rates went up a considerable amount recently. What does all this mean? It means that we must soon go up on something. We have obsorbed about all the additional expense that we can absorb and still make a reasonable profit.

During the depression we paid as low as $60.00 a ton for newsprint, and the next ton will cost us $210.00. Over 90 per cent of the newsprint used in this country is produced in Canada. Our Government does not have any control over the prices set on newsprint by the Canadian Government.

The Daily Newspapers have been suffering for some time, and now the small weekly papers are in a tight spot.

We still say that four more years of Trumanism will bankrupt the nation. — Centreville Press.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

The latest additions to our household are two downy [illegible] creatures, on which the five-year-old and three-year-old now center their interest.

One duck, nobody is quite sure [illegible] is named Polly Wolly [illegible] and the other one is named [illegible] Susannah. Not just Susannah — that O is important.

It is possible that these ducks, if they continue to thrive, may establish some kind of record in the poultry world for their acrobatic accomplishments. At least they are [illegible] training. [illegible] night when I called the [illegible] old to come in for supper, he replied:

"I can't come right now. I'm [illegible] my ducks to walk [illegible] tight wire."

Life is full of little worries. Many a vacation trip has been spoiled because nobody could remember whether the light in the basement [illegible] off or the milk[illegible] left a note or the [illegible] back bedroom had [illegible] pulled down.

A lot of folks, like me, don't have to leave home for their memories to make them apprehensive. For [illegible], I never can be absolutely [illegible] that I turned off the kitchen stove, and I'm always having to go back into the kitchen to make sure.

The neighbor around the corner, who has the same trouble, suggested that I paint the "off" position of the heat regulator with bright red nail polish so I can tell at a glance whether or not the stove is on. Of course, I still have to make several trips to the kitchen every day to make sure I remembered to turn off the heat, but now I don't have to walk all the way over to the stove.

The neighbor down the street, the one with the big family, gave all her children booster typhoid shots at the same time. The next day they were all so listless and the house was so peacefully quiet she's wondering if she couldn't arrange for them to have shots at least once a month!

When our systematic next door neighbor opens a new dress pattern, she always marks each piece with the name of the pattern and the serial number. Then if the pieces get mixed with another pattern (this hardly seems likely in her well-ordered home), she can identify and separate them easily.

Our neighbor who plans for the future has already started growing her wreath for next Christmas. She planted ivy in a large pot and stuck in a circle of wire for it to grow on. By the time Christmas arrives, her wreath will be thick and lovely and will need only the addition of a big red bow.

If you like chicken salad, you'll like grapefruit-chicken salad the way our good cook nenghbor prepares it.

She starts with a cup of chicken (a lot of white meat) cut in small pieces. To the chicken she adds ½ cup diced celery, about half a green pepper chopped fine, 1 cup grapefruit sections (canned) which have been drained and cut in half, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 2 sprigs chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons French dressing and ¼ cup mayonnaise. Of course she chills it thoroughly before serving.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

YOUR SUN TAN

Common sense is wisdom well spent when it comes to taking sun baths. Acquiring a coat of tan, if attempted by prolonged exposure to the sun, can lead to many hours of suffering and no tan.

Sunlight contains about 15 per cent of visible rays, 78 per cent heat and 7 per cent ultraviolet rays. Because sunlight helps combat disease and maintain good health, most people should avail themselves of it whenever possible. Sunlight helps manufacture vitamin D in the body, essential to calcium deposition and other factors making for good teeth and strong bones.

The sun, as a health agent, can also cause demage. Experiments show that the individual can get too much vitamin D; and prolonged exposure to the sun can cause severe burns, skin disease, and even death. Repeated long exposure can, over a long period, cause the skin to become scaly, inelastic, and thickened and is thought to contribute to certain types of skin cancer found in farmers, sailors, and others long exposed to sunlight.

Some persons, particularly those with a pale thin skin, should take sun "treatments" only under the advice of a physician. The enviable coat of tan should be acquired gradually. Some individuals who lack skin pigment find it impossible to acquire a coat of tan. Sunshine has a way of affecting the blood and of increasing the red coloring matter. The benefit is received, however, only when the ultraviolet rays reach the skin directly.

In general, sunlight is necessary for health and, in particular, good for the treatment of specific conditions; but care should be exercised in absorbing the health-producing rays of the sun. Parents should watch their children carefully. Children as well as adults should expose themselves to the sun gradually.

The great sun dispenses his wares generously, but the person taking them under prolonged exposure must remember that he will pay with many hours of pain and discomfort.

GOVERNOR ISSUES PROCLAMATIONS

Gov. Gordon Persons has issued proclamations setting aside three observances in Alabama.

By official edict, June 8-14 has been designated as Flag Week in Alabama. He asks that during that period all military, civic, educational, and other organizations, make appropriate display by flashing the colors of "Old Glory" across the sky.

The month of June, 1952, was set forth by Governor Persons as June Dairy Month for the State of Alabama.

In another proclamation, the Chief Executive set the week of June 8-14 as Fraternal Week. During this period Governor Persons asks that "citizens of the state in their observance to consider the principles for which the National Fraternal Congress stands."

STRAWBERRIES

The strawberry patch should be kept free of grass and weeds through the summer months in order to allow new plants to develop.

FIN-FAN ITEMS

On the beautiful Coosa and Tallapoosa Lakes, fish and scenery have a year round open season. Early spring through the middle of May is strictly Crappie and Largemouth Bass for the fishermen. Dogwood and Mountain Laurel for the viewers. As the days get warmer and the last of the Mountain Laurel blooms hvae drifted away, the Stripes began to school. That means early mornings and later afternoons for best results. During the heat of the day, time can be spent snapping color pictures of unsurpassed scenery, exploring the timbered hills, or maybe just relaxing in the cool shade near one of the many water falls. Late in June when the Stripes began to scatter to the cool depths, Mr. Bream takes charge of the entertainment and will hold your interest until late August when Crappie, Largemouth Bass and and Stripes again become active. This autumn surge of good fishing fades with the cold, rainy weather of winter. That's just about the line up of the finny tribe striking schedule. Right now it's Stripes. Large strings are being taken on Jordan and Mitchell Lakes. Jeff Miller, Clanton, tied into a school on Mitchell, the other day, that took him well up into Bird Creek. Jeff's string ranged from 12 ounces to 2 pounds each.

Several Whoppers were entered in the Alabama Power Company Fishing Contest last week:

Lake Lay—

Ed Hardiman, Manager, Riverview Fishing Lodge, near Lay Dam, reports: F. D. Greene, an Alabama Power Company employee at Lay Dam, fished about ten or twelve feet deep with a reflecto spoon and picked up a real nice string of Stripes. Two of the largest weighed 6 pounds 12 ounces. The Whopper of the bunch weighed in at 3 pounds 8 ounces. George Horsley, 3936 North 28th Place, Birmingham, used a Hula Popper to hook a 3 pound 4 ounce Stripe. John McGill, 7104 South 1st Avenue and Glenn Collins 1900 South 4th Avenue, Birmingham, fly fished with a popping bug on the east bank of the River and boated 14 pounds of Bass. John caught the largest, a 3 pound 4 ounce Smallmouth Bass. Elmer Wood, Dick Fitzpatrick, and Bill Biddle, all of Birmingham, had a very interesting experience fishing near Riverview. Bill flipped out a Cisco Kid and reeled her in with both sets of hooks loaded. There was a 3 pound 12 ounce Bass on the end hooks and a 1 pound 12 ounce Bass on the stomach hooks. The group took home a nice string of Large and Smallmouth Bass.

Lake Mitchell—

River Road Store, near Clanton, reports: L. E. Foshee, Clanton, fished with a fly rod and a paper fly and caught a 2 pound 12 ounce Smallmouth Bass.

F. L. Barrett's Fishing Camp, Hatchett Creek, reports: Alvin L. Blackmon, Route 4, Box 413, Bessemer, caught a nice string with a fly rod and a home made fly. Alvin's largest catch was a 6 pound 5 ounce Largemouth Bass.

Lake Jordan—

Claud Wood's Fishing Camp, near the Weoka Creek Bridge, reports: Mrs. Otis J. Thompson, P. O. Box 775, Montgomery, bagged a 2 pound 4 ounce Crappie with a fly rod and live minnow.

Cultivate Young Stands Of Kudzu

Cultivation of young stands of kudzu established by planting crowns, seedlings, or seed this spring is necessary for its survival and growth, according to S. R. Doughty, API Extension soil conservationist.

He points out that unless such stands are kept clean, weeds and grass growing along the row will rob the young kudzu plants of moisture and elements needed by the crop. The rows should be hoed, the middles plowed, and the vines dragged back to from a narrow strip along each row. Culitvation also helps the new vines to "peg down" and make more plants.

"If kudzu was not fertilized when planted," says Doughty, "200 pounds per acre of superphosphate or 0-14-14 should be applied when cultivating."

Horn Fly Population Can Build Rapidly

Auburn, Ala. — The horn fly population on cow herds in Alabama is building up rapidly.

W. H. Gregory, API Extension livestock specialist, says a spraying at this time will make the cows much more comfortable, enabling them to produce more milk to grow better calves.

Each horn fly takes two meals of blood daily from a cow, and if the first flies are not killed their numbers will increase rapidly. Most any of the new sprays will kill the horn fly. They are the [illegible] external parasites to [illegible]. "However," states Gr[illegible] should be a [illegible] [illegible] use. Consumers Want Fresh Fruit And Vegetables

Much of the usual loss in freshness and food value of fruits and vegetables can be eliminated if a few simple precautions are observed.

"For example," says Austin Ezzell, API Extension distributor marketing specialist, "everyone who handles fresh foods must be more careful than usual to see that they are not exposed to high temperatures and strong air currents for prolonged periods. If this is done, good retailers will complete the job by keeping the quality high until the foods are sold to the consumer."

Drink Nutritious Thirst Quenchers

Those who substitute soft drinks for fruit juices, milk, and milkshakes replace needed vitamins and minerals with sugar and calories, [illegible] Mary Hulsey, API Extension Service nutritionist.

To avoid this, she suggests that a can or two of citrus fruit juices or tomato juice, or a pitcher of homemade lemonade, and the full quota of milk for each child and adult be kept in the refrigerator. "These drinks will provide a variety of thrist quenchers that will promote good nutrition and cost no more than an equal quantity of 'sodas,' declares the nutritionist.

Pick Right Pictures For Each Room

Auburn, Ala. — Living room pictures should be of general interest to all members of the family and to guests in the home, believe Alice Peavy, API Extension home management specialist.

She explains that the pictures should be restful—not too unusual in composition, color, or subject matter. "Landscapes, marines, beautiful buildings, flowers, and figure compositions are the most popular types from which to choose," states the specialist.

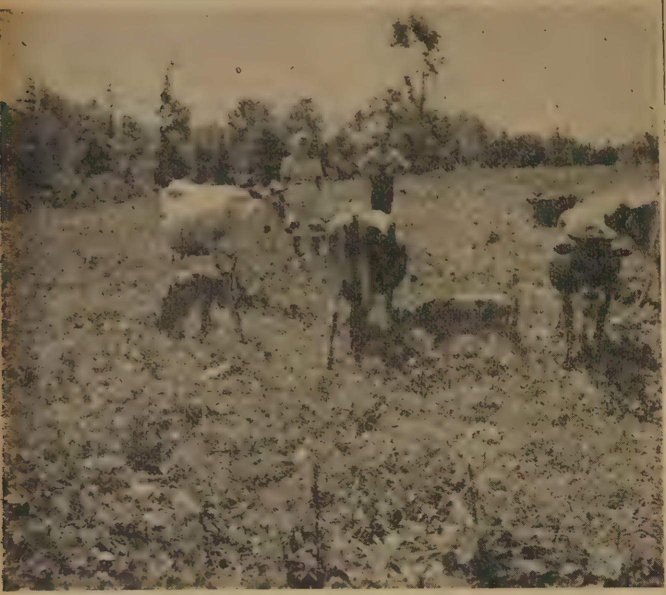
Cow Produces Consecutive Sets Of Twins



Mrs. R. C. Cofer and her son, Winston, of Jemison Rt. 2., take a look at the "twins." In the pasture above are two sets of twins (3 heifers and a bull) produced by the same cow (center). Twins in themselves are unusual, but successive twins are very unusual.

R. C. Cofers produce Milk From Own Pasture Land

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cofer of Jemison, Ala., Rt. 2, have been selling milk on the Route about a year. Prior to selling milk on the Route, they bottled and sold to individual customers. Mrs. Cofer stated that while retail sales brought more money, the extra money didn't justify the extra work in washing bottles and selling milk in small quantities. At the present, four cows are being milked to supply milk for home use and to sell. No milk is sold on Sunday. Mrs. Cofer stated that after her milk for home use was kept out eighty to ninety dollars worth per month was sold to the Carnation Company

At the present milk is being produced on practically nothing but pasture. According to Mrs. Cofer, no bought feed is used in the dairy ration even during the winter months. The cost of producing milk is kept at the minimum the year round, and during the months when pastures are good the production cost of milk is the cost of maintaining established pastures.

AUXILIARY 206, THORSBY, HAD PROGRAM FOR PUBLIC

Thursday p.m., May 22nd. the Thorsby American Legion Auxiliary presented a program at the Junior High School. The devotional was given by Rev. Carolyn Welch, followed by a duet by Misses Lois Popwell and Sarah Ruth Manning, accompanied at the piano by Sally McClendon. The president introduced Mrs. N. Laurell of Thorsby, the oldest member of the Auxiliary in the State; Mrs. Reece Wooley. 5th District president. Her message was an inspiration to all. Mrs. Kathryn Johnson was given a period for introducing the winners in the Girl State Contest. Miss Peggy Noah, winner from Jemison, read her essay on Americanism, Billie Sue Burgess, alternate from Jemison had as her subject, Democracy for Me. Sarah Ruth Manning, winner from Thorsby, was introduced. Also present was our winner from last year, Marlene Baggett, of Thorsby. The two girls will go by special bus to Huntingdon College, Montgomery, Ala., on June 8th and remain one week. While there they will be instructed in active participation in City, County and State Government.

Mrs. Jim Collins, poppy chairman, rendered a beautiful program, giving the purpose and aim of poppy day. The stage setting was a cemetery marked with white crosses and waving poppies. The poem, "In Flanders Field," was given by Sally McClendon and the poem, "America's Answer," was given by Madeline Gustafason. Doris Smith and Norma Jean Liveoak concluded the program by singing taps.

Then the poppy day sale started at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, May 24th, at Thorsby.

Mr. Sam Mims opened the drive. The town council members and many of the business men of Thorsby gathered to begin the day right for the many workers who were present with baskets of poppies. Five hundred poppies were sold for one hundred and twenty-eight dollars ($128.00). Thanks to the people of Thorsby, Jemison and Lomax for making possible this big response.

News of Former Resident—

From Penns Grove, N. J., comes information about one of Jemison's former boys, now a sergeant first class in service, that of Charles Wheatley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wheatley, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. McGraw.

Charles has been in Italy for the past six years. For most of the time there he was in the 313th Medical Battalion, part of the old 88th Division. In 1949 he was transferred to special services in Trieste. This service consisted of tours through Italy and neighboring countries for service men, and their families. Later he acted as guide taking currency from one country to another, acting as interpreter and recreation director.

Sgt. Wheatley and his Italian wife, two children, Carla and Jo Ann, are now with his parents in Penns Grove, N. J., but hope to be settled soon. Charles has been appointed as recreation specialist and will be at Fort Belvoir, Va. Mrs. Wheatley is very favorably impressed with life here and appreciates television so much, but certainly wants an automatic washer. She likes to wander through the super markets where there is so much of the eatables not found at her former home. The elderly Wheatleys are definitely thrilled, since it took two full years to make it possible for the children to come home.

Attention Ladies!

Cakes lined up — each with a number. Judges looking, breaking off pieces, tasting. The winner? Number 4—a cake with a wonderful, glossy chocolate frosting.

This was at the Women's Club last night. Then Duke Thomas stepped up—his cake was Number 4! Seems his missus was laid up, so Duke took over—and won!

Here's Duke's prize-winning frosting recipe:

Melt 3 squares unsweetened chocolate in double boiler. Remove from heat, add 1½ cups sifted confectioner's sugar and 2½ tbs. hot water and blend. Add 3 egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each. Add 4 tbs. butter, beating thoroughly after each tbs. Fills and frosts 8-inch, 2-layer cake.

From where I sit, we all have different abilities and tastes . . . and these differences are sometimes surprising. Duke bakes prize-winning cakes. My wife, for example, can beat most any man at checkers. Same when it comes to beverages—you may like coffee or tea while I prefer a refreshing glass of beer. But let's not have any "half-baked" ideas that people are all the same—or should be.

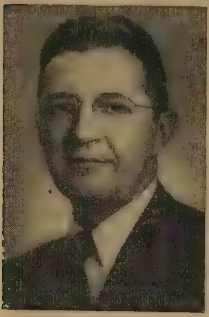
HARRY B. LACKEY NAMED SOUTHERN BELL TEL. & TEL. ALABAMA MANAGER



Harry B. Lackey

Harry B. Lackey, a native of Alabama who started a career with Southern Bell Telephone Company in the Birmingham business office, soon will head his company's business operations in his home state. He has been appointed Alabama Manager, with headquarters in Birmingham, to succeed Sam H. Youngblood, who has been appointed Tennessee Manager effective July 1.

The new Alabama manager, born on Sand Mountain in DeKalb County, was educated in the Birmingham public schools, Marion County High School at Guin, the University of Alabama and Georgia Tech, being graduated from the latter. Joining Southern Bell in 1927, he steadily advanced to positions of increasing responsibility. He is widely experienced and is well qualified to assume his broadened duties.

Following his initial assignment in Birmingham, Mr. Lackey filled various supervisory positions in Atlanta, Ga., and Jacksonville, Fla. He was advanced to Savannah, Ga., district manager in 1941, and became New Orleans, La., district manager in 1942. He joined the staff of the general commercial manager at general headquarters in Atlanta in 1950 and has assisted in directing business operations in the nine-state Southern Bell territory.

In addition to his telephone duties, Mr. Lackey has been active in civic and other public spirited enterprises wherever he has lived. While in New Orleans, he was a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Better Business Bureau, International House, Saftey Council, American Red Cross and Boy Scouts. He is a past president of the New Orleans Rotary Club, New Orleans Electrical Association and Louisiana Armed Forces Communications Association.

He and his family are members of the Decatur, Ga., Presbyterian Church. He is married to the former Alice Louise Green, of Atlanta, and they have three daughters.

News Of Soil Conservation

O. H. Lawrence, Ned Dennis and Joe H. Johnson are getting a good turn out of Rescue Grass. Mr. Lawrence and Dr. Johnson are havesting the grass seed from a combination of Rescue and Sericea. Ned's Rescue Seed are havested with a mixture of reseeding crimson clover.

Curtis Collins has harvested a nice field of Reseeding Crimson Clover on shares with Joe Gibson of Verbena. Joe planted Fescue, White Clover and Crimson Clover together last fall. The seed harvest served two purposes—a source of seed for additional planting and release of the Fescue.

Speaking of the value of timber, a conversation was going on and the timber was going for pulpwood price to $40.00 per thousand, Cecil Armstrong said, "I sold $500.00 worth of timber off a ditch bank." You might sell some timber like that if you practice selective cutting and fire prevention.

J. C. Pattillo, Lewis McGee, Ellie Mitchell, J. N. Dennis, Joe Jackson, Allen Lenoir, John R. Bryant have received Bi-color Lespedeza (quail's favorite food).

Now is a good time to check straight-row farming on sloping land for erosion. Continue cultivation on sloping land is a must if land is to be improved.

STANTON NEWS

Mrs. H. R. Schurter, Mrs. E. B. Huff and children spent Wednesday in Safford, Ala., with Mrs. Schurter's sister, Mrs. R. E. Fitts.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mr. Barney I. Levins at his home in Plantersville, Ala.

Luther Byrd Gay, age 64, oil consignee in Selma for many years, died at 8:15 p.m. Monday in a Selma hospital, following an illness of three months. Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday from the First Baptist Church. Dr. Fred B. Pearson, the pastor, officiated. Interment followed in the family lot in New Live Oak Cemetery, Breslin Service directing.

Mr. Gay had been a resident of Selma since 1917, coming to Selma with the old wholesale grocery firm of R. H. and W. C. Agee. Later he organized the Barker Bakery, which he operated for 17 years. Since 1938 he had been connected with the Texas Oil Company as their consignee, enlarging his wide field of friendships through many business contacts.

Born near Plantersville, Ala., October 18, 1887, Mr. Gay was the son of John Gilbert Gay and Ada Mitchell Gay. He attended the old Stanton School, in the nearby community and his earliest business experience was with his father in the mercantile business. For many years Mr. Gay was active in Selma Fraternal Lodge No. 27 A. F. and A. M. He took active interest in the work of the First Baptist Church, especially in its Sunday School and was for some years devoted to the work of the Baptist Training Union.

Active pallbearers were: H. G. Parnell, S. F. Hopkins, C. R. Parnell, W. M. Vaughan, Jr., E. L. Coley and William Fuller.

Honorary pallbearers were members of the Mallory Bible Class and the Men's Cooperative Bible Class of the First Baptist Church. Dr. J. P. Chapman, Sr., J. P. Chapman, Jr., and Marcus Skinner.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Leone Johnson Gay; one son, Jack Gilbert Gay; his mother, Mrs. J. G. Gay, all of Selma, Ala.; one brother, P. W. Gay, of Birmingham, Ala.; two sisters, Mrs. C. W. Dean, Coral Gables, Fla., and Mrs. A. D. Martin, of Clanton, Ala. There are a number of surviving nieces and nephews.

Sympathy is extended the family and loved ones.

Mrs. Mattie Woolley, Mr. Merritt Walker, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Alonza L. Eaves left last week for Montana where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Eaves.

Mrs. Gewin Eaves (Marjorie Burnett) and son, Allen, are on a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burnett and other relatives.

Harold Motley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Motley has returned to his home from a Selma hospital. He is doing nicely at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kynard and son, Richard, of Selma, visited Mrs. John McKinney and family Sunday.

This community was deeply grieved when the news reached here of the tragic accident suffered by Mrs. Ocie Miller Shoults. Mrs. Shoults remains in a critical condition in a Birmingham hospital.

H. K. Latham, Marion Junction, who has operated sheep herds for the past 12 years in Dallas County, exhibited the grand champion lamb of the spring lamb sale at Montgomery, Ala., last Wednesday. Latham also exhibited a championship pen of three lambs. The sale was attended by a number of sheep growers and farmers of the area; many of whom sold their wool. Latham's champion lamb was born February 15, 1952, out of a crossbred ewe and sired by a Hampshire ram. It's weight was 75 pounds and it sold for $1.05 per pound, bringing $78.75.

The championship pen of three had the same breeding as the lamb; had a total weight of 260 pounds and sold for 40c per pound, or $104.

Latham has 300 ewes on his Marion Junction place where he has included sheep raising in his operations since 1939. He has proved sheep a paying type of livestock and showed that good management of the flock rewards the farmer. Comment was made by Farm Agent L. C. Alsobrook: "Ample grazing is an important factor."

K. Latham as he is known throughout this section is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Latham of Lawley, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Milling and son of Johns, Ala., were the Wednesday dinner guests of the L. R. Terrys and the Cecil McKees. They also attended the funeral of Bud Gay in Selma, Ala., that morning.
